SPEECH OF MH. VOC RHEER.

The Young Men of Bemooratic Union Association of the Gity of New Youk are doing a vast deal of good in this crisis, by having a number of the entire the second of the City of New Youk are dealed of good in this crisis, by having a number of the entire the second of the City of New Youk are dealed of good in this crisis, by having a number of the entire the second of the City of New Youk are dealed of good in this crisis, by having a number of the entire the second of the City of New Youk are the second of the City of New Youk are the bold, eloquent and fearless Vallandersham, and this she had not included of the country. An expenditure of the country of Oho. Both of these addresses are to long for or columns to These years are the country. It is the question of the country, if it is the great in the country of Oho. Both of these addresses are to long for or columns to These years are the country. If it is the proof blood of Northern Young and the she address before the Association. We find the following ynopsis of his contains. The country is the country of the country of the country of the country of the proof of the country of the Terms, not Mr. Lincoln and his cabinet. (Hisses) No President and no cabinet, no office-holders constitute your government. These are times, however, when a tew office-nolders whose time is soon to expire, having the power to-day, promulgate the strange dectrine that they are the government. Let that doctrine once prevail and this is a free government no more—your government is overturned, and you will accept a monarchy or despotism or any other form of government from the other side of the Attantic, and our torm will be no more. I am not ere because anybody lets me come—because any laster, provost-marshal, President, or Secretary of here because anybody lets me come—because any master, provost-marshal, President, or Secretary of War says I may be here. I am here because it is my right to be here, because you invited me here, and when I look in the taces of those before me I tender my allegiance to you as my government. I owe none to those that would overthrow the liberties of my country. (Applause.) I owe them simply commendation and support in that in which they are right—I owe them upposition and demandation in all that they do that is wrong. (Cheers.) The speaker then eviewed at some length the history of the Democratic party, saying that it had always been a noble organization to which any man might have been proud to belong, and contrasting the condition of the country under Democratic rule to its condition now, he said: I see its history written in every bright line of your country's prosperity and happiness. The people were safe; the Union was saved; the Constitution was preserved. The fruits of labor came to the sons of toil; no gigantic debt, no taxation, no waiting widows or sobbing orphans of labor came to the sons of twil; no gigantic debt, no taxation, no wailing widows or sobbing orphans marked its track and the policy of this government, and yet would you ask me to-night to abandon this time-honored and glorious organization for this pirate of the high seas of politics that I shall speak of directly? I saw in the morning papers of the other morning that a distinguished gentleman of your city said it was good once in a while, as we were progressing along, to get out of the Democratic party—(hat John Van Buren (grouns and hisses) said it was good to get out of the Democratic omnibus and walk; and I understood him to say that he was out and walking now. I will tell you how to do: just instruct the driver to whip up the horses and let him trudge the balance of the journey on foot. (Applause.) A man that would rather walk on foot, and trudge along in common with Wendell Phillips, and Horace Greely, and Lincoln, and Stanton (loud hissing.) and that class of foot-passengers, I do not think is fit company to ride inside a stage-coach full of Democrats. (Great would have rested in the security that they were saie, and the Union never would have been dissolved. Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Clay, and Webster predicted that the result of a sectional party would ate, and the Union never would have been dissolved. this are called loyal and self-sercificing, and the little band of men who have taken the Constitution as their pillar of fire by night and their cloud by day through this wilderness, that have been sacrificing everything and making nothing—we are the licentious and profligate men. What cause have we had to do as we have done except the cause of cruth, the cause of the country, the cause of constitutional liberty? (Applause.) The speaker referred at some length to the efforts of the administration to bring the negroes to an equality with the white race, and of the uniformity with which they have falsified every promise of a prosecution of the war for the Union, and have carried out all the most extreme designs of the abolitionists, while crying out for no party. He continued: Thus, my fellow-citizens, I have traced some of the pernicious causes which have led to the present deplorable state of the county. I have shown you the broken faith of those in power, and that even if this war could restore the Union it has not been prosecuted for such a purpose. The blood and treasure of the country have been obtained on false pretenese. I have shown you these things. I will show you some other things that make the public heart sick and weary of this war—that make them long for the haloyon days of peace. (Great applause.) The South have not been told that they mightbeome back, like the prodigits ont the manion of their fathers; they have not been told that they mightbeome back, like the prodigits ont to the manion of their fathers; they have not been told that model manion would receive them. If they had come back today what would they find? As Mr. Crittenden said, that "your confiscation law to-day lines the borders all along with gibbets and ropes, and they would have to bend their necks recumbent under lines of gibbets, and suffer beneath the judgment of that law which you proneunce in advance of the return. You have stripped them of all their property—even the widow whose son is in the rebel army to whom she has give

I have no doubt, to turn the bolts of that fort named after that here of liberty, Lafayetts, as if in mockery of liberty, and as if in insult to the teachings of the revolution, as if in de-rision and disdain of the teachings of the past. Everything seems to have been perverted, and Fort Lafayette, named after him who shed his blood for insult to the teachings of the revolution, as if in derision and disdain of the teachings of the past. OTHE BIBLE AND BULLETS."

To the Editor of the Chicago Times: At Calumet, a town of some five hundred inhabitants, situated on the Michigan Southern railroad, near the crossing of the Michigan Central railroad, in Porter county, Rev. Captain William Copp was announced to speak on Monday evening, the 2d inst. The evening came, and with it the speaker. The audience gathered. The speaker took the stand, opened the Bible before him; unbutsuand, opened the Bible before him; unbuttoned his coat; took from his side-pocket a navy revolver, which he deliberately placed by the side of the Sacred Book, and announced that his subject would be, "The Bible and Bullets"

I am sure, said the war at home rest upon the Republican or Abolition party, hissed on by one who has professed to be a teacher of the precepts of "the meek and lowly Jesus." The responsi-

I am sure, said the speaker, if I felt that the blood of this war was in any way upon my hands, or that any vote of my hand had brought into existence this thousand miles of graves upon the borders of the South, had caused this mourning of mothers for their first-born, like Rashel weeping for her childron because they are not. If I thought that I was responsible by word or deed for this war, I should teel that upon my fingers was the blood-red damned spot of murder that would incarnadine great Neptune's wave, and that all the waters of the ocean would not wash out. (Great applause, and "three cheers for Voorhees the patriot" given heartily.) There would be no repose for me this side or the other of the grave. I would have to have a lighted candle in my room to be the same subject, and bluntly asking how many of those present were ready and willing to assist in hanging "Buell Starr, Samuel J. Anthony, F. Y. J. Merrifield, Judge Wood ruff and David Oaks," five of the most promise that no Democrat has to take the guilt of this great crime against mature and humanity. You know it well that if everybody had voted as you voted, and talked as you talked, and mined their own business as you minded yours, and let then share States aloue in slavery, and let them have the guarant tees of the Constitution—who does not know that there would have been peace and union before today? The man that pretends he don't know it fallsfies his own internal convictions. Every man knows it. He who stands before you and says it is not true feeling it your breasts, and you know it. One sequently when you ask this question of Republicans, how anxious, nervous, and sensitive they are how quickly they put up their hands and say "Let's argue this question when the war is over." It is like Banque s ghost threatening Maobeth. Their eyeballs are seared by the awiul sight. They sax that the day of reckoning may be postponed; like bonne guilty wretch upon the key days, let us not dis

"THE AGE" will silvocate the principles and policy of the Democratic party, and will, therefore, necessarily favor the restoration of the Union as it was, and defend the Constitution of the United States, and that of this Com-Constitution to the other common sealth. It will freely and fairly discuss all legitimate subjects of newspaper comment, including, of course, and pre-emi nently at this time, all questions connected with the existing unhappy condition of our country.

It will fearlessly criticise the public acts of public servants, and defend the legal and constitutional rights of individual citizens of sovereign States, against assaults from any quarter. vants, and desent instead and constants. Against assaults from any quarter.

It will seek to awaken the minds of the people to a proper sense of the actual condition of the Republic—to present to them, truthfully, the fearful perils in which we stand as a nation—to exhibit the magnitude of the task that is before them, if they would check our downward progress—and to inspire them with patriotic determination to apply first arkeny for our national ills.

In brief, it will, in all things, sim to be the faithful exponent of Democratic principles, and to render itself worthy to be an organ of the Democratic party, under whose auspices our country prospered so long and so well. The restoration of that party—the party of the Constitution and the Union—to power, in the legislative and executive governmental branches of the States and of the Union, we believe to be necessary to avertanrehy, and the unter ruin of the Republic. To contribute to that restoration will be our highest aim.

S THE PATENT STAMP-BEALING AND POST-MARK PRESERVING ENVELOPE.

The preservation on the letter itself of the POST-MARK and POST-MGE-STAMP, generally destroyed with the detached cover, has long been deemed a matter of the first importance. This desderatum is now triumphantly secured by this ingenious invention. Many obvious advantages must arise from the general use of this envelope.

First.—Increased Bafety by additional sealing; the estamp connecting the envelope and letter securely together; and this is never liable to be omitted, though the sticking of the flap is frequently neglected or imperfectly done.

Second—Security against Impertinent Intrusion; the letter and envelope being firmly attached by the stamps, and inclosure cannot be inspected even if the flap be clam destinely opened.

Third—Safety against Abstraction of Valuable Inclosures. It the flap be left unscaled, or opened with felonious intent, it will be impossible to open the letter and take thence bank notes and drafts without so multiating the envelope as to insure detection.

Fourth—Security for the free payment of the Postage; as the stamp, when once properly placed in this window, cannot be removed without its destruction. This department comprises engravings of every article that a lady wears.
