The National Deadheads. We are informed that the White House is being thoroughly renovated and adorned so as to be made a fit winter residence for our aristocratic President. After his long abandonment of all official cares he is expected to return to Washington some time in October. Then, the Radical papers graciously tell us, the grave questions of the day will be discussed in Cabinet meetings. The Secretaries will get back about the same time, and we suppose will pay some little attention to their departments. When winter comes a round of entertainments and a full course of dissipation will be entered upon, and, by the time the flowers of spring begin to open again, all the public dignitaries will be so exhausted that they will be compelled t make another start for the different watering places. There never was s jolly a government in existence as that which is now in power in this country It is not distressed by the cares of State, and seems to be engrossed in the pursuit of pleasure. Grant sets the example, and his Cabinet officers follow his lead. If the Presi dent desired to show the people how useless an appendage he is, he could not have taken a better plan than the one he has pursued. Two years more of such rule will be amply sufficient to convince everybody, except the officeholders, that Grant ought to be dispensed with altogether. Let him reve while he can in all the delights and lux uries which cost him nothing. He will be a deadhead in another sense of th term after March 4th, 1873. Grant and Tennessee Butler.

'Since that time he ha been arrested at the instance of the Uni ted States authorities for having cheated certain widows and orphans of Union soldiers out of the little pittance to which they were entitled, and for forging pen sion papers for parties not entitled the aid of the government, some of ther being rebel soldiers. A Radical judg a his district granted him a write habeas corpus, and discharged him fro the custody of the United States Mar shal. Since that he has been unani mously renominated for Congress by the Radicals of the First District of Tet nessee; and now, "by order of the good ernment," his case is transferred from th custody of the Pension Bureau to another department, with the distinct understanding that it is not to be pushed. GRANT has read Carl Schurz out of th Republican party. Senator Schurz has long been recognized as the leader of the Germans in the Western States. Grant has hated him ever since he or posed the ratification of the San Do ingo job, by which our greedy President and his friends expected to make large sums of money. When Carl Schurz seceded from the Radical State Convention of Missouri, a large majority of the delegates followed him, and he is stronger in that State to-day than Grant and all his officeholders combined. We confidently expect to chronicle the complete defeat of the administration, and the final overthrow of Radicalism at the coming election in Missouri.

THERE was quite a row in the meeting of conferees to nominate a Senator in the Chester, Delaware and Montgom ery district on Saturday. We hope the ants may meet with the same fate which befell the cats.

ANOTHER Radical collector has rob bed the government of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.
