THE PATENT STAMP-SEALING AND POST-MARK PRESERVING ENVELOPE.

The preservation on the letter itself of the POST-MARK and POSTAGE-STAMP, generally destroyed with the detached cover, has long been deemed a matter of the first importance. This desderatum is now triumphantly secured by this ingenious invention. Many obvious advantages must arise from the general use of this envelope.

First—Increased Safety by additional sealing; the stamp connecting the envelope and letter securely together; and this is nover liable to be omitted, though the sticking of the flap is frequently neglected or imperfectly done.

Scond—Security against Impertinent Intrusion; the letter and envelope being firmly attached by the stamps, and inclosure cannot be inspected even if the flap be clandestinely oponed.

Third—Safety against Abstraction of Valuable Inclosures. If the flap be left unsealed, or opened with folionious intent, it will be impossible to open the letter and take thence bank notes and drafts without is destruction.

Fluth—Security for the free payment of the Postage; as the stamp, when once properly placed in this window, cannot be removed without its destruction.

Fluth—Advantage therefore to the Government; by the effectual destruction of every stamp in its first use.

Sixth.—Facility to the Post Office Deparations; by a uniform location, of the stamp in the upper right hand corner, which is the most convenient position for the Post Office mark.

mark on the letter; and others take the precaution to pin the envelope again on the letter for identification.

Kighth—Certainty of the Date and Place on the Letter, which are so frequently omitted by writers in carelesaness or hurry.

Ninth—Ornamentation; which, though some may think of small importance, certainly meets the approval of all persons of taste.

Tenth—Cost. Notwithstanding the many and unrivalled advantages of the "Stamp Sealing Envelopes," they will be furnished at a very small advance upon the prices of those not having the benefit of this patent.
