At the University of Michigan Coach Fielding H. Yost has resented the con-clusion of one Eastern football writer who predicted that when Michigan played Harvard at Cambridge on October 31, the Crimson would not use its best plays but would reserve them for the Princeton and Yale teams. Yout has no reason piques his pride to have the inference irawn that his team will not It may be stated right now that Har-

The surmise that the Harvard would use only "simple" plays against Michigan and reserve the intricate ones for Princeton and Yale shows the extent to which many persons overestimate so-called football strategy. Harvard and Michigan will have the advantage of about the same brand of coaching, and victory or defeat will depend rather upon the calibr of the men than their trick or compil-cated formations.

Trick plays for which secret practice is thought necessary never represent a contrary, men are what count. If Har vard should resolve to start the Michithe back field, there might be ground for the supposition that Michigan was underestimated. It ought to be thoroughly understood by this time that the strength of the Harvard elever than upon any new football which Coach Haughton or any one else can teach them. In a team which has absolutely mastered the rudiments of the game and can do the elementary things as near perfectly as the Harvard players do, all the trick plays that ever were known wouldn't increase the strength of tha delphia is the greatest sporting centre of America, it is particularly appropriate should be neld here. It is expected that the first smhow especially for foxhounds and beagles ever held in America, which will take place at Bryn Mawr, under the iuspices of the Horse Show, during the ive days beginning September 21, will mean to America what the similar show Peterboro, England, means to Great Britain.

At the coming Bryn Mawr Hound Show there will be a large number of local entries, and many representative packs from other cities will compete. The wonderfully organized bengle packs of H. C. Phipps and George B. Post, Jr., of New York, are entered. From Virginia will ome Dr. E. Lester Jones, of Culpener and from Ipswich, Mass., James Appleton Others from New York will be the packs of Raymond Belmont, Arthur Burden, S. T. Peters and Eugene S. Reynal. It is said in America there is probably some of the most perfect types of beagles in the world. Drafts from the best English kennels have been made by A. H. Higginson and J. W. Appleton in New England, by Phipps, Post and Relmont on Long Island and by Thomas Cadwala-der and others in Philadelphia.

For many years there have been indi-vidual owners of good beagles scattered around in Chester, Delaware and Montomery Counties, and some very success-al beagle field trials were held on the Bradford Hills in Chester County years ago. Interest in the beagles by the peo-ple of the social set, however, has been very recent development in and around

STRAIN OF LONG GAMES TELLS ON SPENCER WRIGHT

J. N. Stearns, 3d, After Yesterday's 19 Hole Matches-Score 4 Up and 3 to Play.

ST. MARTINS, Pa., Sept. 19.-Spencer L. Jones, Plymouth Country Club, and N. Stearns, 3d, Nassau Country Club Glen Cove, Long Island, will meet this afternoon in the final round for the St. Martin's Cup in the annual invitation golf tournament of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, by virture of victories in the semifinal round this morning. Jones defeated F. H. Hill, Stenton Country Club, 1 up, and Stearns won from Spencer Wright, Jr., Aronimink, 4 up and 3 to play. In the Stearns-Wright match & e first hole was halved in par four and Stearns won the second after Wright was trapped the third hole in 5 to 6, and the fourth in the same figures. Wright apparently could not get going. On the fifth, Stearns' approach overran the green and landed in a pit, and as Wright made no mistakes, he was down

WILLIAMS OUT FOR REVENGE IN DOUBLES MATCH

National Champion, With Richard Harte as Partner, Will Meet His Conqueror, George M. Church, Again Today.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 19.-Not knowing what to expect in the final round of the 34th annual intercollegiate lennis championship in doubles, in the tournament which ended today on the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, a large and representative crowd of college enthusiasts turned out to see Harvard and Princeton clash again in another match for a coveted point toward the ultimate possession of the Caner trophy.

The spectators were still talking o the wonderful showing made by George M. Church, of Princeton, when he de-feated Richard Norris Williams, the na-tional champion, and the 1913 intercollegiate winner, in the singles yesterday This, of course, was the upset of the This, of course, was the upset of the tournament, and took every one by sur prise. Today it was Church vs. Will-iams again, but in a doubles match, in which each man had his partner. Church, captain of the Princeton team, had A. M. Kidder for his team mate, and had A. M. Kidder for his team mate, and this pair formed a strong aggregation. Church proved himself master over Kidder in the singles, and is the stronger of the Orange and Black team. Williams had for his partner young Richard Harte, a promising Philadelphian, Huntingdon Valley Country Club member, who aiso represented the Crimson. Williams has also proved himself Harte's superior, so that when the teams stepped on the court it was evident that Kidder, of Princeton, and Harte, of Harvard, would be the targets for the attack.

Princeton, and Harte, of Harvard, would be the targets for the attack.

All four players have excellent tournament reputations, Williams having won the Pennsylvania State, Westchester, Seabright and Newport tournaments; Church won the Delaware State and Intercollegiate title; Kidder has captured matches in the big tournaments held in the East and Middle West, and annexed the Middle West title in doubles with Church; while Harte achieved fame at Newport by his brilliant work.
