They took the middle of the street instead of the side-walk, and ourse attracted considerable attention. The procession was about two squares long. From what we could see they were well pleased with our great city, and as they passed along took considerable pains in reading the nu-merous signs. We wish them all sorts of prosperity and long life in their new Western homes.

Quite a fashionable wedding took place in St. George's Church on Tuesday night last. Mr. R. F. Lass was united in holy matrimony to Miss Victoria A. We proceeded to the Church about a half hour before the ceremony was to take place, and found the church literally filled with gentlemen, ladies and children-there was scarcely standing room, and it is said at least 500 persons could not gain admit-tance after they came to the door, notwithstanding at the weeks ago in an encounter, met Dr. Taylor in there were 1200 persons in the church
