Mints to Farmers.

Mints to farmers.
Destroying Sorrel.
Among the best methods to rid in the scale in inter star destroyer of this weed. Many have no belief in the netual existence of sour soils, for sorrel will grow in common garden soil in the midst of other plants, which renders the pre-sumption almost positive, that it is not the absence of lime which permits its growth. But these nice points and chemical discussions we farmers should leave for chemists to decide, and depend upon thorough cultivation for the de-struction of this pest, the same as we do for other noxious weeds and plants.— The best plan we know to kill sorrel, is to stir the ground, harrow the roots, and expose them on the surface in hot dry weather in midsummer; and if farmerry will try this experiment, and put lime on the land when it is needed to raise cereal cops, they will Jearn that sorrel. Stud. of a little discussion has been in duged in by writers in the various ag frientitural journals respecting the proper time to dig, and the proper way to care for potatoes are dead, if this occurs the potatoes are dead, if this occurs potato is ripe, if allowed to remain in wet carth its quality is harmed. If the out and in the limit expense the most for potatoes are dead, if this occurs the of the supartice is the potatoes are dead, if this occurs the of the supartice is the potatoes are dead. As to subsequent care, the mode adopt-ed by the best growers is to put them diately in a cool, dry cellar, in bins # o-TMUS PARAGRAPH ALONE raised about six inches from the ground, and not over three or four feet wide, with shal-bottom and sides, so that the air can circulate freely through the mass. In this way, unless they are poisoned **·SAVB before putting in the cellar, potatoes can be kept from August to April.

Speaking of the Early Rose, a corres-pondent has recently dug several hun-dred hushels which yielded enormously, which he proposes to keep till next May before marketing. Later varieties on the same farm will

The crop of late potatoes all over the Eastern States will be in most cases a complete failure, and in his opinion the crop will be unprecedentedly high all overthe country when the coming spring Opens opens.

Do Bees Gather or Make Honey? I am decidedly of the opinion that they gather it and deposit it in the hive, without any modification whatever.— There are few things we can say we know are not so; but it seems to me to be too late in the day for any one to maintain that honey is manufactured by the bees. As for their making honey from melasses. I will not say I know ne THE REASONS ARE: from molasses, I will not say I knowthey never will, but I do know I never ould induce them to use a particle of it.

contributive truem to use a particle of  $n_i$ with it. The foundation for the belief that they ever use it, probably lies in the fact that the beest will gather the sugar settled in the bottom of molasses easks, but observation will show that it is only the sugar.

Likewise, I have satisfied myself that bees seldom visit more than one kind of blossom during one excursion; have known exceptions. There is no evi-dence, however, that, as is maintained by some, they are particular about stor-ing each kind of honey by itself in the hive. One may discover cells of elover home, discolared by hurk wheat which honey, discolored by buckwheat, which s neither pure clover or buck wheat.

Unfermented Manure.

Many excellent farmers have an idea that manure to be most efficient in rais ing crops should be well rotted; but this is a mistake. Manure loses a very this is a mistake. Manure loses a very heavy percentage. Fresh manure, drip-ping with animal urine, hauled directly from the stable on the land and plough-ed under, is worth nearly double that which has decomposed to saponaceous consistency. When it is convenient for consistency. When it is convenient for farmers to haul manure on corn ground farmers to haid manure on corn ground from the stable as fast as it is made, it saves handling it twice, and forwards the work in busy spring time. No feats-meed be entertained that the atmosphere will earry off the strength of the nanure if left on the surface. The only danger to be apprehended by this method will be in the case of the ground being frozen and covered with show and her when and covered with snow and ice when the manure is applied ; if upon sloping land, the virtue of the manure might wash away; but on level land there is no exception to this plan of operation luring the entire fall and winter season. -Germandown Telegraph,

Watering Plants in a Dey Time.

In case of protracted drouth, it is af-firmed that surface watering has a ten-dency to draw the roots to the surface, where the greatest amount of moisture 4.0is; and hence, if the watering is neglectis and hence, if the watering is neglect-ed a single day, the roots will become dry, and the plants will. To avoid this result, take a crow-bar or a wood stake, sharpened, and make among the plants numerous holes in the ground, six or eight inches deep; and into these pour the water from the noz-zle of the watering out. the rose being zle of the watering pot, the rose being removed. Give a heavy dose, and a half our afterwards go over the ground with hour alterwards go over the ground with the hoe, stirring and leveling the sur-face, then attach the rose and sprinkle the plants and the ground very slightly. If this mode of treatment is properly applied once a week, plants will not suf-fer in any ordinary drouth. 43-When to Prune Apple Trees. A correspondent of the Watertown N, Y, Times says: <sup>19</sup> It has long been N. 1. Times says: "It has long been the practice among farmers to commerce prunning apple trees in February, mainly, I suppose, because there is leis-ure then. There are reasons why this should not be done. There will not be sufficient action in the tree to harden the agrees where a limb has hear taken the surface where a limb has been taken off before the sap ascendy in the spring. When this action does take place, the When this action does take place, theo, sap flows out and spreads over the sur-rounding bark, and by some chemical action which takes place it is changed to a poisonous fluid which greatly in-jures the tree. Trin your fruit trees in August, and 1 will guarantee you will have no black-hearted trees."

Ditching.

Bitching. Rarely has there ever been a year so favorable for ditching us the present.— Swamps and meadows which were never known to be dry before are now without water; and if the drought con-tinues through the fall, we hope that much more work in this line will be ac-complished. Millions of acres of land now waste could be transformed to gardens by sim-ply ditching and draining. The accu-Where kn oniment. lations of ages in the way of fertiliz ing material are in these low lands.— Why should not science and labor utilize what is of so much value. FIRE INSURANCE. THE Columbia Fire Jasurance Co., OF COLUMBIA, PA.
