He next proceeded to repel the implication that Pennsylvania is selfish on the subject or the tariff. The prosperity of the iron business conduces to the interests of the whole country. Iron is a national, not local interest; it is one of the great elements of national defence Harrisburg Telegraph furnishes the following and wealth, and will soon become one of particulars of the murder:

commercial power. The raw material is "The unfortunate woman was the wife of found in a third of all the States of the Union, and there is no national impediment in the way of its production to any extent, and besides the demand for iron is as yet in its infancy, although destined to he world wide. The manufacturers are not the recipients under the tariff of half the benefits alleged.

If Pennsylvania and ther States have been incidentally benefitted by the tariff, many States have been benefitted by the donations of public lands. If the South and West complain of the revenue laws, the North and East can point to the postal system, and can show that the lands donated to the States are worth not only more than the whole amount of duty paid on railroad iron from the dury and all. Here the Senator gave detailed statistics to show that the lands granted for railroad purposes from 1850 to 1857 to the States of Illi one, Missouri, Alabama, Missis sipppi, Louisiana, Michigan, Arkausas, Florida, Iowa, Wisemsin and Monaes on were 25,200. 000 acres, worth $100,700,000, whilst the total of the imported railroad iron during the same period was only $68,333,000, on which the duty was $18.753.000. The total value of iron and iron manufactures of ail kinds, from 1851 to 1858 was $168,000.000, on which was a dut, of $49.200,000. An immense balance of advantige thus remains to those States It has been said that Pennsylvania had received more than her proportion of lands on hounty warrants, but that is not so She is entitled to one tenth by population and has received no more, and were it true, it was States have also a large proportion of their postal expenses paid out of the common treasury. The receipts and expenses of the Post Office, from 1854 to 1858 were for Pennsylvaria: receipts $2,975,000, expenditure $2,793,00; showing in excess of revenue of $181,547, while the Southern and Western States show deficits varying from $4000,000 to $1,200,000 Pennsylvania should have drawn proportionately nearly $14,000,000, or treble amount storchad done. Yet again, comparing the postal receipts and expenditures of the Northern and Eastern States with the Southern and Western, the former show an excess of revenue over expenditure of over a illion of dollars, while the latter exhibit a deficit of over fourteen millions. Another handsome item this for incidental protraction! He denied that most of the public money was expended in the manufacturing States : he pointed to the vast expense of Indian wars in

LETTER No. 2 PIRST OF DISEASE.

To the Editors of The Lancaster Intelligences

Costiveness is the first link that connects disease to the system. It creates, induces, feeds and supports Bronchitis, and is slightly or indifferently treated, as though it was of no serious tendency—nevertheless it has laid the foundation of this destroying disease, without the knowledge of the sufferers undermining and suppling the very vitals of man, there is none more silent or treacherous in its ap-proaches, or more certain to triumph over its slowly con-enming victim than the formidable and insidious leveller of humanity-Bronchitis, which is produced by catching cold-through a neglect of regulating the state of the howels when arriving at adult age. It seldom excites any attention or alarm in the mind of any person until it has sown the seeds of disease and suffering in the human sysevery hole, corner and crevice. This is quite similar to the human body, when the channel or sewer of life, as I may term it, which is the bowels, is checked or confined through constitution, or some unnatural obstruction.

What, then, is the consequence? An accumulation of diseased matter and bile. Where will this bile and poison-ous substance go to, when it is prevented from taking its natural exit through the bowels? It must surge itself back by the agency of the blood, bringing in its passage disease and suffering, and exhibiting itself by pain, nervous sen-sations, and irritation all over the body-producing a had eeling at the stomach, sourness of food, a rush of blood to pain in the shoulders, and through or under the shoulder blades, a peevish and irritable temper, annoyed by this hacking cough; and then gradually begins the expector-ating from the throat of a lightish phlegm, resembling boiled starch or tough jolly of various colors, from a light SECOND STAGE.

From this period the pitient is aware of some unusual and disagreeable feeling, though he seldom takes the hint until it goes from bad to worse. Catching cold from the of the blood being in a diseased and corrupt condition for that at every breath the patient draws, he inhales a similar quantity of fresh air by the nostrils and mouth, which keeps the tickling that exists in the threat and broughtal tubes in a ferment of irritation—this is the reason why some people complain of catching cold, even when confined to their rooms. Hence the sufferer is backing, hawking. or expectorating a little at a time, with the impression that there is something in his throat that wants to come out, and which he is desirous to get out. There is a frequent desire for heavy sighing, with a dryness of the nos-trils, which inclines the noticent to pick or scratch them; sleepy, drowsy, dolland housy, loss of appetite, and confus ed memory; a stuffing lightness and oppression of the chest, with a rawness and screness of the guillet of the throat.—This is caused by the silent enemy that has lurked This is caused by the silent enemy that has furked in the system for mouths, and even years and has at length rowed your fears, and well it hight; for out of one hundred who die of Consumption, ninety-nine are owing to disease of the broad alone, though simply called Bronchitis, and wretchedly treated by mercurial physicians who have proved a curse to the human family. They treat their to the rescue to save the city, the State and the Union. The following abusive principle, by cutting the fonsils and palate from the throat as you might cut the gills out of a fish—next comes the solution or wish of nitrate of silver and caustic, and the whale-hone swab to wash and burn away the disease that has occupied the throat when any the principle of the patient, which adds to the disease and increases the suppose—five hald because and increases the suffering, by giving the disease and opportunity of triumphing over nature. What a delusive idea to think the above treatment would be available in having recourse to those debilitating and irritating remedies of cutting, burning, bilstering, purging, and starving, which is of itself sufficient to lower and reduce the constitution of an ox.

RETHIRD STASE

Confirms the above remarks. While undergoing this torturing treatment, the constitution gradually failing in the constitution gradually failing in the constitution of the patient, while and are placed and place in the carm, and the Union. The following letter is from a reliable source:

Horrible Murder in Dauphin County .-The body of a woman, horribly mangled, was found in a copse of wood in the lower part of Dauphin county, on Tuesday morning. The one Henry Smith, and the couple were what might be termed traveling mendicants.— Sometime on Monday last Smith called at the residence of Mr. Hazy and desired shelter for residence of in the table and the night, stating that his wife was sick in an adjoining woods. Mr. Hazy, however, per ceiving that the man was intoxicate i, refused to grant the request, and nothing more was seen of the applicant until he was arrested yesterday for the crime of murder. On Monday evening, Mr. Hazy and his neighbors beard groans and cries issuing from the previously mentioned copse of woods, and on the following morning the body of the woman was found as stated. Suspicion was at once directed to the man Smith as the author of day the first har was imported till the present the deed, and he was traced to Hirespire, where time, but to the aggregate value of the iron, he was arrested by Mr. John Hyers and others, and is now confined in our prison to answer.

The cluh and stone by which the murder was committed are in the hands of the Coroner, and will be produced as evidence against Smith.

We have been almost suffocated with dust during the past week, clouds of it enveloped the entire city, and ren-dered it both in and out of doors very unpleasant and disagreeable. We mentioned in a previous letter that several mass meetings of our Tax-Payers were held, to protest against a Law levying a Special Tax. These meetings were composod of all political partizans, but before they were got through with the Black Republicans, turned it to their credit—thinking it a good hobby to enter the spring cam paign with. Consequently they were thus compelled to repudiate their awn law passed by themselves, and their own judges elected by themselves, and their own judges elected by themselves, and their own platform established by themselves. They did, indeed, repudiate all they had heretofore sanctioned and upheld—they repudiated some of their own leaders; and we have no doubt in this connection, they have repudiated Francis P. Blair, for they could not do otherwise, if they repudiate the law authorizing this special tax; for, if we mistake not. It is true, the people of this very men who were most instrumental in it, have become disgusted with their own work, and ask of a Democratic Legislature a reform which they, the Black Republicans, refused to give. Is it not a capital joke? Is is not manfully "acknowledging the corn?" Is it not showing their unitness for the positions the people carriered from with.

The Black Republicans knew that they had made them selves unpopular with the people, hence this attempt at reading out of their party Blair, Wimer, Hackney, Miller and Lanhum, and they also knew that the present Democratic Legislature of Missouri, would make certain reforms. and which reforms would be popular with the masses, and in such event they would be completely wiped out and done for, and that the home of F. P. Blair would no longer be them alive, and suggested their removal to Massachusetts.

The Democratic Central Committee met and framed a series of resolutions, setting forth several necessary reforms, which the people demanded, and these resolutions were offered to a mass meeting of the Democratic party, called for the purpose, for ratification or rejection. At this meet considerable debate arcse as to the propriety of recommend ing to the Legislature the entire abolishment of the County Court, or to allow the present judges to serve out their time, for which the Biack Republicans elected them—the latter was the recommendation of the Central Committee; but other gentlemen desired to go further, and recommend that the present judges be turned out and new ones ap-pointed to fill out their unexpired terms. Great Rheumatic and Neuralgiac Remedy.

SUTYERING HUMANITY READ THIS:
The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DUVALL'S GALVANIO OIL in relieving suffering humanity.

I was an observer of its effects in a friend of mine, who euffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the patient was asleep, and when awakened was free from pain, and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. A case of Felon was cured in nearly the same length of time.

Mr. Editor: The subject of the above Obituary Notice, was indeed one of the most interesting, and at the same time lovely little boys that it has ever failent on my lot to have placed under my charge, so noble, manilke, ingenu ous, and original in all his ways and actions, he was notonly deeply beloved, by his afflicted and sorrowing parents, but was also the beloved one of all who knew him. in fact, he appeared in reality to be one of "Nature's little Noblemen," and none who knew him can help but truely and deeply to sympathize with them, in this their sat occave ment. It seems, however, that he was too fair a blossom for this sarth, and has in the insecrutable dispensation of a just and all wise God, been removed to fairer realms above. May they and we endeavor so to live, as to be enabled to meet him there, in that fair and happy land, where all our tolis and sorrows shall have an end, and sighs forever cease. "Peace to his ashes."

He's gone to God from whence he came,
Even in his youth and nobleness of frame;
Now we shall feel the loss of him the more.
Regret we may his absence, yet not his fate deplore.
Yet as the visitation of our God,
Gives forth regret while lungering near the sod.
Reserte our sorrows for the little darling flenry.
And ne'er forego his dearly cherished memory:
Yet ever with submission though we humbly bow,
Regard and mourn for years to come his loss as even now,

And me'er forego his dearly cherished memory:
Yet ever with submission though we humbly bow,
Regard and mourn for years to come his loss as even now,
Ever at his grave as sad we stand and of him think.
Endure the stroke, not yet recoil though near upon it link.
May we not plainly see and also hear the call.
See death's door opens near us, and we must enter all,
Now echoed by the archangels thrilling voice,
Ye hear the mandate which bids us all rejoice;
Death is the common lot of all our race.
Each and every one of us, shall soon behold this loved one
face to face,
Robles we may at death's approach and welcome his embrace,

tion which County and Township officers, and citize generally will find to be a valuable assistant in the di charge of public duties as well as in the transaction of to ordinary business of private life. and merite sctenire ci

RYIN M. ROHERE—Deer Sir.—I have examined you
It is not a philosophical or exhaustive treatise ou bject of Arithmetic, and I understand that such

the subject of Attinueuc, and a design.

It is practical, and contains matter of very great value to business men. The whole is so well arranged and so clearly expressed, that I doubt not Parmers, Mechanics, and others will resort to it for information much more frequently than to heavier and more pretending works.—
Teachers also might use it to advantage in their schools.

Yours truly,

J. P. WICKERSHAM,
Principal of Norman School.

M. M. ROHEKE—Dear Sir.—I received your work "Manual of Plain Rules and Calculations for Business Operations," for which you will please accept my thanks.

I, as well as my mathematical teacher, Mr. RICKERS, have given it an examination, and we both concur in the opinion that it is a valuable work for Farmers. Mechanics and Laborers, enabling them to compute anything that may arise in their business transactions. We have also found that it contains many rules very much simplified, so that they can be easily understood by any one that has some knowledge of Arithmetic.

Yours Respectfully.

M. M. Rohrre-Dear Sir.—I have examined with some care your "Practical Calculator," and am free to say that in my opinion it is well adapted to be useful and convenient in the practical transactions of affairs. So far as I have investigated its various parts, I find the rules which you set forth to be both accurate and easily understood; and they are brought together in a form very convenient for ordinary use, and one in which they can be consulted with great facility. Your little work would be a mest hane; year mecum for Farmers, Mechanics and dealers in nearly every branch of business.

Yours Respectfull*, THOMAS E. COCHRAN, Attorney at Law.

MARTIN M. ROHRER, Eq.—Dear Sir.—Haying examined your "Practical Calculator," or "Manual of Plain Rules and Calculations for Business Operations," with some care, I have no heeitation in recommending it to the business community as a work of merit. The rules, as far as I have investigated them, are accurate and easily comprehended, and are collected together in a very convenient form for consultation. I think also that Parents and Teachers will find that it will be a great auxiliary in the education of youth, and may be used with much advantage in Schools. In short, I balieve the work only needs to be examined to insure it an extense circulation.

Yours truly

J. B. LIVINGSTON,
Attorney at Law.

Lancaster, Pa, Feb. 6, 1859.

Martin M. Rohree—Dear Sir.—After a careful examination of your "Practical Calcutator," I am free to say that it merits my fullest approbation—and that I have introduced it into my Institute. It is brief, compact, and divested to a very great degree of the why's and wherefore which are necessarily contained in the text books of Schools and Golleyes. It is at once brought down to the comprehension and practical wants of that large class of our business people who have not had the advantages of aliberal education in matters pertaining to business calculations—and as such merits an extensive circulation. But whits it is intended, I apprehend, more particularly for this class, it also contains a vast amount of practical information not in the possession, yet eminently worthy the attention of many of our more pretending business people.

Yours truly,

This is a handsome 12 mo. volume of 152 pages, printed on good paper and plain type, bound in fiexible cloth covers, in a style adapted equally well for the pocket or the book-shelf. It "offers alike to the farmer, the merchant, the merchant, the merchant, and the daily laborer, the means which will enable him to compute alimest any example arising in the particular sphere he may occupy;" and on this account must meet with a ready sale.

This work is based exrusively on Decimals, the principle of our currency, as being at once simple and readily understood; vulger fractions are wholly excluded as an element of the work. It contains about 200 rules and over 150 explained examples, all of a practical nature, and such as arise daily in the ordinary pur-uits of life—the aim of the author being, evidently, to make it a hand book indispensable to business men. The tables of the weights and measures are complete and accurate, and to have them in so convenient a form is worth the price of the book.

The work is copiously rilustrated with notes, which will enable the most limited capacity in mathematics to apply the rules practically to business. Indeed, we know of no other book which contains so mived useful information in so simple a form, and almost any one will be willing to give fifty cents for a copy.

(From the Lancater Examiner & Herald.)

Here we have a work which will commend i self to all. The farmer, the mechanic, the merchant, in fact every man, whatever his occupation, will be enabled to make his own calculations without reacting to the conveyancer or village Squire. The low price at which the is published places it within the reach of all.

The Author and Publisher, M. M. Rohrer, has furnished us with a cory of this excellent little work. From a very cursory glance at its contents, we are of the opinion that it is admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. And as such we cheeffully recommend it to the patronage of the public.

ROHRER'S PRACTICAL CALCULATOR—A Pecket Manual of plain Rules and Calculations for Business operations by M. M. Rohrer, carefully revised by Rev. Theodore Hopkins. A. M., Frincipal of the Yeates Institute, Lancaster. Pa., has been placed upon our Table by the Author. The following extract from the pecatory remarks of the Author will explain in few words the object of the Book: "The utility of such a work is too obvious to need commendation—inasmuch as it offers alike to the farmer, the merchant, the mechanic, the artisan, and the daily laborer, the means which will enable him to compute almost any example arising in the particular sphere he may occupy." The work is handsom-ly got up in cloth covers, and printed on good paper, containing 162 pages of useful information.

covers, and printed on good paper, containing 10s bages of useful information.

Romers's Practical Calculatora—Martin M. Robrer, Esq., of Lancaster, Lar "ecently issued—compiled, written, printed and publish: "—a little work destined, we believe, to bring him not one, benow that the printed and publish: "—a little work destined, we believe, to bring him not one, benow that the same Calculations for Business operations." It supplies a public want in offering in a compact, portable form, plain, simple rules for every calculation required in ordinary business. To the man who has so far outgrown his schooling as to feel ruly when called upon for work or estimates out of the line of his every day transactions, it affords the clue most readily and conveniently, while to one deficient in all but the rudiments of a mathematical education its lucid rules and examples are sufficient to enable him to solve every question presenting itself in any but extraordinary business transactions. As a handy book of reference it is invaluable, and may be relied on as authority. In addition to Mc. Robrer's care in complication and calculation it has undergous thorough revision at the hands of Rev. Theo. Hopkins, A. M., Principal of the Yeates Institute." an accomplished scholar. Mr. Robrer's enterprise in issuing this valuable little work deserves the Yeates Institute." an accomplished scholar. Mr. Robrer's enterprise in issuing this valuable little work deserves the reward of success already indicated in a daily increasing demand throughout the country wherever introduced.

Lancaster. Feb. 12. 1859.

Ms. M. Robrers—Sir—I have examined. With some care your "Practical Calculator," and have found it sadmirably adapted to the purpose for which it was designed. It presents to the artisan and business man, generally, plain and simply rules and forms, by which, nearly all the ordinary calculations of business life may be performed.

or any all the ordinary calculations of business lile may be performed.

The Rules and Tables for the calculation of interest and for the Assessment of Taxes, will I think, be found extremely useful and advantageous.

The formulas of calculation for nearly all kinds of mechanical work will much faciliate the 1-boring mun, in bis every day operations, and who has not time to hunt up and examine more voluminous works: whilst the amount of useful and instructive matter interspersed throughout the "Practical Calculator" will more than repay a hundred times the small sum expended in its purchase.

In April, 1856, se near as I can remember, a small pling B-dford county:

In April, 1856, se near as I can remember, a small pling be made its appearance on my upper lip, which soon be came enlarged and sore. I used poultices of sorrel, and a wash of blue vitriol, without effect. Finding these remedies of no avail, I called upon Dr. Shaffer, of Davidsville, Somerst county, who also pronounced the disease Cancer, and gave me internal and external remedies—the latter consisting principally of caustic; but all to no purpose, as the disease continued spreading toward the nose I next used a preparation of arsenic, in the form of salve. This for a time checked the disease, but the inflammation soon increased. I next called upon Dr. Statler, of St. Clairsville, Someration of a senior, in the form of salve. This for a time checked the disease, but the inflammation soon increased. I next called upon Dr. Statler, of St. Clairsville, and so effect whatever in checking the spread of the sore. In December, of the same year, the disease had eaten away a greater part of my upper lip, and bad attacked the nose, when I went to Cincinnati where I considered the nose, when I went to Cincinnati where I considered by an incrdinate use of mercury. He applied mild incointiment, and gave me internal remedies. My face healed up, but the inflammation was not thoroughly removed. In February, 1857, he pronounced me curred, and so violent was the pain that I could not rest at night! Late is May I returned to Cincinnati, and again placed myself under the charge of Dr. Newton, with whom I remained until September, during which time he used every known remedy, and partly succeeded in checking the disease charging ulners upon my face. I continued using Newton's preparations, and also medicine that I got from Dr. Ely, but that a cure was impossible. In March, 1858, I being the part of the part of the

Every day's observation proves incontestibly the rapid growth of Homeopathy in public favor. The blessings that have flown from the brilliant discoveries of Hahnemann, are now confined to no geographical limits, for within the boundaries of all civilized nations we find multitudes of votaries to the Homeopathic faith. How cou dit be otherwise? The record of her splendid schievements in every known form of disease, stands without a parallel in any other system of medicine ever devised. That the advantages of this plan of treatment may become still more popularized, we have prepared a Catalogue of Home-pathic remedies, embracing thirty distinct setts, adapted to the following named complaints, viz:

A Dyspepsia,
C. Costiveness,
B. Bore Throat or Quinsy,
C. Cholera Morbus,
