HARRISBURG, Jan. 30, 1868.

Messrs. August Behmont & Co., New York:
GENTLEMEN—In reply to your note of the 28th, I beg to say that no arrangement can be made by which the Messrs. Rothschild can retain the old loan (now overdue) and continue to draw interest on it.

You state that should no arrangement be made you will be compelled to accept payment under protest. To this we have not the slightest objection. Your complaints about the injustice of our not paying you in gold may seem just to you, but to us they seem ridiculous.
I have no doubt Messrs. August Belmont I have no doubt Messrs. August Belmont I have no doubt Messrs. August Bolmont id. Co., had many, limbilities out, when the legal tender act was passed, which became due after gold had risen to a premium of eighty. I have not yet heard of their conscience compelling them to pay in gold instead of the legal tender. We are willing to give you the pound of flesh, but not one drop of Christian blood. Respectfully.

W. H. KEMBLE, State Treasurer. NEW YORK, Feb. 4, 1868.

New York, Feb. 4, 1868.
SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th ult, addressed to my house, in reply to our application on behalf of Messrs. N. M. Rothschild & Sons, of London, who had instructed us to receive payment of the Pennsylvania State stock due, under protest, in case the State should not pay the principal in coin, and in case no arrangement could be effected hav-ing in view a continuation of the interest and an extension of the time of redemption of the capital.

Messrs, Rothschild act in this matter as trustees of the holders of the debentures of the late United States Bank of Pennsylvania, residing in England and on the Continent of Europe. You seem so well acquainted with the financial transactions of States and individuals that you must know that by those debantures hard radiofysidoes nd orphans have been reduced to beggar vreck, have made through my house an application, which they as well as I deem just and equitable, and this application was made in a general control of the contro faith of the State of "Pennsylvania" and its great banking institution.

Your reference to the liabilities of my house, contracted in coin and assumed by you to have been paid in currency, is as importment as it is untrue in point of fact. August Belmont & Co, have never declined to meet any demand for the payment in coin, before or since the legal tender act.

If they had adopted the course towards their creditors which you propose to take on behalf of the State of Pennsylvania towards her unfortunite creditors represented by the Messrs. Rothschild there might hav In conclusion, I take this opportunity to express my regret that the State of Penn-sylvania should have for its Treasurer a person who could so far disgrace the State he assumes to represent, and forget the dig-nity of the office he holds, as to reply to a civil business communication in a manner which must raise the blush of shame on the

For the Intelligencer, ADSBURY TOWNSHIP, February 6. Messas. Entrons: In the present alarming crists, in the history of our country when we are evidently drifting into military despotism, is it not high time for every tary despotion, is it not high time for every lover of his occurry's welfare to be up and doing? Has it come to this that the great American people, and especially the great American people, and especially the great old Democratic party, who have always heretofore watched the liberties of their country with a jealous eye, have become so unconcerned or so degenerate as now to stand with folded arms, indifferent to the daring and revolutionary acts of those desperate men who, unfortunately, have the control of the legislative branch of our Government, and who are openly and avoyedperaté men who, unfortunately, have the control of the legislative branch of our Government, and who are openly and avowedly tearing down the main pillars of our political fabrie, undermaining the bulwarks of our safety, and infringing upon the Constitutional prerogatives of the co-ordinate branches of our Government? Should not the toesin of alarm be sounded until its reverberations strike terror to the hearts of those daring men who are dragging the country down to the verge of rain?

We have binted our suspicious (to Conservative Republicans) long ago, that all was not right, but (for the time being) they quieted our apprehensions by telling as that the Republican party, although unanimously opposed to slavery, would never willingly consent to the political equality of their own and the African race.

But now what do we behold? We behold the leading men of that party, striving to place the balance of the political power of the country in the hands of the blacks, by permitting them to elect members of Congress and Presidential electors, from at least eleven States of the Union, to the exclusion of the sons of those patriotic men, who rushed to the capital of Pennsylvania, in the winter of 1839, to respatriotic men, who rushed to the capital of Pennsylvania, in the winter of 1839, to res-cue—their liberties from the grasp of the cae their liberties from the grasp of the usurper?

it seems clear that the present programme is but a counterpart of the schemes which were plotted immediately preceding the Buckshot war, with but one material exception, which was, that the election at that time was admitted to have been held inside and under the Constitution, while the present plan is declared to be outside; the object at that time was to admit spurious members, sufficient to make up a quorum object at that time was to admit spurious members, sufficient to make up a quorum; in the House of Representatives, which was to declare the election of Governor Porter illegal, and consequently Ritner would hold over until his successor was duly qualified, and according to their own circular (issued to their friends) they declared that they would treat the election as though it had not been held, and in that attitude abide the result. Their whole project at the present time is to manufacture as many bogus electoral votes out of the black element as will enable them to hold the supremacy and elect their candidate for President.

But will the people of the great Central elect their candidate for President.
But will the people of the great Central Stales of the Union—the people of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohlo—will they submit to have their votes in the Electoral College overbalanced by the votes of bogus electors from cleven Southern States, manufactured to order for the occasion, and doisted into the college by the machinations of designing men, through the instrumentality of the colored vote? No, they never ean, they never long, will submit to such an atrocious outrage. Time serving office-seekers and unscrupulous politichus will, of course, pull up in the harness, at the Train on Grant.

THE ICE ON THE SUSQUEHANNA.—We have been informed by a gentleman from the southern part of the county that an immense body of ice has been formed on the Susquehanna by the late intensely cold weather, and that at several points along the river parties have been crossing on foot and even with horses and sleighs have been crossing in safety for some time. It is to be hoped that no sudden change of the Chesapeake Bay, horses and sleighs have been crossing in safety for some time. It is to be hoped that no sudden change of the weather will cause this immense body of ice to be hastily broken up, for in such cases the current of the river is not sufficient to carry the masses of ice through the narrow parts of the stream. The ice then becomes of the water they cause the river to overaflow, and are themselves driven with immense force on its shores and islands. All in all his place is hard to be excelled, and such as contemplate building, will do well to examine it.

Much credit is due to Mr. Henry C. Schner of this city, under whose supervision the building was erected, for the good quaitty of the work and the successful manner in which the design, drawn by Samuel Sloan, was carried out.

Wm. L. Peiper, Esq., has also commenced improving and beautifying his farm and mansion on the Marietta Turnpike, near this city.

THE FIRE ON SATURDAY.—On Saturday afternoon a fire occurred in a two-story frame building in Peacock alley, between Lemon and James streets. The house is occupied by Mr. Kerchesnor, and belongs to Jacob B. Amwake, Esq. The fire was caused by the heat of a stove, and was first discovered between the laths and the weather-boarding of the house, where it burnt out copsiderable of the wood work. The Washington Fire Company with their engine were soon at the fire after its discovery, and succeeded in a very short space of time to completely extinguish the itames; fortunately the house suffered no material injury. jury.

WRIGHTSVILLE NEWS.—We clip the following items from the Wrightsville Star:

JOSEPHINE, BY MUHLBACH .- The Muhlbach well sustains her high fame in this new historical romance. Indeed, we hardly know whether we ought not to drop the word romance, and call it plain history at once. It reads like a history; it is made up of known facts; its heroines and its heroes were once flesh and blood, and not all the Muhlbach could invent a more wonderful series of events than befel the sweet young series of events than befel the sweet young Marriages. were once flesh and blood, and not all the Muhlbach could invent a more wonderful series of events than befel the sweet young creole who shed the only soft human light that gleamed across the pathway of Napoleon. The book is called "The Empress Josephine," but it far less concerns her history and character as the sharer of a throne, than as the sovereign mistress of one wayward heart, the only woman whom Napoleon ever loved, and his cold sacrifice of whom brought down upon him the terrible penalty of his subjugation and solitary death. This great story of actual life, the most marvellous perhaps to be found in all the annals of courts, is told in a manner worthy of the theme by the famous German novelist. It is more of a love-tale than some of her other books, and shows her to great advantage as a delicate analyst of the grand pussion. The pictures, we predict will command general admiration. They are not behind the bost of those which irradiate the dulness of the English magazines, chaston Fay is the artist. He is an American, we understand, and we hall his appearance as a promised rollef from the long reign of artistic mediocrity. For a realization of the dolc for nuent, commend us to
