Important Statement from Gen. Hallec [Official Correspondence.] HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, WASHINGTON, Oct. 28, 1862.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20, 200, 100 , Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: SIR: In reply to the general interrogatories con-tained in your letter of yesterday, I have to report That requisitions for supplies to the army under Gen. McClellan are made by his staff officers on the cten. motiental are made by his state officers of the chief of pureaus here; that is, for quartermasters' supplies, by his chief quartermaster on the quartermaster-general; for commissary supplies, by his chief commissary on the commissary-general, &c. No such requisitions have been to my knowledge made upon the Secretary of War, and none upon the General-in Chief.

2. On several occasions Gen. McClellan has telegraphed to me that his army was deficient in certain supplies. All these telegrams were immediately re-ferred to the heads of bureaus with orders to report. It was ascertained that in every instance the requisition had been immediately filled, except one, where the quartermaster-general had been obliged to send from Philadelphia certain articles of clothing, tents, &c., not having a full supply here. There has not been, so far as I could ascertain, any neglect or delay in any department or bureau, in issuing all supplies in any department or bureau, in issuing all supplies asked for by Gen. McClellan or by the officers of his staff. Delays have occasionally occurred in forward-ing supplies by rail, on account of the crowded coning supplies by rail, on account of the crowded condition of the depots, or of a want of cars; but whenever notified of this, agents have been sent out to remove the difficulty. Under the excellent superintendence of Gen. Haupt, I think these delays have been less frequent and of shorter duration than is usual with freight trains. An army of the size of that under Gen. McClellan will trequently be for some days without the supplies asked on account of neglect in making timely requisitions and unavoidable delays in forwarding them, and in distributing them to the different brigades and regiments.

From all the intormation I can obtain I am of opinion that the requisitions from that army have opinion that the requisitions from that army have been filled more promptly, and that the men, as a general rule, have been better supplied than our armies operating in the West. The latter have perated at much greater distances from the sources of supply, and have had far less facilities for trans-portation. In fine, I believe no armies in the world, while in campaign, have been more promptly or better supplied then ours er suppled than ours. Soon after the battle of Antietam, Gen. Mc-Clellan was urged to give me information of his in- of dollars of which it is weekly distributing Cleilan was urged to give me information of his intended movements, in order that if he moved between the enemy and Washington, reinforcements could be sent from this place. On the 1st of October, inding that he purposed to operate from Harper's finding that he purposed to operate from Harper's rinding that he purposed to operate from Harper's reinforcements and give battle to the enemy, pointing out to him the disadvantages of delaying till the autumn rains had swollen the Potomac and impaired the roads. On the 6th of October he was peremptorily ordered to "cross the Potomac and give battle to the enemy or drive him South. Your army must move now while the roads are good." It will be observed that three weeks have elapsed since this order was given. weeks have elapsed since this order was given. 4. In my opinion there has been no such want of supplies in the army under Gen. McClellan as to prevent his compliance with the orders to advance against the enemy. Had he removed to the south side of the Potomac, he could have received his supplies almost as readily as by remaining inactive on the rooth the north.

5. On the 7th of Ootober, in a telegram in regard to his intended movements, General McClellan stated that it would require at least three days to supply the first, fifth and sixth corps, that they needed sh and other indispensable articles of clothing, as well as shelter tents. No complaint was made that any requisitions had not been filled, and it was inferred from his language that he was only waiting for the distribution of his supplies. On the 11th he telegraphed that a portion of his supplies sent by rail nad been delayed.

As already stated proper, was impredictely sout

As already stated, agents were immediately sent from here to investigate this complaint, and they reported that everything had gone forward. On the same date (the 11th) he spoke of many of his horses saine date (the l1th) he spoke of many of his horses being broken down by latigue. On the 12th he complained that the rate of supply was only "one hundred and fifty horses per week for the entire army there and in front of Washington." I immediately directed the quartermaster general to inquire into this matter, and report why a larger supply was not furnished. General Meigs reported, on the 14th, that the average issue of horses to General McClellan's army in the field and in front of Washington for the previous six weeks had been 1,459 per week, or 8,764 in all. In addition, that large numbers of nules had been supplied, and that the number of animals with General McClellan's army on the Upper Potomac was over thirty-one thousand. He also reported that he was then sending to that army all the horses he could procure. On the 18th Gen. McCiellan stated, in regard to

On the 18th Gen. McCiellan stated, in regard to Gen. Meigs' report, that he had filled every requisition for snoes and clothing: "Gen. Meigs may nave ordered these articles to be forwarded, but they have not reached our depots; and unless greater effort to insure prompt trausmission is made by the department of which Gen. Meigs is the head, they might as well remain in New York or Philadelphia, so far as this army is concerned." I immediately called Gen. Meigs' attention to this apparent neglect of his department. On the 25th he reported as the result of his investigation that 48,000 pairs of boots and shoes had been received by the quartermaster of Gen. Mcdepots. "Such complaints are groundless. The fact is, the clothing arrives and is issued, but more is still wanted. I have ordered more than would  $\mathbf{The}$ seem necessary from any data furnished me, and I beg to remind you that you have always very beg to remind you that you have always very promptly met my requisitions so far as clothing is concerned. Our depot is not at fault. It provides as soon as due notice is given. I forsee no time when an army of over 100,000 men will not call for clothing and other articles."

In regard to Gen. McClellan's means of promptly communicating the wants of his army to me or to the proper bureaus of the War Department, I report that, in addition to the ordinary mails, he has been in hourly communication with Washington by telegraph. graph.
It is due to Gen. Meigs that I should submit here-

It is due to Gen. Meigs that I should submit herewith a copy of a telegram received by him from General McClellan.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. W. HALLECK, General-in-Chief.

UNITED STATES MILITARY TELEGRAPH.

[Received Oct. 22—9:40 P. M.]

From McClellan's Headquarters.

To BRIGADIER GENERAL MEIGS: Your dispatch of this date is received: I have never intended, in any letter or dispatch to make any accusation against yourself or your department for not furnishing of forwarding clothing as rapidly as it was possible for forwarding clothing as rapidly as it was possible for you so to do. I believe that everything has been done that could be done in this respect. The idea that I have tried to convey was that certain portions of the command were without clothing, and the army could not move until it was suppled.

Daring Exploit of Sigel's Cavalry--They Dash into Fredericksburg. GAINESVILLE, Va., Nov. 10,

A most brilliant achievement was accomplished this morning by General Sigel's body-guard, under the command of Captain Dahlgren, of Gen. Sigel's staff. For real daring, perhaps nothing which has occurred during the present campaign can equal it About ten o'clock in the morning the guard, number-ing fifty-four men, when nearly opposite Fredericks-burg, forded the Rappahannock river and entered that place. The advent of our force was so sudden that the rebels were completely taken by surprise. They had five hundred men stationed in different parts of the town. Before they could be collected together our men engaged several bodies of the enemy's troops in numbers greater than their own. On several occasions, Captain Dahlgren's men were completely surrounded, and all avenues of retreat were apparently cut off; but they were not to be conquered. They forced themselves from this embarrassing position, with the loss of but one man killed and another wounded. After having at least twenty men killed and as many more wounded, the rebels fied in great consternation. There were thirty-four of them captured, all of whom were brought in this evening, with the exception of six, who were paroled. who were paroled.

Movements of Gen. McClellan.

Washington, Nov. 11.

Major-General McClellan and personal staff left Warrenton at 11 o'clock to-day. On reaching Warrenton Junction asslute was fired. The troops, who had been drawn up in line, afterwards broke ranks, when the soldiers crowded round him, and many eagerly called for a few parting words. He said, in response, while on the platform of the cars: "I wish you to stand by Burnside as you have stood by me, and all will be well. Good bye." To this there rose a spontaneous and enthusiastic response.
The troops were also drawn up in line at Bristow Station and Manassas Junction, where salutes were Movements of Gen. McClellan. Station and Manassas Junction, where salutes were ired, and where McClellan was complimented with thusiastic cheers. The party arrived here this afternoon just in time to take the 5 o'clock train of cars for Trenton; the cars being detained owing to some impediment on the train the track.

Gen. McClellan was recognized by the many soldiers quartered in that vicinity, when he was greeted with oft repeated cheers.

The following farewell order was read to the troops composing the army of the Potomac, yesterday morning, on dress parade:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, CAMP NEAR RECTORTON, Nov. 7, 1862.

Officers and Soldiers of the Army of the Potomac—An order of the President devolves upon Maj. Gen. Burnside the command of this army.

In parting from you I cannot express the love and gratitude I bear to you as an army. You have grown up under my care; in you I have uever found doubt or coldness.

The battles you have fought under my command found doubt or coldness.

The battles you have fought under my command will proudly live in our nation's history.

The glory you have achieved, our peril and fa-tigue, the graves of our comrades, fallen in battle and by disease, the broken forms of those whom wounds and sickness have disabled, are the strongest wounds and sickness have the state of the state of the sassertions which can exist among men that we are united still by an indissoluble tie. We will ever be comrades in supporting the Constitution of our country and the nationality of its people.

Major General, U. S. A. BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.

Gen. McClellan just arrived, and passes throug to Philadelphia in the 7 o'clock (p. m.) train. H goes through from there, by special train for Trenton.

PERILOUS TIMES. In the financial sense these are indeed perilous times. We are in the breakers, with little or no hope of getting out of them. We see the rocks and shoals where many a community has suffered financial shipwreck, and we have no certain means by which we can avoid them.

Gold is quoted at a premium of thirty-five cents on the dollar; the plain English of which is, that a paper dollar is worth something less than sixty-five cents. This is true of the money of all banking corporations, and is true-also, with a difference of only a few pennies, of government paper. Even our "legal tender currency" has lost about one-third of its value.

We ask every day, and we hear others ask, what is the cause of all this? Some answer that the foreign demand for specie, while all the banks refuse it in redemption of their bills, has created the wide difference between paper and gold. This, plainly enough, is only partially true. The banks have no extraor dinary amount of specie locked up in their results, and importations are by no means so heavy as to create an extraordinary demand. But one thing then remains to be answered, and that is, that the depreciation in the value of paper is caused by an undue and unpre-cedented expansion of our currency, growing out of government disbursements. The government has created a new currency, millions anything possessing an intrinsic value. The government cannot redeem its notes, and the banks cannot redeem their notes. therefore, that paper is not money, but a mere promise to pay; a promise which neither the government nor the banks can at present re-to confidence, and a disastrous depreciation in the value of paper.

We do not look for any sudden, terrific crash in the business world, as the result of this inflation of the currency. We have not had to chronicle great speculations and undue credits, which usually precede these terrific crashes. We are told that there has not been a time since 1837 when there was so little mercantile paper affort as at present. It would seem, therefore, that the present dilution of the currency need not involve the ruin of really solvent men. There is no prospect, either, of a sudden contraction of paper issues. The banks do not seem to be even dreaming of a resumption of specie payments; and the government has loaned nothing to be called in; it has only paid out, and must continue to pay out. The expansion must called in; it has only paid out, and must continue to pay out. The expansion must thus continue until this war stops, or a new financial system is adopted. In either case the change will not probably be any more sudden than that which is now going on in another direction. But it is this change—the change now going n,-a change which touches the interest of every man and woman in the community—which startles us. Where is it to stop?— Paper money has lost one-third of its value. The people are losing confidence in these promises to pay. Men are inquiring, can the government ever redeem its notes? course, dividend paying stocks go up. Corn and flour, and pork and coal, and indeed and flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which we have called money, goes down. The question is, Where are we to stop? The government keeps right on, dishursing its promises, and flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which the clear of flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which the clear of flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which the clear of flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which the clear of flour, and pork and coal, and indeed every thing else go up, as this paper, which the clear of flour, and pork and coal, and flour, and flour, and pork and coal, and flour, and fl And if five, why not fifty? - Providence Post.

M. An important arrest for counterfeiting was made on Tuesday in Brooklyn. A man named Geo. White, residing in Atlantic aveoue, and doing business in Cedar street, New York, under an assumed name, was caught by Philadelphia officers, and plates on eight banks found in his possession. It is not known to what extent he has issued his bogus bills.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 11.-The renoval of Gen. McCiellan creates intense excitement here. Senator Harris, in a morning address to the law students at Albany Law School, said he was grieved and indignant at this removal, regarding it as a fatal mistake. He has written a letter to Gen. McClellan, staing this as his opinion.

TARRANT'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF CUBEBS AND COPAIBA.

This preparation is particularly recommended to the MEDICAL PROFESSION and the PUBLIC, as combining, in the most convenient and efficacious form, the well-established virtues and properties of Guebe and Copalita. For the speedy and effectual relief and cure of all SEXUAL DISEASES, it may justly be considered one of the greets and most valuable discoveries in the annals of medicine, frequently effecting a cure in three or four days. In its preparation as an extract or a paste, the usual nauseous taste is avoided, and it is, consequently, never found to interfere with the diffestion, while, from its greater on centration, the dose is much reduced. It may be relied on as the best mode for the administration of these remedies in the large class of diseases of both sexes to which they are applicable.

N. H.—Purchasers are advised to ask for TARRANT'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF CUBEBS AND COPAIBA,

COPAIBA, and to take nothing else—as imitations and worthless preparations, under similar names, are in the market. Pamphlets accompany the medicine, containing full and ample directions. Price, $1.00. Sent by express on receipt the price of the price Prepared and sold wholesale and retail, by

THE PATENT STAMP-SEALING AND POST-MARK PRESERVING ENVELOPE.

The preservation on the letter itself of the POST-MARK and POSTAGE-STAMP, generally destroyed with the detached cover, has long been deemed a matter of the first importance. This desideratum is now triumphantly secured by this ingenious invention. Many obvious advantages must arise from the general use of this envelope.

First—Increased Safety by additional sealing; the stamp connecting the envelope and letter securely together; and this is never liable to be omitted, though the sticking of the flap is frequently neglected or imperfectly done.

Scond-Security against Impertinent Intrusion; the letter and envelope being firmly attached by the stamp, and inclosure cannot be inspected even if the flap be clandestinely opened.

Third—Nafety against Abstraction of Valuable Inclosures. If the flap be left unscaled, or opened with felonious intent, it will be impossible to open the letter and take thence bank notes and drafts without so mutilating the envelope as to insure d-tection.

Fourth—Security for the free payment of the Postage; as the stamp, when once properly placed in this window, cannot be removed without its destruction.

Fifth—Advantage therefore to the Government; by the effectual destruction of every stamp in its first use.

Sixth—Facility to the Post Office Deparations; by a uniform location of the stamp in the upper right hand corner, which is the most convenient position for the Post Office mark.

Scenth—Verification of the Mailing; by securing on the

to location.

Board $1.50 per day. Table d'Hote for merchants and business men from 1 to 3 P. M.

which is the most convenient position for one root of mark.

Seventh—Verification of the Mailing; by securing on the letter itself the legal evidence of the time and place of it being mailed. This has long been exteemed so desirable, that many prudent persons are constrained to dispense with the use of envelopes, that they may have the post mark on the letter; and others take the precaution to pin the envelope again on the letter for identification.

Eighth—Ucrtainty of the Date and Place on the Letter, which are so trequently omitted by writers in careléssness or hurry. or hurry.

Ninth—Ornamentation: which, though some may think of small importance, certainly meets the approval of all persons of tasts.

Tenth—Cost. Notwithstanding the many and unrivalled Tenth—Cost. Notwithstanding the many and unrivaled advantages of the "Stamp Sesling Envelopes," they will be furnished at a very small advance upon the prices of those not having the benefit of this patent.

We have been compelled to raise the club subscription price to one dollar and and fifty cents in order to save our selves from actual loss. Paper has risen; including taxes, about twenty five per cent, and still raing; and when we tell our Democratic friends, candidly, that we can no longer afford to sell the Weekly Paranor and Unions at one dollar a year, and must add fifty cents or stop the publication, we trust they will appreciate our position, and, instead of withdrawing their subscriptions, go to work with a will to increase our list in every county in the State. We have endeavored, and shall continue our efforts, to make the paper useful as a party organ, and welcome as a news messenger to every family. We flatter ourselves that it has not been without some influence in producing the glorious revolution in the politics of the State achieved at the late election; and if fearlessness in the discharge of duty, fidelity to the principles of the party, and annious desire to promote its interests, with some experience and a moderate degree of ability, can be made servicable hereafter, the Weekly Paranor and Union will not be less useful to the party or less welcome to the family drice in the future than it has been in the past. We condiently look for increased encouragement in this great entarprise, and appeal to every influential Democrat in the State to lend us his sid in running our subscription list up to twenty or thirty thousand. The expense to each individual is trifling, the benefit to the party may be great. Believing that the Democracy of the State feel the necessity of sustaining a fearless central organ, we make this speal to than for assistance with the fullest confidence of success.

The same reasons which induce us to raise the price of which is also increased. The additional cost to each subscriber will be but trifling; and, while we cannot persult in any diminution of our daily circulation, yet, were we certain that such

THE STATE!

There is scarcely a village or town in the State in which a club cannot be raised if the proper exertion be made, and surely there are few places in which one or more energetic men cannot be found who are in favor of the dissemination of sound Democratic doctrines, who would be willing to make the effort to raise a club.

Any person sending us a club of twenty suscribers to the Weekly will be entitled to a copy for his services. The price, even at the advance rate, is so low that we cannot offer greater inducements than this. Additions may be made at any time to a club of subscribers by remitting one dollar and fifty cents for each additional name. It is not necessary to send us the names of those constituting a club, as we cannot undertake to address each paper to club subscribers separately.
