Mr. Seymour was thus for no second time elected Governor of this State by the handsome majority of 10,752. After an able administration of two years he was, in 1864, nominated for re-election, this time against Reuben 12 Fenton, by whom he was de-

At the National Democratic Convention held in Chicago in 1864, Mr. Seymour was with great unanimity chosen its President, and how ably and cliciently he discharged

Since that time Mr. Seymour has delivered many powerful Democratic speeches in various parts of the country, entering each successive campaign in this State with his accustomed vigor, fearlessness and efficiency.

In his twortieth year he graduated at Princeton College, and removed to St. Louis, Missouri, and there began the study of law, in which profession he made rapid progress. In 1848, like his father, Francis, P. Blair, Sr., he gave his support to the Pree Soil party, and in a speech delivered at the Court House in St. Louis, contended against the extension of slavery into the Territories of the nation. In 1864 Mr. Blair was returned to Congress from the St. Louis district, over Mr. Konnett, who had defeated Colonel Benton two years be fore. BELLY OF THE FRESDENT.

Gentlemen:—To your friendly inquiry whether "if deemed desirable for the preservation and unity of the Conservative interests of the country." I would permit my name to be presented to the Democratic Convention as a candidate for the office of President of the United States, I would respectfully reply that I am not ambitious of further service—I may say, indeed, of further service—I may say, indeed, of further endurance, in that elevated and responsible position, unless by a call so goneral and unequivocal that it would be an endorsement by the people of my endeavors to defend the constitution and the reserved rights ofthe several Commonwealths composing what was once in fact the temper of parties, I can, perhaps, have no reasonable expectation.

All listory proves that men who, in official position, oppose for any reason the cherished schemes devised by inctions to acquire power, usually find more determined assailants than open and earnest defenders. Hence, in resisting measures which, although sustained by Congress, I honestly believed to be encreachments upon the constitution, my task has been made ardinous and seemingly ungracious by an opposition powerful, well organized, and possessing a controlling initionee in the halls of legislation traprecedented in the history of the country. Compoled to devote my entire the tole insues that have been forced upon me, and to contend against a majority represented by two-thirds of each house of Congress, I have been unable, whilestriving to protect and maintain the libertles of the people, to check extravagant expenditures for objects not contemplated by the constitution, and to emighten the burdens of taxation which now rost so oppressively upon

In the midst of these embarrasaments I have not been discouraged. When from the public prints, or from some unusually frank and out-spoken friend, I have heard that I "have no party," the suggestion has only served to remind me of a memorable romark, uttered when faction ruled high in Rome, that "Cowar had a party, and Pompey and Crassus each a party, but that the commonwealth had none." Alming only as the representative of the people, to stand by the rights of the commonwealth, may I not pertinently make the application to my own case?

Constrained, in occupying my position as the federal Executive, to abide in silence wrongs and encrochments of the most insidious as well as desporate charactor, or sometimes, when inexpable of arresting them, permitted only to employ futile protest; compelled, with only the privilege of remonstrance or the terrible alternative of counter-revolution, to resist revolutionary projects; obliged to stand in the attitude of a mere speciator, whilst the invaluable time of the nation has been wested in causeless assaults upon mysolf and office for the people, while witnessing the some, have not been able to make my cause thoroughly their own—the defense of the constitution and laws their own battle.

THE GREAT CAMP MEETING AT MANHEIM.—OnSen lay the ground on which the great Camp Meeting at Manheim is to be held was dedicated to its several uses, by appropriate religious exercises. There were probably four hundred tents in position and some two hundred men, women and children had arrived on Saturday, a large number being added on Sunday. Four or five large trame shed have been erected to be used as boarding houses, and three or four structures under or in which the visitors can partake of lunch; a couple of tents to be used as barber shops have been pitched; three wells, two of them supplied with pumps, hogsbeads, &c., have been dug, and indeed no convenience that could be desired has been neglected. The ratification meeting neid on saturday night, short as the notice was, turned out to be a large and enthusiastic gathering. It was a most marked contrast to the array of empty benches displayed in the Court House at the Grant ratification meeting, and empfy benches displayed in the Court House at the Grant ratification meeting, and showed plainly that the people are determined not to support the Radicals any longer.

The meeting was called to order at 84 o'cleck by Gec. Nauman, Esq., Chairman of the City Executive Committee, in a few perfinent remarks.

Wm. P. Brinton, Esq., was chosen President, who on taking the Chair thanked his fellow-citizens for the honor conferred, and announced the purpose of the meeting to be for the ratification of the nominees of the National Democratic Convention. He gave a sketch of each of the candidates in his address, congratulated his hearers upon the excellence of the ticket, and contrasted the nominations of Seymour and Blair with those of their opponents, Grant and Colfax—who were put in the field, with a challenge to "match 'em." In conclusion, he said, the returns in November would show decidedly that they had been overmatched.

The following Vice Presidents and Secretaries were then selected:

Geo. W. Wormley, West Donegal; R. R. Tshudy, Warwiok; James Peoples, city; William A. Morton, city; Lieut, John M. Aenweg, city; B. J. McGrann, Manheim. pumps, hogsheads, &c., have been dug, and indeed no convenience that could be desired has been neglected. Yosterday the regular order of religious exercises will begin, and the meeting will be kept up until Friday, the 24th inst. Many of those present come from a distance, the Methodists of New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvanis being largely represented, with others from more distant Stafes.

The grove in which the camp is located comprises oak, hickory and chestnut trees, and is one of the most beautiful that could be selected. The encampment is laid out in the form of an oval, the tents fronting on streets and avenues, the principle of the former being Front and Market, and of the latter Wesley, Asbury, Hedding, Abbott, Embury, Lybrand, Hamline, Fletcher and Pennsylvania. In the centre is located the stand and after from which religious exercises will be conducted, and seats sufficient in number to accommodate about three thousand persons. The entire space devoted to religious services is about 234 feet by 224.

Every facility will be provided for the transportation of visitors from the railroad to the grounds, vehicles having been taken to Manhelm from all the surrounding towns. At the camp an efficient police force will be stationed, having at its head Wm. Y. Lyon, Esq., of Reading, an officer of experience, who understands how to keep good order in a crowd.

The President then introduced to the meeting J. B. Ewing, Esq., of Harrisburg.

Mr. Ewing made an excellent speech, reviewing the misdeeds of the radical party, and setting out in strong terms the many encroachments which they had made upon the rights and liberties of the people. He exhibited the extravagance and corruption which had prevailed in all departments of the government, and reviewed the declaration in rogard to retrenchment of expenditures and payment of the national debt according to the express terms of the contract as defined in the Democratic platform. In his eulogy of the candidates he was elequent and his speech was frequently and loudly applauded by the large audience.

Wm. R. Wilson, Esq., was the next speaker, and he handled the Radicals without gloves, dealing them many home thrusts and showing clearly how greatly the Democracy have the advantage of their opponents in this pending Presidential campaign. His speech was strong, clear, forcible, and was well received by the audience.

H. G. Smith, Esq., followed in a brief speech, giving some account of the appearance of the Convontion, commenting upon the contrast it presented to the mongrel assemblage at Chicago, and sketching the main issues which are involved in the pending campaign.

The meeting was a complete success in all respects, and showed that the Democracy of Lancuster city are propared to enter NEW MAIL ARBANGEMENT.-Since the NEW MAIL ARRANGEMENT.—Since the lat of July inst, mail service has been performed on the Lancaster branch of the Roading and Columbis Rallroad, and the stage running between Lancaster and Reading has been discontinued. The officers supplied by rallroad are East Hompfield, Junotion, Manheim, Littz, Rothville, Millway, Akron, Ephrata, Stevens, Reamstown, Swartzville, Adamstown, Reinhold's Station, Reinholdsville, Cocalico, Lincoln, Schoeneck, Brunerville, Durlach, Brickerville, Sirking Springs and Reading, and the mail closes at the Lancaster P. The mail for Sporting Hill, Old Line, Mastersonville and Colebrook, also leaves the Lancaster Post Office on Monday, Wednesday and Saturitay, by the same route, at 7 o'clock A. M. As these mails are important to our citizens, they should make a note of these arrangements.

Donitists of Philadelphia, Lancastor, Lebnnon, Borks, Schuylkili, Dauphin and Cumherland countles, was held at Litiz Springs on Thuraday of last week. Dr. McCalla, on behalf of the Harris Dental Association of Lancastor, in a few pertinent remarks, oxtended a cordial wolcome to those composing the Convention, which was respondolt to by Dr. Guilford, President of Lebanon Valley Dental Association. After these proliminaries, the first business in order, was an essay by Dr. Brenizer, of Reading, which led to some remarks from Prof. Truman, of the l'onneylvania Collego of Dental Surgery, and followed by Dr. Darby of the same institution. The discussion was was most interesting, and participated in by nearly every one present. This was followed by a papor on the use of hard rubber in dental practice by Dr. Welchaus, which gave rise to quite an animated discussion, in which Prof. Truman took a prominent part.

The afternoon session was opened with a lecture by Prof. Truman. Subject—Materials for Filling Teeth—which was beautifully illustrated by diagrams and microscopic views, and followed by remarks from Drs. Welchaus, Derr. Neidlich, Smith, McCalla, Moore, Amer, Young and Prosident

By particular request Dr. Welchans read an essay on Professional Status.

The election of delegates to the American

B., Harry Cremer, Esq., of Hanover, Pa., Dr. Zerbe and William Lemman, Esq., of Lancaster city. Besides these, thirteen of the resident members were present, in all twonty-four. For an impromptu occasion we never witnessed a more pleasant one. Tonsts were proposed and responded to by the Graduate members. Rev. D. E. Klopp and T. Jefferson Davis, Esq., alluded in feeling terms to the honored dead of the order. The Zeta Chapter recently undertook and brought to a successful termination the publication of a fraternity paper, called the "Chi Phi Chakett." Besides containing articles bearing upon the Order itself, it is invaluable as a record of College Classes, Societies, and general information. cana Carattar from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.—The following communication from Revenue Commissioner E. A. Rollins, is important to the liquor trade.—It reverses the general impression that rectitiers of distilled spirits are not required to make monthly returns of sales of rectified spirits, unless it can be shown that the two dollar per gallon tax has been paid on distilled spirits before rectification. All sales of such rectified spirits must be included in monthly returns of sales. So, also, if the character of the original package is changed by affixing the name of the rectifier to the original package, or putting his trade mark thereon. Such rectified spirits are clearly liable to a tax of two dollars on each sale of $1,000 worth of spirits.

THEABURY DEPARTMENT,

OFFICE ON INTERNAL REVENUE,

WASHINGTON, June 1, 1893.

SIRI JOHN F. MODOVIII, ESQ., antorney at law, No. 221 South Fifth street, of your city, has inquired of ne whother a rectifier or wholesale dealer in liquors, who has taken out a license, and paid special tax as such, is obliged to pay a tax on sales? The answer to this question depends upon whether or not the products of rectification are specifically taxed otherwise than by the number of barrels rectified: but I do not regard this as a specific tax upon the articles manufactured or prepared for sale, specific tax here referring to a tax directly imposed upon the article, as upon all distilled spirits, "upon all cotton produced," oto.

But rectifiers rectify for the most part* paired, and the experiment made before long.

Our readers will bear in mind that this is the same Air ship of which a description was recently published in the INTELLIGENCER and Prof. John Wise, of this city, is one of its most active and indefatigable projectors. We have no doubt but that all that skill and selence can accomplish will be brought to bear to render this experiment a success. We are sorry for the accident which has occasioned a delay in this interesting trial, and trust that the efforts of those, who are engaged in this useful investigation, may yet be crowned with success.
