Sr. Louis, July 25, 1859.

The weather continued oppressively warm up to Friday night, when we had a fine refreshing shower, which continued during the whole night, and from all accounts it was a general rain throughout the West. It was much needed, and has inspired new hopes among the farmers-you could almost see the corn growing yesterday. Everything looks well in the country.

The rivers are in tolerable fair stage of water, but freights are scarce. Business in the city is dull. Sales on.'Change Saturday were as follows-Hemp from $105 to $114; Bag-ging 14c per yd; Rope 7½c; Lead $5,15; Flour from $4,55 to $5: Wheat 721/to $1,13; Corn 78 to 83c; Oats 45 to 50c; Whisky 25c; Hides 171/2c per lb.

The democrats of Maine, Vermont, Ohio, and Iowa have recently held their State con ventions and nominated candidates to be supported at the fall elections. No factional lst. course was pursued in the selection of candidates, and the greatest unanimity prevailed throughout their deliberations. Dead issues were ignored, no divisions in the party were encouraged nor recognized, and, judging from the spirit manifested, there will be a larger democratic vote in these States than has been polled for many years. In each of these conventions the Cincinnati platform was adopted as the position of the party on national questions, and the doctrine of congressional non intervention with slavery in the Territories reaffirmed—leaving the people of the Territories free to decide this, as well as all other questions of domestic interest, in

He has almost every qualification for it, if we may a judge from his printed addresses. There is no mandlin sentimentality about him : but all is healthful as the breeze on the hill. There is no clap-trup: he is both too homest of the, nor any effeminate apologizing for 11, but a wise 'Christian man's righteous hatred of it, who knows how to look on those who are sin-degraded as his brethree. His and too earnest for that. There is neither a 'harisule scorn of vice, nor any effeminate apologizing for 11, but a wise 'Christian man's righteous hatred of it, who knows how to look on those who are sin-degraded as his brethree. His a higher level; and, though he uses their daily phrases, yet he does not thereby pander to vulgarity. He has a happy acqualatance with our b-usely common sense pro-verses, and employs them feelingly. There is no affectation of extraordinary 'concern for the poor' or their 'souls' but thero is that real maniy concern which can afford to dispense with profession, and to express iteell chiefly in came but brave and sensibly earnest endeavours. The prover', Much cry and little wool,' you may retrose in his case. His true desire to benefit the people is partly shown by the genis with which he cellects and prepares the statistics of vice, poverty, disease, &c., in order that his well-marshalled facts may preach to the understanding. The genuineness of his earnestness is winced by the cheer-fulcess with which it toils along the highway of common eense. He has no recourse to reckless, undiscriminating charges, and is too strong for exaggeration. Truth is enongh for him, would that this were no distinction! While he faithfully touches the werst vices, yet yon never fiel that the censor himself must have a coarse taste or prurient imagination. These Sunday afternoon lectures are not 'sermona,' advantage.
