An Admirable Series of Resolutions. At the Philadelphia Democratic Convention, the following admirable series of resolutions were presented by Charles W. Carrigan Esq., and unanimously

The Democratic party of Philadelphia, in County Convention assembled, in presenting to their fellow-citizens the unexceptionable ticket this day nominated do hereby resolve:

1. That they have an abiding confidence

resolve:

1. That they have an abiding confidence in the intelligence, patriotism, and discriminating justice of the American people.

2. That the most infamous and dangerous heresy, and one fatal to the purity of the judiciary, is the assertion of the late Republican City Convention, "that the Supreme Court of the State should be in harmony with the political opinions of the majority of the people."

3. That repudiating a repudiator, and ignoring New England influence in Pennsylvania, we ask for Hon. George Sharswood the vote of every man who prefers financial honor to repudiation, a conscientious lawyer to a political judge, a Pennsylvania jurist to a Connecticut Radical.

4. We hold the debt of the nation to be sacred and inviolable, and in discharging our national obligations, we maintain understanted and invipresched the hone and sacred and inviolable, and in discharging our national obligations, we maintain unimpaired and unimpeached the honor and the faith of the Republic.

5. The Constitution of the United States, and the laws made in pursuance thereof, are the supreme law of the land, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. No State or combination of States have the right to withdraw from the Union, or to exclude through their action in Congress, or otherwise, any other State or States from the Union. The union of these States is perpetual.

6. The contession of Thaddeus Stevens, the driver of the Republican party, that the legislation of Congress necessarily and absolutely repuditued the Constitution; "outside of which all agreed they were acting," adds to the treason of usurpation the crime of perjury, and unless signally rebuked by the President and the people, will result in anarchy and ruin.

7. That is the sense of the Democracy throughout the land, and nowhere more clearly than here in Philadelphia, where the Constitution was created, that if we are standing amidst its ruins, they are sacred ruins for us, and we will never pause, until by concurrent sympathy and action, we restore and build up in all its parts the Constitution Radicalism boasts it has destroyed.

8. That it is aclear sense of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, that the contiguity of great negro communities on our borders is dangerous to our peace—that suffrage is exclusively within the scope of State legislation, and that if Congress attempt to say the driver of the Republican party, that the exclusively within the scope of State legisla-tion, and that if Congress attempt to say who shall vote in Maryland, Kentucky, or Pennsylvania, States whose fidelity to the Union has never been questioned, it will be submitted to by none, but resisted by all. 9. That the suspension of Edwin M. Stan-ton was demanded, and is endorsed by all men who oblor a despot and detest a spy, and the President of the United States is justified in his expulsion by the unanimous concurrence of those who love national justified in his expulsion by the unanimous concurrence of those who love national unity and respect individual right.

10. That we will sustain and heartily cooperate with the President in his patriotic efforts for the protection of the Constitution, the maintenance of the Union, and the preservation of liberties "inestimable to us and formidable to tyrants only."

11. That the passage, by the last Republican Legislature of Pennsylvana, of a law forcing negroes into passenger railway cars, notwithstanding the companies offered special cars for their accommodation, is cars, notwithstanding the companies offered special cars for their accommodation, is but the preclude to a forced association with white citizens at the ballot-box and in the domestic circle; a political analyzamation and a social miscegonation which we atterly repudiate.

12. That the Democratic party is pledged so to revise both Federal and State legislation, as to put an end-to-fiscal imposition on the necessaries of life, and the interchange of commodities which enter into the domestic use of every family, and to modify or abrogate all laws which restrain modify or abrogate all laws which restrain the intercouse of friends, and the innocent amusement and recreation that in a busy world should be vouchsafed to toiling industry.

13. That the hypocrisy of the Republican party has its best expression in the action of its late nominating conventions, where, with unusual promptness and decision, they spurned the soldier they once petted, they spurned the soldier they once petted, from the list of nominees.

14. That the action of the Democratic Conventions in presenting the names of gallant soldiers for the suffrages of the people, while it attests the sincerity of their professions, is likewise an acknowledgment of the dobt of gratitude due to the memory of the lamented dead, and the services of the heroic living.

The Money Order System.

oriet resume of the postal money order Government cannot be devoid of interest to the public, although the great masses of the people are ignorant of the principles upon which it is based, if not, indeed, of the existence of such a system. It is a system esigned to benefit the public, as well as to be a source of a prolific revenue to the government; and for business men, and all others who wish to send small sums of all others who wish to send small sums of money to a distance, no scheme has ever been devised which provided so effectually for a great public necessity. It is virtually impossible for thousands of persons residing in the country to obtain bank drafts, and the express companies charge exorbitant rates for the transmission of small sums, Many are in the habit of sending money through the mails in registered letters; but through the mails in registered letters; bu Leosts twenty cents to have a letter regis ered and no security whatever is guaran ood the remitter: while a money order o iny amount from one dollar to twenty can any amount from one dollar to twenty can be procured for ten cents, and for any sum between twenty and titty dollars for twenty-five cents, and full security for its transmission guaranteed. The great advantages of this system consist in its moderate tees and the perfect security it affords against fraud or loss. This security is effected by leaving out the name of the person to whom an order is payable, so in the event of its being stolen or lost by accident in transitua a party in illegal possession can in transita a party in illegal possession can not get it cashed. Should an order be lost not get it cashed. Should an order be lost the owner can obtain a duplicate without delay or difficulty. So absolute, in fact, is the security afforded remitters of funds that even a postmaster who might attempt to defraud the government by altering the amount of an order, or by forgery, is morally certain to be detected. The superfority of this system over any other now it existence has been fully demonstrated in Great Britain, where it has been in successful operation for a number of years. The system was commenced upon the 1st of November, 1864, with one hundred and forty two offices, and it appears on the 30th of vember, 1864, with one hundred and forty-two offices, and it appears on the 30th of June, 1865, that $1,360,122 has been trans-mitted, the revenue accruing from which amounted to $11,534. In 1866 the number of offices had been increased to four hun-dred and seventy-three, and the amount of business done that year amounted to an aggregate of $3,977,259, and the fees $55,779. In his report for the fiscal year of 1867, 11. J. Anderson, Auditor of the Treasury for I. Anderson, Auditor of the Treasury fo Post office Department, stated that the the Post office Department, stated that the experiment had eventuated satisfactority, having paid all expenses and left a surplus in the hands of the government. With the addition of new offices and the increasing popularity of the system with the people, this branch of the postal service has increased more than a thousand fold, and is still increasing in a rapid ratio; and there still increasing in a rapid ratio; and there an be no reasonable doubt that it is destined at no distant day to add largely to the revenue of the government. In 1867 the number of offices was seven hundred the number of offices was seven hundred and sixty-seven, except in the last quarter of the fiscal year, when sixty-eight more were added. The precise amount of business done during the last year has not yet transpired, owing to unavoidable delay in Pacific mails; enough is known, however, to make the estimate of $10,000,000 a safe one, and the amount will probably be in the amount of the previous year. By an act of Congress four hundred more offices will be operation in the year 1868, making a total of twelve hundred and thirty five offices and should the business of the department increase in the same ratio as heretotore, twenty millions of dollars will be a moder-timate for the present fiscal year ate estimate for the present fiscal year (1868).

The departmental check is thorough in every respect, and fraud is utterly impossible. Each postmaster is obliged by law to furnish the department with a weekly statement of business done at his office, and if there is the allegatory or in his acquaints. if there be the slightest error in his account: he is at once notified thereof.—N. Negro Supremacy.

A colored citizen of New Orleans, named Charles Brown, has addressed a letter to the editor of the New Orleans Times, from which the following is an extract:

We intend to show to this City, State and We intend to show to this City, State and the world that we are capable of governing not only ourselves, but white men. My former master (and he was a good man, told me that white men would govern, take care of and protect the niggers, because God gave them the right and made it their duty so to do. We are willing to do the same by you. We shall have no use for Goldman or Waples, or any of their class, after our next State election. It is not an easy matter to disfranchise us after we have the elective franchise. Hancock will be powerless for evil if we only keep up our secret political organization. We havecommenced organizing our fire department, and one organizing our fire department, and one to white firemen transferred to worthy to white firemen transferred to worthy reconstructed citizens of African descent. In a few years it will not be a question whether there will be schools for colored children—but it will be whether white children will be admitted to our institutions of learning. Speech of a "Rebel" Governor. Here is the way the "rebel" Governor Helm of Kentucky talked in his inaugu-ral address. When did any of those who denounced him give utterance to senti-ments half as sensible or truly loyal? Referring to Federal relations, he said: "It is my proudest wish, most ardent nope, and earnest prayer that all the States nay be restored to their equal rights under the constitution, and that the Union may be the constitution, and that the Union may be as lasting as time itself. Now, my countrymen, is the proper time to calm the troubled waters, to heal all wounds and dissensions, to restore concord and fraternity, and nobly to redeem the pledges which we voluntarily and frankly made at the commencement of our lets and unbown civil year.

and frankly made at the commencement of our late and unhappy civil war.

"The authority of the federal government is everywhere fully restored, and it is full time that the faith of the nation, as solemnly plighted, should be redeemed. Let us forget the bitterness of the past; let us forgive its-errors, remembering that 'to err is human, to forgive divine,' and that when we no longer keep the heel of military despotism upon the people of ten sisters, we may cry out against the oppression of England against Ireland, of Russia against Poland, of Austria against Hungary; but the world will think that we may well be silent until then."

Referring to the exclusion of the delegation, he says: "The people of Kentucky have interested for the station of the says: "The people of Kentucky have interested for the exclusion of the partiers of the exclusion of the harden of the exclusion of the partiers of the exclusion of the harden of the exclusion of the partiers of the partiers of the partiers of the exclusion of the partiers of the exclusion of the partiers of the partiers of the partiers of the exclusion of the partiers of the partiers of the exclusion of the partiers of the partier

tion, he says: "The people of Kentucky have just cause to complain of the action of Congress in excluding from their seats the representatives from the State, who were duly elected in accordance with all the forms and requirements of law, and who had all the qualifications prescribed by the federal constitution."

the qualifications prescribed by the federal constitution."

He touched the negro question thus:
"The negroes everywhere throughout the United States have been emancipated—whether wisely or unwisely, it is needless now to say. It is an accomplished fact, a fixed, inexorable fact, and as such we should receive it. It becomes us also to see that the negroes are protected to the fullest extent in both their persons and their property. We should treat them humanely and kindly, and do all we can to better their condition, make them useful citizens of the State; and in my first message to the Leg-State; and in my first message to the Leg-slature I will make some recommendations upon this subject. They must understand, however, that white men will rule Kentucky; we are not yet sunk so low as to consent to be governed by negroes."

The very serious and critical aspect of our national affairs is beginning to fill the public mind with sad forebodings. It is doubtful whether in the darkest days of the late civil war the public pulse ever indicated a worse condition of things than it now does. Men ask each other when they meet how the political problem is to be solved, and all confess their imbility to supply a satisfactory answer. In the meantime commerce languishes, the revenues diminish, the credit of the government—as expressed merce languishes, the revenues diminish, the credit of the government—as expressed in the relations of gold to currency—wanes, and the Southern section of the country, which formerly, through its staple products, added so largely to the wealth of the whole nation, is no longer a source of prosperity, but of expense and trouble; and all because, after having made every sacrifice to put down the rebellion, we were not willing, after it was put down, to sacrifice party prejudices in order to sanctify and make lasting the work which our armies had accoming the work which onr armies had accom-

Every one knows that it is in the interest Every one knows that it is in the interest of party alone that the reconstruction of the South has been delayed and prevented. No matter how men may attempt to explain and defend the action of Congress in the matter, the plain, simple truth forces itself on the mind at the last, that the object of all legislation on the subject has been to render impossible the readmission of the Southern States into the Union. That object has been thus for the subject has been the southern states into the Union. ject has been thus far attained; and from ject has been thus far attained; and from present appearances it would be perfectly safe to say that, should the republican party retain its present ascendancy, the present generation will not see the Southern States restored to the Union on the same footing as the other States. It may be that some or all of them will, in the course of a few years, go through the form of reinstatement, but it will only be a mere sham and delusion—a gross mockey. The right of selfsion—a gross inockery. The right of self-government will have been denied to the government will have been defined to the men of our own race in those States, and political power will have been handed over to the descendants of Congo savages. That is the only sort of restoration which is con-templated by Congress; and improbable as that may seem there is an evident intent on the part of Congress to carry out that pro-gramme. gramme.

But will the people of the United States

But will the people of the United States consent to such a degradation of their great republic? Even if the inhabitants of the Northern States entertained no feeling towards the white men and women and children of the South but that of hate (which we thank God, is far from being the case), would they, on their own account, agree for one moment to the proposition that the former slaves of the cotton and rice plantations should have an equal voice in the national councils with the representatives of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Ohio? To that plain issue must it come; to that plain issue it has already come. Congress, through its legislation and through its instruments in the South, has shown its determination that all political power there shall be transferred from the white race to the black; and Congress assumes that in this policy it has the support of the people of the North. Is there good ground for any such assumption? We do not believe there is. We know that the unpopularity of President Johnson has tended to create the idea that the people approve the destructive policy of of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania Johnson has tended to create the idea that the people approve the destructive policy of Congress; but there is no real foundation for that idea. The people may have thought, and did think, that Congress was sincerely intent on its desire to reconstruct the Union on the basis of perfect equality between all the States, and that Mr. Johnson was unwisely thwarting Congress in the execution of that design. Such a delusion cannot exist to day. Congress has shown either that its designs to perpetuate the exclusion that its designs to perpetuate the exclusion of the Southern States, or that if they are to be readmitted it is to be only after their political status has been thoroughly Africanpolitical status has been thoroughly Africanized. Let the people ask themselves whether they are prepared for either of these alternatives, and if they are not, then let measures by taken, through public meetings, through the ballot and otherwise, to give expression to the public sentiment. We arre not for President Johnson or for Congress, for the democratic party or for the republican party; but we do care for the glory and greatness and prosperity of the American republic, which are being cruelly and ruthlessly sacrificed for petty partisan purposes. which are being cruelly and ruthlessly sacrificed for petty partisan purposes. Again we appeal to the people to take such steps in the elections for Congress, in public assemblages and in private conterences, as will convince their representatives that Congress must not persist in the policy it has inaugurated, and which is as abhorrent to sound judgment as it is in utter repudiation—accordingto Mr. Thad Stevens' boast—of the constitution, under which alone Congress has any powerto legislate at all.—X. Y. Heratel.

Freaks of a Radical Lunatic. The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald gives the following account of the freaks of some poor wretch who is just a little more crazy than the chief leaders of the Radical party: A man assuming to be the Son of God, and predicting that President Johnson has only forty-cight hours to live, has made himself prominent here since Thursday. His name is John C. Clarke, and he is said o be from Wisconsin. Yesterday morning ne appeared at the State Department and endeavored to get an interview with Secreendeavored to get an interview with Secretary Seward in order to obtain a letter of introduction to the President. Officer Nutting was called upon to arrest him, which he did, and took him to the Police Head-quarters. He had remained there some time in custody, yet was not placed in the lockup, when, watching his opportunity, he took leg bail and was soon in the street, making good speed, and Mr. Thomas Fendring, clerk to Major Richards, following him at a lively pace. Mr. Peniour succeedniour, cierk to Major Richards, following him at a lively pace. Mr. Feniour succeeded in catching the fugitive when he reached sixth street, and took him back to the station house, where he affirmed that he was a Son of God and had a mission from God, and that Andrew Johnson's days were numbered—he would not live forty-eight hours; he was going to have an interview with him, and would see himat all huzards. He was taken below and locked up in a cell, when he remarked, "This is a pretty place to put the Son of God in," He will be, held until something more can be ascerplace to put the Son of God in." He will be held until something more can be ascertained about him; and if it is found he is insane, as he appears to be, an effort will be made to get him into the Insane Asylum. He is a man about forty years old, and says he has been in the city two weeks. He has no place to stay, and says that 'like the blessed Savior he has the hearts of the people, and goes from house to house." About a year ago, it will be remembered, an insane man sought interviews with the an insane man sought interviews with the an insane man sought interviews with the President, representing that the had a special mission from Chicago. After failing repeatedly to get an audience, he went off to Chicago and wrote a letter to the President, stating that he had tried several times to see him, but now the President must come to Chicago and see him if he (the President) wanted to hear the important communications he had to make.

The Monetary Conference at Paris The Monctary Conference at Paris.
The Department of State has received from Mr. Samuel R. Ruggles, delegate from the United States in the recent diplomatic monetary conference at Paris, full reports of its proceedings, and of the plan agreed upon for the unification of gold coin, which is to be proposed for adoption by the different nations. Delegates duly accredited were in attendance from twenty nations of Europe and America, embracing an aggregate population exceeding three hundred millions. The leading features of the plan are:

are:
First—The money of the world to be exclusively of gold and silver, except for change in small amounts, to be only an article of commerce. Second—The five franc gold piece of France to be the monetary unit, with its multiples, requiring a reduction in weight of the United States dollar of nearly three and a half per cent, and of the British sovernies of early a reduced to the British sovernies of early and of the British sovernies of early and of the British sovernies of early and of the British sovernies of the second of the second of the British sovernies of the second of th ereign of nearly one per cent.
Third—Gold coins of the same denomina

Third—Gold coins of the same definition, by whatever nation issued, to be uniform in weight, diameter and quality, and to be nine-tenths fine.
Fourth—To be decimally divided.
Fifth—To be a legal tender in all the nations

tions.

The reports embrace many interesting details of the amount and progress of the coinage of the United States, Great Britain and France. Mr. Ruggles is here on leave of absence to confer with the government on the proper mode of presenting this measure of reform to the consideration of Congress at its next session. He will short-Congress at its next session. He will short-y return to Paris to complete his duties as Commissioner of the Exposition, which is to close on the 1st of November.

Dastardly Outrages—Two White Women
Assaulted by a Negro Ruffian.
On Tuesday night between eight and nine On Tuesday night between eight and nine o'clock the upper section of our city was the scene of two dastardly outrages that caused great indignation and excitement. A re spectable white lady, the wife of a gentleman well known in business circles, went to visit a sick neighbor, and when crossing an open lot in the vicinity of the Fifth Ward school house, was attacked by a stalwart negro, who siezed her and attempted to take improper liberties with her person, evidently with the design of perpetrating a most infamous outrage. A brief but desperate struggle ensued, in which the lady had her clothing damaged, and was considerably injured by a blow from the hand of her black ruffinily assailant, which felled her to the earth. Finally the woman's cries for help were heard and responded to by a number of persons living in the neighborhood, when the ebony-colored scoundrel number of persons living in the neighborhood, when the ebony-colored scoundrel took to flight, and although swittly pursued, succeeded in making his escape. This bold outrage, at an early hour of the evening, and in a populous locality, thoroughly aroused the indignation of the people, and had the perpetrator been captured he would have been lynched upon the spot.

At a later hour, on the same evening, another respectable white lady, a resident of

At a latter hour, on the same evening, another respectable white lady, a resident of West Harrisburg, was followed by a negro ruffian, (supposed to have been the same who committed the outrage above described), who violently assaulted and grossly insulted her at the corner of Third and North streets. Her screams brought several persons to the rescue, but in this instance also the black demon got away unpunished. These are not the only instances of the kind which have occurred in our city within a few weeks. It is a bad condition of affairs when respectable white ladies cannot go abroad on our streets in the evening, without the fear of being followed and insulted by negro ruffians in our midst whose insoby negro ruffians in our midst whose insc by hegro running intolerable. The police should leave no means untried to detect and capture the bold perpetrator of Tuesdry night's outrages.—Harrisburg Patriot and Union.

A Trick of Cannibalism.

A playful instance of the eccentric vagaries of the roughs, who patronize prize fights, has been detailed by a well known citizen who was upon a down train last Friday, onits way to the city. There were a party of short haired gentlemen in the ladies' car, two of whom drew forth cigars, which they lighted with matches, and then commenced smoking. The conductor presently came, and told, them that they must either retire to the smoking car or put out their cigars; he then passed on. They paid no attention, and presently he returned and informed them in a peremptory manner that they must quit smoking or A Trick of Cannibalism

"Now, old fellow," said the cannibal, "if you'll turn about I'll bite a piece out of the other and make 'em even!"
Our informant shortly after left the train, but he believes that the roughs were too many and powerful for the poor conductor to obtain redress.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Sept. 5.

To vindicate the will of the majority and maintain the existence of the nation the people made every sacrifice that is in a people's power. With an unlooked for exercise of strength the nation put down the greatest rebellion of which there is any record, and then required of the dominant party only that it should pacify the country and restore peace, exacting from the conquered merely such a guarantee as would theoretically provide against the recurrence of the war; for, practically, the nation looked upon the defeat of the South in the struggle fairly fought out as the best of all guarantees for future peace. And what did the leaders in view of this plain purpose? They ignored it entirely, treated the known will of the nation with an insulting indifference supposed to be characteristic only of They ignored it entirely, treated the known will of the nation with an insulting indifference supposed to be characteristic only of Cresarism. Between Puritan and nigger was made the bargain to give to the half civilized slave supremacy over his former master, in order that the political balance of this brutal, ignorant and unreasoning vate might return the Puritan in power. That is the exact present position of the radical party. In accomplishing its purpose thus far it has traded away every title of principle it originally had from the sources of power, and has reduced the business of government to a grand swindle, filling high places with corruption beyond all parallel. Will the people submit? Will they consent to see the principles upon which the nation stands traded to and fro, between scoundrels to whom the gamblers, thimble riggers and pocketbook droppers of our streets are, by comparison, honest dealers? Will they see the very heart and life of the nation rotted out, that a craven, brutal people, to whom out, that a craven, brutal people, to whon slavery was more a benefit than a degrada slavery was more a benefit than adegradation, may be set in power above the white men of the country? California answers "No!" And in her voice we may hear what is to come from the people of New York and Pennsylvania—the doom of the political traders. The people are no longer to be deceived by the sibboleth of party cries that have covered with the name of freedom all this atrocious scheming. They will make a salutary example of the schemers.—New York Heratt.

Sad Accident. The New Castle Gazette and Democrations: On Monday evening last about six o'clock, a sad accident occurred in East New o'clock, a sad accident occurred in East New Castle, resulting in the death of two men and nearly that of the third. The accident occurred as follows: Mr. Henry A. Lusk and Charles Patton were engaged in putting a false bottom in a well in the rear of Mr. Lusk's house; while so doing they took a kettle of hot cement down, which caused the gas or foul air to fall and suffocate them. Mrs. Lusk's fenring that all was not them. Mrs. Lusk, fearing that all was not them. Mrs. Lusk, fearing that all was not right, gave an alarm, and Robert Bays was the first to reach the fatal spot, and immediately went down the well. A short time after, the anxious crowd above began to hollo, but no answer. They put a caudle down the well, and also set a lot of newspapers on fire, but they were extinguished before getting any distance into the well. Mr. Bostwick and David Allen entered the well some eight or ten feet, but found it

Mr. Bostwick and David Allen entered the well some eight or ten f.et, but found it dangerous to venture further, and commenced to pull on the rope and found that something was attached to it at the bottom; upon hoisting it to the surface, they found that it was Lusk, and they immediately commenced fishing for the other two, and succeeded in getting Patton to the surface, but life was extinct. They renewed their efforts to get Bays, and after some little time they succeeded; but, much to their surprise, he still breathed. The doctors did everything that lay in their power to bring Agents, both male and female, wanted everything that lay in their power to bring Lusk and Patton to, but to no effect. Bays is still alive, but his recovery is doubtful. Mr. Lusk leaves a wife and live children to mourn his loss. Charles Patton was a young man about inheten years of age. Their death was caused by asphyxia, produced by the inhalation of carbonic and gas.

A Modern Bluebeard.

The Dubuque Times gives an account of a man named Chris, Gantenbein, who about a year ago went to Milwaukie, and there, under pretense of being a very rich man, married a young lady and took her to Dubuque, where he not only has no riches but is a poor drunken saloon keeper. His wife fared badly. He got drunk often, and whipped her terribly. On Saturday last he was discovered by the neighbors dragging her across a room, with a dog chain fastened to her neck with one hand and her hair with the other, and treating her in a most brutal manner. He was arrested and held to trial for assault. The Dubuque Times says: "It was revealed in the court-room that Gantenbein had led a life worse than Bluebeard of old, save in the crime of murder. He has been married to no less than eleven different women, every one of whom have received terrible beatings at his bands. For bigamy he was confined two years in the Wisconsin penitentiary. One, and possibly two of his former wives are living in the Wisconsin penitentiary. One, and possibly two, of his former wives are living in this city, though his present wife never knew it until last Sunday. Thus has this knew if until last Sunday. Thus has this monster lived for a dozen years—luxuriating with wives, and for exercise smashing their faces and bruising their bodies. It is a relief to think that he has found a stopping place in his career, and that, for a few months at least, women will be out of reach of his mauleys. His wife intends going to her people, who are now in Miscouries and process to apply immediately. souri, and purposes to apply immediately for a divorce from her unnatural spouse."

Zate Advertisements.

SIGNIFICANT.

The new system of Advertising adopted by Geo. P. Rowell & Co., Advertising Agents, No. 40 Park Row, New York, is attracting a good deal of attention.

The following extract from a speech delivered before the N.Y. State Editorial Convention, (lately holden at Penn Yan,) by a promineat Advertising Agent of N. Y. City, goes to show that he at least acknowledges its advan-From Jamestown, N. Y. Journal of Aug. 2nd,

Edited by C. E. BISHOP, Chairman of Committee on ADVERTISING AGENCIES. "Mr. Pettingill spoke in opposition to that plan from the publisher's stand point alone. He showed the publishers that by this system of contracting they were giving lower rates than they gave their own home customers of others equally as prompt and good customers; that they were selling one portion of their paper to be used to compete with and underbid the other columns; that the owner of the space thus sold could come right in and bear the publisher's prices and take his business away from him; that if the publishers, fully understanding this, still wished to continue so irregular and unbusiness-like a system, he (Pettingill & Co.) should of course cease trying to get advertising for the papers at their regular rates, and go into the other system of contracting-which he could stand, if the printers could."

The anxiety on the account of newspapers is incalled for. There is not one in twenty which would not prefer to receive all their foreign paironage on this plan, when it is fully understood. It is too generally recognized as thoroughly beneficial to all parties concerned to be injured in the least by any thing which may be said against it by interested parties. Advertisers should sen I for a circular giving full explanations.
