Singular Attitude for Women.
The attitude of the Mormon women in the current legal exploitures in the Territory of Utah is somewhat peculiar. While the law is seeking to relieve them from a shameful condition, to which circumstances have condemned many of them, twenty-five hundred of them unite in dispatching a petition to the President, praying that polygamy—to call it by this name—be not abolished. Is it possible that religious bigotry—if we may so term it—has so changed the formale nature in Mormony that these women desire a system which their sisters in all other civilized communities not only view with horror, as a social custom; but which they are disposed at all times, to combat personally, as the most serious offenset other individually? Truly is the female heart past finding out!

Truly is the female heart past finding out Fortune of a Princess. The fortune of the Princess de Metternich between whom and her bushand, Prince de Metternich, the Austrian Ambassador to France, a divorce is now pending—is appraised at sixteen million florins. The Prince's own fortune, which was very large, is nearly all gone, it having mostly been spent during his twelve years' residence in Paris as Austrian Ambassador under the Empire. A great/part/of it was expended in the lavish profusion of the Princess de Motternich while seeking to rival the Em-Metternich while seeking to rival the Er press Eugenie as leader of fashion in t Fiench Capital.

We are creeping along toward it. At the Bangor banquet the President dined at a separate table, sat upon an elevated dais and beneath a canopy. Hand kissing will soon be in order. —Exchange.

When we give a man the power to suspend the writof habous corpus and proclaimmartial law at his discretion in any part of pend the write introduce corpus and precaminmrtial law at his discretion in any part of the United States, it is highly appropriate that he should sit "upon an elevated dais and beneath a canopy." Those who exerese the powers of a King, may well inflate the personal practices of royalty.—Cincinno persona. P. nati Enquirer.
