The woman was not on McChesney's "beat," and it was only when she became so riotous in her conduct, and a large crowd was gathering about her, that the officer left his post to interfere. As he approached her she assumed a menacing air, and at the same time sumed a menacing air, and at the same time the officer noticed the blade of a knife, the officer noticed the blade of a knife, which she tried to coment in her hand behind her. Knowing the desperate character of the woman when under the influence of figuor, and that she would make all effort to escape, the officer turned towards Broadstop, and stooped to rap upon the pavement for assistance. No sooner had he turned his head than the incorracted woman, her hair tora down and handing in dirty knots pair tora down and hanging in dirty knot ibmileting face and shoulders—her garment about the form in her wild ractings, and her brout maddened with rum, and infuriated at the thought of being imprisoned, drew the knife from behind her, quick as drew the knife from beland her, quick as lightning, and springing upon her unconscious victim, threat the knife at his throat, severing the vein. The murdered man threw up his hands and exclaimed, "My God, I am stabbed;" and cailed upon his fellow officers, who had just come in sight, for help. Two officers procured a carriage, and lutting in the wounded man, whose blood was flowing in streams, drove with all haste towards the City Hospital, but the man was dead before they reached the gates. The body was then conveyed to the man was dead before they reached the gates. The body was then conveyed to the 8th Precinct station house, and laid out upon a stretcher. Paying Her Hush Money.

One day we have it announced that Mrs. Lincoln says she has in her possession the means with which to crush the Radical party. That is no doubt true, but the party. That is no doubt true, but the becopie are saving her any labor in that direction.
Immediately following this announcement comes another. Mrs. Lincoln has consented to the proposition to raise a subscription for her benefit, and that the work has already commenced by opening subscription books at Brady's, in New York, and addressing singless to prominent poliand addressing circulars to prominent politicians. It is evident they have found i necessary to pay her hush money. She has used the power which she holds over the party of "great moral ideas" to her pecuniary benefit, as she intended to do when the exposure was first commenced. She has managed her cards well, if not creditably. The partisans, whose rascalities she holds in the palm of her hand, are at the confessional.

We have deemed the publication of the inventory of the estate of Mr. Lincoln, as filed by Judge Davis, in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Sangamon county, would not only not be out of place, but would be the easiest and surest way of placing the facts before the public. We therefore give it below. It was filed on the 29th of November, 1866, by "N. W. That Mr. Lincoln did not leave his family wealthy is very evident, but no one in view of the above inventory can say that they are in the deplorable con-dition of "want" and "destitution," in regard to which the public has with so which astonishment just been informed. We say this much, not for the purpose of preventing "personal contributions" from being made to Mrs. Lincoln, if she desires them, much less to deter Con-gress from making a further appropriation for her support, which we should be glad to have it do, but simply in order that the people of the nation may not suppose that Mrs. Lincoln is in any-

A Riot Caused by Superstition. A riot, originating in an extraordi nary superstition, occurred at Myross (Ireland,) in the west of this county, a few days since. A body, supposed to be that of the captain of an American ship lost on the western coast, was washed ashore near Myross some time since, and after an inquest had been held was interred in Myross church-yard. nary notions deep-rooted in the popular mind which defy human ingenuity to analyze or explain. To prevent the threatened calamity the county people resolved to oppose the removal by force. On the morning on which the exhumaion was to take place, the population of he district, armed with the miscella-neous weapons that a farm yard afords, rose on masse against the strangers out of the graveyard. HARPER'S LECTURE.—A colored woman named Mrs. Harper, delivered a lecture to the Radicals in the Court House on Monday. The public buildings seem to be peculiarly easy of access to such people. Any lecturer who may happen to be so lucky as to have a dark skin, is sure to find the Court House at his or her service. This we presume is out of respect to Thaddeus Stevens, and is no doubt intended to be a mark of approval of his views upon the political and social relations of the two races, as illustrated in his domestic arrangements. A new mania has broken out in this place among boys and girls. this lecture. It was especially directed to the Republicans, and was delivered in curtain-lecture style.

We cannot report it, though our copious notes would enable us to do so quite fully. It was a plea for negro suffrage and complete political equality for the negro race. Evidently it had been carefully prepare and committed to memory. It was spoken in that half subdued and monotonous tone which belongs to her race. There was no attempt at oratory, and yet the delivery was in many respects effective. She recited the story of the wrongs her race had endured, insisted that the great object of the war in the sight of God and man was the destruction of slavery, and declared that the contest was not yet ended. The colored troops had fought bravely and had a right to claim equality for their race. It had been promised to them, and in the South Congress had given it to them; but Ohio and Pennsylvania had gone back on them. She predicted that all attempts of the Republican party to compromise on this question would only end in defeat and disgracefut failure. She urged her hearers to go in boldly for the perfect equality of black and white races, assuring them that only in that way could they expect to win any victory worth having. She abused Andy Johnson and the Democratic party, and that part of her speech was more loudly applauded than any other.

It was a fair presentation of the single

The Sewing Society at the Home will meet her speech was more loudly applauded than any other.

It was a fair presentation of the single political issue upon which the Republican party exists, and her ideas were worthy the consideration of her hearers. We believe with Mrs. Harper that the party will attempt to dodge the question in the coming Presidential contest, but we also believe with her that it will not succeed by so doing. It is so far committed to the docwith her that it will not succeed by so doing. It is so far committed to the doctrine of negro equality, that it cannot undertake to abandon it now without dis-The Sewing Society at the Home will meet on Friday afternoon instead of Thursday. This morning Mrs. Harper was conducted about the city by her white admirers, and we noticed an official personage carrying her luggage and walking side by side with her in the most pleasant social manner im-aginable. He seemed to be perfectly happy in thus aping Mr. Stevens in undis-guised admiration for his tan-colored com-panion. If there be any gentleman who panion. If there be any gentleman who desires to find a spot where he can indulge in such companionship without losing caste we would advise him to come to Lancaster.

The indications are that this Fair, which will open at Fulton Hall, on Monday, December 2d, will be a very brilliant and successful one, as all interested are working with a most commendable zeal. Judging from the extensive arrangements being made, and the energy and efficiency of those having the superingendence of the different aving the superintendence of the different epartments, we think it will surpass the departments, we think it will surpass the Fairs which have been previously held in this city in almost every particular. ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE BY A NEGRO IN CHESTER COUNTY.—On last Thursday morning a brutal outrage upon a young white girl was attempted by a negro near Penningtonville, Chester county. The particulars are about as follows: A Miss McDonald, a young lady of the highest respectability, belonging to a good family, was engaged in teaching school at the village of Limeville. Owing to the sickness of a sister she had been in the habit of returning to her father's house at Penningtonville each evening, and going back to school in the morning. On Thursday morning, at a comparatively unfrequented part of the road, a negro sprang from behind a tree with a pistol in his hand. He seized her and threw her down, indulging in brutal threats as shestruggled with him. When she was almost exhausted, some noise NEW PATENT.—Wyatt W. startled the negro and he sprang to his feet. Miss McDonald immediately started towards home, but the negro met her with his pistol in hand, and swore he would blow her brains out if she ever mentioned the matter, even though it might be twenty years after. In her fright she turned toward Limeville, and proceeded to that place. On making known to some friends what had occurred, they at once sent her in a carriage to Penningtonville. The father and brothers of the voung lady, with some others, started out in search of the negro, and arrested him at the house of a Miss Fulton, with whom he lived. On being brought before the young lady she at once recognized him as the brute who had assaulted her. Her relatives would have taken summary vengeance upon him but for the interference of other parties. The negro was committed to jail to await his trial by Justice Rambo. It is to be hoped his sentence may be made sufficiently severe to deter others of his cluss from acts which have come to be very common of late. FOR ACTS OF CHARITY and Benevolence Philadelphia stands prominent among her slater cities. During the war she had our refreshment saloons where thousands were fed while on their way to the "front," and now, in order that the good work may be continued, it is proposed to provide for the Orphans of many of these brave heroes who fell in defence of the srars and stripes. For this purpose the Washington Library Company of P. Hadelphia was organized in aid of the Riverside Institute of New Jersey. Here the Orphans of Soldiers and Sailors in ail paris of the country-will be gratultously educated and made useful members of society. The just and honorable plan adopted for raising the necessary funds for this charitable object has re-eved the endorsement of every one. Read Advertisement.

The Cholera in Pulladelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—The Eccaing Tetegraph says that a disease resembling the Asiatic Cholera has broken out at the Navy Yard, and there have been thirteen deaths since Saturday. The outbreak of the disease occurred on the ship Potomac. [SECOND DESPATCH.]

Philadelphia, October 22.—In a majority of the latal cases death ensued within a few hours after the first attack, the sufferers being taken with diagraphes, caums. a few hours after the first attack, the sufferers being taken with diarrhea, cramps, vomiting, and all the known symptoms of Asiatic cholera. The disease is described by the physicians on board the vessel and in the yard to be those of Asiatic cholera. Since there about forty of the men on the Potomac have been affected, more or less, by the disease, and thirteen deaths have already occurred. Those who have fallen victims to the disease are as follows, as far as their names have been ascertained:

The Company had adopted the title of "Linen Duster Hose Company, No. 7½." The other comprised fifty men from the Harrisburg car shops. They wore white shirts and black pants, and drew a hose carriage labeled "Sixeen Hose Company, No. 8." These companies had been gotten up quietly, and the appearance of so many men—jolly fellows—surprised the firemen not a little. Buckwalter, on behalf of the United States Hose Company, of Philadelphia. The speech was appropriate and to the point. Upon the part of the Friendship Mr. D. P. Rosenmiller received the testimonial, in which he expressed the hope that the deep feeling of friendship formed a year ago between the two companies as constituent members of the great Volunteer Fire Department might never die, but that there may be many happy days in store for them. The 17th of October, 1897, will long be remembered by the firemen of Lancaster, but to the members of the Friendship the presentation of this beautiful horn will be an additional cause for its remembrance. They feel gratified, indeed, at the attention given them by the firemen remembrance. They see gratined, indeed, at the attention given them by the firemen of other cities, and the Company which he represents receives this horn as a link in the chain of friendship which binds the two companies together. Cheers and a tiger concluded the ceremonies, and the new hofn was carried into the line of the general parade.

Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup,

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians prinounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weightly more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the care of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerou. and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly aston ishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy robust persons. Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him.
