

less solemnly pledged to the protection, in his own person, property and rights of the colored population who have been so long and so cruelly oppressed...

he could have them, and the amendment would be voted down, the gentleman had evidently spoken into the wrong convention; he had resolved just two days behind time...

Mr. Marshall, of Allegheny, took occasion to pitch into Mr. Hall, John Cessna, and the other members who were making speeches at the radical side of the convention...

EXCITEMENT AND CONFUSION. The greatest excitement and confusion prevailed throughout the Hall; and to add to the general disorder, the President of the Convention showed himself utterly unfit to preserve the order...

Finally John Cessna got the floor amidst the general confusion, and proposed to recommit the resolution to a sub-committee...

Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Allegheny, protested against the resolution, saying that he had been deceived by the resolution, and that he had been deceived by the resolution...

Mr. Cessna replied that he was doing as well as he could for the good of the party, and that he should not be regarded as a traitor...

Mr. Kirkpatrick replied: "I hurl back at the gentleman from Bedford the assurance that he is a traitor, and that he is a traitor..."

Mr. Cessna, in reply, said that he was doing as well as he could for the good of the party, and that he should not be regarded as a traitor...

Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Allegheny, expressed his utter surprise that Mr. Cessna should have positively pledged his word to the Committee on Resolutions...

Mr. A. K. McClure, of Franklin, moved that the platform be adopted with the exception of the fourth resolution...

Mr. Hall, of Blair, made a speech of some length, endorsing the resolution and praying that the members would pursue such a course...

Mr. Cessna, in reply, said that he was doing as well as he could for the good of the party, and that he should not be regarded as a traitor...

Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Allegheny, moved to strike out the words, "and now, relying on the aid of the colored people..."
