was found in his possession. He was taken before Esquire Dunn.

After the capture of Lovering, Howder turned State's evidence against him, and related substantially the above facts. The little girl who was at Auker's at the time the deed was committed, was brought into the office of the Justice where some twenty-five persons were congregated, and she at once recognized Lovering as the man who shot her grandfather, although she swore he had whiskers when he committed the act. Varner then swore that he had shaved Lovering on Sunday morning. Both Lovering and Howder were then remanded to jail to Lovering and Howder were then remanded to jail to answer to the charge of murder. An inquest was held on the body of the deceased,

An inquest was held on the body of the deceased, on Sunday afternoon, when a verdict was returned that he had come to his death by blows inflicted upon his head with a hatchet or an axe.

The deceased was a highly respectable and worthy citizen of Fayette township, and reputed as being quite wealthy. He sold one of his farms some time ago, and it was supposed that he had considerable money in his possession. He was buried on Monday. He leaves three daughters to mourn his loss, who are all married. We believe he had no sons living.

TRUTH ABOUT "SAM PATCH"--HIS LAST LEAP.

TRUTH ABOUT "SAM PATCH"—HIS LAST LEAP.

A correspondent of the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat takes exception to a statement concerning the renowned Sam Patch which recently appeared in an English book, and gives the correct version of the story of that individual's last leap. He says:

"Sam Patch's last leap occurred on the afternoon of the 15th of November, 1829, on a cold, cloudy, and dismal Autumn day. The heavens, as if in keeping with the melancholy spectacle, were almost clothed in sackcloth. The sun refused to look upon the mournful tragedy. But ten thousand human beings, more thoughtless, lined the banks of the river on both sides, perched also upon the mills and houses, and in trees, above and below the high banks, to cheer and encourage the poor drunken suicide in his self-immolation. A scaffold was erected thirty feet high, on the island above the falls, as they then were, standing very near where the saw mill upon the brow of the cataract now is. From that scaffold poor Sam dropped into the deep water, as it then was, below.

"Ten thousand eager eves watched him as he poor Sam dropped into the deep water, as it then was, below.

"Ten thousand eager eyes watched him as he went like an arrow down against the dark ledge of rocks, a distance of one hundred and twenty-six feet. Ten thousand eyes gazed with breathless anxiety upon the place where he fell, expecting to see him emerge from the water, as he had done most gracefully just one week before, had jumped from the precipice without the sosffold, a distance of 95 feet: boats were put out below and sailed around the spot, ready to pick him up. Ten thousand people, like a great crowd of switnesses still lining the cliffs, still straining their eyes to catch the first glimpse ing their eyes to catch the first glimpse speck or the waters, no one move or draw a long breath, for near half an hour. until one by one they began to turn away and give him up, many with tearful eyes, many with words saddened and subdued upon their lips, 'Poor Samit was his last leap. How fool-hardy!—How wicked!' And some were heard to say 'How wicked to countenance a miserable man in such suicide! If we had not been looking on he would not have done it.'

we had not been looking on he would not have done it."

"For two long hours, at least, until darkness stopped their work, eager men hunted all over and through the waters below the Falls, to find the poor remains of the miserable victim of his own folly, but found them not. Next day the search was renewed. Indeed it was kept up with more or less diligence for some time; and yet all in vain for that season. Searching, fishing in the water day after day, revealed nothing. But the next spring the body was picked up by some unknown person near the mouth of the river, seven miles below, as it was floating out into the lake. It had laid in the water all winter; had gone down over the lower falls also, and still was in such a state of preservation as to be readily identified. It was taken up and decently buried in a spot of ground near at hand."

HEALTH OF THE PRESIDENT. The correspondent of the N. Y. Times

writes as follows from Washington: Writes as follows from Washington:

There is a good deal of anxiety in Republican circles concerning the President's health, and the effect upon it of his manner of doing business. He has no system or method whatever, but allows his time and strength to be exhausted in listening to office-seekers, and doing their drudgery, which belongs to the Departments. Until Wednesday morning he had not even taken a ride for recreation—

Them 5 check in the merging until long effer ing he had not even taken a ride for recreation—From 5 o'clock in the morning until long after midnight, he permits himself to be made the passive victim of the thousands who would readily sacrifice his life and the safety of the nation to their own selfish eagerness for office. This course of action can have but one result. It has killed two good Presidents, and will inevitably deprive the country of another, if it is not changed. A false delicacy prevents his friends from making proper representations to Mr. Lincoln on this subject, and the danger is that his profound and unselfish anxiety to see everybody and give nobody any ground to complain is that his profound and unselfish anxiety to see everybody and give nobody any ground to complain of injustice, will sap his strengh and shorten his life. The Departments have clerical force sufficient to digest all applications for office, and he should require the Secretaries to bring him the results of such a sifting process, instead of taking the whole mass on his own shoulders. And, except in cases certified to be important by the proper Department, or where he has some special personal interest or feeling in the matter, he should refuse to allow anybody to talk to him about office. His time and strength and intellectual energy are required by the country for higher duties.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.] LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 14. So much has been said and so little is known in regard to the intention of the administration concerning the forts and arsenals and the property and places of the Federal Government in the several States known as the Confederate States, and so deeply are the public interested in the question, that a call for information on the subject from the Senate was naturally expected. A resolution was offered in the Senate yesterday by Mr. Douglas inquiring what forts, &c., were now in the occupation of the United States government in the Confederate States, and by what force each of said places is held, and also inquiring as to the force necessary to hold reinforce and recapture property and places and also whether it is necessary and wise to retain such places, &c. The republicar Senators refused to consider Mr. Douglas resolution. Mr. Hunter, of Virginia, contended that the call was eminently proper, and that the people of the country were deeply interested in knowing whether they were to have peace or war. Mr. Mason objected to the resolution, entertaining, as he aid, some doubts as to the power of the Senate to make the call. Probably the ground of objection is that the Senate being specially convened for executive purposes, has no pow-er to make a call in a legislative capacity. That the administration has had the sub ject under consideration there is no doubt. and it is believed by many that all the troops, not only in the seceded States, but those in the Territories, are to be withdrawn. The exception to this policy is said to be Key West and the Tortugas, which are to be held. Fort Pickens is in scarcely a better condition for defense than Fort Sumter, and the same policy that would require the evacuation of the latter would apply to the former.

TERRITORIAL PATRONAGE.—By passage of the bills organizing the territories of Dacotah, nd Nevada, the President will be called upon to appoint three Governors, three Secretaries, nine Judges, three district Attor. neys, three United States Marshals, three Registers, and three Receivers, and three Surveyors General. Additional land districts were also created in Oregon and Washington territory by the last Congress, which will require two new Registers and two new Receivers of the public lands. 40.0

SIMPORTANT PROM THE SOUTH HORE FORTIFICATIONS IN CHARLESTON HARBOR THE SITUATION OF YORT SUMTER-ANOTHER CABINET COUNCIL-CHASE AND CAMERON AT

WASHINGTON, March 15. The Radical Republicans have experienced new horror. It is rumored that Major Anderson has allowed the garrison at Fort Sumter to be weakened, by permitting the departure of his men as fast as their terms of istment have expired, and that the real condition of his command in regard to supplies was not reported to the War Department until after the adjournment of Congress.

It seems probable; however, that the Commissary Department must have known from the beginning, the exact quantity of Major Anderson's supplies, and at the Adjutant General's office could be easily ascertained the names of his men, and their period of enlist-ment. He could not force soldiers, whose time was out, to re enlist or keep them against their

The Cabinet had another long session today, discussing the Fort Sumter question and the new complications surrounding them.
The session lasted from 10 till 25 o'clock.
General Scott was present. Mr. Chase is understood to have expressed great indignation at some remarks made by Gen. Cameron, in reference to measures for collecting the evenue, and threatens to resign. Accounts from Charleston say that Gov.

ickens and Gen. Beauregard, have decided n erecting fortifications at Stano, and all the lets leading to that harbor. Col. Forney, in command of the Pensacola. Navy Yard, informed the Commander of the Brooklyn, on the 8th, that he could get no nore water or coal at that station.

He has lived down calumny, and is now in a position in which he can laugh his enemies to scorn. Honest men of all parties, now everywhere, freely acknowledge his abilities as a statesman and integrity as a man:

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS TO EX-SENATOR BIGLER. tor BIGLER, who has just completed his Sena-torial term, to respond to the marked tribute of respect paid him by Senator CRITTENDEN on one of the last days of the late session of Congress. The venerable Kentuckian, according to the telegraphic report, devoted a porion of his final speech on the Compromise resolutions to a high compliment to Governor BIGLER's untiring zeal in the cause of the Union. This was well deserved. Senator BIGLER has shown, all through the secession controversy, that he is a statesman who can rise superior to party when the country is in peril. But there is another point upon which he is entitled to the special acknowledgments of the people of Pennsylvania. Throughou the long struggle for the present Tariff, commencing more than a year ago, he has proven himself to be not only a faithful, but an able and intelligent guardian of the interests of his State. To his assiduous and patient labors the success of the measure in the Senate is largely due. Differing from him, as we do or many of his party doctrines, we yet feel it to be an act of justice to extend to him, on his retiring from office, that meed of praise to which he is entitled.

NEGRO APPLICANTS FOR OFFICE,-The Washington correspondent of the New York Express in a recent letter to that journal, SAVS:

The number of applicants for minor offices colored men is perfectly astounding from Massachusetts alone. I am informed that for postmasters' berths there are on file over 210 applications, and the supposition is that there black applicants filed away amongst the white ones. In order to save trouble, let me suggest to each applicant the propriety of making an affidavit as to the color of his skin, &c., and enclose it in his application, while those whose applications are already on file should forward it to the department immediately. This plan would un-doubtedly facilitate business, and enable the applicant to obtain his appointment much sooner than he would if he leaves the denartdepartments are determined not to make appointments from the colored ranks without knowing it, no matter how well they may b indorsed.

Whiskey, 380 hhds. bacon, 70 carriages. The people of Virginia must now realize he humiliating and alarming fact that they are living under Black Republican rule; the rule of men who "would as soon see a conflagration sweep over the land, or an earth quake sink it," as to protect the slaveholder in his right of property.—Richmond Enquirer. Had the seceded States remained in the Union, the Republican Executive would have been powerless. With both Houses of Congress and the Judiciary politically opposed to him, no measure of his could have been adopted without their sanction. War would not have threatened the country; business would not have been paralyzed; there would have been no interruption of commerce; the cotton States would not have been burdened with taxes and high rates of postage with diminished mail facilities; neither would we have received the humiliating sympathies of foreign powers.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER IN INDIANA .- The Vincennes Sun learns from a correspondent at Carmel, Illinois, that a deliberate murder was committed in that county, on Thursday vening, about eight o'clock. Charles Brines, citizen of the county, was seated on a load of hay, with his boy, a child twelve years of age, and some one, with a rifle, seated in a ence corner, deliberately fired upon him, sending a ball through his brain. The mur-derer has not been indentified, and the probabilities are that he never will be, as there was no witness but the child.

A ROTARY FORTRESS .- A French mechanic, by the name of Balbi, has lately invented a new kind of fortress, which works upon a plan that must astonish any hostile that shall attempt to take it by assault. The new machine is in the shape of a round tower, surrounded by a gallery, and pierced for cannon, the motive power which regulates its movements being steam. It is to be cased in a cuirass of iron plates, and so managed that on the first attempt at escalade on the part of an enemy, the tower begins to revolve with a rapidity that renders it inaccessible. While, for the same reason, the picking off of an enemy of its defenders by the truest rifle, becomes a matter of infinite difficulty. It can be propelled, like any conveyance moved by steam apparatus, from place to place, with similar speed. Its base is thickly set with pikes which, once in rotation, would annihilate all who might approach it. WHY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS STILL STRONG.—The town elections in New York have as yet exhibited no material change of the popular feeling, either for or against the Republican party. The reason may be found in the fact, that the party is mostly made up of office hunters, and they are unwilling now to throw away their chances for preferment Wait until the offices are given out, and it is found that there are not enough to go round by many thousands. We shall then hear the howlings of, dis appointment and witness the rush. Boston Courier:

S. W. P. BOYD, Sheriff THE PATENT GAUGE.

BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL A thirsty cobbler, out of work, Who had no pennies treasured, His size-stick pawned—the stick with which His patrons feet he measured— To one who let him have a drink,

The liquor man, the size-stick hung
Upon a spigot handy;—
Just then, a man came in, who said,
"Give me a horn of brandy!"

"You've had enough," the vender said;
"No liquor will I sell you."
"No glass I've had," the man replied,
"The solemn truth I tell you!" The bar-man said, "A test of that, I hope will not enrage you; For I've a patent gauge, just out, And with it I will gauge you."

Then on the toper's head he placed
The cobbler's stick, to try it—
" Five glasses, sir, you've had, said he;
Look here, and don't deny it!" On figure 5 the slip-piece stood— The toper gazed a minute; Then said, "Confound that gimerack thing, The brimstone boss is in it!"

"Five horns I've had, four fingers each;
But may old Satan cage me,
If I don't shoot the next live man
That's mean enough to gauge me!" Straight off he went to Tower Hail,
And bought some clothes of Bennett—
He told the gauging story there,
And I engaged to pen it.

RECORNOUS BUSINESS FOR ONE NEW YORK MERCHART.

We are happy to inform our fellow-cliticans that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality—We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to 'visit Unourem Wolke's extensive sive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos. 17, 19 and 21, Marketfield street. His stock of Schnappe on hand ready for abilipment could not have, been less than thirty thousand cases; the Brandy, some ten thousand cases of Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine, Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St. Croix Bun, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wine, &c., in casks, under Custom House key, ready for botting. Mr. Wours's sales of Schnappe last year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dozon, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines.

His business merits the patronage of every lover of his species. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarasparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarasparilla is rejuted to core. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who inflar from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their core must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-nitions. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:

SURDIVILA AND SCROPLLOUS COMPLADITS, REUPTIONS AND SCROPLUDES COMPLADITS, of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which faster in the blood at that season of the year. By the time-ly expulsion of them many rankling disorders are mipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can by the air of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obor sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must be wrone; and the great meablery of must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsapa-rilla, but often no curative properties whatev-er. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO. Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been em-

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do. Reliable Testimony. We call the attention of the reader to the following letter from President Smith, of Wesleyan University: MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb 28, 1859. SETH W. FOWLE & Co. - Gentlemen : - I first made use of the Oxygenated Bitters some seven or eight years since. Having suffered for twenty years from a form of dyspensia, which was attended with a nervous headache, on an average of not less than one day in a week. I was induced, by the unpretending rec endation of Dr. Green, "to try one bottle, and is to benefit was received to discontinue the use." The use of one bottle warranted a further trial, to the extent of some three or four, with a careful observance of the accompanying directions. The result was, an almost entire relief from the usual dyspeptic symptoms and their depressing, painful consequences. I believe my system, and upon the active energies of the directive
