THE RADICALS CONTENT WITH THE MILI-THE RADICALS CONTENT WITH THE MILI-Question-Were you and your irlands disposed to be satisfied with the Military law before the Attorney General and President interfered with the action of the military commanders under it? Mr. Stevens-Yes; and we were willing to await the action of the conventions held under it before going any further. Of course the action of the conventions held under it before going any further. Of course the action of the conventions was not to be considered conclusive, because the judgment of Congress had to be passed upon it afterwards. If the law was fully and fairly carried out, that was all we asked, There were portions of it which we very much disliked after Sherman had injected his conservative portion into it; but this was remedied by Shellaharger's amendments, and we were disposed to go on and see what the conquered provinces did under the law before we proposed anyon and see what the conqueren provinces did under the law before we proposed any-thing else. We supposed they would have got through in all the territory before the adjournment of the next regular Congress. ABOLISHING THE EXISTING REBELGOVERN.

MENTS. Question—Shall you favor this session the distinct and entire abolishment of all the existing State governments in the so-called rebel States?

called rebel States? Mr. Stevens-Yes; that will be necessary under the President's action. I do not con-sider those governments legal at all. We supposed them to be all virtually abolished by the Military bill. No one but Congress ever had authority to form any govern-ments at all in the conquered territory. Congress could authorize such agents as it Congress could authorize such agents as it might think proper to act for them, and the military commanders were in fact the agents of Congress, not of the President. IS STANBERY TO BE REMAYED? Question—Shall you take any action for the removal of Attorney General Stanbery from the Cabingt this seein for an univer-

from the Cabinet this session for an unwar-ranted interference with the Reconstruction law? Mr. Stevens—I have not made up my mind to that yet. Indeed, I have not thought of it. I do not know now such a Cabinet officer as Attorney General exists at all. I have yet to learn by what consti-tutional authority there is such a member of the Cebinet Leuronea we might sholish of the Cabinet. I suppose we might abolish the office of Attorney General; but this probably would not be desirable. I think I think to be for letting him remain where he is; but I shall favor a declaration that his interference in this matter is impertinent and unauthoized. He can only be regarded, however, as a mere instrument or tool of the Breedheur.

REVIEW OF THE SITUATION. Question-If I understand you correctly, Mr. Stevens, the basis of your action now and hereafter will lie in the fact that the and hereafter will lie in the fact that the rebel States are conquered territory, with-ont the pule of the Constitution of the United States, and subject to such laws as the conquerors may think proper to im-pose; that you will consider it your duty at this session to present a direct resolution of impeachment; but that you do not an-ticipate its success, on account of the demoralized condition of the Republican party in Concress, and shall, therefore, rest party in Congress, and shall, therefore, rest contented for the present with rendering the meaning of the reconstruction law specific is to voters and the powers of the military mention of the reconstruction has specific as to voters and the powers of the military commanders. leaving such legislation as you deem proper for the conquered terri-tory for a future session. Mr. Stevens-Yes, I believe you have correctly stated my position. I shall con-sider it my duty to move a resolution of impeachment. Heretofore I have not pressed the matter of impeachment; but now, seeing a defiant determination to obstruct the laws and to prevent the will of Congress-which is, in other words, the will of the whole people of the United States-from being carried out, I regard it as in-genuleat upon me, as a representative of the people, to propose the removal of this obstruction. Indeed, I have not a bit of doubt that this resolution would pass, under the present condition of affairs, but for the ipelousy between the supporters of Fession-den and Wade. It is that jealousy which den and Wade. It is that jealousy which has unhappily stepped in to mar the harmony and paralyze the power of the party. When great dangers threatened us party. When great dangers threatened us these paitry political considerations had no weight; but now they come to distract and divide us. If men would bear principle steadily in view, and forego all personal considerations, we should be in a very different position. As it is, these unworthy bickerings and political tricks and jealous-ies step in and render it difficult, not only to shake there: tright but to keen them to shape things right, but to keep them straight when they are so shaped. OLD THAD'S OPINION OF RAYMOND AND BEN

BUTLER Old Thad, with his strong intellect and straightforward radicalism, has no high opinion, of course, of such men as Ray-mond and Ben Butler. In answer to ques-tions he stated that Raymond had been the worst failure he had seen in Congress. He had a pretty style of talking and a certain had a pretty style of talking and a certain sort of smartness in debate, but it was of the schoolboy, sophomorical silve, and could not stand an instant under the test of

Full Particulars of the Execution of Max imilian, Miramon, and Mejia-Las words of the Condemned. NEW-ORLEANS, July 9.—The Times this evening publishes an extra containing a ranchero letter from San Luis Potosi, sta-ting that at six o'clock on the morning of the 19th the troops of Escobedo formed a short distance from the city for the execu-tion of Maximilian and his Generals, the people of Queretaro flocking by thousands to see the closing scenes in the life of the men they loved. As the clock strikes 7, the bells toll and announce that the pris-oners have left their prisoners for the last time, and are on their way to their execu-tion. After a few moments they appear, drawnin carriages and a largeguard around them, the Emperor first, Miramon next, and Mejia last. He seemed to feel his situation, and said when he was first waited upon at home by the deputation from Mexico who cume with credentials offering him the Covernment of the country, he refused. At a subsequent meeting, the roposition was again presented, and he replied that if convinced that the majority though that if was to their interest to place him at the head of the government, he might consent. Another deputation waited on him and brought additional testimonials. Upon advise from the powers of Europe who advised him that there was no other course to pursue, he accepted the call. He course to pursue, he accepted the call. He denied that the court that tried him had a right to do so. His was a case of good fath. The nations of the world had pledged their faith to him. He never would have done the act had it not been for the good of Mexico. In conclusion, he hoped his blood would stop the effusion of blood in the country. Miramoo spoke from a paper. The only regret he felt in dying was that, should the Liberal party retain the Government, his children would be pointed out as the child-ren of a traitor. He told them that he was no traitor, but had always opposed liberal course to pursue, he accepted the call. He

There, while we were burning gunpowder in bonor of the "natal day," our fellow citizens were keeping quiet and cool under the impression that it was the 22d of The textube is caused by the foot June. The trouble is caused by the fact, that Russia still uses the "old" or Julian calendar, while we, in common with every other civilized nation, use the Gregorian. The difference is this:—That fine old Roman, Julius Cresar, endeavored to dispose of the old hours which accumulated or the 245 old hours which accumulated over the 365 days every year, by making a leap year of 366 days come invariably every for years. But this used up more than the surplus, and in consequence, the world lost ten days in about thirteen hundred years. To remedy this, Pope Gregory provided that every cen-tral year that could not be divided by four (as 1800, 1900, 2100, &c.,) should not be a leap year, thus dropping the extra day three times in every four hundred years, and pre-venting an absorption of more than the exact number of surplus days that accumuhours which accumulated over the 365 "BEYOND THE MISSISSIPPI !" This is not only a new fushion, but a new article of SKIAT, made on an entirely new principle, so novel and yet so perfect the ladies contend it should be called Perfection. We would here call particular attention to the AS YOU LIKE IT, or first ble joint, ex-tending down the front of the skirt; it is so constructed that the springs fold inwardly, but not outwardly, and readily yield to the slightest pressure, thus allowing them to col-lapse, so that the skirt occupies the smallest possible space whilst slitting, riding, or in pass-ing through a crowd, and yet the moment the pressure is removed, the skirt resumes its original and beautiful shape. The novelty and utility of this contrivance need but be seen to be appreciated. But for want of space we might here publish thousands of extracts from letters, we are daily receiving, speaking in the highest prises of these Skirts.

Are now so well known for their superior SHAPE, MATERIAL and WORK MANSHIP that it is perhaps unnecessary for us to speak of them, further than to say that we hav greatly enlarged our assortment of Styles, both of our own make and importation, and can now salely defy competition. We ask but a trial and are sure of your futur patronage. patronage. Manufactured by the SHERMAN SKIRT and CORSET COMPANY, exclusive owners of the putent for the United States.

earnest principle. In the midst of his n earnest principle. In the midst of his most claborate, studied and highly perfumed harangues, a few words of sound common sense would knock him flat upon his back and leave him helpless. He made a poor show in Congress among solid, earnest men. Ben Butler, according to Old Thud, is a thorough failure as a Congressman. "At first," said Mr. Stevens, "I had looked on him as a man with whom it would be dan-earnest be measure swords in a debate Bat him ins a man with whom it would be dan-gerous to measure swords in a debate. But I soon found that he had obtained a repu-tation under false pretonces. If is at once supericial, weak and impracticable. THE NEXT PRESIDENCY. Upon the subject of the next Presidency Old Thad is not disposed to be communi-cative. He regards General Grant as a great soldier, who has the best position any man can ever occurs in the United States man can ever occupy in the United States and does not believe he would be foolish enough to look for another. He thinks a sucenough to look for another. He thinks a suc-cess as a general may be a failure as a Pres-ident. Chase he regards as a negative man by no means popular or powerful. Butler is a humbug. Old Ben Wade has played himself out. In fact, it is very probable that Old Thad believes in the inmost re-cesses of his heart that if, in the course of human events the country should hole to cesses of his heart that it, in the course of human events, the country should look to Lancaster for its next President, and should find him in a two and a halfstory red brick house on South Queen street, the country would do by no means a foolish thing, and would be very likely to find " Barkis will-ing."

-----Abyssinta and its King.

Abyssinfa and its King. Our telegraphic advices of yesterday an-nounced that a detachment of regular troops has been ordered by the English govern-ment to Abyssinia to compel Theodore, the King of that country, to release certain Englishmen whom he has long held in captivity. The remote and isolated situa-tion of Abyssinia, a kingdom in Eastern Africa, which does not extend to the sea shore, and the elimate of which is murder-ous to white men, will render it necessary ous to white men, will render it necessary to send more than "a detachment of regular troops," if England expects to make war troops," if England expects to make war upon that country, to say nothing of its large military resources. The best estimates of Abyssinia indicate

The best estimates of Abyssinia indicate a population of about three millions, and an area of about 7,450 square miles. The present Emperor, Theodore, is described by the British consul, Plowden, as a "re-markable man, of untiring energy and boundless design theory of the statement of the stat oundless daring, young, of a striking countenance, and possessing great tact and deli-cacy." The emperors of Abyssinia claim to be descended from Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, and one of the alleged causes of of Sheha, and one of the alleged causes of complaint of the present Emperor against one of his English prisoners was that he had traduced his character by throwing doubts on his lineal descent from that source. Theodore came to the throne in 1845, and succeeded in breaking the power of the great feudal chiefs, who had rendered the authority of his predescence was of the great fendul chiefs, who had rendered the authority of his predecessors merely nominal. His attention was soon directed to holding friendly intercourse with the British, who heid the neighboring strong-hold of Aden, and a treaty was concluded between them in 1859, in which it was stipulated that each State should receive ambassadors from the other. The execution of this stipulation seems to have been long deferred, and toward the end of 1852, Theodore wrote an autograph letter to Queen Victoria, requesting permis-sion to send an embassy to England. Per-haps it was at the same time that his al-leged proposal to become the successor of leged proposal to become the successor of Prince Albert was made, and it may be that this suggestion of imperial misceger tion was the reason that the letter was ne answered. At any rate, the neglect swer it aroused the wrath of the Em swer it aroused the wrath of the Emperor, who, within a year afterwards, sent a body of troops to the English missionary station, seized the missionaries, the then British Consul, Mr. Cameron, and his secretary and servants, put them in chains and cast them into prison, the consul being chained continually to an Abyssinian soldier. The excitement produced by this act in England continually to an Abyssinian soldier. The excitement produced by this act in England would have led to war at the time, but the innecessibility of Abyssinia recom-mended a resort to diplomacy rather than arms, and Mr. Rassam, assist-ant to the British resident at Aden, was sent on a special mission, with forty camel loads of presents to the Emperor, who, however, put him and his friends under ar-rest, telling them they would be considered "State guests" until he could get an an-swer to a secoal letter which he was about to write to the Queen. In this second let-ter he syles himself the "son of David, the son of Solomon, the king of kings, Theo-dore," &c. The bearer of this letter also conveyed a letter from Mr. Rassam, in which, by desire of Theodore, he requested that English artisans might be sent to en-gage in the Abyssinian service. Lord Stan-ley dispatched an ultimatum to him that unless he inbrated the captives he would forfeit the friendship of England, but the prisoners are still held in captivity. The people of Abyssinia are stid to be-long mostly to the Shemetic race, and to resemble the Arabs both in physical char-acteristics and structure of language. The king is a Christian, and his religious faith is spoken of as very decided. His military strength may be judged of from the fact that on July 30th, last year, in a battle with the forces of two insurgent provinces, he is represented to have been at the head of 95,000 men, and after a tremendous conflict, lasting ail, a signific a large number of
