

Hints to Farmers. Local Intelligence.

Securing Milk Vessels. It used to be the practice to seal milk pails and milk cans, and it is the practice yet.

What is the defect? Simply the detection of little spots of dirt, which, when they propagate rapidly in dirt, and in the least dirt, will taint the milk.

How necessary, then, to see that the hands having the milk in charge, are to be trusted. This is as necessary as anything, and is the first necessity in the management of the dairy.

You cannot secure, you must therefore resort to other means—and these means are not a confined to the use of milk cans, especially foul with vegetable odors; not the aroma of the stables; nor the case of a cheese factory, the proximity to a pig pen; but an avoidance of the odors of these things will be certainly affect the milk as it dries in the pan.

An absolute freedom from everything that is offensive to odor of flavor, is the requisite to insure the purity and wholesomeness of the milk.

Butter kept in the room over night with the family (in winter) is not fit for use. It is not fit for use, because it has become rancid. The taste of the butter is changed, and it is no longer the butter you put in the pan.

Advise us to Horses. In teaching a young horse to drive well, do not hurry. He will learn to do it. Keep your eye clear and direct from the driver; that is, in walking him, his eye should be directed to the driver.

What is the best age to take the calf from the cow? You feed it M. C. A. Adams, Michigan—Answer—It is generally thought best to take the calf at the age of twenty-four hours, and fatten it with about six feet of rope in a box stall, thoroughly clean, and remove the calf just as far from the calf as you can.

Renovating Old Current Bushes. Old current bushes are among the most unprofitable things with which one has to deal. They are full of insects and have a taste that is unpalatable.

Pure Water for Cows. In the report of the Northwestern Dairyman's Association, published in the Western Farmer, we have the following: "Mr. H. H. Hoff, of Kenosha, read a paper showing the importance of pure water to secure the health of the cow and the purity of milk."

Anna Dickson on Polynomy. Polynomy, the gentle Anna regards as a great trouble. She writes to the editor: "I have been troubled with polynomy for some time, and it is very annoying."
