nemy's are in our hands.

On the left of the rebel position, Hooker, Sumner, and branklin have crossed the Anticiam Creek, and have driven the enemy from the ground they chose to cover their flanks in front of their batteries, and troops have steadily advanced and occupy to-night a range of hills considerably beyond those first taken.

taken.

On the rebel right, they have lost the bridge over the creek, which was carried after a hard fight, and Burnside has crossed with all his forces.

The result of the day's fight, therefore, is that the rebels have everywhere lost ground, their position is contracted, both flanks attacked with success, and their rear and only line of retreat seriously threatened.

their rear and only line of retreat seriously threatened.

After the brilliant victory on Sunday at South Mountain, near Middletown, McClellan pushed his army rapidly lorward, sending cavalry and artillery out on the Hagerstown road, Burnade through Fox dap to the Snarpsburg road, and the rest of his forces through Boonsoorough to Keedysville, and thence toward Snarpsburg.

On the cress of the hit this side of Sharpsburg, the enemy were discovered in great force. Their troups had been brought down from Hagerstown, up from Harper's Ferry, and part of the army held in Vinginia as reserve. Lee, Jackson, Longstreet, Hill, and all the best Generals left with them were there, and with all of their best troops.

Except occasional artillery contests, the armies faced each other in quiet during the rest on Monday. On Tuesday there was no movement on our side till toward night. The robets had kept batteries in position, but their intantry was withdrawn from view, and it was still uncertain whether they were retreating or reinforcing.

retreating or reinforcing.
About 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday Hook-About a victors in the afternoon of Tuesday Hooker was ordered to cross Antactam Creek, at the upper ord on the right, with his whole corps, attack the enemy's left and occupy a position on their flank. He crossed without opposition, sent forward cavalry skirmishers who were speedily driven back, and then, advancing with his whole force about 6, took possession of strong ground, close to the rebels' left, and immediately became engaged with artillery and infantry. Darkness ended the fight with slight loss on either side, Hooker carrying and holding the woods from which the enemy's fire first came.

There were constant alarms during the night, the hostile pickets being close to each other all along the line. Early in the evening the rebels took to fighting among themselves, and several heavy volleys were delivered there before they discovered their mistake.

At daybreak the fight was renewed suddenly and vehemently, both sides opening fire together. The number and position of the rebel batteries the evening before had disclosed that they were in great force on the right, and word had been sent to McClellan to advance Summer's corps during the night. It did not arrive on the field till 9 in the morning. McClellan's plan of battle was briefly as follows: Hooker was to cross the creek on the right, as before stated; Summer, Franklin, and Mansfield to cooperate with and sustain his attack. In front the batteries were to push forward with infantry supports, and an effort to be made to carry the neights on the lett. Burnside was to cross the creek by the bridge, and attack the rebol right, moving on Sharpsburg also, which was in their rear, and thus cut off their retreat. Porter and Sykes were held in reserve. At daybreak the fight was renewed suddenly and their retreat. Porter and Sykes were held in reserve. The plan, it successful, must result not merely in the defeat but the destruction or surrender of the rebel army. The ground is peculiar.

The rebel line was formed on a crescent-shaped The rebel line was formed on a crescent-shaped ridge, which in front slopes down into an undulating valley irregularly broken by connecting ranges of hills. Behind the crest the rebel forces lay in uneven and strong positions, sheltered by ridges and hills, and especially strong on the flanks. Antietam Creek, a stream too deep to be forded, except in very few places, sweeps by the base of their position and protected it from assault. protected it from assault.

McCleilan's forces were first formed in front, afterward thrown to the right and lett. There is little or no ground on our side equal in height to the rebel position. Hooker sustained, unaided, the attack on the rebel left force nearly four hours. His line had been formed the night before and fought to-day in the same order. Ricketts' Division was on the left, Meade's Pennsylvania Reserves in the centre, Doubleday's Division on the right. These terms are, of course, to be understood as referring only to Hooker's line, not to the whole field. There was artillery at all points. Meade gained ground in his irstattack. first attack.

Ricketts also went forward through the woods in his front, and Doubleday, with his guns, held front against a heavy cannonate. Meade advancing, finally met a heavy body of fresh troops thrown suddenly and vigorously against thin, and was driven back over part of the ground he had just woo. Rickett's line was at the same time hard pressed and became deserted. Maustied, who had come over the woods. oreek the night before, was ordered into the woods to Ricketts' support, and Hartsuff's Brigade, part of Doubleday's command, was sent to sustain Meade. Mansfield took the greatest part of his troops to Ricketts help, but they were unable to extend their Mansheld was mortally wounded. Gen. Hartsuff advanced to the relief of Messachusetts and another regiment. The Pennsylvania troops were retiring in haste and some contuvania troops were retiring in haste and some confu-sion. Hartsuff seized a bridge in front of the field over which the rebels were pressing, and held it in splendid style for more than halt an hour against a greatly superior attack. His men behaved most gallantly, standing on this exposed ground firing steedily and never wavering once. Gen. Hartsuff was very soon severely wounded. His troops retained their position, and finally, by the precision and rapidity of their fire, compelling the enemy to retreat instantly, advanced in pursuit, enemy to retreat instantly, advanced in pursu while they had been engaged. Hooker ordered up Crawtord's and Gordon's brigades to their support Hartsuff retained the advance, and Crawford Hart-suf retained the advance, and trawiord and Gordon followed in support. A robel battery on the right, which had been most annoying by an enfilading fire, was about the same time silenced by Doubleday's guns, and Hooker ordered his whole line forward. ward.

rebels were driven through the corn-field

The rebels were driven through the corn-field again, into the woods, beyond where they could not easily be distodged without artillery. Gen. Hooker, who all the morning had kept himself under fire and generally in the hottest of it, rode forward to examine the ground in front in order to plant a battery. As he rode up the hill he became a conspicuous mark for the rebel sharpshooters; their fire increased very suddenly and Gen. Hooker was wounded in the left toot, a bullet passing entirely through it. The wound was excessively severe and painful, and he was compelled to leave the field. Three men were shot down by his side at the same moment he was wounded. Up to this time the attack has been a success

The hardest fought ground was in the undisputed possession of Hooker's troops, and his last order, as he was borne from the field, was that Crawford's and he was borne from the field, was that Crawford's and Gordon's Brigades should immediately advance and carry the woods to the right. The whole line had gone forward with the wildest cheering and everything looked like a complete and speedy success. At this fortunate moment, then Sumner arrived on the field at the head of his veteran corps. Pursuing the forward movement, he led his men immediately against the rebel line and to the support of Crawford. Sedgwick's division, the flower of the peninsula army, advanced on the right, Richardson and French at a considerable interval on the left. The first volley from Sedgwick's troops was tremendous, but it was answered by a heavier one.

Crawford had found the rebels in great force in the woods, and was already in need of assistance.

the woods, and was already in need of assistance. Sedgwick's flank also became exposed on the left in consequence of the distance between him and the other divisions. ner divisions.

The rebels perceived their advantages, and at the same time pressing Crawford and attacking on Sedg-wick's broke Crawford's line, which fell back in con-fusion on Sedgwick. The 34th New York on the left was forced to give way at the same time, and the woods were yielded to the enemy. Gen. Sedgwick was severely wounded in shoulder, leg and wrist, but refused to leave the field till his division retired.

Gen. Howard then took command, and ordered the division in the rear. Major Sedgwick, aid of Gen. Sedgwick, was shot through the body, but is not mortally wounded. Many of the regiments suffered most severely. The 15th Massachusetts lost nineout of seventeen officers. Col. Hinks of the 19th Mass. was killed. Col. Wistar, 1st California, was severely wounded. The 34th New York could gather but thirty-four men when rallied. but thirty-four men when rallied.

French and Richardson meantime held a position well to the left and less in advance, and kept it.

Gen. Richardson, not long after, was seriously wounded in the shoulder while leading a bolting regiment. Gen. Dans of Sedgwick's division was wounded but not severely. Gen. Sumner found himelf obliged by this reverse to withdraw his lines to self obliged by this reverse to withdraw his lines to their first position, where he held them firmly. He had been exposed during all the action to the hottest of the fire. Col. Reverse of his staff was wounded in the srm; Capt. Audenreid in the leg. Gen. Franklin arrived with the corps about one o'clock, sending Gen. Slocum's division to the left and in front. Gen. Smith's was advanced over the and in front. Gen. Smill swas advanced over the same ground which had just been lost. His gallant Maine and Vermont troops went in at a double quick, driving the rebels before them, and on the iences and beyond the woods, and again took the point, this time not to be given up. This was accomplished by 3 clear. nwhile the forces in front of the whole line had

Meanwhile the forces in front of the whole line had been gai ing some ground. Hard fighting all along the line has continued at intervals through the day. French and Slocum were well toward the centre. It was time to hear from Burnside, who had been long delayed in his effort to carry the bridge.

At 40 clock, McGlellan sent orders to Burnside to cross at once, at all hazards, and capture or whence the battery in front. The bridge was captured in gallant style, but with the loss of Col. Kingsbury and 500 killed and wounded. Burnside, when once across, advanced on the robel right along the Sharpswas time to hear from Burnside, who had been long delayed in his effort to carry the bridge.

At 4 o'clock, McClellan sent orders to Burnside to cross at once, at all hazards, and capture or selence the battery in front. The bridge was captured in gallant style, but with the loss of Col. Kingsbury and 500 killed and wounded. Burnside, when once across, advanced on the robel right along the Sharpsburg road and up the slopes of the hill. A position of great importance was carried at first by his impotuous attack, but was afterward abandoned, as the robels were able to bring ten heavy masses of trops from the centre and left to opposite Burnside.

Our attack on the left having ceased for the time, Summer and Franklin were ordered by McClellan to hold their own, and the advance of Burnside was relied on to decide the day Darkness was near before he was-over theoreek, and the forces against him too strong for his numbers. He, therefore, was obliged to content himself with defending the brigade and his position beyond, and the final attack was postponed till to-morrow. The fire on both sides away gradually, and at 7 o'clock the battle was over for the day. It is result I have stated above. It was every where very desperately contested, and the loss on both sides is very large. Ten Generals on our side are killed and wounded.

I send a list of killed and wounded officers and men, all that could be obtained to-night. The whole number cannot be less than 10,000.

Gen. McClellan's Army. BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.

The American says:

"Gen. McClellan is actively engaged in arranging his forces to counteract the movements of the enemy on the opposite side of the river, where they are understood to be massed.

"We have intelligence of matters in progress that it would not be proper to make public at present. A precipitate crossing of the river in the face of so strong a force could not but prove disastrous, and we know that no serious attempt at crossing has yet been attempted. been attempted.

"A gentleman who came from headquarters yes. terday, informed us that the troops are in the highest spirits, and that their confidence in Gen. McClellen, and his ability to lead them to renewed triumphs, is unabated."

THE NOBLE OLD "RESERVES." It sends a thrill of pleasure through every loyal heart in Pennsylvania to hear of the nigh praise bestowed upon the conduct of our gallant and now veteran Reserves, in the victory of Middletown and the passes of the South Mountain on the 14th inst. They were with Hooker when he advanced to the support of RENO, and they, with RICKETT'S First Brigade, held the extreme right of the line. Here the fighting was hottest, but the line moved steadily onward with a perfect and unbroken front. An eye witness, writing for the New York Times, says:

"The valor displayed on this occasion by the Pennsylvania Reserves, and the Corps formerly under the command of McDowell, is deserving of the highest praise. Not a strag-gler could be seen on the field. Every man was at his post in line. They all seemed determined to force back the enemy, and take possession of the mountains in spite of any pposition that might be placed in their way. The line did not give way for an instant, but kept moving forward and upward, pouring volley after volley of musketry into the enemy's ranks, until at last the Rebels broke and ran precipitately to the top of the mountain, thence down on the other side." Thus has it always been with the noble division of McCall. The banners which float above their thinned ranks will be covered all over with letters of gold. On the 23 inst, at West Philadelphia, by Rev. Jacob Dahlman, of Morrisannia, N. Y. CARD.--Having recovered my health after the hardship- of a winter campaign in the Cavai ry service. I have again volunteered to take the field against our common fee. The Governor having authorized me, as Capitalo, to raise a select Troop of Cavairy under the late requisition of the War Department, bearing date of July 29th and August 14th, 1862, holding out inducements to the pattoile and brave, asperior to former ord-rs, I would appeal to the young and middle-aged active men of Lancaster City and County to rise up with renewed disergy, and help to crush out the defant rebels. Fellow cittions, they are now assailing the gates of our State—the time is at hand for desperate action—action defensive and offensive—soon it may be too late.

I want strong hands and willing hearts—brave men that will do the State some service—that will measure the steel of Union and Justice against the steel of Rebellion

to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—by ROST. J. .CULVERWELL, M. D.
Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequence of Self-Abuse may be removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougles, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boot to thousands and thousands.
