FRANK F. LANDIS. JACON H. LANDIS ERA F. LANDIS, LANDIS

Mr. Grocsbeck then referred to a message to Congressin rolation to Mr. Stanton's case, to show that the President had to some ex-tent recognized the law, and had not, as was charged, torn it to pieces and trumpled it under foot. Ite (Mr. Groesbeck) had care-fully listened to all the testimony in the case, and he could not see how the President could possibly be convicted of any crimi-nality. Where is the evidence of force? Where is the threat or the intimidation used? Is he criminal because he did not surrender the convictions of his mind on his consti-tutional rights, and make them conform to your interpretation of the act of 1867? Then so were Washington and Adams and all the earlier Presidents criminal, for they had interpreted their powers just as Andrew nterpreted their powers just as Andrew Johnson interpreted his. interpreted their powers just as Andrew Johnson interpreted his. Referring to the right to makean ad interim appointment, Mr. Greesbeck said the Presi-dent found his warrant for that in the act of Feb.13th, 1795. An act of Feb. 20, 1863, par thally covers some of the ground of the act first referred to. But the latter does not re-peal the former, and there cunnot be a re-peal the former, and there cunnot be a re-peal of a law by implication. Now in the aw of 1803, the case provided for when the President may make ad interva appoint-ments are those of death, resignation or ab-sence from the eity. Two cases are not pro-vided for in the act of 1705, and it was therefore under the latter act that the Presi-dent in this case made the ad interina appointment. To show the practice of the government upon this point, reference was inde to cases that bad occurred, including the removal of John B. Floyd from the war-office, by President Buchanan, and the ap-pointment of Mr. Holt. This case was in-quired link by in the two senate, but they found that they had no power over the sub-ter.

nd that they had no power over the sub Joint that they had no power over the sub-ject. With regard to article 9, which charges an illegal act by the President in his con-versation with General Emory, Mr. Groes-beck sold he would dismiss that with a word. He read the testimony of General Emory, and said it must appear clear to all that the President's whole purpose in sond ing for Emory was to ascertain why certain unusual changes were being made among the troops in his department. The lith article he would leave to his col leagues? clicates, but he would ask whether

5 The 10th article he would leave to his coll leaguesic clients, but he would ask whether the right of freedom of speech in this coun-try belonged only to the private individual ? Is it denied to officers of the government? Can't the President discuss the measures of any department of the government? May Congress sot itself up as a standard of good taste? Is it for Congress to prescribe rules of Presidential decorum? Will it not be chough for Congress to present to over dignity. Can it prescribe a form of expres-sion which may be used, and punish by dignity. Can it prescribe a form of expres-sion which may be used, and punks by impeachment that which it cannot reach by uny form of law? Ho would not dwell further upon this subject than to say that the souliton hav of 1708 was very much like article 10, and that as we all know, was one of the most odonsive laws ever enacted. It was, in a short time, repeated, and no at tempt has ever been made to reiterate its precepts, but it has been reserved for the House of Representatives, of the 30th Con-gress, through its managors, to remow this questionable proposition, and he would take it upon himself to suggest that before any one was condemned in a court of im-peachment, the country should have some any one was condemned in a court of im-peachment, the country should have some take upon himself to suggest that before prepared the draft of a law to meet the case. Mr. Groesbeck then read, amid much large number of preambles, reciting the duty of the President to observe official de-corum, Ge, declaring that such express-ions as "a body hanging upon the vorge of the government" were subjects for in-peachment for using such expressions, or had down. That, said Mr. Groesbeck, is Stripped of all verblage these questions comprise the whole case. How meagre and miserable, then, is this case! It is simply a question of an ad in the both Houses and the bill has received in by both Houses and the bill, has received in by both Houses and the bill, has received the approval of the Governor. The fellow-ing is the text of the bill, and shows that the impression prevailing in some quarters i the impression prevailing in some quarters with the President. We have been referred to many prece-dents in the past history of England, but those precedents should be to yon, Senators, not mitters for imitation, but beacon lights ind perpetual disqualification? If will go over un-ill the close of the argument, when, as it is provided in the Constitution of the United States, that on the trial of Impeachments by the Senate no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present; but this requirement to the general isay, that a majority prevails; therefore, in order to remove any doubt therefore, ordered that when any question which—a question mayarise with regard to the judgment—it hall be dotermined by a imajority of the mombers present. Senator Davis objected Mr. Williams took up the subject of the Presidents alleged justification by reason of advice given him by his Cabinet. If he leid that the President could not shield binest to losing their positions. He referred to the President's failure to commence legal proceedings, which he maintained would not have suited his purpose to have an In-terreguum when his own will would be su-preme. He then gave a satirical and humorous description of the conduct of Mr. Thomas on the 21st and 22d of Fobruary, including his appearance at the masquerade. With rogard to the defence set up by the Presi-dent that be has right to resist and to bring to judicial decision laws, he considers un-constitutional.

He would admit that the Senate was now sitting as a court, but it was a court hold-ing executive jurisdiction, 'which could do-clue the whole matter according to its own j iden, guided by but not bound by prece-dents and haw. Mr. Williams then ar-gued that no suspension of Stanton was made under the Tenure of Office Law, which the President thereby recognized.

FOUND AT LAST, a remedy that not only relieves, but cures that enemy of mankind, Consumption, as well as the numerous satellites which revolve around it in the shape of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Influenza, ec. The remedy we al-lude to is Dr. Wistar's Baleam of Wild Cherry, prepared by Seth W. Fowler & Son, Boston.-Communicated.

NUMBER OF PRISONERS IN THE COUNTY Boston.-Wistar's Baleam of Wild Cherry, propared by Seth W. Fowler & Son, Prison.-We are glad to state, that the number of persons now in the County pris-on is comparatively small. Buckse Co., the the population of Lancaster county. The present management of the prison is said to give very general satisfaction.

FARMING IN LANCASTER COUNTY.—A correspondent, using the signature "Pe-quea," gives so clear a statement of the mode of furming pursued in the fertile val-leys of the Conestogn and other creeks of Lancaster County, that we present his letter, slightly abbreviated: As an agricultural district, Laucaster county has always held high rank; its produce is now double what it was fifty years ago and at no time has it advanced more rapidly that it is doing at present, and there is still room for further increase of its agricultural productions. Commercial fertilizers, exdept lime are not yet generally used; farmers are, however, alive to the importance of husbanding their means for making barn-yard manure. Very few of our farmers will sell straw, however abundant it may be, and many will not sell hay under any circumstances. Rotation in crops is a universal practice; lime being put on the sod, and then plowed down, or else spread on the surface after plowing. The first spring corn is planted; the second season either outs or wheat; the third, wheatagain, seeding with timothy or clover; fourth and fifth seasons, grass; then corn again, and the old routine over. The majority ruled against the Howe throughout-refused to have it tested to its full capacity-objected to examining the mechanical points and general construction of the machine, on the ground that they were ignorant of the whole subject-which, by the way, was about the only sensible thing said during the trial by the majority, in favor of the Howe, and would have furnished a very good and proper excuse in the outset for their not serving at all. The Singer operator was silowed to make samples nutil he got one to suit, while Mr. Fate of the Howe invariably handed in the first sample made. When the Singer operator failed to make good cording on the machine, this same majority allowed to grease his fingers, and thereby grease the patent leather. The committee having their attention called to this sly proceeding the majority made no cit was to sew patent leather. In shorit it was obvious to every one present that from the beginning to the end of the trial the Singer operator was und the other two gentlemen of the ma-jority were expected to sneeze. In conclusion it is worthy of note that the only two practical men on the committee-one a tailor and the other a coachmaker, using and operating a machine in his busi-ness-are arrayed upon the side of the Hows. season either onts or wheat the third, wheat again, seeding with timothy or clover; fourth and ifth seasons, grass; then corn again, and the old routine over, Land does not generally lie fallow the second year; it is to high in price to loose a crop. If it is designed to have a crop of wheat the second year, the corn is cut off in September and shocked in rows, so as to leave spaces 20 to 30 rows wide. A harrow or or heavy roller is passed over those stubs in the direction in which it is designed to run the plow, so as to break them down, and favor their being well covered by the plow. After plowing, the roller is again passed over, and the wheat drilled in before the ground gets rain; neat and experienced in mers do this so nicely, as to leave but, very few corn stubs on the surface. The corn is left standing in the shock until it is sufficient-ly dry to be husked, and, with the fodder, is hauled from the ground. After this crop is taken off the field is well manured and plowed as early after harvest as possible and again seeded in wheat, with which it is sot to grass. Sowing wheat upon corn ground, in the manner described, is a very general and successful practice; from 20 to 25 and even 30 and more bubels to the acre are yielded. Wheat in strong land is thought to pay much better than coata, as oats are apt to fall and be light in the head or grain. Grass fields lie in some cases one year before being plowed, generally they are left two, though rarely more. Judging from the success and prosperity of our farmers, there are few places which excel us, and many which might profita-bly follow our example. There are many portions of the country where the soil is a moderate crop on our best land; seventy or flay busbals of corn to the acre is a moderate crop on our best land; seventy of eight is good, and is sometimes exceed-ed.—American Agriculturist A CUBIOUS MAN.—Dr. A. S. Konnedy, of Au-SFECTATOR. WE the undersigned, being the majority of the Committee to report upon the Test Trial of the Howe Sewing Machine, with the Singer Sewing Machine, and having reported upon the same in part, now desire to state that we made a very thorough ex-amination into the merits of the work exe-cuted by the respective machines at the test trial, and say in all candor the report was according to our best judgment in the matter. As a further guarantee we lake the liberty to insert here a precise record of the votes cast as we examined the goods in the committee of the whole, viz: Shoe Work-Singer had 3 votes on two points, and 4 votes on one point. Howe had 2 votes on 1 point. Curriage Trimming-Singer had 3 votes on Stitching and 15 on Hemming. Howe had 2 votes on Stitching and none on Hem-ming.

AN IMMENSEFLEET OF RAFTS.—The state Guard says that there are at Lock-Haven and above it on the Susquehannah rivor from five to six hundred rafts, which will begin to reach Harrisburg on to-day, and pass on to the great lumber markets lower down the river. Each one of these rafts (say there are five hundred and fifty) re-quiring five men to run, it will shortly throw into Harrisburg 2,760 lumbermen, all of whom will pass over the Northern Cen-tral raficed for their homes in the great lumber regions of the northern part of the State. This will make business brisk in the railroad ticket office. Lumbermen from the Clearfield region are of the opinion that the water in the creeks in that section of the State is not sufficient to "run out" the lumber now ready there for rafting, and a very large quantity will consequently be held back for another this loathsome disease, and is curing thousand of sufferers who had become discouraged will raged wit suffs and strong solutions. lected for the purpose of testing the merits of the Singer and Howe sewing machines, do respectfully report: That we attended in company with the other members of the said committee at the Orphans' Court Room in the city of Lancaster, on Thesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, the 14th, 15th and 16th of April, when and where the said machines were put into operation; the Singer being operated by W. W. Beardslee, and the Howe by C. Fate. After a careful, thorough and conscientious investigation, we are of ophilon that the Howe machine excelled the Singer Machine in the following particulars: First. The Howe machine did better hemming, except in one specimen of heming done of cares unbleached aheeting and one piece of circular fiannel. Second. The Howe machine failing upon very fine material. Third. The Howe machine failing upon very fine material. Thus howe machine acciled in testing, doing it in a beautiful manner around sharp corners and circus, in which respect the Singer failed. choosing, is to meet men a bitter does; and when Mr. Fate in order to make the town "too hot for me," (as one of his friends &x-pressed it.) challenged me to a public trial of machines, importing for that occasion at great expense, not only the original Stmon-pure "Howe Machine" itself, but with it the most expert operators and talented puffers in the employ of the Howe Company, all to operate gainst one man, and all miserably failing. It was hardly to be expected that the vanguished genitemen would bear their defeat in silence. No Army or Sewing Machine was ever worsted without its friends being able to show that the defeat was really a vitcory, or at the most, a "masterly change of base." We all understood this, and of course I fully expected a few newspaper paragraphs from some of the able, ingenious and distinguished Agents of the Howe, (who in goodly numbers graced our contest with their presence) ex-plaining away their defeat. Both "letting down" is generally harmless, and therefore pardonable, and I had expected to passit by without a word." The unmanly aspersions, however, not, only against the reputation of the genitemen who compose the majority of the Committee, but against myself which appears over the ligna-ture of "Spectator" in the Intelligence" of the 25d inst., seem to demand a word of reply, In so doing I shall use my own name, and not attempt to stab any one in the dark.
