SONNET TO THE BLUE BIRD.

Sweet messenger of Spring, coming bird,
How from the budding top of yonder elm,
That haunts or hovering there, I've stood and heard,
With throbbing heart, thy embassy of love.
Sweet bird! art thou commissioned to our realm,
Ambassador to cheer the wretched groan,
To tell the daisy when to lift its head,
To whisper to the tulip that 'tis time
With fearless smile to wake a wintry bed;
Or dost thou sing to wake the red-breast up,
To rouse the sleeping songsters to their chime,
And tell them all the chirping notes to hear,
Oh, if you come for this, sweet bird of Spring,
Welcome, thrice welcome, for the news you bring.

STAND FIRM.

There are moments when life's shadows,
Fall all darkly on the soul;
Hiding stars of hope behind them
In a black impervious scroll;
When we walk with trembling footsteps,
Scarcely knowing how to tread;
The dim paths we tread are leading,
In our midnight of despair.
Not a ray to cheer us onward—
Not a gleam from out the past—
While the roar of clashing waters
Comes to us upon each blast;
Ay! another step may plunge us
In the death abyss below;
And—another step may save us
From the very depths of woe.
