

Lancaster Intelligencer.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1869.

With this issue the WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER enters upon its Seventh Volume. That is a highly respectable age for a newspaper, and very few of us live so long. The INTELLIGENCER was established at the time when the elder Adams, the rights of the citizen were imperiled by the passage of the Fugitive and Sedition Acts, and other tyrannical and unconstitutional laws.

It has been greatly enlarged twice within the past five years, and the proprietors have spared no pains to make it as valuable as it is. It is universally admitted to be a first-class family newspaper. Its circulation has greatly increased during the past few years, and it is rapidly added to. Thanking their readers for their generous patronage, the proprietors beg leave to assure them that no effort will be left unattempted to make the INTELLIGENCER superior to any which has preceded it.

The Government's Message. We lay before our readers to-day the Annual Message of Governor D. It calls for but little comment. The Governor gives a statement of the finances of the State, and of the condition of the schools for soldiers' orphans, and the agricultural college; makes a brief allusion to the military of the State, and to the progress of the war, and the adoption of a Regiment of Cavalry, and then proceeds to admit that the law passed by the last Legislature was unconstitutional, which is a concession hardly to be made by a Governor.

While we pass the compliments of the message, and wish all a happy New Year, we do not propose to discuss it. It is not strange, however, that he should have failed to perceive that the message was a compromise between the two parties. It is a man of exceedingly limited capacity, and so completely the slave of the party that he has always been ready to do anything to please the party. He concludes with a list of weak and puny resolutions, in which he professes to be in sympathy with the Union, but which mean anything or nothing, as you please to take them. The document is a weak production, just such as we might expect from the man who writes it.

Meeting of the Legislature. The Radical members assembled in caucus on Saturday morning, and elected John Clark, of Philadelphia, as their candidate for Speaker of the House, and he was elected. He is said to be well fitted for the position. It is to be hoped that he will be able to frame a bill, and to put some check upon the corruption and bribery which has disgraced our Legislature for a number of years. This will depend upon his action in this regard.

A Negro in the Jury Box. The Radical has a large majority in the East. East, and they seem to be in the majority in the West. They are in the majority in the West, and they are in the majority in the West. They are in the majority in the West, and they are in the majority in the West. They are in the majority in the West, and they are in the majority in the West.

The Indian Massacre. The Agent of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Tribes has written a letter to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, in which he says that many members of the Union Army have been killed in Georgia, and that the tribes which have been transferred to the Indian Bureau to the killing of the Indian by the Union Army.

Another Swindling Dodge. The New York Standard has invented a new method of doing business, the motto of which is "No money down." It is a swindling dodge, and it is a swindling dodge. It is a swindling dodge, and it is a swindling dodge. It is a swindling dodge, and it is a swindling dodge.

Infantile. The crime of infanticide is becoming daily common, and it is very rarely punished. One in a while the misnomer of the law punishes down a wife-killer, but the crime of infanticide is becoming daily common, and it is very rarely punished.

Another Increase of the Public Debt. The forthcoming statement of the public debt will show another increase of the Public Debt for December. This will run the increase for the year 1868 up to nearly forty millions. What a blessing Radical rule has proved to the country.

The Old Year and the New.

The year of 1868 passes away like clouds in the sky, and is numbered in a grade of years covered by a mantle of snow. The past twelve months have been full of important events. In this country the people have been leaping with a patient experience, that there is a difference between the right and the wrong, and the natural flow of business untrammelled by the monthly expenditure of money to the government. Trade has begun to languish, because it has been contracted to the limits set by the needs of the nation in time of peace. We have been coming down from a high level of expenditure, and we have reached with a bound during the early days of the gigantic struggle through which we have passed. The unparalleled expansion of the currency has done more to depress the market than any other cause. The money market is a stagnant pool, and the business of the country is a stagnant pool.

Let them labor at their (thankless) work; as they delight in it, let them forget that the war is over. For ourselves, we are glad to believe that peace will be restored to the South, and that our people will be freed from the misfortunes which the war has entailed upon them; and our earnest hope for their speedy recovery from the ravages of the war.

What You Think. The Board of Excise in New York have just completed a chemical analysis of the various kinds of liquors sold in the various parts of the city. The exhibit made by the Board of Excise is a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen. It is a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen. It is a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen.

Negro Integers in the South. The negro integers in the South are a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen. They are a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen. They are a most reckless disregard of the rights of the citizen.

Murders in Philadelphia. In 1857 there were twenty-eight murders committed in Philadelphia. In 1858 there were twenty-eight murders committed in Philadelphia. In 1859 there were twenty-eight murders committed in Philadelphia.

Another Swindling Dodge. The New York Standard has invented a new method of doing business, the motto of which is "No money down." It is a swindling dodge, and it is a swindling dodge. It is a swindling dodge, and it is a swindling dodge.

Infantile. The crime of infanticide is becoming daily common, and it is very rarely punished. One in a while the misnomer of the law punishes down a wife-killer, but the crime of infanticide is becoming daily common, and it is very rarely punished.
