

SOCIAL LIFE IN CITY AND NEARBY TOWNS

CLASSIC DANCER A BRIDE TODAY

Miss Gemma A. d'Auria, well known in the younger set in West Philadelphia, who will become the bride of Dr. Percy H. Houston, of Austin, Tex., tonight.

MISS EDITH M. BAILY, daughter of Frederick L. Baily, of Cloverton, Ardmore, and a sister of Miss Theodora L. Baily, will be introduced at a tea which will be given by her father Saturday afternoon, October 17, from 4:30 until 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winter Baily will introduce their daughter, Miss Molly W. Baily, at a tea which will be given at their country place, Roselevy, Stratford, on the afternoon of October 8. This will probably be an out-of-door affair if the weather will permit, and Mr. and Mrs. Baily have planned to have music during the reception. Miss Edith Baily and Miss Molly Baily are first cousins.

An engagement of interest to this city and New York, which has been announced in New York, is that of Miss Edith Stuart Otto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Otto, of Valley Rose Farm, Scarsdale, to Norman Carlisle Rebert, a son of Dr. Edward Tyson Rebert, who is a member of the faculty of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Scott, Jr., are spending the autumn as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William West Frazier, Jr., at their country place in Jenkintown. Mr. and Mrs. Scott will not open their town house at 111 South 23d street, until late in November.

Mrs. Francis P. Sibley has returned to her home on Summit avenue, Jenkintown, after spending several days in New York as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Belmore Brown.

Mrs. Henry Augustus Berwind will entertain in her box at the Horse Show in honor of her debutante daughter, Miss Margaret Berwind. Mr. and Mrs. Berwind will give a small dance in honor of their son Charles Graham Berwind, on Thursday night.

Among the Philadelphians noted on the links of the Point Judith Country Club lately were Dr. and Mrs. Archibald G. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. John Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Denick Mills, Miss Lisa Norris and Mrs. Philip E. Stevenson.

Dr. John H. Givlin, of 219 Walnut street, has returned from London, Eng., and is spending this week at Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Caryl Roberts, of this city, entertained at last yesterday at the Country Club in Narraansett Pier.

Mrs. Alexander J. Cassatt and her granddaughter, Miss Lois Buchanan Cassatt, will leave Newport on Friday of this week and open their country place at Haverford. For the past two seasons Mrs. Cassatt has been spending the summer at Newport while she has leased her home in Bar Harbor.

Morris Lewis Stovell is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert at their home in Saranac Lake.

Edward Connor, who started last week in his touring car for a trip through New England, is at present visiting his mother, Mrs. P. S. Connor, at her cottage in Narraansett.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Wilcox have been motoring through the New England States and are at present staying in Jefferson, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose Ramon Villalon, of Havana, Cuba, who have been stopping in the city several days after a summer spent in the Poconos, will leave Thursday for Washington and will then go on to Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald B. Hubbard have returned from Jamestown to their home on Wyncote road, Jenkintown.

Miss Dorothy Hamill, of The Blenheim, returned from Europe Saturday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hamill. Miss Hamill's engagement to Charles A. McManus, of this city, was announced last fall.

ALONG THE MAIN LINE

OVERBROOK—The Ladies' Committee of the Overbrook Golf Club will give the second of their September afternoon teas this Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. DeWitt Irwin and Miss Dorothy Irwin, of City avenue and Lancaster road, returned today from Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. McCherou and Miss Rosalie McCherou have returned to their home, Rosemary.

Mrs. William Harris, Miss May Harris and Miss Isabel Harris, who were in Brussels when war was declared, arrived here last week.

ARDMORE—Mr. and Mrs. Willis Musser, Miss Julia Musser and Benjamin Musser, of Simpson road, have returned home after a summer spent at Beach Haven.

The Rev. George Pomeroy Allen, rector of turned Saturday to her home on Stratford avenue after a month near Montreal, Can.

Mrs. Eugene W. Fry will give a large luncheon on Thursday at the Huntington Valley Country Club in honor of Mrs. Melville G. Wright, of Oak Lane, formerly of Richmond, Va.

Covers will be laid for 50 guests and the decorations will be pink and white asters.

NORTHWEST PHILADELPHIA

The wedding of Miss Genevieve Harton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke D. Harton, of 1721 West Girard avenue, 16 Clayton B. Shoemaker, will take place on Wednesday morning, October 14, at 10:30 o'clock, in the Church of the Gesù.

Mrs. Frederick J. Christman, of the Dauphin Apartments, has returned from a fortnight's visit in New York, where she was the guest of Mrs. Edward L. Rowe, of Riverside drive.

A reception will be given on Monday night in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Krauskopf at the Alumni Building, under the auspices of the Sisterhood of the Keneseth Israel Congregation.

Miss Eva Jacobs, of North Broad street, has returned from Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klein, of 222 North Broad street, are on their way home from Europe, having sailed on the Baltic on September 8.

Miss Miriam Alexander, of Elkton, Md., is visiting Miss Mildred Hudson, of 1818 North Park avenue. Miss Hudson entertained James Ellison and Dunbar Lane, of St. George's, Del., over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Fagley, who have been in Atlantic City since June, have returned to their winter home, 1850 North 23d street. Their daughter, Miss Irene Fagley, has been with her parents since her return from Europe the end of August. Miss Elizabeth Chapman, of Springfield, Mass., who spent the summer abroad with Miss Fagley, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Savary, at Hamilton Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Stuart Atwood are staying with Mrs. Atwood's mother, Mrs. John Moran, of 2731 North Eleventh street, for an indefinite period after spending the past few months at their home in Chelsea, Atlantic City.

Mrs. Charles A. Carey and her daughter, of 257 Diamond street, have returned to their cottage in Ocean City for a few days, where they entertained extensively during the summer.

Miss Martha Barter and Miss Dorothy Barter, of 2031 North Eleventh street, have returned home after a short stay at the Churleigh Inn, Stroudsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marshall, of 1235 Diamond street, have returned home, having spent the past six weeks in Atlantic City.

Miss A. Edna Schmitt and Miss Marian E. Schmitt, of 3571 Ridge avenue, have returned to their home after a five weeks' visit at Wildwood.

SOUTHWEST PHILADELPHIA

With the coming of cooler weather, entertaining among the naval officers and their wives will be resumed, and although there will be a decided falling off of large dances and dinner parties because of the lack of men, there will be no lack of the smaller informal affairs. Such is the bridge club which met last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Beebe, 239 South 21st street. The members include Lieutenant and Mrs. Guy A. Bisset, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. George Landenberg, Naval Constructor and Mrs. A. B. Court, Lieutenant and Mrs. Cochrane, Commander and Mrs. R. S. Keyes and Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton Ford, who are expected to return this week, have taken a house at 297 South 21st street.

WEST PHILADELPHIA

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Hancock, of 320 Chestnut street, have opened their house for the winter. They spent the summer motoring.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Curley, of West Philadelphia, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, Helen Elizabeth Curley, Thursday, September 10. This is their second child, as they have a young son, Neville Curley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Garman, of 216 South 45th street, who after visiting in Chicago spent the late summer in Chelsea, have returned home.

Mrs. A. N. Hamilton and her daughters, of 500 South 45th street, are entertaining Miss Louise Taylor, of Washington, as their guest.

Miss Ethel Leinan, of 416 Spruce street, will not return to her home until the first of October. She is at present at the Lawn House in Riverton and has as her guest Miss Mildred Whaley, of New York.

Judge and Mrs. Utley E. Crane have closed their house at Chelsea and returned to Hampden Court for the winter.

Miss Mary McAville, of 420 Parkside avenue, returned on Saturday from a trip to Coughlin, Can.; while there she was the guest of Mr. Frank Hoar.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Cameron Burnside have taken apartments at 42d and Spruce streets for the winter.

GERMANTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Madella, of School House lane, have returned to their home, having spent the summer at North East Harbor, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross, accompanied by Miss Theodora Ross, have returned from Christmas Cove, Me., where they spent the summer. They are occupying their new home at Wissahickon avenue and Ippal street.

Mr. William R. Henry, who has been in Munich during the war period, is now at The Hague and will soon call for home.

Professor Charles C. Hoyl has returned home in safety after a successful trip through Europe. Friends of Mr. Hoyl were particularly anxious for his speedy return, for his work as principal of the West Philadelphia High School for Boys begins immediately. Mr. Hoyl traveled through France, Italy and Germany after war was declared.

Mrs. Edward Troth, who has spent the summer in Europe and with others, was married in the war zone, is expected to return to her home, 318 Penn. street.

Miss Catherine Cooper Cassard has returned from Cape May, where she was the guest of Miss Edith Wilson at her cottage. Miss Cassard will leave Thursday for Hartford, Conn., to be the guest of Miss Helen Brown for the remainder of the month.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Paul Brown, Jr., have returned from Europe and are at present staying with Doctor Brown's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Brown, at 125 West Upral street.

Miss Frances Stokes has returned from Narraansett Pier, where she spent several weeks this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duane Dripps have closed their Cape May cottage and, with their two children, have returned to 306 Wayne avenue.

The Rev. and Mrs. Henry W. Frost and their family, of 23 West School House lane, have opened their home, having spent the entire summer at Northfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blakely, of 202 Queen lane, have returned from Cape May, where they spent the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. David and family, of 514 Macaulay avenue, moved from Watch Hill, arriving home the latter part of August.

Among those seen luncheon and dining at the Germantown Cricket Club Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Passmore, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gornley and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thacker.

ROXBOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Davis, Jr., of 4323 Manayunk avenue, entertained last night in celebration of their tenth wedding anniversary.

Asters and ferns formed the decorations. Mrs. Davis's mother, Mrs. Walter Stevenson, and Mr. and Mrs. David W. Davis assisted in receiving. The guests, who are members with Mr. and Mrs. Davis in two card parties were: Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Topo, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson, John Stause, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pfisterer, Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Mislinier.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kenworthy, of Green lane, who spent the summer touring through Europe, returned home on Saturday. They were accompanied by James Stott, of 407 Green lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Leaber.

Dr. and Mrs. William Holdt and their family have closed their cottage at Stone Harbor and have returned to their winter home, 215 Rochelle avenue, Wissahickon.

Miss Jessie Keely, of 311 Green lane, has returned home after spending the season in Gloucester, Mass.

Mrs. Lazelle Thornton and her family, of Lawnton street, have returned from Ocean City, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. Charles Erwin, of Rochelle avenue, Wissahickon, is spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Bailey, at her home in Washington, D. C.

CHESTNUT HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Clark, of Moreland and Cherokee avenues, will arrive this week from Marblehead Neck, Mass., where they spent the summer.

Mrs. E. Digby Baltzell is the guest of Mrs. Arthur Murtagh at her Cape May cottage. Mrs. Baltzell before her marriage in the spring was Miss Lena Duhring, of Chestnut Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Ball, of 215 East Mt. Pleasant avenue, have closed their Cape May cottage and have returned to town.

Dr. and Mrs. Biddle Marsden, of 811 Germantown avenue, have returned from Pequaning, Mich., where they spent the entire summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Levy and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Levy, of 816 North Cliveden street, returned to their home yesterday from Europe. The party arrived in New York on Friday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Levy at Flatbush over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Levy went abroad early in June to meet their daughter, Miss Dorothy Levy, who had been in school in Switzerland during the last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Diechez, of New York, also joined the party early in June and spent the season at Carlsbad, Germany, at which place they were detained for several weeks after the war broke out.

Mrs. Diechez is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levy.

MISS DAURIA TO BE DOCTOR HOUSTON'S BRIDE

Wedding at Her Father's Home This Evening to Be Noteworthy Social Event.

The wedding of Miss Gemma Abkazzo d'Auria and Dr. Percy Hason Houston will take place tonight at 6 o'clock, at the home of the bride.

Miss d'Auria is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Luigi d'Auria, of 208 St. Mark's Square, and a granddaughter of Brigadier General Robert, who is the author of Robert's "Rules of Order on Parliamentary Law." Doctor Houston is professor of literature in the University of Texas.

Miss d'Auria, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of soft white satin, made with a bounce and overset of duchess lace. The bodice is finished at the neck and sleeves with duchess lace, and is ornamented with pearls. Her veil will be arranged on her hair under a tiny cap of duchess lace, which will be fastened with diamonds and pearls. She will carry a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

Miss Helen Robert d'Auria, a sister of the bride, will act as maid of honor; she will wear a stunning frock of pale blue tulle, heavily embroidered in pearls, and will carry tea roses.

The little flower girls will be Miss Priscilla Allen Redgrave and Miss Corinne Ren Fenner Fowler; they will wear white net frocks, and will carry small baskets of white and pink roses.

The ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Dr. George Hooper Ferris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be followed by a large reception, after which the bride and bridegroom will leave for a wedding trip. They will live in Austin, Texas. The banner of the aesthetic, she appeared last winter in several degrees at a number of charitable affairs.

Guests will attend the wedding from New York, Baltimore and Boston. Notable among them will be Brigadier General Robert and Commander Redgrave, I. S. N., the former grandfather and the latter an uncle of the bride.

FLOWER-SWEEP
The marriage of Miss Marian Swope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Swope, of 141 East Girard lane, and Ralph Lister Flower will take place tonight, very quietly, at the home of the bride, owing to the recent death of Thomas Flower, a brother of the bridegroom, only the immediate families of the bridegroom and bride will be present. The ceremony will take place at 7 o'clock, after which the young couple will leave on a short tour.

EVANS-BREWER
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 15.—S. Milton Evans, a young business man of this place, and Miss Marion A. Heblie, daughter of the late W. J. Whitehouse, former Republican county chairman of Schuylkill, were married today. The ceremony here today was performed by the Rev. H. W. Diller, rector of Trinity Episcopal. Miss Esther Oswald, of Baltimore, was bridesmaid, and Alexander Hunter, of Philadelphia, best man.

GRIVE-BREWER
LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 15.—The Rev. Frederick M. Grive, pastor of the Reformed Church at Spring City, Lancaster county, was married here today to Miss Susan, daughter of Charles E. Huber, of Lancaster. The bridegroom was graduated in May from the Lancaster Reformed Theological Seminary. The bride was a Lancaster school teacher.

THE DRAMA

HELEN WARE

Will appear in "The Revolt," at the Adelphi next week.

MURDER AND MYSTERY
A CRIMINAL HISTORY

John Mason in Tense Melodrama That Makes One Content With Being Humble and Honest and Free of a Past.

Put an Apache in evening clothes and he will still remain an Apache. The same thing applies to Patagonians, white Eskimos and Mexican bandits. Clothes do not make the man, nor Bellevue-Stratford settings alter inherent table manners.

Elegantly staged, luxuriously upholstered, presented by an excellent cast, Owen Davist's play, "Drugged," which opened at the Broad Street Theatre last night, with John Mason in the title role, nevertheless remains undated melodrama of the old-fashioned established type, a bit more polished, more technically and tersely constructed, but thrilling, horrifying and hair-raising as of old.

Young John Dexter, acted by Frank Thomas, is clicking off a telegraphic message in code to beautiful Sylvia Crazen—Nan Campbell—as the curtain rises upon the magnificent interior of the home of the great John Dexter, railroad magnate, candidate for Congress, respected citizen. Young Dexter uses the telegraphic device to tell Sylvia he loves her, and, as one desires, they fall into each other's arms. An auspicious opening. Enter John Dexter, consummately portrayed by John Mason, who approves of the match, although with obvious restraint. Next enter Mrs. Dexter, tall, grim, with touches of tragic green in her costume, who stalks across the room like a haunted Electra. We see Mrs. Dexter's face ashen, her eyes wild and heavily ringed. She trembles violently. When she hears of the betrothal she insists upon speaking to the girl alone—she was the girl's mother's dearest friend—she loves her son. By these cryptic statements we know there's a skeleton dangling somewhere about in that tapestried, well-butlered establishment. Amelia Gardner, as the morphia-obsessed wife, terrified by her husband's hidden past, creates the necessary psychic atmosphere of tragedy and looming disaster. Despite her warnings, the girl decides she will continue to love and to marry Jack whatever tides, whereupon we like that girl.

Then follow, thick and fast, complications after the established melodrama recipe. Eleven thousand dollars of railroad money are stolen from the safe in the Dexter home. Evidence points to young Dexter as the thief, and so the railroad detective, Tom Lane, appears, demanding a warrant for young Dexter's arrest. Young Dexter is eventually arrested and Sylvia weeps real tears. Apprehend the villain, Doctor Malone, slinking, sinister, with face like putty, and furtive eyes. This Doctor Malone has been feeding Mrs. Dexter upon morphia; he has also been plotting servants in the Dexter household. He pursues John Dexter for some mysterious reason; we know, and everybody knows, that he knows more than he tells his news. John Flood, as Doctor Malone, is consummately successful in winning every one's suspicion and contempt. Pretty soon we learn he has stolen the $11,000 while Mrs. Dexter was unconscious from drugs. A maid, Laura, placed in the household by Malone as a spy, is accused of committing in the theft, and to save herself denounces the great John Dexter for what he is—an escaped convict, charged with murder, the notorious Jim McCarthey. She tells all she knows. A respected citizen and esteemed candidate to Congress a moment before, the great John Dexter breaks down under the exposure. He knew the hour had to come. He groans while the curtain drops.

Intensely eager, we next find ourselves viewing the abode of the hapless Doctor Malone. Dawson, the Dexter butler and Malone's henchman, prows about, feral, shaking, also obsessed by the morphia fiend. Suddenly the door is burst open, John Dexter, otherwise the workman Jim McCarthey, who had been arrested and has broken from custody, arrives. He gives Dawson a few bludgeon twails of the wrist, and learns that Malone had been an inmate of St. Quentin prison; moreover, that he had worked with Dexter in the mines twenty years before and knew the boy Dexter had been convicted of murdering. The situation that follows is guaranteed to take your breath. Doctor Malone enters. A revolver is leveled. Desperate fight, Doctor Malone is overcome. That look, watch, see! Into a drawer on the side of the desk where he sits squalls the triumphant McCarthey, Malone opens and scuttles a bottle of chloroform. Dexter rises, snuffing the air. In a flash Malone is upon him with a gas saturated with the drug. The veil is and the gag at John Dexter's mouth. Evil wins—John succumbs. Malone and Dawson lash him to a chair and generously feed him more chloroform. Now the psychological moment. Tom Dane, detective, arrives with Sylvia. John, hidden with a blanket, is said to be an injured patient. The two, unsuspecting the captured man's identity, see about to leave when John Dexter, coming to despite a pint or so of chloroform, taps a telegraphic message on the arm of the chair to which his arms are lashed, with a heavy ring on his finger, and thus makes himself

THEATRICAL BAEDER

ADELPHI—"Help Wanted," com. 7 years. bearing a "stop, look and listen" lay (new world of modern business, etc.)
BROAD—"Drugged," melodrama by Owen Davist, starring John Mason, Rev. J. J. C. CHESTNUT STREET OPERA—ANNA BIRIA, "one of the most spectacular and picture dramas ever presented late realistic, volcanic eruption, internment of a city and the annihilation of its people."
FORREST—"Ziegfeld Follies," 52 years. 1914.
GRIVEL—"Adele," French op. 1914. With irresistible Peggy Wood, starring W. W. WALNUT—"Siberia," thrilling 1914. of 19 years ago, depicting the torments and cruel sufferings of Siberia.

known. While Malone and Dawson stifling fair Sylvia's screams, about in the revolving chair is imprisoned, by a strategic move, a revolver lying on the desk. A smashed, bang! Doctor Malone, induced by Laura, with whom he confesses that he and Malone stole go to jail. She will wait for him, the lone, wounded to death, having from his house by Dawson's aid, 1876, brought to the Dexter home. Alment John Dexter, in handcuffs, taken back to St. Quentin, in a marvellously simulated Garry, killed the Crazen boy, and Sylvia embrace. John says posture over his wife, she has fight and conquer the demon in an admirable thriller. As a high-watermark success. An APing clothes, so far as plays are concerned, it accomplishes what much of the husband's problem drama fails interests, grips, holds.

MADDA—starring Edith Johnson, in a play about the fall of Rome.
GRIVEL—"Adele," French op. 1914. With irresistible Peggy Wood, starring W. W. WALNUT—"Siberia," thrilling 1914. of 19 years ago, depicting the torments and cruel sufferings of Siberia.

MINIATURE COMEDY at 10 o'clock. Ladies and gentlemen! Let us give you the established favorite—venturer, the winsome American ruffled boy from the West, fitted the Spanish Carmen fitted with carrying a dagger and red roses, them all, and like them all, I never appeared in a more charming than in E. A. Rolfe's miniature comedy, "The Bride Shop," which opened at B. F. Keith's Theatre, West 10th street, on Monday night, September 7th. The complications all the more original and line for their swiftness and brevity. The intuitive drama transpires in a lingerie where a bevy of fair maids appear, each exhibiting parts of the sheer lacy and tantalizingly tempting trousseau of the bride. To the satisfaction of all concerned, the adventurer is unmasked and truly love finds its own. Andrew Tombs, as Billy Cop, rejected by the heiress for the baron, is a comedian whose drollery will make you forget the increasing cost of living. His song exposition of life in Spain, where your sweetheart appears at a caseiment while you make love from the easement, should compose you to whatever may be your local romantic lot. "The Two Hollanders," Christian and Louise, are remarkable in their impersonations of various national dances and songs. A cool, thoroughly satisfactory variety of entertainment, with Julia Curtis imitating a violin, and various comedy stars as animals with her voice; the Leighton's "Telling Baseball in routine, and Blossom Seelye bawling it in amusing, if sometimes razzing, songs.

MURDER AND MYSTERY
A CRIMINAL HISTORY
John Mason in Tense Melodrama That Makes One Content With Being Humble and Honest and Free of a Past.

Put an Apache in evening clothes and he will still remain an Apache. The same thing applies to Patagonians, white Eskimos and Mexican bandits. Clothes do not make the man, nor Bellevue-Stratford settings alter inherent table manners.

Elegantly staged, luxuriously upholstered, presented by an excellent cast, Owen Davist's play, "Drugged," which opened at the Broad Street Theatre last night, with John Mason in the title role, nevertheless remains undated melodrama of the old-fashioned established type, a bit more polished, more technically and tersely constructed, but thrilling, horrifying and hair-raising as of old.

Young John Dexter, acted by Frank Thomas, is clicking off a telegraphic message in code to beautiful Sylvia Crazen—Nan Campbell—as the curtain rises upon the magnificent interior of the home of the great John Dexter, railroad magnate, candidate for Congress, respected citizen. Young Dexter uses the telegraphic device to tell Sylvia he loves her, and, as one desires, they fall into each other's arms. An auspicious opening. Enter John Dexter, consummately portrayed by John Mason, who approves of the match, although with obvious restraint. Next enter Mrs. Dexter, tall, grim, with touches of tragic green in her costume, who stalks across the room like a haunted Electra. We see Mrs. Dexter's face ashen, her eyes wild and heavily ringed. She trembles violently. When she hears of the betrothal she insists upon speaking to the girl alone—she was the girl's mother's dearest friend—she loves her son. By these cryptic statements we know there's a skeleton dangling somewhere about in that tapestried, well-butlered establishment. Amelia Gardner, as the morphia-obsessed wife, terrified by her husband's hidden past, creates the necessary psychic atmosphere of tragedy and looming disaster. Despite her warnings, the girl decides she will continue to love and to marry Jack whatever tides, whereupon we like that girl.

Then follow, thick and fast, complications after the established melodrama recipe. Eleven thousand dollars of railroad money are stolen from the safe in the Dexter home. Evidence points to young Dexter as the thief, and so the railroad detective, Tom Lane, appears, demanding a warrant for young Dexter's arrest. Young Dexter is eventually arrested and Sylvia weeps real tears. Apprehend the villain, Doctor Malone, slinking, sinister, with face like putty, and furtive eyes. This Doctor Malone has been feeding Mrs. Dexter upon morphia; he has also been plotting servants in the Dexter household. He pursues John Dexter for some mysterious reason; we know, and everybody knows, that he knows more than he tells his news. John Flood, as Doctor Malone, is consummately successful in winning every one's suspicion and contempt. Pretty soon we learn he has stolen the $11,000 while Mrs. Dexter was unconscious from drugs. A maid, Laura, placed in the household by Malone as a spy, is accused of committing in the theft, and to save herself denounces the great John Dexter for what he is—an escaped convict, charged with murder, the notorious Jim McCarthey. She tells all she knows. A respected citizen and esteemed candidate to Congress a moment before, the great John Dexter breaks down under the exposure. He knew the hour had to come. He groans while the curtain drops.

Intensely eager, we next find ourselves viewing the abode of the hapless Doctor Malone. Dawson, the Dexter butler and Malone's henchman, prows about, feral, shaking, also obsessed by the morphia fiend. Suddenly the door is burst open, John Dexter, otherwise the workman Jim McCarthey, who had been arrested and has broken from custody, arrives. He gives Dawson a few bludgeon twails of the wrist, and learns that Malone had been an inmate of St. Quentin prison; moreover, that he had worked with Dexter in the mines twenty years before and knew the boy Dexter had been convicted of murdering. The situation that follows is guaranteed to take your breath. Doctor Malone enters. A revolver is leveled. Desperate fight, Doctor Malone is overcome. That look, watch, see! Into a drawer on the side of the desk where he sits squalls the triumphant McCarthey, Malone opens and scuttles a bottle of chloroform. Dexter rises, snuffing the air. In a flash Malone is upon him with a gas saturated with the drug. The veil is and the gag at John Dexter's mouth. Evil wins—John succumbs. Malone and Dawson lash him to a chair and generously feed him more chloroform. Now the psychological moment. Tom Dane, detective, arrives with Sylvia. John, hidden with a blanket, is said to be an injured patient. The two, unsuspecting the captured man's identity, see about to leave when John Dexter, coming to despite a pint or so of chloroform, taps a telegraphic message on the arm of the chair to which his arms are lashed, with a heavy ring on his finger, and thus makes himself

AMUSEMENTS

MARCO'S LOEW'S Knickerbocker

THEATRE—Market Above 40th St. Continuous Performance from 1 to 10 P. M. George Moore & Elliott—Florence Moore & Elliott—The Five Vaudeville Acts 5

5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS 5
AND SPECIAL PICTURES OF THRU-PLAYS
BROAD—The New York Star, Sept. 15, 1914. P. M. 10:00. Mat. 2:00. Seats $1.00. At 10:15 P. M. 11:00 P. M.

JOHN MASON
in DRUGGED A New Melodrama by OWEN DAVIST

CHESTNUT STREET OPERA
TWO DAILY—LAST 2 WEEKS
CABIRIA WITH CINQUESTRATA AND CHORUS

STANLEY "An Odyssey of the North"
11:15 to 11:30 "THE LITTLE QUEEN"
Next Week, Mary Plackton, LITTLE QUEEN, Coming Sept. 22, 1914. "THE LITTLE QUEEN"