on the part of the Judge, Mr. Wilson, but that he acted conscientiously in the matter; the refusal of the vote by him was, under the circumstances of the case his duty, he honestly believing that the vote was illegal. That in thus conscientiously discharging his duty—even if he was wrong in his judgment—he was not to be punished for a judicial error made in the honest discharge of his duty.

The prosecution on the contrary argued that if a judge of an election knowingly rejects the vote of a legal voter—the law implies malice and the judge is responsible to the law for a violation of duty.

Judge Hayes, in charging the jury after recapitulating the facts of the case, stated that if an election officer even conscientiously and according to his own best judgment should refuse a legal vote, which he, the election officer, believed to be illegal, that he was indictable therefore and rendered himself liable to a prosecution by the person whose vote was so rejected, and that the words wilful and malicious do not appear in the law on this account, but simply the phrase, "knowingly reject;" that the high character of an election officer for probity and honesty of purpose could—not be considered under the law as it stands, but that such persons, however conscientious their motives may be, must suffer for an error of Tabular statements sustaining the foregoing conclusions are hereto appended and made part of this Report.

We regret to report the death of two of the officers of the Prison during the year: Dr. Jno. F. Huber, Physician to the Prison, and Henry M. Musser, a member of the Board of Inspectors. ors.

Dr. Huber was a faithful and energetic officer, bringing to the discharge of his duties the varied experience gained in the practice of his profession not only at home but in the army during the rebellion.

Mr. Mosser by his urbanity of manner and the constant interest felt in everything which promoted the welfare of the Prison, was well qualified for the position made vacant by his untimely death.
