The Murder at Succasunna Plains....A Madman Kills His Pursuer.

The Minder at Successions Plains--A Maman Hills His Parsuer. The fullparticulars of the murder of Wm. Buck, at Successions who were concerned in the capture of the lunatic, John Bruen, who committed the deed. It appears that Bruen had for several years been periodi-cally insane during the Summer season, and that at these times his conduct has been uncontrollably violent. On Friday last he left his home in Madison, while suffring from, one of his attacks of insanity, and took passage by the mail train on the Morris and tessor Railroad to Hackettstown. The con-ductor of the train, before it arrived at Madison, discovered that Bruen had neither money or ticket, and put him off the train at the Morristown depot. Bruen rushed frantically through the depot, and, as if determined to have a ride in some sort of conveyance, jumped into the mail wagon which was standing mail bags. He then started to drive away gain, but the crowd who surrounded the Post-Office door, seeing that he was not the regular carrier, and noticing his excited conduct, attempted to arrest him. After a determined struggie he escaped from them, and ran out on the road leading to Succas-unna Plains. Toward evening, Mr. Robert Shaw, the Station Agent of the Chester Railroad at Succasuma Plains, was driving toward the station, accompanied by his wrife, on his return from Morristown, when he was suddenly overtaken by young Bruen. The lunatic came stailtily up behind the wagon, and leaping into the box, attempted to glimb over the top, which was thorwn back. Mr. Shaw urged on his horae at a desperate rate of speed to escape the determined at the store the top, which was thorwn back. Mr. Shaw urged on his horae at a desperate rate of speed to escape the determined transpired the maman, and endeavored to throw his assailant out. He struck Bruen several blows with the burt of his heavy whip, but the latter per-sisted in his eiforts to olotin a place in front. The wagon top finally gave way, and the lunati fenders and bring them to justice according to law. "Ho then called the chiefs of the Pawnees together, stated the case to them, and told them that if an Indian was wronged he would do all in his power to obtain justlee, and now that the white man had been kill-ed, he was obliged to do the same, and that he had been instructed to withhold any more supplies from their tribe until they should give up the men who committed the murder. They made speeches, and in justification sold that their men had been killed and no notice taken of it, but Sam-uel assured them that it should not be so whits he was Superintendent. To his great satisfication, they notified him by a meswhils he was Superintendent. To his great satisfaction, they notified him by a mes-senger, the next day, that there were eight men implicated and they were prepared to give them up. The officers were sent up and the men brought down and lodged in jail. They had their hearing yesterday, and were remanded for trial at next court. "Immediately after they were given up Samuel had their cods, unnounting to some sisted in his entories to obtain a place in front. The wagon-top finally gave way, and the lunatic fell to the ground. Arrived at the village in which he resides Shaw stopped at a hotel, and was relating the circumstances of his strange adventure on the mountain when young Biznen entered. Shaw had no idea that Bruen was insame, and onened a disoute with bim. Hard and opened a dispute with him. Har words passed between them. Bruen staye for some time, manifesting no intenton o leaving. Mr. Shaw after awhile quietly ieft the hotel and repaired to the residence of a Justice of the Peace. A few moments con-sultation with him resulted in the issuing of a warrant for the arrest of Bruen. The constable, to whom the warrant thus issued had been given, immediately went in search of the lunatic, and at about 9,30 P. M., came in contact with him. An effort was madto arrest him, but Bruen resisted with such strength and vigor that he for some time bailled the united exertions of the half dozen mon who contended against him. A long and desperate struggle, however, re-suited in his fail. His captors now made an effort to the his hands. While prepara-tions were in progress, he succeeded in wresting himself from the grasp of those who held him down, and sprang to his fect. Almost simultaneously with his rise from his pocket, and threatened to stab the first man who should again attempt to put hands upon him. The fleree firmness which his words and manner be-spoke intimidated his captors, and no dozen men who contended against him. A spoke intimidated his captors, and no second attempt was made to take thim into custody. When Bruen seemed to have satisfied himself that his threat had accomplished its intended intimidation, he turned on his heel and walked deliberately away. on his heel and walked deliberately away. He had not proceeded many steps before William Buck stepped out upon the road, and, with the evident intention of assisting in his arcest, walked rapidly toward the retreating man. When he had gotalmost up with him, Bruce turned auddenly about and buried the long blade of his jack-knife into the breast of his pursuer. The stabbed man retreated a few paces, crying, "Ho has stabbed me," and fell. These who had at tempted unsuccessfully to arrest Bruen, lift-od his prostrate victim from the ground and carried him into this futher's house. "Immediately after they were given up Samuel had their goods, uncounting to some thirteen hundred dollars worth, distributed among them. The goods were received from Washington, packed in boxes, and the custom of the superintendents, hereto-fore, had been to unpack the boxes here and replace their contents with an inferior article and sell the original goods for twice the amount required to replace them, and pocket the balance. Samuel took the goods unopened to the reservations, called the chiefs together and opened them in their presence, and had them distributed just as they were received. It gave the Indians valive Republicans of the South a means of more nearly adjusting again the balance of power between the sections. Judge Dent further declares that with the advancement of knowledge among the freedmen they will see more clearly that their interests, socially and politically, are i inseparably indentified with those of the white resident population of the South: that a reciprocity of interests must sconer or later make the two races a unit in all that periadins to the wolfare of the one or the prosperity of the other; that the great agri-cultural and commercial interests and de-velopments, are yet to constitute no small share of political topics of the future among all classes.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribunc communicates the follow-ing : Some time ago a friend introduced me to Frederick Stone, of Port Tobacco (Indian, Potopaca) on the Lower Potomac, who was counsel to Dr. Mudd, the surgeon of John Wilkes Booth. Stone is now member of Congress from the Fifth District of Mary-land, and is a modest, semi-literary lawyer. He went in his professional capacity to see Payne or Powell, the attempted assassin of Wm. H. Seward, and returned to my intro-ducer with this statement: "That fellow is the most extraordinary and irredeemablo ruffin in Ohristendom.---He is built like a gigantic savage, has no

A Drove of Canary Birds. A New York paper, speaking about the importation of canary birds from Germany, asys the following sight was seen in Flor-ence, Italy, in 1861, by s lady and gontle-man belonging to New York: In walking in the principal street they overtook a man with a long whip in his hand, which he was moving from one side to the other in what they thonght was a strange manner. When they came up with him they found he was driving a flock of canary birds, as in England they drive a flock of turkeys. A carriage came along, the man waved his whip in a peculiar man-ner, when the little birds all went to the sidewalk untilthe carriage had passed, when they took to the street again. A woman wanted to buy one, when the man sprinkled some canary seed at his feet and half a dozen of them came to him, when he took oae up in his hand and delivered it to the woman, who paid him one franc for it. The man then went on again. A Noble Declargation from Grant. A Noble Declaration from Grant. It is hinted by the Jenkinses of the New York press, that Mrs. Grant is in a delicate situation and is likely, at an early day, to present Ulysses and a grateful nation with an addition to the swarm of Grants who now infest the Capital, and arowd its places of plunder and profit. None of the thought-ful preparations, oustomary in view of such events in the vulgar walks of common life, have been made for the reception of the royal babe. Indeed, a gilded crib, tender-ed by a loyal worker in wood who is an applicant for a messengership in the Trea-sury, was sternly refused by the President with the remark that "the public crib was good enough for the elder branches of the family, and that the coming youngster must rough it along with its kindred."— This incident is noticeable, not only by reason of the Spartan severity of the Presi-dent's reply, but also as being the only co-casion on which that distinguished man was ever known to refuse a present of any description.

Death of an Editor.

Albert R. Speer, editor of the New Bruns-wick (N. J.) Times, died on Sunday. Mr. Speer was editor of the Times for over twenty years, and at his death, with one single acception, was the oldest editor in the State. He commenced the active duties of life as a minister of the Methodist Church, which he abandoned after a few years for the position of editor. He was a man of considerable ability as a public speaker and party manager, and as suc invaluable to the Democratic party, wit which he held a life-long connection.

Carr made an attack on an Indian village near made an attack on an Indian village near Platte Valley Station. Two white women were seen by the soldiers in possession of the Indians struggling as if to make their way to the ranks of Gen. Carr's command. An order was given to "charge" and rescue the women, which was obeyed with a will by the brave men, but before they could gain possession of the women, a savage sunk his tomahawk into the head of one of the women, whose only known name is Susana, who felto the earth. Another red dovil fired a revolver at Mrs. Weigel but sunk his tomahawk into the head of one of the women, whose only known name is Susana, who fell to the earth. outfit with the exception of these who fell early in the light. Mrs, Weigel stated to an officer that she had been a prisoner among the Indians since the summer of 1867. For a year she had been the forced mistress of a Crow Foot chief numed "Buffalo Mm," who tired of her after a year and a half, and disposed of her to another chief, named "Tall Tree," the consideration being a couple of pontes. She has become very coarse of feature, caused by exposure. Her joy at being res-cued was very great, but the secons, after all, discontentented, and at times tired of all, discontentonicd, and at times tired of life. At the time of first capture, she was tied hand and foot snd forced to pander to the hellish desires of her captor. Reported Murderous Assault on a Young Lady. From the Wilmington (Del.) Rep. July 191a. Some of our readers may be familiar with a blane collect Woodland (Dermin with in

Some of our readers may be familiar with a place called Woodland Terrace-which is a rural village on this side of the river Schuylkill, and forms a part of what is called West Philadelphin. It embraces a number of beautiful residences, occupied by wealthy business men of the city.— Among the number is N. B. Browne, who was Postmaster of Philadelphin, we believe under the Administration of James Inch-anna, and one Samuei Harrison. These two contlemen occuping adjoining monanan, and one Samuel Harrison. These two gontlemen occupying adjoining prop-erties; the first has a son grown to man-hood, while the latter has a daughter, beau tiful and fair to look upon, Young Browne became enamored with his beautiful neigh-bor, and for the last two years had 15st no opportunity, or spared no effort in his en-deavor to win her affections, but without success. On Monday of last week a pie-nic was given by the Colored Orphan Asy-lum, neur Pascalvillo. About 5 o'clock in the evening, Miss Harrison, in company with a lady friend, concluded to visit the pic-nic, and see what was going on. Before pic-nic, and see what was going on. Before reaching the place, they were met by young Browne coming away, but after a few mo-Browne coming away, but after a few moi-ment's conversation, he concluded to re-turn with them. While on their way, young Browne convorsed with Miss Harrison in a low tone of voice, which induced her lady friend so step some distance aside. She had scarcely done so when she heard a scream from Miss Harrion, and upon turning around saw her lying on the ground, with Browne lenuing over her with a large bowie knife in his hand, cutting and thrusting the blade into her body. It appears that hefirst knocked his intended victim down, then drew his knife and cut a torrible gash he first knocked his intended victim down, then drew his knife and cut a torrible gash in her throat, another in her facs, and stab-bed her twice in the breast. After that he dropped the knife and ran, and since which time has not been heard of, and is supposed by some to have drowned himself. Miss Harrison is lying in a very critical condi-tion, but may possibly recover. Both fam-lies are wealtby, have been on the most in-timate terms, and great exertions have been made to keep the affair quiet.

To reject the account, if presented at the proper department, would be, in the last V degree, offensive to those who had as-cepted the invitation in the full faith that there was nothing improper in doing so. Mr. Buchanan dealt with the sub-ject in the only way which was recondi-lable, at once, with delloacy to them, and T justice to the public. He directed that the bills should not be presented to the ac-counting officers, but sent to himself to be paid out of his own private pecket. Mr. Cobb, hearing indirectly of the President's intentions, anticipated him by getting the bill before it reached the President, and paying it himself. Dyspepsia and constipation are the hourly foes of the restless, excitable American, and with them come inecorable headache, heart-burn, and a train of small diseases. Marshall's

Elixir has been prepared with special refer-ence to these constitutional troubles of so many of our countrymen, and so far the pre-paration has proved a decided success. The proprietors feel that, in recommending it now after the tried experience of years, they are but fulfilling a humane duty towards the gen eral community -Forney's Press.
