George Nelson Smith, of Cambria, was selected as temporary President. On taking the Chair, he said it was time for prompt, history was a party so unhappily dissevered. It is to be hoped that our course will be in the line of duty and according to the usages of the Democratic party. [Applause.]

Charles Brown, of Philadelphia, addressed the Convention. He said our duty was a plain one. It is to go once to the bounds all power—the people of Pennsylvania. [Applain one. Mr. Wright took the chair amid loud applause and cheers for Douglas. Mr. Wrightsaid: We have assembled to resist rank usurpation. He would vote for no such mongrel concern recommended by the State Committee. If he could not vote for the regular Democratic nominees, and them alone, he would stay at home and weep for the degeneracy of the Electoral ticket, or usurp the powers of the Democratic State Committee by calling a State Convention. He believed it would be sufficient for this meeting to declare Douglas and Johnson the regular nominees of the Democratic Whatever may be done, he would be villing to make it his party creed. But let there be deep deliberation before action. He would not be willing to submit to the action of the old Reading Convention which had been disbanded, but he would consent that the people should form a new Convention to present an Electoral ticket. The leaders of the secession movement look forward to a Southern Confederacy. He defied their oppo-sition. In conclusion, he advised the members of the Convention to be cautious as well as effectual. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed with Richard Vaux as Chairman. Joshua T. Owen, General Davis and General W. H. Miller addressed the Convention. The Committee on Resolutions after considerable debate, reported the following: WHEREAS, We, the Democrats from all parts

Mr. Fisher, of York, addressed the Convention at length on the strength of the Douglas Democracy in his county and in the State. He said it consisted of nearly the whole party as originally constituted. An amendment to the resolutions was

Mr. Chase, of Luzerne, replied in a speech which caused some excitement. Though a Douglas man, he was not disposed to be ruled out of the Democratic organization, and contended that the Electoral ticket framed at Reading should be sustained until it was mutilated. [Cries of it has been mutilated.] Gen. Davis, of Bucks, suggested that the Chairman of this Convention be empowered to appoint one or two members from each Congressional district to act with the minority of the State Executive Committee, and form an Electoral ticket in case the committee fuse to do justice. Gen. Ward, of Bradford, argued in favor of the resolutions and conciliation, as according to the usages of the party. We should not fall into the same trap as our opponents by breaking the rules of the party. He wanted to avoid any interference with the legal actions of the State Committee, which is the regular agent of the party appointed at Read which belongs to the National Democratic ing. We have before us a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Proceedings of the State Convention what is best to be done, and to lay our action of the States Rights Democracy of Pennsylbefore the Democratic party of the State. He traced the history of the Baltimore Couven April 13, 1859." This document is particularly interesting at a time when another only against the men who are endeavoring to break down the Democratic party. Should the disorganization and defeat of the Demowe be defeated now we will lay the foundation cratic party, is about to assemble in the Capitol. We discover that some of the mer who figured in that Convention are actively engaged in getting up this one. But a curiou by the election of Hendrick B. Wright, of feature in the business is, that whereas the Luzerne, as President, with a number of Vice Convention of 1859 was called to assert the doctrine of States Rights, the Convention of 1860 is called for the opposite purpose o asserting the superior authority of a Federal Committee over the Democratic State organization. In 1859 the factionists were strengous States Rights men-now they are just as bitterly opposed to States Rights. This is certainly a curious circumstance, and it shows beyond doubt that these disorganizers have times. He might question the propriety of the body of men now assembled to form an ing cry to promote their treasonable projects. ing cry to promote their treasonable projects. The States Rights men of 1859 have become metamorphosed into the anti States Rights revolutionists of 1860. We find that, upon motion of Mr. Forney. who has since been amply rewarded for his labors in behalf of States Rights Democracy by the Republicans, a Committee of twenty five was appointed to prepare an ad dress; and that, upon motion of Mr. Camp bell, of Huntingdon, who has since found refuge in the bosom of the Republican party and is advertised to make a speech at West Chester for Lincoln and Curtin, it was resolved to transfer the votes of the States Rights Democracy to the Republican State ticket.— Forney was Chairman, Forney controlled its determination, and Forney now has his re-ward. These facts are peculiarly significant at this time.

We find, also, in the proceedings of this Convention a speech delivered by John Hick-man to the States Rights Democracy, assembled in Convention to purify the Democratic party, which concludes with these prophetic words:

"Look not back—we have learned the past; but onward, onward, with steady eye and unwavering step. The goal is before you You will remmember that when Orpheus lost Eurydice, he followed her even into the abode of Hades, where, by the power of his lyre, he won her back; but it was enjoined upon him that he should not look upon per until he had arrived in the upper air. At the very moment they were passing the fatal bounds, it is said, his love overcame him, and looking around to know that she was following him. she was caught back into the infernal regions. The story embodies a pregnant moral. If you would regain the loved and the lost, then forward ! forward !"

In pursuance of his own advice, Mr. Hickman went "onward, onward, with steady eye and unwavering step," until he reached the changing their summer hue. The small and Republican fold, in which he is now safely tender branches have all been stung by these which it alone derived authority.

Lincoln, Hamlin and Curtin, to be followed by an address from his friend and fellow delegate to the States Rights Convention, Mr.

Campbell, of Huntingdon.

These are valuable and instructive reminis cences, and in their light many of the actors in the Convention of Thursday next may read their future. Forward! Forward! the goal is full before you! - Harrisburg Patriot.

THE OHIO WINE CROP.-Mr. R. Buchanan, of this city, who has been identified with grape culture since it was first attempted in Ohio, for wine making purposes, says that there are now about four thousand acres laid out in vineyards in Ohio, of which about one half are in the vicinity of Cincinnati. The yield last year is estimated at 350 gallons per acre, for the whole State, which is much above the isual average. From a careful estimate of the vintages for the last twelve years, the per acre; on well cultivated vineyards, in favorable positions, 300 gallons, which is about the average product in France and Germany. In Missouri and Illinois, the vield did not exceed 200 per acre, owing to the prevalence of the rot, and Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina, it is very much reduced by a destructive frost in April. It is is said the amount as well as the quality of the various wines produced in the different States of the Union is steadily gaining. The business is as profitable as any branch of agriculture—perars more so at present prices-two to three ioliars per gallon. The culture of the grape has become very extensive in this country It is not confined to any section, but seems to flourish alike in the West, the South, and New England. It is anticipated that, with good weather, the Ohio vineyards will yield this year 1,600,000 gallons. There are also extenive vineyards in Missouri and other Western States, and in North and South Carolina Georgia, Tennessee and Texas. The culture s also extending in Connecticut. Grape growers say that this is to be a great wine rear. - Cin. Press.

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA. - This fearful disease among the cattle has made its appearance in the lower end of Montgomery county, and several cows have died of it. One farmer lost three fine animals, and others have lost one and two. The disease as it has appeared here s not so fatal as reported from other sections -more than one half recovering. Some of the diseased cattle it is said were slaughtered in Philadelphia, and one in particular, too sick to be removed, was kindly killed and the beef removed to the shambles, to satisfy the appetites of carniverous Philadelphians.— Doylestown Democrat.

Delivering Papers from "Furnished Lists."—Decision of the Postmaster General. Many readers may not be aware that a law was passed by Congress, near the close of the last session, imposing upon postmasters the duty of delivering papers from packages where the names of the subscribers are not written thereon. It seems that certain papers are sent out in bundles, with postage prepaid at the place of mailing, and the Postmaster General has been applied to for instructions as to the duty of the postmaster in such cases. His decision is that the postage on such papers for a quarter in ad-Chester for Lincoln and Curtin, it was resolved to appoint a State Committee, with power to call a State Convention to nominate a State ticket. CALIFORNIA WHEAT .-- All the California papers speak of the wheat harvest gathered n June, in that State, as very promising, and likely to afford a large surplus for shipment. Indeed, it is estimated that the shipments of the old crop in May and June, from San Francisco, will foot up some 200,000 bags.— California wheat is already competing in Liverpool with the products of Illinois and other great wheat States at the West: Send ing flour from here to the Pacific, after this, will verify the old saw about coals to Newcastle. THE METEOR. BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL,

A nondescript, of heavenly birth, Which roamed the realms of space Sublimely wagged its tail o'er earth, To greet the human race. A man—some village resident— Who's not disposed to rail, Declares, "Old Abe for President!" He read upon its tail.

Another says he has good eyes, And he, in letters plain, Upon it read, "I'll stump the skies For Breckinridge and Lane!" One says the fact upon his mind Is fixed, and naught can sever it, hat on its tail, and well defined, He read, "For Bell and Everett!"

Another says the flaming tail Was wagged with air defiant,
And on it blazed, "I'm, tooth and nail,
For 'Doug., the Little Giant!" Another says that while it sped In its mysterious pocture. In its mysterious nocturn, e scanned its tail, and plainly read, "I go for 'Sam' and Stockton!"

As many saw the nondescript, Who say they read its tail; But in their tales o're truth ha Conjectures all must fail One glowing fact some light may lend!—
By grandmas we are told
That summer meteors portend
A winter very cold. If so, or not, we would advise
Our many readers, ali,
To buy, when winter storms arise,

ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous the endurance of four eruptions and accessors, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed the interest of the partly preparations. for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on
