WOMEN STAND FAST IN POST HOLES IN

BATTLE OF CAMDEN

Attack by Workmen on Entrenched Position of B. Pellicoff Resisted Aroused Garrison.

All of the war news does not come from Europe, some of it comes from Camden, where the clan of Pellicoff is staunchly resisting the overwhelming forces of the Pennsylvania Railroad in a war over property rights. Latest advices from the front show that the raffroad achieved a slight advantage last night when they stormed the Pellicoff's intrenched position in a series of postholes, captured it and erected a strong fortification of posts in the enemy's territory. They did not follow up their advantage, however, and it is said that although both sides are guarding against offensive movements, mediation by the courts will finally be resorted to to settle the battle.

The Pellicoff forces are under the command of B. Pellicoff, He is ably assisted by B. Pellicoff, Jr.; Mrs. Fanny Bell and Miss Ethel Pellicoff, daughters of B. Pellicoff, while effective scout duty is being done by the commander's son-

The latter effected a rapid mobilization of his forces, but arrived on the scene too late to save the main fortress, the what he alleges to be the frontier of his territory, and prepared to resist the enemy's invasion. Mrs. Fanny Bell was assigned to occupy one post-hole which had been dug by the enemy preparatory to the erection of a large fence, while her sister, Miss Ethel Pellicoff, was placed in another. From these strongly intrenched positions the women successfully resisted the attack of the invaders all day long. Their line of supply was kept open by privates of the Pellicoff forces, who brought meals band would escape forfeit of the to them at noon and again at night. day at the Philadelphia Navy Yard- to erect the shipways for which Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Director of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries broke ground yesterday. It is expected the shipways will be completed in several months, and then the keel of the new transport will be laid immediately.

The start of the shipways has given an mpetus to industrial fields. It means the employment of carpenters, machinists, shipwrights and a host of other skilled laborers, to say nothing of the unskilled laborers benefiting by the decision of the Navy Department to build Federal ships at the League Island yard. All were jubilant today, and those employed on the work struggled manfully under a glaring sun to prove that Secretary Daniels was not wrong when he said the best skilled laborers of the country could be found in manimous approval of the project and said that in addition to the work given workmen of this city the navy yard has received a wonderful boom in the transition from a repair to a shipbuilding yard. This is regarded as an opening wedge in the fight for the 1700-foot drydock, since a shippard without a drydock is greatly handicapped. After a ship is completed on the ways and launched it is essential that she be placed in a drydock for a complete overhauling.

Philadelphia has numerous advantages over any other port on the Atlantic coast. That of being the only fresh water station is expected to convince Congress that the drydock should be located here.

"JOE" CALL AT LAST DISMISSES HIS THREE STRAW BAIL ALLIES

Magistrate Forced to Tell Gillman, Fishman and Gross to Get Out-Aron's Clean Bill of Health.

Magistrate "Joe" Call today notified district Attorney Rotan that he had disnissed from his office Joseph Fishman, Jake" Gillman, his former Constable. and Samuel Gross. The dismissals are the result of pressure brought to bear on Call by the District Attorney following the latest straw-ball scandal originating in the Girard avenue Magistrate's office.

This ends the active investigation into the charge of Isaac Friedman, of 1129 Girard avenue, that his name had been forged to a bail bond. The District Attorney eaid today, however, that he intends to keep a careful eye on Call's The first warning of the enemy's ad- office in the future and will hold open vance received by the clan of Pellicoff | the present case for further investigation should there appear a good chance to get CLEAN BILL FOR ARON. Another phase of the fake bail scandal was reviewed today by Mr. Rotan, and Max Aron, the attorney for Friedman, received a clean bill of health. Aron presented to the Municipal Court a letter from New York purporting to show that Frank Bohrer, a defendant charged with keeping a disorderly house, who had dis-appeared, had enlisted and gone to Vera Cruz. It was testified by Mrs. Friedman that this letter was "fixed up" by at-discover until later that the signature to the ball bond was a forgery.

"Mr. Aron explained in detail his connection with the case," said Mr. Rotan, and I believe what he told me. I con sider that his part in the case was entirely ethical and that no criticism can directed against him in any way."
Mr. Rotan was asked to explain why it was necessary for the District Attorney office to do the housecleaning for Magis-trate Call. It was pointed out to him that other Magistrates manage to keep their offices in order and he was asked if Call had made any explanation.

The District Attorney said it was a source of constant surprise to him that he had to watch Call so closely, and that the Magistrate failed to cleais office without orders to that effect. Mr. Rotan also explained that, while he could use his influence to bring he barring from Call's office of Gillman, Fishman and Gross, he could not take any steps directly against Call without without evidence implicating the Magistrate

HOME OF STRAW BAIL CASES Straw ball scandals have been emanating from Call's office for years, but it was not until a comparatively recent date that any success was had in breaking up the practice. Gillman now is under indictment and awaiting trial on the charge of extortion. A new trial was granted to Fishman after he had been found to Fishman after he had been found guilty on the same charge, and this retrial is pending. Several other former attaches of the office have been found guilty and sentenced or are awaiting trial on various charges connected with straw half cases. зап спанк

Fishman and Gross was issued by Mr. Rotan at the conference they held last Saturday. Previously Call had promised to keep Fishman out of his office, but ad failed to do so. He tried to defend himself by declaring that he simply pernitted Fishman to use the office in real estate business, but the District Attorney insisted that the man be kept out in the future. Today Call notified the District Attorney that the connection of the three had been severed.

BOY BRAVELY WAITS END OF LONG BATTLE TO SAVE BURNED LEG

Removal of Bandages Today Will Show He Is Not to Be a Cripple.

KENNETH REDAMAR

on an invalid's chair in the sunlight at the Frankford Hospital today. With a toy dog clasped tightly in his arms he mutely watches white-clad surgeons and nurses as they go from cot to cot comforting and relieving. With impatience he is waiting until they come to him and unwind bandages from his legs; for what is found beneath will determine whether or not the little boy will ever walk and play like other boys or be a hopeless cripple with one leg cruelly

The child's name is Kenneth Redamar and he is only six years old. He lived with his parents at 6034 Torresdale avenue until early last Februarywhen he was carried into the hospital with one leg charred and burned and swathed in soft stuffs. Playing with schoolmates about a bonfire, Kenneth had either fallen or been accidentally pushed into the blazing pile. Frightened, his little cemrades ran away crying, and Kenneth as left alone in terrible agony until policeman carried him home.

BRAVERY WINS BOY'S BATTLE. It was this bravery and patience which finally turned the tide in favor of the child's recovery.

Kenneth began to convalence. His laugh of glee over gifts of fruit or flowers brought cheer to other little patients in the ward. His sunny smile was a lesson in fortitude. He became a great favorite of all persons at the hospital. Sick sthe boy was wheeled by on his way to the sun parter. Then came the day when Kenneth tried to walk. What was expected to be for him the dawn of happiness was turned into a day of despair, when the watching doctors saw the child's leg was bent. Skin had contracted underneath the knee and Kenneth was unable to stretch his leg out straight.

Then the surgeons took counsel together, and decided as a last resort a rare and delicate operation would be performed in an endeavor to straighten the bent leg. Kenneth was told he still had another chance. His mother, who had been almost a daily visitor to the hospital, and whose grief was even greater than that of her son when it was feared he would be permanently lame, sat by the child's cot and held his hand while the two talked of the new chance for complete recovery. The small pa-tient once more took an interest in his Again his childish laugh rang through the ward. At last the day for the operation arrived. "It is true that I am going to run and play again, isn't it doctor?" tremulously asked the child. And the surgeon who had heard so many ques-tions just like Kenneth's smiled at the boy and said, "We'll see."

CHILD'S SACRIFICE

So they wrapped the little sufferer in blankets and wheeled him to the operating room. There in the presence of men of science small pieces of skin were cut from the good leg of the unconscious child and grafted where the skin was drawn and contracted, underneath the knee of the leg which had been burned.

This was last week.
Today the bandages will be removed and both Kenneth and those who aken such an interest in him will know whether or not he will ever be able to run and play again. If the condition of his leg shows the operation to have been a success, the boy will be ou hospital in two or three weeks
