The result thus far has fulfilled all the hopes of the Secretary, that the capital of the banks and the capital of the people might be combined to benefit both, and the business of the country at large at the same time. The support of the efficers of the banks was most cordial in the arrancements thus proposed, and resulted in securing in a satisfactory manner these separate loans of fifty millions of dollars each, payable to the Government in coin, as its requirements demanded. The general features of the provision factory manner these separate loans of fifty millions of collars each, payable to the Government in coin, as its requirements demanded. The general features of the provisions of these loans are familiar to the public, and, therefore, we need not here particularize them. Suffice it to say, all the objects contemplated were happily accomplished. In addition to the loans thus made, the Secretary las issued to 30th November, 1861, United States notes, payable on demand, $24,500,000, of which $21,165,220 are now in circulation; and the balance in the Treasury, at same date, was $3,355,105.

It is proper here to remark, that the negotiations for the third loan of fifty millions, the terms of which were somewhat different from the two first, it was coupled with an understanding in the form of an option to the associated banks, "that on or after the first of January a fourth advance of fifty millions should be made, on the same terms with the first and second, if practicable and required by the Secretary." The aggregate realized from loans, in various forms, amounts to $197,242,588,14.

The Secretary then proceeds to the consideration of the various forms, amounts to $197,242,588.14.

THE TABLEY.

THE Secretary then proceeds to the consideration of the workings of the new tariff, and says that in consequence of the diminished duties from those recommended by him on tea, coffee and sugar, and the exemption from the operations of the act, goods in warehoness and on ehipboard, was disadvantageous to the revenue—and that the changed circumstances of the country proving unfavorable to foreign commerce, even beyond anticipation, has also been disadvantageous to the revenue. In his report recommending the revision to the consideration of Congress at its July session. the Secretary counted on a revenue from customs, for the inancial year, 1862, of fifty-seri millions of dollars, but the circumstances above alluded to, now constrain him to reduce this estimate to $22,198,002.55—the receipts for the first quarter ending Sept. 30, were $7,108,602.55, while those for the remaining quarters cannot now be safely estimated at more than $25,000,000. The revenue from land sales also is reduced from three millious to $2,254,062.89, and the three remaining constraints of $2,000,000. not now be safely estimated at more than $25,000,000. The revenue from land sales also is reduced from three millions to $2,254,062.99, the first quarter yielding $354,062.89, and the three remaining quarters are estimated at $2,000,000. The only other source of revenue was from the direct toract, from which if increased to the limit proposed by the Secretary, and assumed by the States, will yield the som of $20,000,000. The aggregate of revenue from all sources, independent of lears, is therefore estimated at $54,552,005,44, which is less by 251/2 millions than the July estimate.

are. This reduction from the estimates he made, however, in July, the Secretary says, would not have compelled him now to ask additional powers, had the appropriations and expenditures been confined within the *dimates then exist itself. These estimates contemplated expenditures in all departments and for all objects, to the amount of $218.548. departments and for all objects, to the amount of $318,519, 581.87; but after the estimates had been furnished to the 681.87; but after the ostimates had been furnished to the Secretary by the several departments, and his report was founded upon them. The President thought it expedient, in order to make the contest short and decisive, to ask Congress to place at least $400,600,600 and 400,600 men at the control of the Government—the number of men included in this demand cubracing the regular army. And Congress, actuated by the same desire for a short and decisive contest, went beyond even the recommendation of the President, and extended the number of volunteers to be treclived to 500,000 men, liberal additions in pay and retions, and an increase his general additions in pay and retions, and an increase his general officers, were also provided for. These additions necessarily augmented the expenditures for beyond the limits of the oriental also provided for. These additions necessarily augmented the expenditures far beyond the limits of the original estimates; and the limits must be still further extended by the additions made for the increase of the navy.

To meet the large sums which will be thee necessarily required for the current year, and those which the exigencies of the succeeding year may demand, the Scretcury over, existing circumstances are not propitious to a wise jand permanent adjustment of the tariff. The moet sacred duty of the American people at this moment requires the consecration of all their energies and resources to the restance of the television of the union, and while other nations look with indifferent or unfriendly eyes upon this work, sound policy would seem to suggest not the extension of foreign trade, but a more absolute reliance, under God, upon American sult. In accordance with these views, the Secretary recommends the duties on tea, coffee and sugar to be increased to the rates proposed in his former report, viz: on brown sugar 2½ cents; on clayed do. 3 cents; on green test to 20 cents, and on coffee 5 cents per lb.—and that no other alterations be made in the tariff during the present session of Congress, unless subsequent events show the expediency of them.

The Secretary thinks that, from the improved condition of the trade of the country, the revenue from the two last will be greater than will have been received from the first two quarters of the fiscal year. A considerable improvement in the condition of trade and industry, he says, is clearly perceptible, and promises to be permanent.

But, as no anticipation of revenue from this source can be relied on, sufficient in amount to meet the various de mands on the Treasury, Congress must turn its attention to other sources.

The provision by direct tax, at last session, was for $20, 000,000, of which $14,846,018 was appropriated to the loval be relied on, sufficient in amount to meet the various demands on the Tressury, Congress must turn its attention to other sources.

The provision by direct tax, at last session, was for $20, 000,000, of which $14,846,018 was appropriated to the loyal States and territories, and $5,153,982, to the citizens of States which repudiate their obligations to the Government, and are in open rebellion. As it is desirable to avoid as long as practicable the introduction into the States of Federal agents to assess and collect there taxes, and as the Secretary has assurances from Governors of various States that their States will assume their quota, the Secretary has been induced to refrain from appointing such agents—and, as there is con iderable difficulty apprehended in relation to the income tax of sums over $500, for the want of statistics to guide in its collection, he recommends that if the States assume the direct tax, the income tax be dispensed with, as the machinery necessary to be put into operation to determine the assessment will be more costly than the probable revenue to be derived therefrom. But he proposes to increase the revenue in the loyal States from the direct tax to twenty millions, and to lay such duty on stills and distilled liquors, on tobacco, on bank notes, on carriages, on legacles, on paper evidences of debt, and instruments for conveyances of property, and other like subjects, as will produce twenty millions more would probably be realized, and the whole amount would each the sum of fitty millions from internal taxes: this, with say forty millions from customs, will make the aggregate amount of taxation to reach ninety millions of dollars.

This sum, says the Secretary, is large, but the means of the people are also large and the object to be attained by a consecration of them to the public service is priceless. The real property of the loyal States is valued at, say, near and a half thousands of millions. Four mills on earh dollar of personal and real property of the loyal States is a furne ever, form but a small portion of the sums required for the expenses of the war, and for the rest the reliance. Says the Secretary, must be placed on loans. And here he adde, that 'beyond the expectations of the most sanguine the country has responded to the appeals of the Secretary."

He then alludes to the "condition of the national finances when the present Secretary entered upon the dutles of his office, though somewhat improved during the able and upright, though brief, administration of his immediate predecessor," and adds, "that it affords just occasion of gratulation that, under the most embarrassing of shaken credit and immense demands, loans have been effected at home, without resort to any foreign market, of one hundred and ninety-seven millions of dollars, with a virtual ongagement of fifty millions more, at an average rate, considering the conversion of the three years 7.30 bonds into twenty years 6 per cent. bonds as certain, of somewhat less than six and a half per cent."

than six and a half per cent."

The Secretary thinks that the power of the country, manifested in the suppression of this rebellion, will demonstrate the absolute safety of investments in United States stocks; and foreign capitalists will be attracted from the inferior security of public debt in other countries by the superior advantages and higher rate of interest offered by the loans of the Union.

The problem how the Government shall obtain the necessary means for presecuting the war to a successful issue, without unnecessary cost, has received his best consideration, and he proceeds to submit the result of his reflections:

The circulation of the banks in the United States on the lat day of January, 1861, was computed at $202,000.767; of this, say $160,000,000 was in States now loyal, including Western Virginia, and $50,000,000 in the relations. States.—"This circulation," says the Secretary, "constitutes a lean without interest from the people to the banks, costing them nothing except the expense of issue and redemption, and the interest on the speeds on hand for the latter purpose," and he says that it deserves consideration whether sound policy does not require that the advantages of this

The report of the Serviery of the Treasury, presented to Congress or the 19th the 19th the not been loaded for with intending the 19th t men Interest in its preservation, created by the distribution of its stocks throughout the country as the basis of their circulation.

The Secretary thinks that if a credit circulation in any form be desirable, it is most destrable in this, and the notes thus issued and secured, would, in his judgment, form the safest currency which this country has ever engaged; while their receivability for all Government dues, except customs, would make them, wherever payable, of equal value, as a currency in every part of the Union. The large amount of specie now in the United States, reaching a total of not less than two hundred and seventy-five millions of dollars, will easily support payments of duties in colu, while these payments and ordinary demands will aid in retaining this specie in the country as a solid basis both of circulation and loans.

The Secretary expresses an opinion in favor of this plan with the greater confidence, because it has the advantage of recommendation from experience, and is not an untried theory, as in New York, and in one or more of the other States, it has been subjected, in its most essontial parts, to the test of experiment, and has been found practicable and useful, and the probabilities of success, he thinks, will not be diminished, but increased by its adoption under national sanction and for the whole country, and it also avoids almost, if not altogather, the evils of a great and sudden change in the currency, by offering inducements to solvent existing institutions to withdraw the circulation issued under State authority, and substituting that sanctioned by the National Government.

The Secretary having thus disposed of this all important subject, proceeds to the examination of the question as to the further loans which the Government will be required to the further loans which the Government will be required to the further loans which the Government will be required to the further loans which the Government will be required.

public debt not being presented for payment within the fiscal year.

As to the estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1863, no reliable statement can be made. "It is earnestly to be hoped and, in the judgment of the Secretary, not without sufficient grounds, that the present war may be brought to an auspicious termination before midtummer. In that event, the provision of revenue by taxation, which has recommended, will amply suffice for all financial exigencies, without resort to additional loans; and not only so, but will enable the government to begin at once the reduction of the existing debt." But the Secretary deems it the part of vision to be prepared for all eventualities, and therefore submits the estimates of the several departments for the fiscal year 1803, based on the supposed continuance of the war. The estimate of expenses makes an aggregate of.

And the receipts, including customs, lands and ordinary channels, and $20,000,000 from internal duties, including income tax, will aggregate the sum of.

cies of the succeeding year may demand. the Secretary suggests, must receive the most scrious attention of Congress.

To meet the responsibility fairly in the face, the first duty suggested by the Secretary is a retreachment and reform in the contracts for supplies to the army and navy, and for public work of all descriptions, over which a strict supervision and a rigorous responsibility should be exclsed, and all unnecessary offices abolished, and salaries and pay should be made to pay, in part at least, the cost of the rebellion. Property of great vaiue in logs.

Altates, he says, is held by proprietors actually or virtually engaged in the guilty attempt to break up the Union and overturn its government, which has brought upon our country all the calamities we now cudure—that property, he adds, is justly forfeited to the people, and should be subjected, with due regard for all rights and interests concerned, to confiscation, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction of claims arising from the war. Property of rebels in rebel States he proposes to treat in like manner. "Right to services, under State laws," says the Secretary. "must, of necessity, form an exception to any rule of confiscation, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction of claims arising from the war. "must, of necessity, form an exception to any rule of confiscation of the proposes to treat in like manner. "Right to services, under State laws," says the Secretary the services, under State laws," says the Secretary the services and the reference of the proposes to treat in like manner. "Right to service and the reference of the proposes to treat in like m And socretary them presents a statement of the public debt as it was on the jet day of July 1860, and 1861, and will be in 1862 and 1863, which foots up in brief, as follows:

On the last day of July, 1860, the public debt was $04, 769.793 08; on the last day of July, 1862, the public debt was $09,867,828 88; on the last day of July, 1862, the public debt will be $517,327,802 93; on the last day of July, 1863, the public debt will be $807,372,802 93.

The Secretary, believing that frankness is the easiest policy for nations as individuals, has thought it his duty to submit to Congress a plain statement of the financial condition of the country—that it imposes considerable burdens, is not to be denied or disguised, but that it is consoling to know that the energies and resources of the people are not insufficient for them. The public debt on the last July, 1863, if the war is protracted to that time, it has been shown, will be in round numbers $900,000,000. In 1816, the public debt was $127,334,337.4, and in 20 years it was paid off by the people. The country, even if the loyal States only are regarded, can sustain and pay off in thirry years the debt to which rebellion now exposes us, with hardly greater proportional contributions from increased and increasing resources, than that debt made necessary. The Secretary next proceeds to the consideration of other subjects connected with his department, including commercial intercourse with States declared to be in insurrection—in the course of which he remarks, that he has, "with the approbation of the President, established regulations, in accordance with which cotton, rice, and other property will be collected and cared for by agents of the department in insurrectionary districts occupied by troops of the Union, and will be forwarded by see to New York. All sales will be made for account of the Government, and the proceeds paid into the national treasury, subject to any just claims of loyal State government, affording due security against abuses of trade in furnis stored in districts sufficiently extensive far the re-establishment of loyal State government, affording due security against abuses of trade in furnishing ald and comfort to robellion, the ports should be opened without restriction, and all commerce freely permitted."

He has also made an inquiry into the condition of most of the collection districts in the loyal States, which has led to the abolition of some offices, and a reduction of the allowance to the incumbents of others, amounting to $75,095 annually; the sum of $$\xi4.11.68$ is also temporarily saved by the suspension of official entries of officers of customs in the disloyal States.

Some suggestions are likewise made in regard to provisions for forfeitures and fines in certain cases, between the officers, the informer and the Government, and to appoint a Solicitor of Customs, to reside in New York, whose duty it shall be to advise the Collector of that port in respect to all legal questions connected with the customs which may be referred to him by that officer.

The collage of the Mint during the last year is large beyond precedent, viz:—$25,073,767.55. Of say $500,000,000, the extire collage since the establishment of the Mint, $250,00,000 have been colled from bullion derived from mines in the United States. Sundry recommendations are made in regard to the new mines in the territories of Colorado, Nevada and Arizona.

He refers to the claims of sundry States presented by then agents of the Governors thereof, for money furnished by them to equip troops called out under their orders for the suppression of the rebellion. Also to certain claims for service in Oregon and Washington.

He also alludes to the neyelect of the Secretary of the Treasury in office in December last, of diregarding the repeated warnings of imponding danger at that time, to secure the vessels and other moveable property connected with the light-house establishments. The property therefore became an easy prey of insurrectionary violence, and acts of rapine and plunder followed, of Port Royal entrance, and from Chandeleur Island in the Gulf, they shine once more as the safeguards and symbols of fraternal commerce and peaceful civilization.

The attention of Congress is invited to the condition of the Marine Hospitals. The great value of the coast surveys, the says, has been strikingly attested by recent events in the operations of our forces. The condition and number of the revenue cutters are alluded to, and a thorough examination is suggested for all candidates for appointment by a competent board of officers, and concludes by inviting the attention of Congress to the importance of a uniform system, and a uniform momenclature of weights and measures and coins to the commerce of the world, in which the United States already so largely shares.

Ar Age and Debility.—As old age comes creeping on, it brings with it many attendant infirmities. Loss of appetite and weakness impair the health, and want of activity makes the mind discontented and unhappy. In cases where old age adds its influence, it is almost impossible to add vigor and health, and aithough many remedishave been tried, all have failed, until Ecchava's Holland Sitters were known and used. In every case where they have been employed, they have invariably given strength and restored the appetits. They have beene a great again for this alone, and are used by many people who are suffering from loss of appetite and general debility. In case to long standing chronic diseases, they act as a charm, invigorating the system, thus giving nature another opportunity to repair physical injuries.

and almost surpassing belief, are the cures performed by that justly popular remedy the Accian Balsam, prepared by Dr. O. Phelps Brown. In Consumption, Bronchitts, Asthum, Nervous Complaints, Coughs, Colds, Liver Complaint, Palpitation of the Heart, etc., its use is attended by the most surprising beneficial results, alike gratifying to patients and their friends. The invigorating properties possessed by the Acacian Balsam, are peculiar to this remedy alone. In the cases of invalids suffering from that form of complaint known under the head of General Deblity and characterized by great languor, atter prostration of the nervous system, and torpidity and inaction of the vital organs, its effects are to relieve the sufferer of all morbid feelings and inspire him with life and renewed energy. It purifies the blood, restores wasted flesh, and in a short time so renevates the entire being that disease can no longer find a foothold in the system. A full description of this remarkable remedy may be found in the pamphlet, which will be given to those who object purchasing before making trial of the Balsam, a small number of specimen bottles, price 25 cents each will be sold, so that all may have the opportunity of trial. THAT STANDARD SHEET. GREAT NATIONAL BANNER OF INTELLECT, FOR AMERICAN HEARTS AND HOMES!

THE NEW YORK MERCURY.

NEW YEAR WITH AN OLD FRIEN On New Year's day of 1862, that world-renowned and unrivaled gun of American journalism, the peerless Nzw York Mzacorx, will enter upon the twenty-fourth year of the most brilliant career ever achieved by a paper. During the past year it has been the teacher, story-teller, mentor, and oracle of two bundred thousand American bomes, from ocean to ocean—and from Quebec, in Canda, to Pensacola, on the Gulf of Maxico. Young and old, rich and poor, have reveled in its enchanting stores of wisdom, romance, art, poetry, and genial humor; and its praise is "Familiar in their mouths as household words."

The noble patriot-soldier in his tent, too, has whiled away the tedium of camplific in the absorbing review of its "Familiar in their mouths as household words."
The noble patrict-soldier in his tent, too, has whiled away the tedium of camp-life in the absorbing review of its FORTY BRILLIANT COLUMNS, finding in them a fascinating mental discipline known only to those who rally to the Banner-Sheet of the Grand Army of American Intellect and Genius!

In commencing a New Year, the proprietors of The New York Hercury can only say, that it shall be their aim to make their great family journal of American literature, for 1862, more brilliant and enchanting than ever, in its concentration of all the world's grandest and most beautiful specialities in healthful Romenca, graceful Poetry, elegant and quaint Gossip, refining Knowledge, sparkling itumor, and entertaining News—until, like love, it "——rules the court, the camp, the bower," as it already rules the happy domestic firestid.

The editorial tone and National departments of The New York Mercury will continue true to that lofty spirit of patriotism which has made it a necessity of the people since the War began, and kept it in enthusiastic demand when other sheets were dying all around it for want of popular support.

Already the largest Literary Journal in the world, and when other sheets were dying all around it for want of popular support.

Already the largest Literary Journal in the world, and famous as the focus of a thousand brilliant literary reputations, its programme for 1882 will be magnificant beyond all precedent. The most celebrated pens of this country and Europe have been secured in the service, at an outlay equal to the expense of more than one national government in the Old World! and its novelettes, or continued stories, for 1802, will be the most splendid triumphs of elegant Eiction ever published. To these, too, the magic penul of the greatest of American artists, Mr. Felix O. C. Darley, will lend the aid of pictorial art.

Our story, initiatory of the New Year, is a splendid national Romance, commencing in the New York Mercury of Saturday, January 4th, 1862, and entitled Administratrix of sald deceased. HIGHLY USEFUL INVENTION. WM. ELLMAKER, of New Helland, Lancaster county, Pa., obained Letters Patent the 22d of October, 1861, for a valuable improvement in a SELF-ACTING CARRIAGE BRAKE.

The arrangement is so simple, cheap, and performs its duty with such certainty, locking just in proportion to the steepness of the hill, by the pressure of gravitation, and that, too, by a gradual bearing, relieving the horse from a sudden jerk, as well as to prevent the raising of the shafts, and again reacting with equal case to the horse, by means of a spiral spring, making it altogether the most complete and desirable appendage that could be applied to carriages.

The simplicity, cheapness, and certainty of performing its duty faithfully, without being liable to get out of repair, and its ready adaptation to all classes of vehicles, makes this invention peculiarly desirable, and will not fail to recommend it to every beholder, and bids fair to come into general use. into general use.

THE GREAT INDIAN HERBAL TEA: DR. ENGLISH'S
INDIAN VEGETABLE EMMENAGOGUE

This Celebrated Female Medicine possesses virtues unknown of anything else of the kind, and proving effectual after all others have failed; it is prepared from an "Indian Herb" peculiar to Northern Mexico and Texas, and is used by the Natives in producing the MONTHLY SIGNESS. It is designed for both married and single ladies, and is the very best thing known for the purpose, as it will remove all obstructions after other romedies have been tried in vain. It is a pleasant tea, containing nothing injurious to health, and a cure can be relied upon in all cases.

As a Family Physic. From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans. Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily Headache, SickHeadache, Foul Stomach, From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

Dear Beo. Aver: I cannot enswer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we eare treat with a purpainte medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily cantest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a four four this, which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE, Ciril of Steamer Clarion. Bilious Disorders - Liver Complaints,

Prom Dr. Theodors — Liver Complaints,

Prom Dr. Theodors Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their benelicial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of billous complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients? I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for billious dysentery and diarrhoea. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood. Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Hlood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pustor of Advent Church, Boston.

Dr. Aver: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digrestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends.

Yours, J.-V. HIMES.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rhemmatiam, Gont, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Taughn, Montred, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Fills for the cure of costieness. If others of our fratornity have found then, as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costineness to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

Hosoned Sin: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on exerciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic vicanuatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By perseveting in the use of them, I cm now entirely well.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you cat of order, with your system do ranged, and your feelings uncomprehile? These symptoms are often the preints to serious illness. Some fire of sickness is creeping upon your, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered himors—purify the blood, and let the finide more on unobstructed in health again. They stimules the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they reacter the natural action of the system, and with it the hoopant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent is the trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and decangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the vitrues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Ptb. 4, 1856. Dr. Aver.: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievenusly afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INSTRUCE.

Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

Sir.: I have used your Fills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best eathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for devaugements of that organ. Indeed, I have seltom found a case of bitious distant so obstimate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marins Hopital, MARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1856.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Fills in my practice, and find them an excellent purparity to cleanso the system and purify the finalains of the blood.
