SEPTEMBER 21, 1914. EVENING LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY,

"PORK BARREL" BILL STRONGLY OPPOSED BY THE PRESIDENT

His Influence Directed to Elimination of Extravagant Items-Sponsors for the Measure in Defiant Mood.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. - President Wilson has another formidable fight on his hands this week. His influence has been injected into the situation relating to the rivers and harbors bill, now held up in the Senate by a filibuster, and a quiet but energetic campaign is being conducted by Administration leaders in Congress to eliminate all appropriations except these for continuing projects. eral Carranza and General Villa.

The significance of this move will be seen when it is shown that the bill will he cut down from its present heavy appropriations to approximately $13,000,000 should Congress accept it. The President is making his fight quietly and disis making his fight quietly and dis-creetly, since he does not wish to ap-pear in the light of dictating to Con-gress. He is none the less determined in his views, however, believing that the need of economy is imperative in view of the treasury deficit, which will require the imposition of a war tax in the near future. future.

PRESIDENT IN OPEN OPPOSITION. A sensation was created here when it was reported last Saturday that Mr. Wilson was out in the open against the rivers and harbors "pork bill." A hard fight in Congress is certain.

It was said in administration circles that the probable mode of procedure would be the introduction of a joint resolution in both House and Senate continuing the appropriations on all rivers and harbors projects now in course of com-pletion, and the elimination of all others. This probably will be done early this voole

Many Democrats are openly predicting that the President will be defeated in his stand.

"There is no plan for a further cut in the river and harbor appropriation bill," said Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, in charge of the measure, soon after he arrived at the Capitol today.

"PORK" CONTINGENT DETERMINED. "The bill will be taken up when the Senate meets, and if the filibuater conducted by some of the Republicans against the measure is continued the Senate will remain in continuous session. That is the only way that a majority of the Senate can meet a filibuster under the rules of the Senate."

Senator Simmons said that he had no further conferences on the bill since Saturday night, and that he had not talked with the President since Saturday. He paid that the Commerce Committee had cut the bill some days ago to $34,000,000, and that unless the bill was amended on the floor of the Senate it would continue to carry that amount. The prospects of another all-night ses-sion if the Republicans continued their flibuster caused considerable gloom smong Schators. However, many of the filibuster Democrats express their purpose to go the limit to put the bill through.

PRESIDENT SATISFIED WITH MEXICAN STUATION

Discredits Stories of Trouble, But Will See Personal Investigator. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 .- While the Administration affects not to be discouraged at the reported turbulent conditions in northern Mexico, nevertheless

Paul Fuller, of New York, the President's personal investigator in Mexico, Grand Sire in Opening will make a report to the President Wedneeday on his recent inquiries into conditions south of the Rio Grande. The report would have been made tomorrow but for the President's journey to Prince-ton, N. J., to vote. Mr. Fuller arrived in the capital today. The President expressed to inquirers today his complete satisfaction with the manner in which the new Mexican Gov-manner in which the new Mexican Gov-ernment was conducting itself. He said he was inclined to place little credence in the reports of disturbances in northern Mexico emanating from El Paso. The State Department also refused to be perturbed by the tales of unrest in Chihuahua and Sonota. Officials declared that they had no reports from United States representatives of any movements indicating a new revolution or raflect-ing any chances of a break between Gen-

BABY SLEEPS WITH BEARS

'Big Doggie Play," All Lost Child Says of Experience.

FIFIELD, VA., Sept. 21.-Kept allve for two days by association with two bear cubs and their mother, Baby Ball, the 2-year-old son of a settler north of here, was found late at night recently asleep in the underbrush and, though starving, was not suffering from exposure. The searchers saw the sign of bears near where the child was found, and old woodsmen declared that the babe was kept alive by sleeping with the cubs and their mother.

All that the child can say is: "Big doggie play; baby hungry." The child wandered away one night. The next day the entire county joined in a search for the little one. The day's work was resumed and the searchers found their first trace of the youngster when a scrap of his torn jean rompers was found clinging to a raspbush miles from his home. erry The place was all trampled with bear prints and the child's father became frantic, thinking the youngster had been killed by an angry she-bear. Instead, when at 9 o'clock at night the hunters stirred the bears in the brush, they found the baby alone and unharmed. The crashing of the under-brush indicated that the bear and cubs left just before the searchers arrived The Northern Wisconsin nights are cold and the child would have frozen had not he been mothered by the old bear, woodsmen declare.

GIRL'S PLEA OPENS PRISON

Secures Release of Her Fiance, a Federal General.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21.-Elizabeth Woods, a cousin of Speaker Champ Clark, succeeded yesterday in securing the release from Santiago prison of her flance, General Jimenez Castro. Castro was arrested 10 days ago, with execution apparently ahead of him. execution apparently ahead of him. Miss Woods came up from Vera Cruz and besought Secretary Silliman's ald and insisted on an interview with Car-renza. She got Castro's case before the First Chief of Constitutionalists despite repeated discouragements, and finally, through the intercession of Luis Cab rera and J. H. Belt, Secretary Silliman yesterday carried away from the palace to the prison the precious document giving Castro his liberty.

Castro is one of the bravest and best known of the Federal generals. His arrest by the Constitutionalists had been a great surprise, owing to Castro's prominence in opposing ex-President Huerta.

Sovereign Grand Lodge Says Order Seeks No Control Over Political or Religious Beliefs.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21,-Judge C. A. Kellar, of San Antoonio, Tex., Grand Sire of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, threw down the gauntlet to intolerant followers who would draw sectarian lines, in his annual address at the opening session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge this morning.

Responding to an address of welcome by Attorney General John W. Wescott, of New Jersey, Grand Sire Kellar said: "Odd Fellowship draws no distinctions between Moslem and Christian, between Jew and Gentile. It is non-sectarian and non-political and will remain so as long as the order lasts. That is a fundamental law: We make no attempt to control a member's religious belief or action but we do say he shall not attack Catholicism or any other religion in the lodge room or in the columns of a publication bearing the name of the order."

The Judiciary Commission, it was said today, would report adversely on the action of Grand Sire Kellar in overturning jurisdictional lines in Oklahoma, a move resulting in the dissolution of
