It happened that a great many soldiers voted at nome, however, and it could not therefore be ascertained what the home vote was. It was generally unthe home vote was. It was generally un-derstoad amon; sporting men that bets on the home voce should be considered drawn. Hathaway, however, refused to do this, and therefore, Mr. Mishler having informed the Directors of the Poor of this bet, they sued Hathaway for the amount of the stake Verdiet for plaintiff for $23.4. Sheak and Brubaker for plaintiff; Reynolds for de-fondard fendant. A PASTOR SURPRISED. -- In our staid city "donation parties " are not so frequent as they are in Yankeedom, which will account they are in Yankeeston, which will account for our mention of an impromptu one that took place on Thursday evening. The La-dies of the Mite Society connected with the Presbyterian Church, which met on Wed-nesday evening, among other good resolves, determined that they would pay a friendly wisit to the family of their pastor, MF, Pow-ell, who had just returned from his usual summer trip. Although the rain may have kept away many of the stermer sex, who kept away many of the sterner sex, who were of course invited, yet it did not in the least prevent about sixty or seventy of the married and single ladies (with a slight sprinkling of males), from making a friend-ly, although unexpected, call at the parson-uge. As our readers are all familiar with the fact that an absence from home for sev-eral months presents rather an empty and able pro-hence, took with them a supply of the "needful," and thus left with the pas-tor's family something besides an evidence of affection and love. We commend this were of course invited, yet it did not in the of affection and love. We commend this music dur other concremention example to other congregations; and, al-though "donation partnes" may be made at times unpleasant to the independence and pride which should actuate every pastor, yet one conducted as this one--which was in fact, a retunion of pastor and people--had the most pleasing effect, as it was the em-phatic declaration of every one, "I am glad I was there?"

INDIAN ANTIQUITIES IN LANCASTER. COUNTY: We find in the Washington Con-stitutional Union an elaborate and learned article from the pen of J. Franklin Reigart, on the subject of the extraordinary inscrip-tions to be seen at what is known as the "Indian Rock," In the Susquehanna river, near the southern border of this county. This rock is about eighty feet long and forty in height, and its face contains a large number of most remarkable and curiously engraved figures, supposed to have been cut by the Indians at an early day. There are several other smaller rocks in the immedi-ate neighborhood, which also contain simi-lar etchings, but on most of these they have been much worn away by the waters dur-ing the provalence of floods. Mr. Reigart treet. Read card.

ing the provalence of floods. Mr. Reigart has had a cut made of the inscriptions and igures, from casts taken in plaster by Messrs. Stauffer and Kevinski, of this city. Messrs, Statufer and Kevinski, of this city, The cut represents men, animals and other figures, supposed to be capable of interpre-tation after the manner of Egyptian hero-glyphics. It is a decided curiosity and has been visited by many learned and curious persons.

THE HANS GRAF MEETING OF THURSDAY THE HANS GRAF MEETING OF THURSDAY, —The friends and members of this Asso-ciation met Thursday, at Wenger's woods, on the Now Holland pike, for the purpose of celebrating the 150th Anniversary of Hans Graf's settling in this county. Ad-dresses were delivered by D. G. Eshleman, Esq., Prof. J. P. Wickersham and Gover-ner Geary in Eardish and J. D. Runn, of nor Geary, in English, and J. D. Rupp, o Philadelphia, in German. The address of Mr. Eshleman we hope to

The address of Mr. Estleman we hope to hay before our renders. It was an interest-ing historical sketch of the Mennonites of Lancaster County, of whom Hans Graf was one of the earliest settlers. This association of his descendants has been formed for the purpose of tracing out the various members of the family, and preparing a family gene-alogical tree. It has no connection with the efforts which some of its more credulous and anthy instite members are making with and enthusiastic members are making with

The meeting organized at 11 a. m., but the speaking did not commence till one o'-clock. Meanwhile the tamily members, gathered from widely separated sections of the country, reported themselves to the ex-ecutive committee. We noticed persons present from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Ohio, Indiana, and from many differen, counties of our State, most of whom looked for the first time upon the county where their an-cestors dwelt.

estors dwelt. We observed also upon the ground nearly We observed also upon the ground nearly every Republican candidate for office, and were somewhat surprised at this evidence that the Graf family sought to monopolize the county offices; but a friend whispered to us that he thought they were not all Grafites, but that they were endeavoring to engrate upon the minds of the assembled people (who might have votes under the "Crawford" System) a due sense of their "tritues and capacity, and the eminent provirtues and capacity, and the eminent pro-priety which there would be in settling priory which there would be in setting them for the various offices they respect-ively desired. This may be so; at all events we never saw a more cordial and friendly sot of fellows; they seemed to know every-body and had a hand-shake for all. We say to them var victis, and may the best man win!

A CORRESPONDENT of the Oxford Press welling of Caldwell Neave, at Clifton, wa A CORRESPONDENT of the Oxford Press writing from Fulton twp., this county, under date of Sept. 2d, refers to the singular death of cattle belonging to Martin Rohrer, the landlord of the Penn Hotel, in that township. He says up to the date of this letter three valuable cows and one of his ine oxen have died. Whether they died from disease or from the effects of poison, is a question yet to be determined. When we take into consideration the prominent symptoms, which were precisely similar in all the four cases: the extensive amount of the advance. From BENJAMIN WHEELER, ESG., Depot Mas-ter at South Royniston, Mass. "In the spring of 1858 I was most severely allicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of hight sweats, completely prostraining my nervous system, and produc-ing such a debilitated state of health that, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon through the influence of a neighbor to try Wistar's Baisam of Wild Cher-ry, and, before using two bottles, the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats descried me, hope once more elated my Wortedstrength and vigor. Thus has this Baisam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts, ilterally snatched me from the yswning grave; You are atiliberty to use this to the benefit of the afflicted."
