The Express has at last got to hear about the reported "whiskey" perform-ances in this vicinity. BAD ROADS.-We learn from gentlemen BAD ROADS.—We learn from gentlemen from different parts of the county, that the roads were never in a worse condition than they are at present. The turnpikes are in a very bad state, but the common roads are almost impassible. Many persons who are compelled to come to this city on business, prefer coming on horséback to any other imethod, for fear of breaking down or getting swamped in the mud. A few more days of method, for fear of breaking down or getting swamped in the mud. A few more days of warm genial sunshine like that of to-day will dry up the roads and render them fit for any kind of conveyance. When this oc-curs there will be a revival of all kinds of business, and cheerful faces and a more plentiful supply of greenbacks will be the consequence.

Iarderous Assault Upon a Messenger-$20,000 Stolen----Messenger Danger onsly Injured.

The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday says: The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday says: Another attempted murder, and heavy ex-pross robbery, has been perpetrated, one which will startle the ears of our renders as much as it will the stockholders of the damerican Express Company, who are the losers. The purticulars of the affair, as we learned them, are as follows: The express car which bears the freight known to ex-pressmen as the Richmond and Cincinnati Run, together with two passenger cars, was hitched on to the down train on the Cincin-nati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad, at Hamilton, about 10 o'clock last night. The American Express car and the one in ques-tion were under the control of Mr. S. P. Hayman, who had in his possession a safe containg, as near as can be estimated, $20,000 in money, besides a large amount of miscellancous goods, all consigned to this city. Everything went well until the train reached Giendale. At this place a man was seen to jump on the forward platform of the first car in the rear of the one cecu-pied by the Express Company. It was pre-The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday says pied by the Express Company. It was pr sumed by the conductor, that he intended to take a seat in the car, and no attention was paid to his movements. Some place between Glendale and Lockland, which are between[Glendale and Lockland, which are only six miles apart, this man, or more properly, villain, entered the express car, and with some hard instrument, probably a slung-shot, he knocked the messenger, Mr. Hayman, down, and thea, securing the key of the safe, he opened it. Mr. Hay-man had by this time partially recovered from the shock sustained by the blow, and attempted to raise from his prostrate posi-tion.

iman had by this time partially recovered from the shock sustained by the blow, and attempted to raise from his prostrate position. By this time the robber had opened the safe, and noticing the fact that the messenger was consclous, he drew a pistol, and with the buitt of it, struck Mr. Hayman six terrible blows on the forehead, knocking him perfectly insensible. The villian then rifled the safe of its contents, about $20,000, it is presumed, as the bills call for about that amount. This affair, as is related above, was the work of a very few minutes, and when the train arrived at Lockland, the robber must baye left it; in fact, one or two parties saw a man jump down an embankment, and, scaling a frence, run for a piece of woods within a few hundred yards of the track. The parties who saw him, however, paid no attention to this, supposing that he lived in the vicinity, and was in a hurry to get home. On went the train, and it was not until it had nearly reached Brighton Station, that the condition of the messenger was discovered, and then merely by accident, by the baggage-master, who had occasion to ask Hayman a question. The baggago-master from the safe strewn all over the floor of the car. One of these hulls of the money taken from the safe strewn all over the floor of the car. One of they bills called for $9,000, shipped from the wounds in his head. He was removed to his residence, No. 504 Wost Fith street, and delivered to the negles grage was the in an unconscious state, and delivered to the night cerify and it is from these that the estimate of $20,000 having been taken has been made.

Henry Boehm, who will com-plete his 98d year on the 6th of next June, is also present. Mr. Boehm heard the Rev. Robt. Strawbridge, the apostle of Metho-dism in Maryland, preach in 1781.

JCE IN THE SUSQUEHANNA.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Port Deposit states that the ice broke up there on last Thursday and continued to run and gorge all that night and the follow-ing day. At every gorge the water would back and rise, and several limes it looked very much like overflowing the principal street, but fortunately got vent, and passed out without doing serious damage. The boom piers stood the test well, and the rail-road bridge at Harve de Grace stood up de-fiantly against the immense pressure, the iron-clad piers separating the large sheets of solid ice, which were rolled and tossed against them. This bridge has now been severely tested, and scarcely any doubt can be entertained of its ability hereafter to re-sist the breaking up of the ice in the Sus-quehanna. We notice from our up the river exdism in Maryland, preach in 1781. FREE FROM TAXATION.—A bill has been recently introduced in the State Senate to exempt real Securities from taxation. The bill reads as follows: That mortgages, judgments, recogni-tances and monies owing upon articles for the sale of real estate, made and executed after the passage of this act, shall be exempt from all taxation, and that, from and after the first day of December next, no taxes of any description shall be assessed or col-lected on of from mortgages, judgements, recognizances or monies owing upon arti-cles of agreement for the sale of real estate, whether made or executed before or after the first day of this act: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to mortgages, judgments, or articles of agreement given by corporations.

MERCANTILE TAX AND APPRAISEMENT. —The following is the act passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, in relation to mercantile appraisement and tax, explaining the true intent of an act to provide for the reduction of the public debt, approved April 22, 1846: SECTION 1. What the internation of the river ex-dependence. We notice from our up the river ex-changes, that the amount of ice on the river this Spring is very great; but the general impression seems to be that it is passing off in such a manner as not to cause any great freshet. It is to be hoped that such will be the case.

This remedy has long been cherished by the com-mulity for its remarkable efficacy in relieving, heal-ing and curing the most obstinate, painful and long-standing cases of Cough, Cold, Induenza, Sore Throst, Honchitta, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Inflam-mation of the Lungs; while even Consumption itself has yielded to its magic influence when all other means have failed. Its whole history proves that the past has produced no remedy of equal value, as a cure for the numerous and dangerous pulmonary af-fections which prevail all over the land. UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY. From ANDERW ARCHERS, EEG, of Fairfield, Me. HIGH WATER AT SAFE HARBOR.—The ice on the Susquehanna having become gorged at McCall's Ferry, has occasioned quite a freabet at Safe Harbor. Yesterday evening the mail had to be taken in a boat from the Rolling Mill to the Post Office, a distance of a quarter of a mile, the water on the turplike being six feet in depth. The masses of ice floating down the river are of great size, some of them being more than 3} feet in thickness, thus fully attesting the severity of the past winter. The river at McCall's ferry is less than a quarter of a mile in width, the passage of ice is therefore im-peded and consequently becomes gorged ; the current is now obstructed in this man-ner from the above plan to Turkey Hill falls. The amount of injury done to prop-erty by this freshet cannot be ascertained until the waters subside, it is hoped how-ever that no material damage has been aus tained. A telegram in this morning's State Guard states that the ice at Williamsport on the dam has given way, and is now go-_Ծհ
