The fact is, the food was too rich or too much successful agreement in the sale or use of areas and any own of the sate of the saving in the save that the save t their early growth, but as they advance to flowering and podding, this is not required, because there is much wheat and oats grown with this, which gets intermixed on passing through the chaff machine.—J. Mechi.

There is one way for the teachers to attempt this, which it certainly would be of value to the public to have them try. Lectures should be delivered by scientific men of acknowledged authority and eminence, describing with absolute correctness and in popular language the effect of spirthous liquors upon the human system. The action of the various kinds of liquors and wines should be explained; and diagrams, pictures, and every other available means should be used to set forth in the clearest manner the precise results which follow the A correspondent in the Canada Tarmer, writing on the subject of wheat growing, offers the following:—'An important operation in the process of wheat sowing is too often neglected—I allude to the picking of seed. First, i points out to us the bad grains which manner the precise results which follow the use of alchoholic drinks. Let such public points out to us the oud grains which may thus be removed, reducing the percentage of lost seed; and secondly, it strikes the root of smut and other fungl; for it is these very imperfectly formed grains that are chiefly attacked lectures as these be given free in all our large cities and towns, and the temperance It strikes the root of smut and other fungi; for it is these very imperfectly formed grains that are chiefly attacked by these parasites. Now smut is found in the imperfect grains, and in such small quantities (as botanists tell us) that it is absorbed in the root of the young plant, bursting out a short time after the earing, throws upon it fungi, in the dark, rusty form with which we are but too familiar. If we simply steep our wheat in water, the we simply steep our wheat in water, the light grains which, though too light to be blown out by the fauning mill, are imperfect, will rise to the surface, and may be removed. If to this water we add lime, we shall kill all traces of ing knowledge of the killing nature of al cohol in its effects upon the human body We are confident, at all events, that the We are confident, at all events, that the temperance movement can never succeed unless by the aid of science. The battle of temperance should be fought out on scientific ground, without politics or prohibitory legislation as the ally of either side.—N. Abortion in Cows.

A writer in the Western Farmer advances the theory that this difficulty, which is becoming a formidable one with dairymen in many sections, is owing to a want of phosphates in the food and water consumed by the animal. The avidity with which laying hens eat egg shells and fragments of bones, while at other times they do not eat them, and roosters never, and the fact that during gestation cows ent bones and boards, are cited in confirmation of the correctness of this theory. It is also said that this information is being sold at a high pricasa receipt for a cure of abortion, and that Mr. Lyman B. Sanford, of Cherry large foreseen the failures of the faminist trains. This announcement of the Chief Presidents would have done could they have foreseen the failures of their daministrations. This announcement of the Chief Presidents would have done could they have foreseen the failures of the faministrations. This announcement of the Chief Presidents would have done could they have foreseen the failures of the faministration. Presidents would have done could they inve foreseen the failures of their administrations. This announcement of the Chief Justice, however, by no means throws him out of the list of possible candidates, but may on the contrary, incline many people to look at him more favorably than before as a man highly suitable for President.—The office may seek him all the more because he does not seek the office. His character for mederation and fairness, which have been conspicuous in certain recent events, and, most remarkable of all, in his lofty and impartial bearing during the Johnson impeachment case, has won for him hosts of friends among those with whom he has never held political relatious. In a crisis he might prove the very man to be trusted.—New York Journal of Conmerce. that Mr. Lyman B. Sanford, of Cherry Flats, N. Y., had used it with perfect success. For several years his cows had been in the habit of calving premature ly; one year fourteen out of thirty-five, miscarried between the months of Jan-uary and Marcn. Another gentleman d gathered bones and pounded them put as much bone dust as salt

How much better is your farm than twas one year ago? How much lovlier it was one year ago? How much lovlier have you made your home by the planting of trees and shrubs? How much better is your stock of horses, sheep and cattle? How much of error have you discovered in your mode of treatment of the different crops you have grown? How much have you learned from your neighbors, from your agricultural paper, from your experience in relation to your farm operations? How much have you learned daughter in their household dates of your treatment, them with improved household datash, and the better location and arrangement of wells, custering, walks, wood piles, cellars and dairy rooms? How much of kindness and charity have you shown towards the needy and the helpless? of wells, claterins, walks, wood piles, cellars and dairy rooms? How much of kindness and charity have you shown towards the needy and the helpless? How much better husband, father and brother are you than you were one year and? Now is the tippe to redect upon bouned to the negroes, we prefer them to all other persons as domestics and laborers, and considering them in the light of a trust from Providence on our hands, we should regret to see them abandoned. But they must do their duty and become good and industrious members of the community, or else their doom will be fixed. They have this matter pretty much in their own hands, and we hope they will decide it wisely." ago? Now is the time to reflect upon all these things.

A correspondent of the Rural World finds an ordinary hot-bed a capital place for drying fruit. A floor is laid inside on which to place the fruit. Then put on which to place the fruit. Then put on the sash, but be sure to raise both the upper and lowerends about two inches, to admit of a free circulation of air, or the fruit will bake as it would in an even. Here the fruit will not be wet in a shower, nor will it be troubled with insects, which will be kept hawy by the covering and the intense heat. Parboiled green corn has been sufficiently dried in one day in this way.

Warner Yerkes) aged seventeen years, son of Isaac Yerkes, residing near Freeland, Montgomery county, died of hydrophiobia a few days ago. He was bitten by a dog some five weeks ago supposed to be rabid, though doubts of this fact were entering through and young Yerkes resorted to no remedial measures, as had been does.
