STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, of Illinois.

EPHEN ARNOLD DOUGLAS was born at Bran don, Rutland county, Vermont, on the 23d of April, 1813. His father, a native of New York, and a physician of prominence, died suddenly of apoplexy when his son Stephen was a little more than two months old. The widow, Mrs. Douglas, took her infant and a daughter some een months older, to a farm which she had inherited conjointly with her unmarried brother. Stephen received such an education as a common school could bestow, and, arriving at common school could bestow, and, arriving at the age of fifteen, looked auxiously toward a college course. His family were unable to af-ford the requisite expense; in which event he, thinking it time to earn his own liying, left the farm and apprenticed himself to a cabinet-maker, at which trade he worked, partly at Middlebury and partly at Brandon, for eighteen months. The severity of eighteen months' application at the cabinet-maker's bench so impaired his health, that he abandoned the occupation, though not without some regret; for he has often since said that the happiest days of his life were spent in the works tering the academy at Brandon he studied for a year, when, his mother, after a widowhood of sixteen years, having married Mr. GRANGER, of Ontario county, New York, whose son had previously wedded her daughter, he d to Canandaigua with his mother, and entered the academy at that place. Here he remained until 1833, studying law with the Iesara. Hubbril. Young, and with the instincts which latent power creates, he desired a fresh field; and so, in the spring of 1833, he started West in search of an eligible place in which to woo and win fortune as a lawyer. The way to for une, like the course of true love, does not always run smooth. Young Douglas was prostrated by a summer at Cleveland. After his recovery he continued his search for an "eligible place," visiting Cincinnati, Louisville, and St. Louis in vain. At Jacksonville, Illinois, he was no better pleased, though the state of his fundsnow reduced to thirty seven and a half cents, offered some reason why he might not proceed. If his pockets were empty, however, his heart was full and gave him strength; and applying this strength to the best nee he walked Winchester, a little town sixteen miles distant, where he hoped to obtain employment as

At Winchester, a large crowd had collected around the stock of a deceased trader, which was about to be sold by auction. Instinctively, young Douglas was soon in the front rank of the crowd, to see what was going on. The auctioneer was st a stand still. He wanted a clerk to keep the sale accounts. DougLAS. looking like a man who could read and write was invited to the clerkship, and promptly ac cepted it. For his three days' service in this position he received six dollars, with which apital he immediately opened a school and obtained forty scholars, whom he taught for three months at three dollars each. Spending his days in teaching the youth of Winchester, his nights were devoted to his own instruction. Borrowing some law-books in Jacksonville, he mastered their contents, and on Saturday afternoons displayed his book learning with great effect while practising in petty cases be fore the justice of the peace of the town. After an examination, he obtained a license from the Juiges of the Supreme Court, and in March, 1834, opened an office and commenced practice in the higher courts.

One year after his admission, while not yet twenty-two years old, and not over eighteen months a resident of Illinois, the Legislature elected him Attorney-General of the State.-In December, 1835, he resigned this office, having been elected to the Legislature by the Democrats of Morgan county. In 1837 he was appointed Register of the Land Office at Springl. Illinois, by President VAN BUREN, and held the office until 1839, when he resigned. In the mean time, although ineligible on the score of age, Mr. Douglas received the Democratic nomination for Congress, in November, 1837. Over 36,000 votes were cast, and the Whig candidate was declared elected by a majority of five,—there being more ballots re-jected by the canvassers, in consequence of jected by the canvassers, in consequence of the mis spelling of Mr. Douglas's name, than would have changed the result.

Mr. Douglas now devoted himself exclusively to his profession, and distinguished himself, especially in a case touching the rights of foreign-born voters. In 1840 he entered upon the I residential contest in favor or VAN BUREN and Democracy with great ardor. He traversed the State for seven n addressed more than two hundred political gatherings-about one every day; and to his reat exertions is ascribed the adherence of Illinois to the Democracy in that eventful and exciting campaign. Illinois gave her full vote for ∇ an Buren. In December of this year, Mr. Douglas was appointed Secretary of State for Illinois; and in February following he was elected by the Legislature a Judge of the Su preme Court. In 1843 he resigned his seat on he bench to accept the Democratic nomination

He was chosen by a majority of four hundred. In 1844 he was re-elected by a majority of nineteen hundred, and again in 1846, by nearly three thousand majority. He did not take his seat under the last election, having been in the meantime elevated to the United States Senate for six years, from March 4 1847; in which high position he has continued

In the House of Representatives Mr. Douglas took a prominent position on the Oregon con-troversy with England, maintaining our title to the whole of Oregon up to 54 deg. 40 min., and declaring that he never would inch of Oregon, either to Great Britain or any other Government HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, of Georgia.

HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, who has just been appointed by the authority vested in the comttee of the Front-st. Theatre Democratic Convention, as the candidate for Vice President. in place of Mr. Fitzpatrick, who declined that honor, is a native of Georgia. He was born in Burke county, in that State, September 18th, 1812, and is, therefore, in the forty eight year of his age. He has received a education, having graduated at the University of Georgia in 1834, afterwards adopting the profession of law, in which he achieved some success. Mr. Johnson was a presidential elector in 1844, and in 1848 was appointed to fill a vacancy in the United States Senate. In the year 1849 he was elected a Judge in the Superior Court of his

tion, for President. JOHN C. BRECKINEIDGE is thirty-nine years old, and Vice President of the United States. He is a Kentuckian, born near Lexington, January 16, 1821, and is a scholar, lawyer and soldier For these pursuits he was educated at Centre College, Princeton, Transylvania Insti-tute, and on the field in Mexico. After the close of the Mexican War, he returned to his practice the bar, but was soon elected to the Legislature of Kentucky, and very soon after that again to the National House of Representatives, where he served from 1852 to 1855. During the latter p. riod he was offered the mission to ing temptation to so young a man, but after a short reflection the proffer was modestly but firmly declined, because his business and peraffairs required home attention, and because of his desire to withdraw for a time from public life. This purpose he obeyed until the Cincinnati Convention, in 1856, by its sponta-Cincinnati Convention, in 1990, by he spenta-neous suffrage, afterwards confirmed by the people, made him Vice President of the United States. By virtue of this office he is now presiding over the American Senate. His term does not expire until the 3d of March, 1861, but he has already been returned to the Senate to represent the State of Kentucky, from that day until March 3d, 1867

JOSEPH LANE, of Oregon.

Candidate of the Seceding Democratic Con-vention for Vice President. Joseph Lane, the second son of John Lane and ELIZABETH STREET, was born in North Carolina, on the 14th of December, 1801. In his fifteenth year he became a clerk in a mer cantile house in Indiana. In 1821 he married and settled on the banks of the Ohio, in Indiana, where his family continue to reside. In 1822 he was chosen a member of the Legislature, serving in that capacity, with occasional ntervals, until 1846. He supported General Jackson in 1824-28 32; Van Buren in 1836-40. and Polk in 1844. His courage while in the State Legislature was marked by a devoted patriotism and a singleness of purpose to advance the prosperity of Indiana. He was most vance the prosperity of Indiana active in the arrangement by which the State was saved from bankruptcy, and her honor from the stain of repudiation. None but those who were residents of the State in that trying time can sufficiently estimate his invaluable services on this important question. In the year 1846 he was member of the State Senate, hat resigned his sest when a call was made on Indiana to furnish volunteers for the Mexican war. He entered the army as a private, and in a few months afterwards, was appointed Brigadier General. He served with distinction during the war, and covered himself with dism. out his solicitation, and organized the government; was elected delegate to Congress in 1851, and is now one of the United States Senators from the State of Oregon. In politics General Lane is a democrat of the Jeff and Jackson school, and is thoroughly ac quainted with the history and politics of this country. His retentive memory and quick, active intellect enable him to turn to immediate and effective use the more important facts and incidents connected with our institutions. He is more a man of action than words—more practical than theoretical—and presents him-self with a mind formed rather by a study of things than of their mere names.

THE CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR ON THE TARIFF QUESTION. The Washington correspondent of the Harrisburg Patriot & Union, under date of June 12th, speaks of the rival candidates for Governor of Pennsylvania, as follows:

Gen. Foster left this city for his home, yes terday, after having earnestly importuned every Senator in the Senate, who was not llready favorable to the passage of a Tariff bill this session. He is sanguine that a bill will pass that will be both acceptable and satisfactory to the iron and coal men of his native State. Too much praise cannot be awarded by the iron and coal men of our State to General Foster for his devotion to their interests. His competitor, Col. Curtin, came here on Friday, and left the same day, company with a certain Wm. B. Mann, o Philadelphia, Pa., without ever having as tempted to forward the passage of the Tariff bill an inch. I state these facts to show that it is due from Mr. Curtin to his people, that he should, in some plausible manner or other, explain his incomprehensible conduct on this Tariff question. It will not do for Col. Curtin to say that he has been always in favor of Tariff, and therefore there was no necessity for him to make any new demonstration in that direction. I say, it will not do for Col. Curtin to assume this attitude. His treachery to both men and principles is of too recent date to be either looked over or forgotten .-The People's candidate for Governor of Penn sylvania has played this game of double dealng too much of late to be trusted far out o sight of those whose interests are in any manner entrusted to his care. His long connection with the Know Nothing party, and the decep tions practiced in that party united to a dispo sition naturally slippery and uncertain, have given to Col. Curtin's mind a decided bias for low intrigues and lamentable deception. The display which he recently made at Chicago, when he assisted, assassin like, to stab hi friends and barter away the interests of his party, and the rights of his State, for some promise of future official recognition, or pres ent gain, affords one of the most painful chap ters in the public or private history of a prominent man that we find recorded in modern biography. The bitter fruits of that base betrayal will yet be commended to the burning palate of this modern Judas in a styled that will bring their full measure of repentance in due time, or we are no prophet. One of the humanitarian movements of the times although little known as such, can hardly be over estimated in its importance upon the well being of our widely scattered printed. communities. The population of the American States is in many sections so sparse, that them. Vest numbers of our people, are relief as they can hear of from each other, or indeed any they can get from any quarter. Hence arises the great consumption of Patent Medicines among us, greater by far than in any of the old countries, where skillful physicians are accessible to all classes. Unprincipled men have long availed them selves of this necessity, to palm off their worthless nostrums, until the word has become monimous with imposition and cheat. One of our leading Chemists in the East, Dr. Ayer, is pursuing a course which defeats this iniquity. He brings not only his own but the best skill of our times to bear, for the production of the best remedies which can be made. These are supplied to the world, in a convenient form, at low prices, and the people will no more buy poor medicines in read of good, at the same they wil bran instead of flour. The inevitable consequence of this is, the vile compounds that flod our country are discarded for those which honestly accomplish the end in view-which cure. Do we over estimate its importance, in believing that that prospect of supplacting the by word medicines, with those of actual worth and virtue, is fraught with inmense consequence for good, to the Spain by President Pierce. This was a glitter- masse of our people.—Gazette and Chronicle,

CRO' REPORTS FROM THE WEST.—The Cincinnat Gazette, of the 20th of June, remarks as follows: "With reference to the future prosperty of the West, there is a feeling of unmixed confidence in financial circles, and commercial men are looking forward to a season o unexampled prosperity. Opinions pointing in this direction are based, of course, Opinions upon the splendid-crop prospects of the country. "he latter are still liable to undergo a change so far as regards corn, but the progress of this crop, so far, has been all that could be desired. Wheat is considered out of darger, and a good crop in all the wheat growing States north of the Mississippi may be counted upon. Last year there was about halfacrop in those States, and yet there was enough and to spare, the surplus being much larger than at this date last year. The ap proacting harvest will yield about twice a muchas that of 1858. In some localities this will tot be the case, but in the aggregate this result will be realized. Oats, barley, rye and potaties promise a full crop in the We there will also be a fair yield of hay. Should the carn turn out as well as it promises at present, there will be nothing wanting to render satisfactory the result of the harvest

THE GREAT EASTERN. As this monster steamship, the large essel in the world, is now at New York having arrived there on Thursday afternoon, after a voyage of twelve days, some of our readers may be glad to refresh their memories especting her. The construction of the Great Eastern was commenced in 1855, and she was nearly three years in building, having been launched in the early part of 1858 She was designed by Isamberd K. Brunel, is owned by the "Eastern Steam Navigation Company," and has cost, including a sum spent in launching, and for repairs rendered necessary by an explosion, something over three millions of dollars. She is made of iron, the plates three-fourths of an inch thick, bolted together by rivets, an inch in diameter. She was built on the eastern bank of the Thames, at Milwall, adjoining London. The first efforts to launch her were made on the 3d of November, 1857, but it was not until the 31st of the succeeding January that she floated. From that time until the 7th of September she was being made ready for her trial trip, which took place on that day.

Her hull is 680 feet long and 83 broad, and some idea of the immense size of the vessel may be formed from the fact that the North, South, Fourth, Pearl street, St. John's and Presbyterian churches in New York city could all stand upon her deck lengthwise and with 58 feet to spare. Across her paddle boxes she is 120 feet broad, and the length of her upper deck is 692 feet. Her capacity 18, 975 tons. The height of her hull is 6 feet, and a walk around her deck is equal to a quarter of a mile. The vessel is designed to accommodate 4,000 passengers—800 first class, 2,000 second class, and 1,200 third class. The engineers and crew, 350 in number, will be accommodated near the two ends of the vessel. The forecastle is 140 feet long and 8 feet high. The hull is divided into ten water tight compartments. There are two longitudinal walls of iron running through her, 36 feet apart, so that her hull is a series of cells. She has accommodations for 5,000 tons of freight and 11,000 tons of coal. The accommodations for passengers are of course ample. There are ten salcons altogether-five on the unner and five on the lower deck-the length varying from sixty to seventy feet. The furniture is rich heautiful. Most of these saloons are fifteen feet high, and adjoining some of them are two tiers of state rooms, one above the other. Some of the state rooms are as large as an ordinary parlor, and fitted up for the convenience of families. The propelling power is in enormous steam ngines, acting upon both paddle wheels and the screw. The paddle engines are 1,000 horse power, and the screw 1,600 horse power, giving a total of 2,600 horse power, at a pressure of 25 lbs; though if necessary, they can work to a force of upwards of 10, 600 horses. There are ten boilers, and each boiler can be cut off from its neighbor, and used or not, as desired. The boilers are placed longitudinally along the centre of the ship, and are entirely independent of each Every paddle boiler has ten furnaces, and each screw boiler twelve furnaces, thus giving to the whole the large number of one hundred and twelve furnaces. The fuel intended to be used is anthracite coal Great Eastern has six masts, five of which are made of hollow wrought iron, and is arranged to carry 6,500 yards of canvass. A telegraphic apparatus is in the captain's office, by means which his orders are conveyed to every part of the ship. She carries twenty large boats on deck and swings on davits two screw steamers, one hundred feet long and between sixty and seventy tons burthen. It is expected that the Great Eastern will be anchored for about a week off the Battery, and then taken to her wharf, East River, at the foot of Hammond street. The ship started on a trial trip on the 9th, running twelve hours out to sea, and twelve hours back. The trial was regarded as satisfactory, although the rate of speed attained did not at any time exceed 134 knots, the average being 124

WHERE THERE'S A WILL,

BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL. Young Willie Green, to Nelly Dean,

Young Willie Green, to Nelly Dean,
Remarked one Sunday night;
"I have a Prayer Book, Nelly dear,
I'll read the marriage rite."
He glanced at Nell, and in her eyes
There beamed a meaning light.
"Close up the book," she, smiling, said;
"I have a word to say
About a portion of that rite,—
"The honor and obey "—a.
For well you know the women, Will,
Are bound to have their way."
"Yoe," Willie said, "more thet point. Are count to nave their way."

"Yes," Willie said, "upon that point,
No doubts my mind can fill;
You've ever had your way, dear Nell,
Of course, you'll have it still;
Because there always is a way,
Wherever there's a Will."

"I see the point;" fair Nelly fair, "My heart is satisfied; For when I am of Willie Green
The loving, constant bride,
I, then, shall always have my Will,
And in that Will take pride."

"O dearest Nell!" responded Will,
"If that is what you say,
I'll lead you to the alter, love,
In two weeks from to-day;
Thank Heaven that where there is a will,
There's such a pleasant way!"

In clothes he bought at Tower Hall,
Young Green will married be:
He saved enough on wedding clothes
To pay the marriage fee—
A nice atrangement, any one,
With half an eye, can see; And ev'ry man resolved to wed,
Will prudent be, and say,
'I'll save enough on wedding clothes
The clergyman to pay;
I have the will, and Bennett's Bard
Has pointed out the way."

O PERSON OF SWEET OF OR W

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have bored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been amicted fellow-cutterns. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:

SCROPULA AND SCROPULOUS COMPLAINTS.

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUKORS, SALT RHEUE, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILE AND SYPHILITIO AP. PECTIONS, MERCUEIAL DIBRASE, DROPST, NEU-RALGIA OR TIO DOULOURBUX, DEBLITY, DYS-PEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great pro-moter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the time-ly expulsion of them many ranking disorders are mipped in the bud. Multitudes can by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the itiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised and have become name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on

PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO. LOWELL, MASS.
