

EVENING LEDGER

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY
CYRUS H. CURTIS, President
John Gribbel, Vice President
John C. Martin, Treasurer
Philip R. Collins, Secretary

EDITORIAL BOARD:
C. H. CURTIS, Chairman
P. H. WHALLEY, Executive Editor
JOHN C. MARTIN, General Business Manager

Published daily at Public Ledger Building, Independence Square, Philadelphia.

Subscription Terms:
By carrier, daily, six cents. By mail, postpaid, one dollar per annum.

Advertisement Rates:
Single copy, five cents. Daily, one cent per line.

Philadelphia, Thursday, September 17, 1914.

"Unclean! Unclean!"

The personality of Woodrow Wilson has powerfully impressed the country. His obvious sincerity of purpose and his clear moral vision have given him strength out of all proportion to the peculiar economic theories he espouses.

Stockholders for Rapid Transit

The greatest corporation in this community is the municipal corporation. In it every citizen is a stockholder. Whatever the stockholders of the Union Traction Company, through their directorate, decide to do—and they are well within their rights to do or not to do whatever they please—the stockholders in the municipal corporation are overwhelmingly in command.

Golden Days of Opportunity

Home have come the vacationists. The seashore harvest has been reaped, playtime is past, the thousands who laid down daily tasks to relieve mind and body are again in the toils of daily occupation.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point. It is worth considering, even after the smoke of battle has cleared away and peace or armed neutrality is restored.

A Truce for Three Years

Government by personality is something that we can never get away from in this country. It is legitimate and inevitable, but it is not by any means sufficient for the purposes and requirements of democratic self-government.

The Dum-dum Myth

The Kaiser's charge that both France and England have been using dum-dum bullets is merely an echo of a similar accusation against the Germans made at the outset of the war by the French.

CURIOSITY SHOP

Aesop's fable about the youth who cried "wolf" and no one believed him is based upon the silence of the Amphyloans. So often had the inhabitants of Amphyloa been alarmed by the rumors that the Spartans were coming that they made a decree that no one should ever again mention the matter.

sonal force and influence will govern Colorado until the strike is settled.

It is not settled yet, and will not be settled till reason and justice prevail. The truce gives all parties time for sober second thought.

What's the Use?

The rehabilitation of the Republican party is essential to the prosperity of the nation. It cannot be rehabilitated in one State; it must be rehabilitated in many States.

Mexicans Entitled to Govern Themselves

The only excuse for keeping American troops at Vera Cruz now would be the intention to keep them there for all time. Mexico is as quiet as it is likely to be for many months.

Not Blue But Sane Laws

If those interested in innocent Sunday amusements for the masses will present rational arguments to the next Legislature that body may consider the repeal of antiquated blue laws.

A Strong Pull Together for the Port.

The decision of the majority in Washington to keep the "pork" in the Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill and excise appropriations for such obviously necessary work as the Delaware channel emphasizes the blunder of depending too much on the National Government for assistance.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

Emergency Patriotism

The old idea of party government has been given a severe jolt by the war. England furnishes a case in point.

A Good Pilot to Drop

Maine has sounded the warning. The Republican party must clear for action, clean the debris from the decks, sweep overboard Penroseism, Barnisms, Lorimerism and all the other "isms" which have fastened themselves on the quarterdeck.

PASSED BY THE CENSOR

What constitutes a successful play? W asked David Belasco in reply to a question. And then the little wizard of the American stage—the greatest producer in captivity—delivered an hour's discourse on a subject in which he is concededly a past master.

Some Ten Years Ago

Some ten years ago last summer there came word across the wires that the General Slocum had burned in the East River and that 1000 human beings, the vast majority women and children, had lost their lives.

Too Persuasive

"But how did he happen to get engaged to the girl if he doesn't love her?" "Why, he says he was convincing when he merely meant to be plausible."—Judge.

The Minister—And Others

"Our minister," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "appears to be a real altruist." "Oh, I think you must be mistaken," replied Mrs. Gotalotte. "It seems to me by the sound of his voice that he must be a bass."—Judge.

The Retort Juvenile

Mamma—Johnny, see that you give Ethel the lion's share of that orange. Johnny—Yes, Mamma. Ethel—Mamma, he hasn't given me any. Johnny—Well, that's all right. Lions don't eat oranges.—Kansas City Times.

A Sharp Lad

"What do you expect to be when you grow up, little boy?" "A man." "Very good; very good. And what sort of a man?" "One that isn't always asking questions."—Detroit Free Press.

The Sword and the Censor

It is remarked by the Boston Transcript that the blue pencil is mightier than the pen. Somebody is with the Boston Transcript, as you will notice from the following pair of quotations: "Hub—I've given up drinking, smoking and golf to please you, still you're not satisfied. Now what else do you want me to give up?" "Wife—Well, you might give up $9. I need a new gown.—Boston Transcript.

Equality of Sex

There is a little girl in Springfield, Mass., who, like many of her sex, resents the supposition that the feminine mind is not so strong as the masculine. "One day her mother remarked on the apparent lack of intelligence in a hen. 'You can't teach a hen anything,' she said. 'They think I'm doing and thinking for them. I've often seen they might be, they would form a line long enough to girdle the earth 11 times at the Equator.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Battle of the Ballots

The conflict in Maine is described as follows by the New York World: "The battle in Maine appears to have been a great strategic victory. The army of the Crown Prince of the Progressives, which occupied the extreme left of the line, was forced back upon the Roosevelt fortifications, and the first, second, third, fourth and fifth armies of the old Nelson Dingley standpatners, pivoting upon Portland in an attempt to effect a turning movement, were out in two and put to rout. In spite of this, however, enough is known to make it clear that the rout to a Woodrow Wilson majority in the Sixty-fourth Congress is open, with nothing likely to interfere except a few standpat aeroplanes and an occasional scouting party of Bull-Moose chins.

Forgotten

When the drums begin to rattle and the legions clash in battle, Where is Wied? When the cannon do their roaring, and the airships high are soaring, Where is Wied, Willie, Wied? Does he seek an hour of quiet, free from wrangle and from riot? Where is Wied? Is he somewhere, busy fretting 'cause he had to stop Murrelling? Where is Wied, Willie Wied? —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE IMPERIAL COUSINS

Whose hand has set Europe's great vineyard aflame? Who was it laid fire to her rick? Who trampled her fields in parading their game? Why? Willy and George and Nick! Who changed into beasts all her peace-loving ones? And taught them to maim and to kill? Who gave them as food to the cannibal gins? Why? Nicky and George and Will!

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

solized by Lieutenant Gedney, of the United States brig Washington, and taken to New London.

The Spanish Minister demanded the delivery of the slaves, so they might be taken to Cuba for trial. President Van Buren was anxious to comply, for the sake of equity, but the Anti-Slavery Society advised against it. The United States District Court decided that even under Spanish law slave trade was illegal and that the negroes were free men.

IN A SPIRIT OF HUMOR

Great Evolution

"Jim"—errand boy. "James"—office boy. "Brown"—clerk. "Mr. Brown"—head clerk. "Brown"—junior member of the firm. "James"—son-in-law of head of firm. "Jim"—head of the firm and power on the street.—St. Louis Mirror.

A Fine Poem

It's tough to dock a Congressman For work he hasn't done. It is fine, and I opine, It isn't any fun. If we taxed all our Congressmen For work they did not do, A lot would get into our debt A million bones or two. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Superfluous

"Will I get everything I pray for, mamma?" Mother (cautiously): "Everything that's good for you, dear." Marjorie (disgustedly): "Oh, what's the use, then; I get that, anyway."—Life.

The Minister—And Others

"Our minister," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "appears to be a real altruist." "Oh, I think you must be mistaken," replied Mrs. Gotalotte. "It seems to me by the sound of his voice that he must be a bass."—Judge.

The Retort Juvenile

Mamma—Johnny, see that you give Ethel the lion's share of that orange. Johnny—Yes, Mamma. Ethel—Mamma, he hasn't given me any. Johnny—Well, that's all right. Lions don't eat oranges.—Kansas City Times.

A Sharp Lad

"What do you expect to be when you grow up, little boy?" "A man." "Very good; very good. And what sort of a man?" "One that isn't always asking questions."—Detroit Free Press.

The Sword and the Censor

It is remarked by the Boston Transcript that the blue pencil is mightier than the pen. Somebody is with the Boston Transcript, as you will notice from the following pair of quotations: "Hub—I've given up drinking, smoking and golf to please you, still you're not satisfied. Now what else do you want me to give up?" "Wife—Well, you might give up $9. I need a new gown.—Boston Transcript.

Equality of Sex

There is a little girl in Springfield, Mass., who, like many of her sex, resents the supposition that the feminine mind is not so strong as the masculine. "One day her mother remarked on the apparent lack of intelligence in a hen. 'You can't teach a hen anything,' she said. 'They think I'm doing and thinking for them. I've often seen they might be, they would form a line long enough to girdle the earth 11 times at the Equator.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Battle of the Ballots

The conflict in Maine is described as follows by the New York World: "The battle in Maine appears to have been a great strategic victory. The army of the Crown Prince of the Progressives, which occupied the extreme left of the line, was forced back upon the Roosevelt fortifications, and the first, second, third, fourth and fifth armies of the old Nelson Dingley standpatners, pivoting upon Portland in an attempt to effect a turning movement, were out in two and put to rout. In spite of this, however, enough is known to make it clear that the rout to a Woodrow Wilson majority in the Sixty-fourth Congress is open, with nothing likely to interfere except a few standpat aeroplanes and an occasional scouting party of Bull-Moose chins.

Forgotten

When the drums begin to rattle and the legions clash in battle, Where is Wied? When the cannon do their roaring, and the airships high are soaring, Where is Wied, Willie, Wied? Does he seek an hour of quiet, free from wrangle and from riot? Where is Wied? Is he somewhere, busy fretting 'cause he had to stop Murrelling? Where is Wied, Willie Wied? —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE IMPERIAL COUSINS

Whose hand has set Europe's great vineyard aflame? Who was it laid fire to her rick? Who trampled her fields in parading their game? Why? Willy and George and Nick! Who changed into beasts all her peace-loving ones? And taught them to maim and to kill? Who gave them as food to the cannibal gins? Why? Nicky and George and Will!

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

DONE IN PHILADELPHIA

Few readers were worried when they read a few weeks ago that a strange sect, holding a camp meeting in West Philadelphia, had announced that the world was coming to an end on the 29th or the 30th of the present month. No excitement followed this weird proclamation, but what a difference there was in Philadelphia, in 1844, when the Millerites were aroused by a similar belief!

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

Mostard salary for his services. He was smoking a pipe.

Forthwith the elder man grew angry. He did not smoke, did not believe in smoking and failed to understand how any one else could believe in it. At his direction, a meeting of trustees of the church was immediately called, and the organist was dismissed from its service.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.

THE IDEALIST

Wise was the man who said, "A punishment that degrades the punished will degrade the man who inflicts it." Here is a little story about a man who is the figure of power in a little church not far from our city. You know the kind of man I mean. Some men, by very reason of their executive ability, naturally gravitate to positions where those about them look up to them as a matter of course. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one. The health is indeed not a better one.