COLLIDAY'S IMPROVED STOVE GRATE.

The above cut shows the form and construction of the grate. The invention consists of the implayment in a grate having a vertical from and horizontal base esuch as is used in all cooking stoves of the present day of a skiding bottom, which may be easily inserted or with drawn, so that when the bottom is burned on so as to become useless, the same may be replaced by a new one. Besides, it offers a grace convenience in the usually disagreeble matter and the properties of the usually disagreeble matter. SINTY-FIVE FIRST PRIZE MEDALS
