The Plum Tree Segret.

The Plum tree seems destined to another severe infliction; in addition to that caused by the motorions. plum weevil. or our cutto. The minds of Horticulturits—like the minds of politicians sometimes—had been mainly impressed with a single idea, and that was for the extermination of this weevil. For without that, and that almost exclusively, all attempts to cultivate a plum crop, might as well, first as last, be entirely abandoned. Formidable as this insect is, it confines its operations entirely to the fruit; and although; where it has uninterrupied sway, it leaves us nene of this; yet it does not generally impair the general health of the trees. Although through its pernicious agency, we may get no fruit, still it leaves us healthy trees, and an abundance of foliage and flowers. But the enemy to which I specially refer in this paper, strikes at the very foundation of our hortcultural superstructure, and attacks the tree itself, marring its health and beauty, and if not arrested, destroying its ability to bear and mature its fruit; and may, undoubtedly in the end, destroy the tree itself. On the 28th of October Mr. Charles T Gould, of this city, and a member of this Society, brought me about a dozon white worms which had been taken out of the trunks of his plum trees, immediately under the bark; and informed me they were a molety of some fifty or sixty, which he had dug out in a single day. It is true, that the presence of these worms was not entirely a new thing to me, for I had here and there, observed one or more of them in the plumb tree, on former occasions; but I had never before known of them being so numerous. Perhaps the members of this Society may have noticed drops of gums exuding from the trunks and limbs of their plum trees, on various occasions, especially during the most active period of circulation and crowth in the summer season. These The Plum Tree Boyer. exuding from the trunks and limbs of their plum trees, on various occasions, especially during the most active period of circulation and growth, in the summer season. These exudation were caused by wounds made by worms boring into the wood of the trees, or under the bark. I have on various oc-casions cut them out of both the plum, the apple, and the cherry, as well as of the wild cherry. Many of them are drawn forth during the fall and winter season, and also in the summer, by various species of birds, chery. Many of them are drawn lotting during the fall and winter season, and also in the summer, by various species of birds, of the Picus or woodpecker family; but these birds are usually too shy to approach trees near human habitations, and in small enclosures. These therefore, if not guarded and manipulated by human hands, must fall a prey to these and other species of wood-boring worms.

The largest of these worms are now, November 2d, one inch and a quarter in length, composed of a small head, armed with short, stout, brownish mandibles; three thoracic, and ten abdominal segments, very distinctly marked. The head and the first thoracic segment, are retractile within the second, which is three times as broad as the abdominal segments. The color is a slightly tarnished white, except the second segment, which is a faintly brownish yellow; and the worm is entirely destitute of feet. Out of its cell its powers of locomotion are very inferior, and it seems to move backwards or sideways, rather than forward. Mr. Gould informs me that he found them in dozens, lying side by side, on lifting up the loosened bark of the infested them in dozens, lying side by side, on lift-ing up the loosened bark of the infested rees, ench, however, working its own way through the tissue that immediately envelthrough the tissue that immediately enver-opes the trees. Perhaps the most express-ive simile would be to liken this worm to "tadpole," for on a supericial glance, it appears to be composed of merely a head and tall, without any body as an interme-diate believen them. dinte between them.

There is not a doubt in my mind that this worm is the larva of a species of Buprestis, a family of wood boring Coleoptera, nearly allied to the click-beetles—the "schnill allied to the click-bectles—the "schnill kaefern" of the Germans. I can only refer it with any certainty to the genus Dicerea, and approximately to the species divaricate, because without a personal observation, or well executed drawings and minute descriptions to refer to, it is very difficult to identify the mature insect with the immature larve. This general form of larve, with various modifications, runs through the whole family Burrestide, but in no genus is more family Buprestide, but in no genus is more distinctly marked, than in that of Diccrea. distinctly inarked, than in that of Dicerca. Usualty these larvæ require three years or more, to puss through all their states of preparation before they assume the pupal and mature forms, and accordingly their study is rendered tedious and difficult. Authors are of opinion that the beach is the original residence of this larvæ, but from thence it and its cogeners havespread, until the plum, the cherry, the app e, and doubtless other trees, have become intested with them. Some of the species belonging to this family are "pine-borers," and remain a long time in the larvæ state. An instance is recorded in the transactions of the s recorded in the transactions of the Linnman Society of England, of a species of Buprestis found allve, whilst endeavoring to extricate itself from the wood of a desk to extricate itself from the wood of a desk the plank of which had been imported from the Baltic, and had stood in one of the offices of Guildhall for upwards of twenty years. A similar case occurred within my own experience, in the city of Lancaster. In the Spring of 1849 the late F. J. Kramph, purchased a sofa from a Mr. Kapp of EastKing street, in whose shop it had remained, after having been faished, for more than a year, and perhaps the lumber out of which it was having been finished, for more than a year, and perhaps the lumber out of which it was made, had been there a much longer time. On this part of the history of the case I have no distinct data. But in the year 1855 or '6 in the mouth of June, a hole, and a quantity of cuttings were found on the floor on the inner side of one of the feet of the sofa; but as the weather was warm, and the windows were occasionally opened, the insect must have mude its escape before these evidences of its presence were discovered by the removal of the sofa. I am not able to say whether the insect that escaped from the foot of this sofa was a Hupprestis or a Saperda, or some other wood boring coleopter/but most likely it was one of the two named. On another occasion, while I was in the employ of the above named gentleman, I found a species of Strex—a hymenopierous insect—in a roll of black cassimers with the headplay of the above named gentleman, I found a species of Sirez-a hymenopterous insect—in a roll of black cassimere, with its head outward, just beneath the first or second outcryply of goods. On unrolling it, I found the insect had cut a hole through every ply of the cassimere, in a piece that measured some thirty yards, and had originally come out of the board on which the goods had been wrapped. How long the time was, that the insect had been present, it would be impossible to toll; but when we consider the time required to cut, season, and saw the timber, required to cut, season, and saw the timber before it came into the hands of the cloth manufacturer, and the time it may have laid before it came into the hands of the cioth manufacturer, and the time it may have laid in the factory, the warehouse, and the merchants' establishments, before the discovery—some years may have elapsed. Now, here are insects so peculiar in their history, and so protracted in their development, that it would seem almost impossible to provide against their destructive habits; and yet, in the economy of nature itself, there are many counteracting influences operating against their increase. It is in this manner, too, that many of the wood-boring insects, originally coulined to the wild forest regions of our country, have been introduced into the domain o. civilized cultivation.

I know no more effectual antidote against them than that which Mr. Gould employed with those under consideration. That is, where they are accessible, cut or dig them out with any suitable instrument; and do not be afraid of injuring the trees, for you could not possibly affect the health of the tree more by scarifying it than a score or two of worms would in girding it, one season, and the next, boring into its heart or into the outer rings of its solid wood.

There have been a number of remedies, recommended by persons in different parts of the country, for the prevention of woodboring insects penetrating trees, or for the destruction of those already there, but, exboring insects penetrating trees, or for the destruction of those already there, but, except those embracing a rational manual effort, they are all of little or no effect for efort, they are all of little or no effect for good. I might instance, among these, the driving of nuils into trees, the boring of auger-holes and filling them with sulphur, catomel, or other similar substances, the hanging of horse shoes and other objects on the branches, &c., as being totally useless. The argument advanced by the advocates of these remedies is, that the sap takes up these substances, and circulates them through the trunk and the branches of the trees, and so doctored, rendering it so trees, and so doctored, rendering it so nauseous or vitated, that no worm can or will possibly live in it; and therefore they must abandon such trees or be destroyed. This is a most transparent folly, for it must be evident to any one, that wood or sap so poisoned that the worms would be sickened or destroyed by sering it would likely not poisoned that the worms would be sickened or destroyed by eating it, would likely produce fruit that would have a similar effect upon human beings, eating it. If the trunk of trees are secured—by any contrivance that will have that effect—during the months of June and July, there will be danger from exposure before or after that period. But when the worms are already in the trees, and cannot be reached by merely removing the loosened portion by merely removing the loosened portion of the bark, then the best thing to employ is a sharpened and barbed wire, for the disis a sharpened and barbed wire, for the dislodgment of the worms. Perhaps a steel wire would be the best—one that is just flexible enough to follow the course of the holes, without permanently bending. It is true that there may be scaps or other solvent substances affixed to the upper surface of the branches of trees, which by dissolving gradually, by descending rains, might run over the surface and prevent the parent insect from depositing its eggs there, but this, uader any circumstance, could be only partially available, and not effectually done as it can be by the smaller species of insec-as it can be by the smaller species of insectivorous birds. Birds are both overrated and underrated; but that they do, at certain places and in certain seasons destroy more insects and insect larvæ than they ever get credit for, is undenlably true. Parasitic insects are their assistants, and these coun-insects are their assistants, and these coun-teracting, and often unrecognized and un-acknowledged forces, acting in harmonious combination, are doing, and have done more, in a quiet way, than all the other remedies ever discovered, can or ever will do.

A CURIOSITY.—A huge deed is now being recorded in the several Registers' offices, in which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company conveys to the Pennsylvania Canal Company of the Pennsylvania Canal Company Conveys to the Pennsylvania Canal Canal Conveys to the Pennsylvania Canal Can pany all the line of canals from Columbia to Hollidaysburg, for the consideration money of $2,650,000, and the revenue stamps affixed to amount to $750. SHALE WE CONTINUE TO BUY OUR SHALL W.E. CONTINUE TO BUY USE FRUIT ?*—This is an important question to all consumers of fruit, but especially so to us who pretend to be producers. That we have been buying fruits for a number of years which we should have produced, is a years which we should have produces, is a numiliaring fact, and it seems as if the people of this and neighboring counties had sunken, or at least come to the conclusion that there is no alternative. The question now arises, must this state of things continue, or shall we unite our efforts to ascertain the cause or causes of failures in this department?

tain the cause or causes of failures in this department?

I am fully convinced that if the effects can be traced to their true causes, an available remedy will follow. Assuming such to be the case, we must labor more to seek the causes of failure, than those of success; because we have more of the former, and in order to arrive at facts it will be necessary to keep a record of when and what we plant, the nature of the soil, whether old or new, its preperation and aspects, its condition at the time of planting, how cultivated and cropped after the trees are planted, what manures are applied, the proximity of woodlands, their elevation and point of compass from plantation, the state of thermometer, and many other things that should not be overlooked. But to observe the above, will require more labor and exertion than we or our fathers have applied thus far, and we may as well learn first as last, that we need never expect to grow fruit to perfection with the same ease as they did—that day has gone by.

My own observations have led me to con-same ease as they did—that day has gone by.

My own observations have led me to conclude that planting trees upon exhausted soil,—especially where the same kind of fruit had grown,—the clearing away of timber lands, making a prairie of the country, and the depredations of insects are the most prominent causes of failures in fruit growing in this section of our State.

It is to be hoped that the above subject will hereafter be thoroughly and intelligently discussed at our monthly meetings, and such conclusions as may be arrived at put into practice, and the results reported to this Society, which will accumulate a un i of knowledge that may be relied upon by our successors.

There are many other things to be considered in connection with the above, but let this suffice for the present.

It therefore only remains for us to labor faithfully and unitedly in the proper direction to achieve what we aim at, and success will surely follow.

An article read before the Lancaster City

* An article read before the Lancaster City and County Horticultural Society, December 2, 1867, by H. M. ENGLE, of Marietta.

Mishler's Bitters.

No more chance to adulterate MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS WILL BE SOLD, ON AND AFTER DEC. 1st, SOLELY IN GLASS.

IT CAN BE PROCURED OF ALL DRUGGISTS.

In making the above change, and discontinuing entirely the sale of Mishler's Herb Bitters in bulk, the proprietors deem that the people should be informed of the causes which have called forth such action on their part. In the first place, we hold that Mishler's Herb Bitters is not a beverage, was never intended to be used as a beverage, but that it is a med cinal preparation of various herbs, &c., cor pounded upon scientific principles, and in exact accordance with the formulæ of the pharmacopia in the preparation of tinctures, &c. In fact, that it really is a compound tincture of dedron and other herbs, and, as far as possible emoved, and differing from the many so-called Tonics, Bitters, Cordials, Stomachies, which for the most part, are nothing but so man disguises assumed by whiskey, and are for the most part composed of a major portion of the very vilest quality of that article, flavored with some strong drugs to destroy the nausea of the same, in order to tickle the palate, min-later to a deprayed taste, and afford a plausible excuse for persons to drink whiskey under a lifferent name. Mishler's Herb Bitters has been sold in bulk In this particular it has been unfortunate, for it has thus been placed directly in contact with the above mentioned, and although its in-trinsic merit, and sterling worth has enabled it to sustain its high character, yet the people have naturally a certain distrust of the article when it is found to be classed in the same category with a number of whiskey preparations, bar drinks, and beverages.

This is one great disadvantage against which Mishler's Herb Bitters has to contend, but there is still another. The demand for it has capied many unpropolated average when the late panic, and are now prepared to offer to CASH BUYERS, great inducements in FRENCH BRITISH AND AMERICAN DRY GOODS of reliable guilding in the late panic. caused many unprincipled persons, who are not content with the profit derived to a legiti-mate manner from its sale, TO INCREASE THEIR GAINS BY ADULTERATION. They will purchase, perhaps, a barrel, and by the ad-mixture of chesp whiskey and water, increase the quantity, making perhaps, two, or it may be three barrels of the counterfeit, from a single barrel of the genuine, thus abusing the confidence of their customers, impairing their health, and it is likely, in many instances, in-health, and this likely, in many instances, in-flicting serious injury thereby, besides doing injustice to the proprietors and damaging the reputation of the article. This is the most serious objection, but there is still another. Our desire is to have this prepration for sale on the shelves of every druggist, and country store dealer, thus placing it within easy access of all classes and every sec-tion of the country. If the Bitters are sold in tion of the country. If the Bitters are soid in bulk, it is retailed principally at hotels, restaurants and taverns, so that druggists and merchants can not safely and profitably sell it to their customers. At the hotels the Bitters is oftimes feariully adulterated; while when sold in bottles, it is impossible to tamper with the medicine without fear of detection. In hotels t must be sold as a beverage; which is not the object of its manufacture—while as a medicine, securely sealed in a proper sized bottle, the Bitters can be retailed from the counter of every druggist and merchant in the country.

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS ARE NOW

SOLD ONLY IN BOTTLES.

Let this fact be remembered by the public, who may consider all other preparations sold in bulk and under its name, as base and worth-

This is to certify that I was so affected with Dyspepsia and so debilitated that I was not able to attend to my business for ten months; not being able to eat without being afterwards attacked with naseau and vomiting. In fact I was so afflicted that my life was a burthen to me. I applied to several physicians for relief but obtained none, and finally was recommended by one of them to try MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS; I obtained two bottles from Griel & Bro.; is South 18th St., which has given me so much relief that I am now able to eat my meals with pleasure and attend to my business, and I feel confident that after taking another Bottle I shall be entirely cured. Any person wishing further information will please call on me.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18th, 1887.

Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co.—Gentlemen: I feel impelled to write you a line in grateful acknowledgment of the greakservice done me by Mishler's Herb Bitters, of which I learn you have lattely become proprietors. I have been suffering terribly from Dyspepsia for three years p. st. Nothing that I ate agreed with me, I had constant gnawing and painful sensations in my stomach, and waisted away, almost to a skeleton. Even my mind was affected to some extent, and I suffice from loss of memory. I had tried various physicians, and spent more than five hundred dollars endeavoring to obtain relief. I had about given up in despair of ever being better, when a friend who had experienced great benefit in case of Dyspepsia from the use of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS induced me to try it. After using four bottles I can say I am well, having gained about fifteen pounds, and being still on the increase. I write this to you in grateful acknowledgment; and I would take this opportunity of commending your medicine to all who may be afflicted in a similar way, or who may have Dyspepsia in any of its disagreeable and often terrible forms. Yours, very respectfully and gratefully.

MR. B. MISHLER—Dear Mr. You remember some four weeks ago I complained to you that I could not eat fresh bread nor fried p-tatoes for supper; that they would not digest; in other words, they passed from me as. I eat them. The consequence was, I felt bad all the time. You remarked to me that I should take your Bitters—a good drink after each mealand if I should not be well by the time I had taken a bottle, you would forfels $500. I tried them, and, to my satofilshment, in the course of a few days I could eat anything, and as much as I chose, without the least inconvenience. I have been well ever since; but I keep your Bitters in my house all the time, so that we mayhave it on hand when anything happens in the way of sickness.

Yours, very respectfully, nov 30 tidaw!

The Doctor piedgs himself to give careful attention to every patient who calls upon him and will not hold out any inducement which the case will not warrant. Dr. R. compounds his own Medicines at his Laboratory, which combine the whole vegetable and mineral kingdoms, without confining himself to any one system of medicine, devoting himself to finding the most congenial remedies for the human frame: he also believes the medicines employed by him will cure Chronic Diseases of the oldest and most obstinate character, when curable and pledges them for the complete ing described tracts of land:

FIRST—The Home Farm, upon which the said decedent resided at the time of his death, situated immediately on the public road leading from Leesburg, the county seat, to the Point of Recks Ferry, on the Potomac river, about two-and-a-half miles from the last mentoned place, adjoining the lands of Daniel Shreve, Daniel T. Shreve, Charles Williams and others, containing THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILLS! WARRANTED FRENCH. d others, containing 5121/2 ACRES OF LAND,

These Pills, so celebrated many years ago in Paris, for the relief of female irregularities, and afterwards for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Mr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris, of great wealth, and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes.

In overcoming Female Obstructions, Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Patigne on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart. Hysterics, &c., and will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and, although a powerful remedy, do not contain calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

To married ladies and young girls who have never been regulated, they are peculiarly suited. They will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

CAUTION.—Married Ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves preguent.

Ladies can procure a box, sealed from the eyes of the curious, by enclosing one dollar and six postage stamps to M. W. MACOMBER, General Agent for United States and Canadas, at Albany, N. Y., or to any authorized Agent. Dr. D. MCURMICK, Agent, Lancaster. 512½ ACRES OF LAND,
WITH AN ABUNDANDE OF TIMBER.

This Farm is well adapted to the growth of wheat and corn, a considerable portion being of the best quality of limestone land, and is now in a high state of cultivation, and under good fencing, and divided into convenient sized fields, sax in number, with a never-isaling supply of running water in each. The improvements consist of a large

BRICK DWELLING HOUSE, with Kitchen attached; a large and substantial STONE BARN, of the Switzer build; Corn Cribs, Wagon and Carriage Houses, Smoke Houses, Dairy, Ice House, c., all in good condition; there is also on the farm, a of almost all kinds of choice Summer and of almost all kinds of choice Summer and Winter Fruit; also a large Lime Klin, with an abundance of limestone convenient to it. This sarm is well worthy the attention of those wishing to make a profitable investment because of its near proximity to the Potomac river and the Point of Ricks, where there is at all seasons of the year, a good market for all kinds of farm products, and where the choice of markets, either by railroad to Baltimore, or by canal to the District of Columbia, can at all times be had. It is situated in a remarkably healthy and agreeable neighborhood and in point of productiveness, is not surpassed by the very best quality of Loudous land. This farm can be advantageously divided into two tarms, with an equal quantity of land in each. SECOND—A Timber Lot, in what is known as the "Big Woods," situated immediately on the public road leading from Noland's Ferry to Leesburg, adjoining the lands of John Williams, Mrs. Betsy C. NEW FASHION FOR 1868. SHERMAN'S NEW PATENT AS YOU LIKE IT SKIRT

35 N. EIGHTH ST., COR. FILBERT 35 This is not only a new fashion, but a new article of skirt made on an entirely new principle, so novel and yet an operfect the ladies contend it should be called **Lergetion**.

We would here call particular attention to the AS YOU LIKE IT, or flex bloejoint, extending down the front of the skirt; it is so constructed that the springs told inwardly, but not outwardly, and readily yield to the slightest pressure, thus allowing them to collapse so that the skirt occupies the smallest possible space while sitting, riding, or in passing through a crewd, and yet the moment the pressure is removed, the skirt resumes its original and beautiful slape.

The novelty and utility of this contrivance need but be seen to be appreciated.

need but be seen to be appreciated.

Ask for the AS YOU LIKE IT SKIRT, and take no other. OUR CORSETS Are so well known for their superior SHAPE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP, that it is perhaps unnecessary for us to speak of them further than to say that we have greatly enarged our assortment of styles, both of our own make and importation, and can now safely dofy competition.

It may well be said that In MRS. SHEEMAN'S CORRETS, indies find
The laws of Heath with Fushion's taste combined; The laws of Heath with Fushion's tusto combined;
Supporting equally each separate part,
They cramp no action of the lungs or heart,
And no injurious ligature is piaced
To may the flexure of the natural waist,
Their fit is certain—and what's sure to please,
in all positions there is perfect eas;
The figures of the yaung they help to form,
Alding and not repressing every charm;
Irregularities of shape they hide,
So that by none can slight defects be spied,
While e'en a figure, which is understood
As being bad, 'may by their nelp seem good;
And matrons wearing them a boon will gain,
Thoir early symmetry they'll long retain.

MARRIAGE GUIDE.

Young's great Physiology work, of every one his own Doctor—Being a Private Instructor for Married Persons or those about to Marry, both male and female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our Sexual System, and the Production or Prevention of Offsprine, including all the new discoveries never before given in the English language, by Wm. Young, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with upwards of 100 engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating married life, should read this book. It discoves secrets that every one should be acquainted with. Still it is a book that must be locked up, and not to lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of Fifty Cents. Address Dr. Wm. Young, No. 418 Spruce st., above Fourth, Philadelphia.

"The constitution of the above indicates a decided advance in the composition of a Fertilizer by the introduction of a considerable per centage of Potash, and countenances the claim involved in the name Complete Manure." declared advance in the composition of a Fertilizer by the introduction of a considerable per centage of Potash, and countenances the claim involved in the name Complete Manure."

WILLIAMS & MOSS, of Philadelphia, Chemists of large experience in the analysis of Fertilizers, says;

"We find from an analysis of your 'Complete Manure,' that the name you have given it is certainly warranted by its Chemical composition; in addition to thus cordially recommending your Fertilizer from a Chemical stand point, we should state that its mechanical condition is most excellent, being such as to admit of its use in the drill without further preparation."

The "Complete Manure" has been used largely on various crops, and the testimony thus far received proves it to be the best Fertilizer introduced.
