WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1871.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION. Held at Philadelphia, April 26, 1871. The delegates to the Democratic State Convention will assemble in the Chamber of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, on Wednesday, May 3, 1871.

Summer Meeting of the State Editorial Association.

Arrangements are being perfected for holding a Summer Meeting of the Editorial Association of Pennsylvania at Williamsport. The time fixed upon is the second Wednesday of July, 1871.

The Address of the Democratic Members.

We publish elsewhere the able address made by the Democratic members of Congress, to the people of the United States. It is a calm and dignified exposition of important issues in which every citizen, from the humblest to the highest in the land, is directly and deeply interested.

Has the State the Power to Curb Corporations.

It is not to be expected that railroad companies should have received almost unlimited privileges in the United States. For twenty-five years every State has been anxious to secure the most possible extension of its resources. Legislatures were ready to grant the most extensive franchises to any company which promised to open a new line of railroad.

Immigration.

We publish elsewhere a July 1st report which has been prepared by the Chief of Bureau of Statistics. It contains much useful information, and is calculated to convince every one how much this country has to gain from immigration. It seems very strange to think that a decade has so far passed away since a political party had an existence in this country based upon opposition to immigration.

Why the Ku-Klux Bill was Passed.

The Ku-Klux Bill was passed only because of the unanimity of the Southern States which have Democratic Governors, and no complaint in reference to disorders comes from the people of either of them. As the result of the passage of the bill, the Southern States are under the control of Republican Executive, and there all the troubles which are reported to exist.

The Adjustment of Congress.

The bill for the adjustment of Congress was finally agreed to by the House and passed by the Senate to the unconstitutional Ku-Klux Bill, and it was passed by a large majority. This bill was introduced by Ben Butler and passed by a large majority.

State News.

A big boy has been discovered in Lycoming county. He is 18 years old, weighs 200 lbs., and is 6 feet 6 inches in his shoe. Philadelphia, according to the returns of the census for 1870, and 1850 church edifices, more than 100 in excess of any other city on the continent.

The Appointment.

The bill for the appointment of the Legislature as weopenses below has passed the House and will undoubtedly be approved by the Governor. The bill is in the hands of the Governor, and will be signed by him on or about the 1st of May.

The Border-Claims.

The following is the Report of the Special Committee of the Pennsylvania Senate on the Border-Claims. The report is in the hands of the Governor, and will be signed by him on or about the 1st of May.

South Carolina Election.

The contest for a seat in the House of Representatives in the Second District of South Carolina, between C. B. Bowen and R. C. De Lage, colored, will, it is believed, be decided in favor of the colored man. The contest is being carried on in a very spirited manner.

Opposition to Grant's Re-nomination.

The Republican party will not re-nominate Grant unless it is forced to do so. The party is divided on this question, and many of its members are opposed to Grant's re-nomination.

The New Hampshire Legislature.

One of the most curious political complications this country has ever known is that existing at the present in New Hampshire. The death of a Senator, and the subsequent election of a new one, has created a very unusual situation.

Barth's Money.

John W. Barth, a prominent citizen of Washington, has been named by the President as the next Secretary of the Treasury. Barth is a man of high standing and ability.

The Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has been named by the President as the next Secretary of the Treasury. The paper is one of the most influential in the South.
