we got Hogentobler's hat when Bookman Michael B. Kitch, sworn: This witness testified as to being engaged in hauling goods for Mr. Devlin, and making arrangements for the drive in the evening. They started and went as far Mr. Bletz's when they stopped that he might change coats. He further testifies: when I came out I went to get in the buggy, when Bookman and Devlin told me if was broke, that some and Devlin told me it was broke, that some one had run into it; while we were unhitchone had run into it; while we were unhitching a buggy came driving back from the bridge, and Devlin stepped out on the pike and asked them to halt; they still drove on and a few moments after I heard the report of a pistol; he was driving rapidly; did not hear any cracking of a whip; was busy unhitching; it was not a few minutes after the buggy came up until the shot was fired, only a few seconds. Bookman's character as all peaceable person is good. as a peaceable person is good.

Heard him make no threats; did not near a conversation between him and Dr

Berntheisel.

Benjamin Eshelman, sworn. Pistol produced; I lent this pistol to Bookman on the 8th of July; we had been together seeing some girls that night; he had some two miles to go home, and I only half a mile; he said he was a failed of some down that a mile; was afraid of some dogs; had a lady with him; it was after night; he afterwards told me to come up to Mountville on Saturday, the day of the shooting, and he would give me the pistor; this conversation was on Thursday; Bookman has borne a good charaddrsday; Bookman has borne a good character as a peaceable citizen; I went to school with him, and was in the army with him; the pistol once went off accidentally while I had it.

A I had no positive engagement to meet Bookman at Mountville on the evening when the shooting occurred; told him I would come there if I could. Miss S. E. Gable, sworn: I was going to Mountville on the evening when the shoot ing occurred; saw a buggy turning round, with a man and two ladies in it; heard one with a man and two ladies in it; heard one of the ladies ask the man not to turn back toward Mountville; he did turn back.

Capiam E. When the prisoner came in he said, 'Squire, I have shot a man; I said, "Thope, Bitly, you have not done that;" he then went on to state the circumstances of their having gone on a ride; that they stopped at Bletz's, where Kitch went into got a coat; that Hogentobler drove against the buggy and broke it; he called on him to stop; did not do so; but drove on; when he came not do so, but drove on; when he ack called him to stop again; went out into the road to the buggy; he then had his pistol in his pocket and his hand on it; got pistol in his pocket and his hand on it; rot so close to the buggy that the wheel caught him; he then threw up his arm and the pistol went off somehow; asked him where he hit the man; said he did not know; said he thought he hit him; wanted me to go along up to where the man was; told him! had not time, and that perhaps it was not as had as he thought if perhaps it was not as bad as he thought it was; then he went out; in about half an hour or so he returned; he then said, "Squire I give myself into your hands, whatever you do I will submit to;" told him it was a serious matter and that I had

o other course but to commit him to jail The counsel for the Commonwealth declined to cross examine the witness, on the ground that his testimony was improperly idmitted as evidence, and denying that it could be so regarded.

The testimony for the defence closed here and the Commonwealth, after offering to prove the character of the deceased as a soldier and being refused, also closed. Court adjourned to 24 o'clock, P. M.

Afternoon Session. -The case of the Commonwealth vs. Bookman was ably argued during the afternoon by J. B. Livingston, Esq., on the part of the Commonwealth, and by O. J. Dikkey and David Paul Brown Esqs., on the part of the defence. A night session was held, when S. H. Reynolds, Eso., concluded the argument on the part then given to the jury under the charge of Saturday Morning.-The jury in the RECEPTION OF RETURNED VETERANS. Co. K, 77th P. V. V., Capt. James A. Haus, returned on Thursday evening. This company was originally commanded by Col. F S. Pyfer, by whom it was raised, and ha always been an especial pet with our citizens. Last evening Humane Engine Company, No. 6, to which most of the members tre attached, headed by the City Cornet Band, marched to the depot and received the veterans. A large number of the returned soldiers had been absent from home for over four years, and the others had enlisted about ten months ago. They all re turn in good health, notwithstanding the many hardships they had to endure in their long and weary marches, and the numer-ous battles in which so many of them were engaged in Kentucky, Tennessee and Geor The returned veterans were the recipie of an elegant supper at the hands of the Humane "boys." It was gotten up by a number of ladies of the western part of the city Several large and delicious cakes were presented by Mrs. Gruel, Miss Beam and Mr Rohrer. We have never seen a more sumptuous repast provided on any similar occasion, and the members of Co. K seemed to eniov it to their hearts' content.

Speeches of welcome were made by Mayor Sanderson, Gen. Geo. M. Steinman and Col. F. S. Pyfer, the old commander and universal favorite with the men of the 77th, who responded in eloquent terms to the following toast of the Mayor:

The Gallant Boys of the 77th: In war and on pencethey always stand by their country. Their heroic deeds in the field of battle and in the march will ever live in the memory of their admiring fellow-citizens.

There was a jolly, good time at the Humane Engine House. The band enlivened the occasion with most excellent music, and everything passed off pleasantly. All present were delighted with the rich and appro-

Haines, who formerly resided in this city but who has been living in Lewistown, Pa. for about eleven years, paid us a visit this morning. He exhibited to us a very handsome model of a Reaper and Mower, known as the "Field Monitor," for which he re-ceived Letters Patent, March 8, 1864, and has manufactured quite a number of them since then. In this machine the gearing is enclosed within a drum, which is rotated by direct contact with the ground, and through the medium of which motion is communicated to the working parts. The cutting apparatus can be so doubled up that the machine may be conveyed any where without any alteration in the machinery whatever. The machine combines lightness with strength, and Mr. H. claims it to be the lightest, strongest and best machine in use. We understand that there is a movement on foot among several of our enterprising citizens to erect an establishment for the purpose of manufacturing the "Field Monitor," and also Mr. Haines celebrated Horse Power. Models of both the Reaper and Mower and Horse Power may be seen at the office of Jesse Landis, Esq.

ed the body to order, when the list of delegates was called over. Esaias Billingfelt, Esq., rose and read a eulogy on the late Day Wood, and moved, that a committee of six be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Convention in the death of Mr. Wood. Mr. Nathaniel Mayer rose and said that he fully agreed with the gentleman in his eulogy on the death of Mr. Wood, and that the friends of Day Wood now in the Con vention ask the nomination for the lower part of the county, and he hoped that James Wood, a half-brother of the deceased, would receive the nomination. The President also paid an eloquen ribute to the memory of the deceased. The motion of Mr. Billingfelt was then put and carried unanimously; and the following committee appointed : Esaias Billingfelt, Walter G. Evans, George Levan, W. Neal, B. M. Stauffer, George Ashton. It was then moved and carried that the Convention proceed to make nominations for a candidate for the Legislature. The following nominations were made:

Andrew Armstrong, East Donegal. David H. Cochran, Colerain, Philip Gossler, Columbia. A. C. Reinoehl, Manheim twp. D. G. Steacy, Bart. John H. Shirk, East Earl. James Wood, Little Britain. George H. Ettla, Marietta

There still being no choice, the Conventio proceeded to a fifth ballot : The Convention in the afternoon sembled a scene in Bedlam more than anything else we can liken it unto. Up to the 17th ballot things remained in statu quo.— It was near four o'clock, and the President, Secretaries, reporters and many members of the Convention were hungry, tired and their patience had become exhausted. The writer of this article, who was of course un known to the President, was requested by that gentleman to make a motion to adjourn We respectfully declined doing so, because we were no delegate and not even a membe of the party, upon receiving which informaon the President enjoyed a hearty laugh. Before proceeding to the 17th ballot, Mr. M. M. Strickler arose, and made a few eloquent remarks in favor of the nomination of a soldier for the position. He said the all along professed great friendship for the soldier, but had never yet exhibited that friendship in any substantial manner. He spoke amid the greatest confusion, every person being on their feet, and many shouting "go on with the ballor," "no time for talking," "let him speak," etc. Mr. S., however, bravely stood his ground. Mr. Andrew Armstrong then arose, and said that as it was now the determination of the Convention to nominate a soldier, he withdrew his name in favor of Adjutant, A. C. Reinoehl, which elicited the wildest applanse. Immediately Mr. John I. Hartm sprang on the Secretary's table, and said that he was authorized to withdraw the name of Mr. Steacy in tayor of Adjutant Reinoehl, and made a motion that he be nominated by acclamation. This created the greatest confusion, and it was some minutes before order could be restored. Lieut. Reinoehl was being congratulated by his friends on having received the nomin: tion, and looked the happiest man in the Convention; "but there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," for many of Shirk's

DEATH OF AN OLD MERCHANT .-- Mr Thomas Mellon, an olden-time merchant, died at his residence in Philadelphia on Monday, of apoplexy, in the 76th year of his age. Mr. M. was a merchant at New Orleans more than fifty years ago, and was one of the gallant defenders of that city on the ever-memorable 8th of January, 1815. He retired from active commercial life about thirty years ago, and ever since has been a resident of Philadelphia. He was early connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad enterprise, and was one of the Directors of tha company until within the past two or three years. He was never a politician, but was. firm and decided in his opinions, and was a member of the old Whig party until its disbandment in 1854, since which time he had invariably acted and voted with the Democratic party. He was one of the most successful merchants that New Orleans ever lad. Although in failing health for some time past, his death was sudden and unexpected, and he leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Mr M. was a brother-in-law of H. B. Swarr Esq., of this city, both having married daughters of the late Simeon Toby, Esq., of hiladelphia.

SALE OF VALUABLE ORE LAND. - Messrs. E. B. & C. B. Grubb hold in common two tracts of ore land in West-Hempfield township, this county, which has recently been appraised by a Sheriff's jury, and the one tract valued at $63,000, and the other at $53,-000. The parties named appeared on Satur day last at the Prothonotary's office, for the purpose of taking these tracts at this valuation; but as the law permitted bidding on the same, the first tract was purchased by Edward R. Grubb at $80,000 over the value. tion, making $143,000; and the other at $50,000 over the valuation, making $103,000. Upon a former partition within the last thirty years, these same tracts were appraised and valued logether at $25,000. The price at which they were sold on Saturday last shows the great and increased value of ore land in this county.

"The Old Capitol Prison and the Dry Tortugas."—This is the title of a pamphlet, recently issued by H. H. McClune, of Lancaster county, to whom we are indebted for a copy. It is dedicated to "The Friends of Personal Liberty and the Advocates of Constitutional Law," and narrates the arrest, false imprisonment, and persecutions of the author in the Old Capitol Prison and on the Dry Tortugas. "Truth is stranger than Fig. Dry Tortugas. "Truth is stranger than Fic-tion," the reader of this little volume will Dry fortugas. "Truth is stranger than Fiction," the reader of this little volume will be led to exclaim; for the pages of a romance are not more fraught with plots, persecutions, and sufferings, than is the simple narration of the privations of this victim of official persecution and arbitrary power. It seems almost incredible that such outrages could ever have been committed with impunity in this boasted land of Freedom; but we all know of hundreds of similar cases, not only permitted, but applauded by cases, not only permitted, but applauded by men who claim to be American citizens. We may speak of the outrages of Inquisitions, Star Chambers and the like; but thei This was the signal for another scene of the wildest confusion in the "happy family."

The wind of the parallel has been found on this continent and in this country. Mr. McClune's experience is only that of thousands of the parallel has been found on this continent and in this country. thers, many of whom could not surviv others, many of whom could not survive their persecutions, and now sleep in lonely graves. We hope the writer of this narra-tive may live to have all his wrongs righted, and to see his inhuman persecutors visited with condign punishment for their heinous crimes against Liberty and Right. A Jones (now stopping at Michael's Hotel, this city) is working miracles. Yesterday an old gentleman of some 60 or 70 years, from Lewistown, Mifflin county, who had been blind of one eye for twelve years from cataract, was made to see in a short time by Dr. Jones. It is truly pleasing to know we have in our midst a man so eminently successful in his profession as Dr. J. Thafflicted should not let this opportunity SUICIDE.—On the night of the 18th of Jan uary, a man named Rufus Lambert, hung himself in the barn of Jeremiah Harding, in the borough of Adamstown, in this county. Coroner Absalom B. Bixler was sent for and summoned a jury, who rendered a has travelled a great deal, remarked to us verdict in accordance with the facts. The cause which induced the commission of the rash act is unkñown.

A New Wine.—In this age of bad whisky and cztended liquor, it is pleasant to know that there is one article of pure wine in the market. We have reference to Speer's Samburg Port Wine. We at first tried it somewhat unwillingly, but were agreeably disappointed in finding it one of the most delicious nectars I had ever tested agreeably disappointed in finding it one of the most delicious nectars I hadever tasted. I doubt whether there is a vineyard in the Old or New World that can yield a wine at all comparable to this in richness and delicacy of flavor. Mr. Speer prepares it by a process peculiar to himself, without the addition of spirits, and each bottle he sells is guaranteed to be four years old. It has found its way to London and Paris.—Boston Transcript.
