---A New Volume. On Mondaythe Datly Intelligences

entered upon the eighth year of its existnce with a larger subscription list, : better advertising patronage, and e public confidence than it ever had before. Like nearly all enterprises of the kind it had to struggle with adverse circumstances for a year or two, but it has been a recognized newspaper success for five years past, and promises to advance with the narch of time. Much of the success which has attended it is no doubt due to its independent character. It has of all this, but we have the story from never been the organ of any faction or elique. While boldly advocating the doctrines of the Democratic party it has denounced corruption wherever it might be found to exist. In the future, as in the past, its course will be fearless and unfettered by anything except proper considerations of public policy and due regard for the interests of the people. At the beginning of a new volume the proprietors would return thanks to their many patrons for the substantial support given to the DAILY INTELLI-GENCER in the past, and would assure the public that neither pains nor expense will be spared to maintain the position it now occupies as one of the leading newspapers of Pennsylvania.

of Pennsylvania will be called upon to vote at a very important election. They will have to determine, by their ballots whether the Cameronian Treasury Ring | who will perhaps assume the high soundshall continue to mismanage nances of the State, or whether they deposited can be placed in the right was passed at the recommendation of because many and bonomists contlamn General William McCandless. Unde the eye of the right kind of an Auditor-General, Evans would never have attempted to commit the gigantic fraud which he has successfully perpetrated, in those who now have the management of the affairs of the Commonwealth. If General Hartranft had been vigilant is the discharge of his duties, Governo Geary's agent would have been at raigned for his thefts long ago. Last General McCandless be elected, and no embezzlers will be allowed to run career of years without being brought to justice. Any attempt to defraud th State will be exposed at once. But there is a national importance : taching to the coming election. If Si mon Cameron's candidates for Auditor and Surveyor-General are elected, h power in Pennsylvania will be so cor firmed and strengthened, that he will b able to dictate who shall represent the State in the next Republican National The delegation will be composed of his creatures, and they will vote for the re-nomination of Grant a primary election under the Crawford and for whomsoever he may prefer as: candidate for Vice-President. Republicans who desire to see their party led by better men cannot vote for Stanton

But the Democrats of Pennsylvania have the strongest incentives to work vigorously, during the few weeks which ntervene between this and the second Tuesday of October. If the Radicals carry this State at the coming election, chances of electing a Democratic President next year will be greatly dininished. We may lose this election and win next year, but the odds will be greatly against us. There never was a time in the history of the country, when the Democracy of Pennsylvania had a greater weight of responsibility resting upon them than they have at present. If they win a victory For an honest and independent news the election of a Democratic President | paper commend us to the Lancaster Exan easy matter. The Radicals can not wrest this State from our hands next year, if McCandless and Cooper are elected. Let that fact be kept steadily in view, and let every Democratic vote in the State be polled. If that is done we shall win a great victory, and deterelection in advance. No man who is a true. Democrat will fail to vote when so much depends upon his ballot. Let organization be perfected everywhere hroughout the State during weeks which gremmin, and there What is needed, is such organization in each district as will bring every Demo cratic voter to the polls. The Express gives its opinion of the Republican county ticket in the following article which appears as a leading editorial. It reiterates grave charges herectofore made and shows up the work of the ring in a proper light:

When the County Committee, following the lead of that notoriously corrupt political demagogue, Dr. Gatchell, refused to accept the new primary election law, which had been frained solely with a view to secure an honest election, we declared (July 11) that "it is now evident to those of the dullest comprehension that the controling spirits of the Republican County Committee do not desire and do not intend, if they can prevent it, to have a fair and honest primary election." And in the same article we declared that "as matters now stand it is a serious question for every honest Republican to determine whether he should take any part in an election which is to be engineered by such spirits as showed their hands in the County Committee on the inding upon the conscience of any honest man, and the sooner our haltot-box stuffers and return-tinkers are made to result in the county Committee on the inding upon the conscience of any honest man, and the sooner our haltot-box stuffers and return-tinkers are made to result is fact, the sooner will the Republican on the conscience of an party be restored to a headthy condition. The questions now requiring an answer from Auditor-General Hartranti are:—Has he annually, since the time in 187 he placed in the hands of Mr. Evans vouchers on which the latter collected a million of dollars, examined the accounts of that person or agent "entrusted with the receipt" of so much public money?

Has he annually, in the month of December, submitted to the State Treasurer a list of all public accounts which remain unsettled and the reasons therefor?

Why has he not since the time, four years ago, he gave to an agent vouchers for claims amounting to over a million dollars, instituted legal and equitable proceedings to recover from that agent the money due the Commonwealth?

If what Dr. Gatchell'so unblushingly declared be true, that 'if there are townships where cheating has heretofore been done, it will be kane again, though your should pile up oaths as high as the Courtliouse,' it is about time that the party be purified, even though it have to pass through an ordeal as of fire."

In a subsequent article, (July 19) in discussing the probable tactics of the Ringmasters, we hold that there 'are thousands of good Republicans who believe that the atmosphere of our local politics needs a thorough purifying, asit did ton years ago, when Thuggery ruled the party with a rod of iron; and they further believe that true is about as good a time as any to apply the unpleasant but only effectual remedy.

With a fair vote, and a fair count, and a just return, not one of the schemes of the ring which controlled the action of the County Committee could be successfully carried out; but we have me expectations of anythong of the kind.
