R. M. T. HUNTER, [Note.—The above communication was delivered to me at Fort Mource at 4.20 p. M., February 2, by Lieutennat-Colonel Bab-cock, of General Grant's staff, THOS, T. ECKERT, Major and A. D. C.]

and of the colored race as well, in elo-quent terms, and insisted that the slaves were entitled to the right of suffrage as a right and as a boon earned and de-served of the republic for their singular good conduct during the war, for their love and care for our soldiers, and for their heroic military services and fidelity to the Union and nation. Mr. Beecher concluded by remarking that people might ray that, if permitted to vote, the negro may also hold office, and asked why not, if people want him to. If a thousand men choose to send Douglass to Congress, will you take away from them their right to do so? The speaker referred to miscegenation, and thought the races should not intermingle; but, if they did, it should he by bona fide, earnest marriages, and not under the thousand men choose to send Douglass to Congress, will you take away from them their right to do so? The speaker referred to miscegenation, and thought if they did, it should he by bona fide, earnest narriages, and not under the promiscuous intercourse prevailing in the rebel States. He would have one law that a man may marry a black wo man if he wishes to, and anoth er tha a man shall never be compelled to do any such thing.

Messrs. Carpenter and Russell were appointed to wait upon Hon. Henry G. Long, and request his attendance, for the purpose of administering the oath of office to the Mayor.

The Committee having returned with the seven hundred thousand dollars. gentlemen, the oath of office was administered by Judge Long, and then Mayor Sanderson delivered the following factures about five thousand tons per an-num, worth half a million dollars, The Rake manufactory of Geo. W.

Brandt & Co., turns out annually about four thousand Rakes, which at forty dollars each, are worth one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. The total value of the production of the
