An invasion by Alpine riffemen over the Vosges into the Breisnch valley has been repulsed. Early today this official statement was issued by the War Office The German armies in France are steadily growing stronger. The advance on Paris was too rapid to admit of ammunition and provisions in sufficient quantities being sent to the troops. This has now been remedied by an adjustment of the lines of communica-

The French are showing signs of weakness. Apparently they have been unable to fill their depleted ranks, whereas our forces are being steadily augmented by fresh troops Meuse Rivers

It was explained that the German lines have been extended at certain points and now include the original French lines. The battle, however, is expected to last for several days because of the long line and the number of men engaged.

Reports that the Germans had run out of ammunition for their field guns are denied indignantly. Instead, the lines of communication are perfect. Trains are run directly to the central points of the battle line from which places the distribution continues with the automobile transport service, which is complete.

The French have several times attempted to carry the German positions by storm, but they have met disastar from the German artillery and rapid firers. The greatest German gains have been along the centre.

ARMIES OF AUSTRIA MASS FOR DECISIVE MOVE ON RUSSIANS

Austrians March on Cracow-Przemysl Line to Meet Russian Advance-Genman Staff Directing New Operations.

VIENNA, Sept. 19.

Three Austrian armies are concentrating on the Cracow-Tarnow-Przemyel line for a decisive battle with the Russian armies of General Ruzsky and General Brussiloff, according to an official announcement issued here today.

'This line is 120 miles long, apparently following the railroad connecting the three cities. Tarnow is 50 miles east of Cracow and Przemysi 50 miles from Tarnow. This dispatch indicates that the official an-nouncements in Petrograd of overwhelmng Russian victories were greatly exagserated by the Czar's General Staff).

In the new Austrian defensive front General Danki, with an Austro-German force, commands the left wing, General von Austenberg has the centre with his base at Tarnow, and General Boeveric has the right, where the Russians under Generals Brusiloff and Ruszky are presaing hardest.

A dispatch from Vienna says that all the villages in the neighborhood Przemysł have been evacuated by their inhabitants in response to an order by the Austrian military authorities. The villagers are being conveyed to the western districts of Galicia. Intrenchments are being dug around Przemysi. and it is stated that the fortress is sup-piled with food sufficient to last for two

The official statement says:

The position occupied by the Austrian armies has been heavily fortified. trian armies has been nearly General Boroevic will command the right wing, with centre resting at Personnel the main centre will be commanded by General von Auffenburg with Tarnow as his base, and the left wing will be commanded by General Dankl with the Germans supporting his extreme left. # PEACE PLAN BALKED BY MOOD OF ALLIES. WASHINGTON FINDS

King George's Address to Parliament Regarded as Meaning War to Finish. President Will Cease Overtures for Present.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.-Feeling here today in official circles is far from hopeful for an early mediation among the nations of war-torn Europe.

"Watchful waiting." President Wilson's policy in Mexico, has become his policy toward European peace. This became known officially today. From a source in closest touch with Wilson, it was learned his ambition now is for a permanent peace, not alone in Europa, but throughout the world.

He does not want a truce that would merely halt the fighting for a month or two, only to have it break out again more violently. His position was analyzed in the terse comment that he will not now put out to the country each morning peace "when it is not in the cards."

nite assurances that a truce might possibly be affected at this time, it was interpreted from a statement that it might be possible now to have "a truce, bu not peace." The address of King George to Parliament yesterday has strengthened the im-

That this Government has had indefi-pression that England is not yet ready to

My Lords and Gentlemen, we are fighting for a worthy purpose and we shall not lay down our arms until that England's non-receptive attitude is confirmed by a cable which Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice received from Sir Edward Grey, the British Minister of Poreign Affairs, saying that Great Britain had received no proposal for peace directly or indirectly, from either Germany or Austria, and, therefore, was not in a position to consider terms of peace.

Russia, too, is at present opposed to consideration of peace terms. Petrograd newspapers express the Russian view that there can be no peace until the Kaiser's Ministers appear at the tents of the allied immanders and ask for terms. In an utterance yesterday, which was obvious! inspired and bears the earmarks of Government decision, they declare that Russian diplomacy is fully in accord with that of the allies in the refusal to enter into any negotiations.

The activities of President Wilson in the effort to get the warring Powers in Europe in a mood to listen to peace proposals have come to a standstill.

Whether the President will resume his inquiries on the subject in the near future will probably depend on developments. The Government, however, probably ill seek to keep alive the movement for peace by transmitting, without comment the report made by James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador at Berlin, of his conversation with the Imperial Chancel

Page, the American Ambassador in London, in which the Cabinet officer said that Great Britain would consent only to a peace that would be permanent, and that one of the basic principles of any peace agreement must be solemn assurances from Germany that reparation would be furnished to Belgium for the violation of her neutrality and the damage done by the German troops. It is known that the Administration is not encouraged over the outlook and is inclined to the belief that the war must continue for a considerable period before President Wilson will be able, without giving offense, to make further advances. President Wilson has said that he ragards the German Chanceller's communication to Ambassador Gerard as non-
