THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

How They Look at It in Ohio.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says the Democracy of the country have again grappled with the combined forces of the common enemy, and have failed to accomplish all that was desired. Having done well, all that was desired. The Republicans, as they still call themsolves, owe their success to offer and no time to express unavailing regrets. The Republicans, as they still call themsolves, owe their success to unconstitutional encatements and flagrant frauds; and, in their maudlin exultations, are plagued with a consciousness of the indelible disgrace which they have so unceremonitously, brought upon themselves by the linexcussable means and methods adopted by their leaders to secure another four years' lease of powers and another opportunity to plunge their arms, up to their shoulders, into the algrandy nearly exhausted resources of the mation. Such a triumph, at the cost of what little remained of the former respectability of that organization, will, like the apples of Sodom, turn to ashes and bitterness on the lips of those who have aided to secure it while the Democrats, having contended manfully and honorably for the deliverance of our country from the evils of misrule, extravagance, and autriant, can, with a laudable pride, and with no less self-respect, complacently contemplate the existing state of affairs and the duties and respect to a fair and the duties and respect to the care. astrangance, and usurpation, can, with a laudable pride, and with no less self-respect, complacently contemplate the existing state of affairs and the duties and responsibilities of the present and immediate future. Our regrets are greatly modified by a realization of the fact, that as we have, in the midst of great discouragements, left no duty unperformed, so in the future well assuredly win a triumph which shall be halled as the harbinger of better and huppler days. Nor can we forged that we have already gained much. The great Stateof New York, nearly equal in weatth and population to the whole of New Enghand, has been gloriously redeemed from the blighted curse of Radicalism—a great change has been wrought in the elements of which the next congress is to be composed—a majority of the reconstructed States, have, despite the efforts of the revolutionists to render then subservient to their purposes, promptly desired.

efforts of the revolutionists to render them subservient to their purposes, promptly de clared themselves Democratic—and the election of Grant and Colfax is, even by the leading Republican presses, pronounced no victory of that party, and no justification of its ideas or policy. What, then, under all the circumstances of the case, is the duty of the Democraty of the country? It is, undeniably, the imperative duty of all Democrats, and of all conservative men, throughout the length and breadth of the land, to adhere to and perfect their afready powerful organization, and thus prepare themselves for eyery contest and every emergency of the future. Let it be known and felt that we have not retreated an inch or lost a hair's breadth of ground, but, on the contrary, have gained many and great advantages. Let those who, as prompted by their fearly state of the hopes, counsel an abandonment of our time-honored name, or a softening down of our rugged principles, or a tame decrease in the aperickina and based on them to the cruelties of a tyrant who never knew what justice or mercy was, exceeds all belief.—

Successful Reconstruction.

If there be degrees in infarny the operation of reconstruction in Florida has pre-eminence. A majority for convention was procured by provon fraud. Pope ordered the body to meet by educt dated the day he ceased to have power to issue edicts; the convention and but three Floridians out of the forty-six delegates, and spik forthwith into two factions; each framed a constitution. Mead first took one side and then the other, and finally lugged in five fellows who had never been elected, and by their aid, and outrol.
Of course the fire soon gathered a large crowd to the spot, and the highest excitement reigned—in excitement, too, very materially augmented by the escape of several of the animals from the cages duing the hurried confusion of rescuing them from the rapidly approaching flames. Before the fire reached the building in which were most of the cases to the firement and citizens was seen making her way out of the build ing. She had escaped from the cage in which she was contined, and, bristling with fright, rushe i towards the street—rapidly, to be sure—but yet with much uncertainty. As soon asshe was observed a shout arose— A tiger! a tiger!" and men, women and children, dismayed at the thought of en-countering the formidable beast, ran pell mell in every direction, in search of pla-ces of safety. The women shricked, the children cried and the men yelied. The very noise lent speed to flying legs, and Hamilton, the present carpet-bag representative, who will be remembered as the fellow who moved a fresh impeachment of the President ere he was warm in his seat. Of this Saunders we find mention in an official document that he was kicked out of the pretended convention as not being eligible to citizenship in Florida; and it is manifest that when carpet-baggers pass such a judgment as that, the case must be a very bad one indeed. However, he is out for Congress, and fresh hubbuls we shall have, no doubt, in this great election case of Congo vs. Carpet-bagger.—N. Y. World.

The Elections in England—Liberal Triumph.

We are not yet in possession of full details of the results of the elections in England. It is now, however, no longer doubtful that the success of the liberals will be complete. In the new House of Commons they will have a sweeping majority and they will be united as one man. The Times claims a liberal majority of 120. The Herald Says that the result of the elections on Tuesday proves that the gains of the conservative parly more than counterbalance their losses, and that the govornment is less in a minority than before. Among the defeated candidates is "Bull Run Russell" for Chelsea. Among the victorious is Lord Stanley, for King's Lyun. The rejection of John Stuart Mill. Anthony Trollope and John Arthur Roebuck may rob the coming Parliament of much of its philosophy, its imaginative powers and its highly spiced eloquence; but Parliament can survive the loss. When Parliament meets there will be no longer any doubt as to which of the two great parties shall rule England. Mr. Disraell has appealed to the country. The country has responded, and the menning of the response is not to be doubted. Mr. Glanstone's policy, and not Mr. Disraell's is the approved policy of the country. It will now be seen what Mr. Disraell will do. All the world knows that he is tenacious of place and power. If he resigns and thus bows to the will of the people as expressed at the polls, it will be, well. In such a cree he will retire with a cortain amount of honor. will of the people as expressed at the polls, it will be, well. In such a crese he will retire with a certain amount of honor. If he does not resign the liberals have no choice but to raise the question of confidence and take the vote. That the vote will be against him and that he will then resign there can scarcely be a doubt. It is a certainty that Mr. Gludstone will be called upon by her Majesty to take the seals of office and to form a Ministry. A recess will be the immediate result. It may take Mr. Gladstone a few days to got his Cabinet properly arranged, Parliament may meet, but it can do no real work before the Christmas holidays. It will thus be necessary for us to await till after the New Year—probably till late in January or early in February—before we can hear of the new Parliament being fairly at work. It will be a lively spingtime in the House of Commons.—N. Y. Herald.
