A gentle rain falls in a light refreshing shower, and is eagerly absorbed by the myriad mouths of multitudinous plants which are nastening to inaugurate the season of flower and fruit. Soon through the light clouds we shall have a burst of genial sun shine, under the influence of which the foliage of the forests will burst forth in beauty as if at the stroke of a magician's wand. Spring time with all its deliciousness is here, and we welcome it most boartily.

FIRE. On Thursday night last, between seven and eight o'clock, the large frame stable attached to the Mansion House, on the corner of South Queen and Vine streets was discovered to be on fire by Mr. Henry Decker, who was returning from the St. Mary's Catholic Church. He gave the alarm immediately, but before water could be got upon the building it was enveloped in flames, and the conflagration threatened to spread to the surrounding structures. Some ·two or three houses which stood in close proximity were on fire before any one of the engines could be got on the ground. From the stable the fire was communicated to Leippe's spoke and carriage shaft manufactory, another frame building immediately adjoining. The barn, or stable, was consumed, but, by the efficiency of our admirable fire department, the manufactory of Mr. Leippe was prevented from being entirely destroyed, only the back building being burned. That the fire should have been checked where it was, shows what our

Mr. Hess lost two tons of hay, a lot of tools and other articles, together with the building on which there was an insurance of $2000. He estimates his loss at $5000,-Mr. Leippe lost heavily quite a quantity of finished work and valuable lumber having been destroyed or ruined. He estimate his loss as near $5000, insured for $3000 in the Columbia and York Mutual. Fortunately the night was calm otherwise the conflagration might have baffled the skill even of our firemen, and spread over a considerable territory.

FATAL ACCIDENT.-On last Wednesday some workmen who were in the employ o Capt, Gallagher, at Mt. The boy was a bright little fellow, eight years of age, and at the time of the sad occurrence was playing in a back yard a short distance from the cistern. This is the second so Mr. Cook has lost by accident within a few years, both of whom were the same age. The first was killed by falling from an

T. J. & J C. Hank, of New Holland. They were fine young men, of considerable energy, and we wish them success.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT,-Mrs. Geo. B. Porter died on Friday night last, at her residence in East Orange street, this/city, from the effects of a dropsical dise with which she has long been afflicted. The decease of this estimable lady leaves a blank in this community which cannot easily be filled. Gifted with extraordinary olloquial powers, she was the life and soul of every company with which she was brought in contact, and rich and poor, the exalted and the humble in society were alike edified and instructed by her chaste and intellectual conversation. Descended from an old and highly influential Lancaster family, and connected by marriage with a race of distinguished Pennsylvania states men, she had the advantage of a personal equaintance with many of the leading public men of the State and Nation for the last fifty years, nearly all of whom have

Mrs. Porter's maiden name Sarah Humes, and very early in ier life she married George Bryan Porter, a distinguished lawyer then practising at this bar. Early in his first term of office President Jackson appointed Mr. orter, Governor of the then Territory of Michigan, and he removed with his family to the city of Detroit, where he continued reside for several years, exercising the functions of his office with distinguished ability. He died, however, while he was Governor, from the effects of a cold which he had contracted, and Mrs. Porter removed with her family back to her native place. She has continued to reside here ever since, and her house has always been noted for its generous hospitality. No family in our midst has ever gathered around it so numerous a body of friends and acquaintances as has been that which attended Mrs. Porter and her talented children; her death will be heard of with interest and be deplored with sincerity at many a distant urthstone all over our land. Our esteemed fellow-citizen, S. Humes

Porter, and her little grandson, Ollie Phelps were the only members of Mrs. Porter's iousehold at the time of her death. Eternity has claimed, we believe, five of her children, George, La Fayette, Jackson, Elizabeth, and Mrs. Sarah Phelps, who died at her mother's house a short time ago. Her remaining children are General Andrew Porter, who resides in Philadelolia, and Rose, residing with her husband, Louis Schissler, Esq., at Galena, Illinois.

Mrs. P. was a kind and indulgent mother, and her three remaining children feel that they have lost their best and dearest earthly riend; but they do not sorrow as those without hope. Their beloved parent took her farewell of earth in the full confidence of a blissful immortality; their loss, therefore, is her infinite gain. She lived her threescore years and ten without an enemy and died with the heartfelt regrets of al who knew her.

Her life affords a striking exemplification of the beautiful sentiment of Shirley, that When our souls shall leave this dwelling, The glory of our fair and virtuous actions Is above all the scutcheous on our tomb Or silken banners over us.

THE SUSQUEHANNA RIVER.-We find the following interesting descriptive and historical sketch of the Susquehanna in the Lycoming Standard:

If there be a more beautiful spot on earth If there be a more beautiful spot on earth than that where the men of Paxton set ed, we have never seen it. From its source in Otsego Lake, where the great American novelist has described it in language that will never cease to be read; along by its lovely windings, where the Chemung intersects the North Branch, whose beauties have been embalmed by one of our most graceful poets; by the Valley of Wyoming, which lives forever in the imagination of Campbell, but which is fairer even than the semi tropical fancy of which he was the semi tropical fancy of which he was enumored; on by the bold scenery of the baker for defence; Yundt with the District

April Weather.—This is the first spell

The uninterrupted and ley reign of winter seemed as if it would never come to an end.
The trees kept their buds tightly shat, and it is only within a day or two that they have begun to swell visibly. Now they are rapidly opening, and the pink of the blossoms and the green of the leaves is beginning to peep out. As we look through our window we can almost see the foliage of their bases; it sweeps in broad courses by the valleys. Its vast width, in its mad-spring freshets, when swollen by the melt-ed snows, it rushes from the hills with irresistible force, sometimes causing frightful inundations, leaves, with its falls, island after island in its channel, of the richest after island in its channel, of the richest green, and most surpassing beauty; while those passes through the mountains afford points of scenery far finer than any one would believe them to be from any description, if he not seen them.

The Susquehauna makes the grandest of these passages, just below the mouth of the Juniata. Its course there is several miles long, before it entirely disengages itself

Juniata. Its course there is several miles long, before it entirely disengages itself from the rapids, called Hunter's Falls, which are the remains of the rocky barrier which once resisted its way. Entirely at liberty, it pours its stream, a mile wide, along a channel some fifty or sixty feet beneath its bank. About seven miles below the mountains, at a point where they look blue in the distance, a sheltering wall from the northern blasts, flows in a little stream which the Indians called Pexetang, Paixang, or Paxton. This mountain is the northern boundary of the great valley, which, underlaid with blue limestone covered originally with the richest and noblest forest-growth, and including within it the garden of all the Atlantic slope, extends from Easton, on the Delaware, by Brest in the proster by the it the garden of all the Atlantic slope, extends from Easton, on the Delaware, by

A hundred and forty years ago, an enterprising young man, from Yorkshire, in England, by descent, probably, one of those Scandidavians, who, under the great Canute, held possession of the North of England, and gave its main character to it, made his way to Philadelphia. He married here a lady who came over with a well-known Yorkshire family of this city. Impelled by the same enterprising spirit that brought him from the old world, and using the inevitable eye that was characteristic of him, he went to the banks of the Susquehanna. He settled for a brief period at a point above Columbia, where the village of Bainbridge now stands, a place much frequented by the Conoy or Gawanese Indians. But he was not satisfied with this location. Exploring upwards along the Indians. But he was not satisfied with this location. Exploring upwards along the eastern bank of the Susquehanna, he advanced until, instead of the Conewaga hill at his back and on the opposite side of the river, he found the entrance opposite to him of that most beautiful valley, already described, with two fine streams flowing into the river about five miles apart, and on the eastern side an elevated plateau unsurpassed in loveliness in the wide world, with the little Paxton flowing at the base of an elevated slope or ridge of land. Here he settled, and the ferry across the river to the entrance of the Cumberland Valley was called after him.

His son, the first white child born west of the Conewaga hills, subsequently laid out a town on the spot and with singular fore-thought set apart six acres on a noble hill which rises on the northwest, which he conveyed to the State for public purposes. The Capitol of Pennsylvania is now built upon it, and the city of Harrisburg bears his name.

A careful examination evealed the fact that a ball was deeply empedded in the muscles of the leggits removal was proposed and successfully accomplished, to the great delight of the patient.

THE SUPPLEMENT TO THE COMMON SCHOOL LAW, Among the last work of the Legislature was the passage of supplement to the common w, which makes certain salutary changes in the manner of organizing, supervising and conducting the commor schools of Pennsylvania. This supplemen has been signed by the Governor, and i now in full force and effect. It provides that when school directors are unable to procure from the owner or owners of land, an eligible site for a school house, they may enter upon and occupy such land, to the extent of one acre, and the damages resulting from such occupancy to be determined by a jury of viewers; and in case the ward of the viewers is confirmed by the ourt, payment shall be made within thirty days, after which time collection may be made by execution, as in other cases of judgment against school directors; and either party shall have the right to have reriewers appointed by the court. The same act provides for the holding of County Teachers' Institute, to continue at least five days in each year, and appropriating out of the money in the county treas ury, not otherwise appropriated, to the county superintendent, one dollar for every three days' attendance of teachers upon the institute, said sum to be expended in procuring the attendance and instruction of competent lecturers at said annual meeting; and for non-attendance, except for good cause, a teacher's certificate may be reduced in grade; and the time spent in attendance on the Institute, may be al lowed the teacher by the board of directors. The superintendent must make a full state ment of the expenditures of moneys in his hands.

The act also provides for the selection of ext-books at each triennial convention of directors, the same to be validated by confirmation at the annual meeting of directors and teachers, held as now provided by law; and a majority of the boards of directors of the county may at any time call a special meeting of directors, for the purpose of appointing a committee on text-books, prior to the triennial meeting in 1869. City and borough superintendents, in places having over 10,000 inhabitants. The act legalizes the issue of three grades of teach ers' certificates, the lowest called "Profes sional," to be good for one year only; the second "Professional," which shall license the holder to teach in the county, city or borough where issued during the official term of the officer issuing it, and one year thereafter, and the third or highest grade is called a "Permanent Certificate," which must be signed by the State Superintendent. All professional certificates heretofore is sued before the first Monday of June, 1866, shall cease to be valid after the first Monday of June, 1868. Any professional certificate may be renewed by the proper officer if he s satisfied that the holder is entitled to such certificate.

The act also provides "that no persor shall hereafter be eligible to the office of county, city or borough superintendent, in any county of this Commonwealth, who loes not possess a diploma from a college legally empowered to grant literary degrees, diploma or State certificate issued accord ing to law by the authorities of a State normal school, a professional certificate from a county, city or borough superin-tendent of good standing, issued at least one year prior to the election, or a certificate of competency from the State superinendent of common schools; nor shall such erson be eligible unless he has a sound noral character, and has had successful exerience in teaching within three years of the time of his election: Provided, Tha serving as county, city or borough supermtendent, shall be taken as evidence of th requisite qualifications.

the process of "conquering" him which the man Harl immediately commenced was too severe for so tender a baby, and death relieved him of the charge at the end of four weeks. The day after his introduction to his new home the poor infant was whipped with "a blacksnake whip" because he did not know his letters. He was scourged with a knotted wagon-whip, beaten with straps, knocked out of his chair for falling asleep, bruised with clubs and bits of board until his flesh was like a jelly. One day the brute Harl hanged him by the waist from a hook in the wall, took off his shoes and stockings, and kindled a fire under the soles of his feet.— When the flames began to die out, the child's mother, who was present, was compelled, with dreadful threats, to bring fresh coals. This torture lasted nearly half an hour. Then the sufferer was taken down and tied to a bed-post. Cottrell & Eagle vs. Grubb and Halde man. Case stated—stricken off. A MUCH NEEDED LAW .- On the eve of its adjournment, the Legislature passed a law providing for the arrest of forgers and counterfeiters. The Philadelphia Bulletin says the law authorizing the arrest and detention of professional thieves, burglars and pickpockts has had a most wholesome effect, and the extending of its provisions to forgers and counterfeiters will be equally advantageous to the cause of public justice. There is no more dangerous class of offenders against property than counterfeiters and forgers, and it is next to impossible to guard against their rascalities. Many who are toriously engaged in these practices are well known to the police, but the latter have been powerless to restrain them in their evil pursuits because of an inability to fasten specific charges upon them. The new law vercomes this difficulty, and society can now rid itself of a class of dangerous pests. NEW MAIL-Box.-The Post Office De partment have established a new arrangement for the carrying of letters to and from the different offices. In place of the old mail-bag a box made of yellow pine, with a band of iron around the edges, and three bands of the same material across the top, has been substituted. The width of the box is about the length of an ordinary sized letter, is about three feet long, and will hold 1,000 letters. The inside of the box is divided with iron partitions, and will consist of as many as there are offices on the different stage and way routes. All through mail boxes, however, will contain but two partitions, one for the mails to be distributed at the receiving office, and the other for the mail belonging to that particular locality. This is a neat and handy arrangement, but does not entirely do away with the bags, as they will still be used for the transportation of newspapers, etc. TROUBLESOME.—Never trouble trouble trill trouble troubles you, for trouble rarely troubles people who never trouble themselves about trouble. THE LUMBER TRADE.—We learn from the Lycoming Daily Gazette, a new and well gotten up paper just started at Williamsport, that there has been a fine rafting fresh in the upper waters of the Susque hanna for some days past, and that nearly three thousand rafts have already left their moorings for the markets below. During the past winter immense quantities of lumber are said to have been prepared in the northern part of this State and the southern counties of New York, bordering thereupon. The prospect is that the supply will be larger than for some years past Whether there will be any material decl in price remains to be seen. It is to be hoped there will be, as building and improvements of all kinds have been much retarded for several years by the high price of material. Until there is a decline rents will be kept up to an exorbitant figure, much to the detriment of the poorer classes.

To THE PUBLIC.—About a week ago al tter from R. R. Jones to J. R. Watkins, Liquor Dealer, Southeast Corner of Centre Square, Lancaster, Pa., relative to Mishler's Bitters, was published. It is as follows:

WEST BANGOR, York county, Pa., Oct., 3, 1886.

MR. J. R. WATKINS—Dear Str.: It is with pleasure that I inform you that I am nearly well. The sores on my leg have healed up, and I feel like a new man. I am satisfied that I am nowfully cured; but to make the matter sure, I will take the last bottle you sent me. I can never forgot your kindness to me, and as soon as I come to Lancaster I will call and pay you whatever you may see fit to charge me.

On Monday last Mr., Jones came to this city and paid Mr. Watkinsa visit. Mr. J. is entirely cured, and is perfectly sound. The scars on his legs exhibit the extent of the sores; and, from their appearance, the smiering he underwent can only be imagined. He had been in several hospitals and under the care of a number of prominent Physicians in Lancaster, York and Philadelphia, but received no benefit. Mishler's Bitters was the only article that relieved him, and his present healthy condition is entirely uning the use of this preparation. Since Mr. J., commenced using these Bitters he has gained 15 pounds in weight, and his whole physical system is regenerated.

Mr. Jones expressed the strongest gratitude to Mr. Watkins and Dr. Mishler, for curing him of a loathsome disease, and offered to pay any sum that might be asked of him. Mr. to Mr. Watkins and Dr. Mishler, for curing him of a loathsome disease, and offered to pay any sum that might be asked of him. Mr. Watkins, however, with that whole-souled generosity, so characteristic of the man, refused any compensation, satisfied that he had received sufficient pay in relieving the distress of a fellow-being, and making known the virtue of Mishler's Herb Bitters. Murder of the Innocents.

It is getting to be a serious 'question among Christian men and women whether we ought not to have a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. We had not recovered from the sickening horrors of the case of the Rev. Mr. Lindsay, who whipped his little son to death because the child would not say his prayers, when we were called upon the other day to record a fright-ful instance of child torture near Hackenful instance of child torture near Hacken-sack, N. J., which fortunately came to the knowledge of the authorities before it had culminated in downright murder. A man culminated in downright murder. A man and his wife, named Vanderbilt, had taken an orphan child, one Mary Ann Farrell, from an asylum, for the purpose of employing her as a servant. For about eleven months the husband knocked her about with a broomstick, and the wife beat her with an iron dipper. They used to take her to the cellar, strip her naked, tie her up by the wrists lesh her with a horsewhin till the to the cellar, strip her naked, tie her up by the wrists, lash her with a horsewhip till the blood ran down her limbs, and then rub the raw flesh with brine. She made her escape at last, and was found one morning in the open fields, with bare feet and legs, and wearing only a single thin undergarment, so saturated with blood and filth that it had to be peeled from her body like a scab. She appeared in court with evidences of torture so pitiful upon her person that stout men wept at the spectacle. Her jaw had been broken; her hair had been torn out by hand.

The same day we reported the discovery The same day we reported the discovery of the dead body of an infant in an alley way in this city. On that day also another case of infanticide was added to the long list which disgraces our annual police calendar. An unknown woman was seen to drop a bundle in Twenty-sixth street. When opened it was found to contain the murdered body of a child, killed by strangulation.

One of the most shocking and inhuman child-murders that we ever read of occurred in the early part of March in Warsaw, Indiana. An abandoned woman, named Hines, apprenticed her little boy, four years old, to a Mr. and Mrs. Harl. They were to have kept the boy until he was of age; but

The Tornado case which threatens to become a serious matter between England and Spain, arose from the Chilean war. In August, 1866, the Spanish Admiral seized an English steamer which had just cleared at Madeira for South America. The pretext was that the vessel was carrying munitions of war to the belligerent republics. The seizure was made under circumstances of unnecessary severity to the cantain and TS. Maryland has had but one Senator since the 4th of March, although for weeks one of her sons, clothed with the majesty of his State, has been seeking for admission to the seat to which he is accredited. There are quarters outside of the State in which this injustice to Maryland is not overlooked. The National Intelligencer well says that it is due to the State that whatever objections may be brought against its representation should be acted on promptly, for the constitution is violated as much by delay as by absolute refusal. A few days ago a German carpenter was arrested in Chicago on a charge of whipping his daughter to death. The neighbors, alarmed at the horrid outcries of the little sufferer, sent word to the police; when the officers entered the house the man and his wife wore absent, and the child was found dead, lying on her face upon a bed. hand; the eyes were open, and the face was distorted with agony.

These things are almost too sickening for comment. We used to believe that the wholesale killing of children by slow torture was a refinement of wickedness in which Englad led the world; but the records of the last year or two go far to transfer the bad pre-eminence to ourselves. Murder by the lash seems almost to have become an CLIMAX.

A plain statement of facts. I inherited Scrofula, and many of my relations have died of it. In 1839 my case was frightful. Tumors and ulcers apread until 11842, under the advice of my physicians I went to Avon Springs. I received no benefit-tried every medicine and did everything I could I had to rest my arm on a cushion, and had not been able to raise it to my head for over a year. The discharge from two ulcers was nearly a pint a day. Amputation was recommended; but pronounced dangerous. I could not sleep, and my sufferings were intolerable. A friend brought me an English physician who applied a salve with which he said he had accomplished extraordinary cures in the hospitals in England. It commenced to relieve; persisted in its use; it finally effected a perfect and entire cure. It is now 1842. It is five years since I had the appearance of ascrofulous sore, and my health has been good ever since. I procured the receipt of his wonderful article—this blessing of humanity—and have called it "Pagy's CLIMAX.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incarpale, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly aston ishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months heatthy robust persons. Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Fills are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. We would call attention to the opinion ne of the leading papers of Canada on to bleet. We would call attention to the opinion of one of the leading papers of Canada on this subject:

Most of our readers have no doubt read some of the numerous advertisements of Gift Enterprises, Gift Concerts, &c., which appear from time to time in the public prints, offering most tempting bargains to those who will patronize them. In most cases these are genuine humbugs. But there are a few respectable firms who do business in this manner, and they do it as a means of increasing their wholesale business, and not to make money. From such firms, it is true, handsome and valuable articles are procured ifor a very small sum, and whatts more important, noone isever cheated. Every person gets good value for his dollar; because, as we have stated, it is intended to act as an advertisement to increase their ordinary business.

We have seen numbers of prizes sent out in this way by SHERMAN, WATSON & COMPANY, of Nassau street, N. Y., and there is no doubt that some of the articles are worth eight of the times the money paid for them, while we have not send or heard of a single article which was not fully worth the dollar which it cost. But this is only one of the articles one of the suceptions of this rule, for as a general thing the parties engaged in this business are nothing but clever swindlers.—Saturday Reader, Montreal, C. E., Jan. 13, 1866. Jan 13

DAN RICE'S GREAT SHOW SCHOOL OF EDUCATED ANIMALS.

The advance of the above named institution through this section of the country is an event of the greatest importance to the public, as it is an organization com-bining all that is Moral, Instructive, and Entertaining and discarding all the elements (found in so many traveling exhibitions that would in the slightest degree prove offensive to the most sensitive and plous mind. The great show and animal school, under the immediate apprecision of the distinguished scholar and humorist COL. DAN RICE.

MORAL AND AMUSING EXHIBITION nt of the am re-entree of DAN RICE, in his popular role of the American Humorist, or Clown to the Arena. This event has only been brought about by the most carnest persuasion and the great desire of the public to once more behold this patri-otic gentleman in his original character; and as this is more than probably Mr. Rice's FAREWELL TOUR, none should fail to hear his humorous and learned expositions of the Giblat Events of the Day. Remember, therefore, that DAN RICE WILL MOST POSITIVELY Appear at each and every exhibition of the great show, assuredly without fail, as CLOWN TO THE ABNA.

The perfect equipment of the entire exhibition has been the study of the management, and everything will be found complete and elegant.

THE WAGNET, TRAFFINGS, &C., have been removated and equipped in the most suprem MANNER; and in the
