reasonable certainty of its passing—and perhaps I might add that I have also been here long enough not to be very much astonished at anything. I suppose it is foreordained that this is to pass, and anything that might be said to the contrary will not avail. Fortunately we have one little restraint left—the yeas and nays—and I now call them on this question."

In She Married?

Miss Delia W. Moore, who was formerly a teacher in Ward School No. 7, vesterday brought a suit against John S. Bonnell, in the Superior Court, for defaming here character, and asking $10,000 damages. See charges that, in January, 1868, Bonnell, or circulated a report that he was married to her, and that they had lived together—When apprised of this Miss Moore at one sent for Bonnell, who declared that he was sorry for what he had said, and voluntarily made an affidavit before a notary that he was sorry for what he had said, and voluntarily made an affidavit before a notary that he was not married to her, and that his previous remarks were untrue. She then for gave him, and let the matter drop. Soon after the slander, as Miss Moore actions was worth $700 or $800 a year.

Mr. Proor Littlejoln, a brother-in-law of Miss Moore, corroborates the above statement, and says that he was one of the persons to whom Bonnell boasted of his intimety with Miss Moore.

The defendant, on the other hand, admitt that he made the assertion as charged, but the lates that he was one of the persons to whom Bonnell boasted of his intimety and the same to the care of the chematic of the principal of the scale of the care of the principal of the scale of the scale of the covernor's use—$25,000 of the same to be for the employment of Detectives to prepare the stander of the handler of glittering metal. MARRIAGES. THE LECTURE OF WENDELL PHILLIPS.—
The lecture of Wendell Phillips at the Court House on Saturday night was attended by a fair and appreciative audience, in spite of the extremely disagreeable weather. The speaker prefaced his lecture by some remarks upon the Lyceum, in which he took occasion to indulge in a train of that peculiar style of thought for which he is distinguished. What he said by way of introduction was so perfectly characteristic that it led very many to wish that he had taken up some political topic instead of the one which made the subject of the discourse which followed. On the subject of "The Lost Arts" the lecturer said little that was new, but the curious information which he had gathered was so charmingly grouped and presented as to afford great pleasure to all who heard him. Mr. Phillips begins to bear the marks of ago, but is evidently still vigorous in mind and body, and we may expect to hear from him through the press and on the platform for years to come.
