FARMERS' MARKET IN SIGHT AT 69TH STREET TERMINAL

Stalls to Be Let to Producers Only and Saving in Price Promised.

Prices to the West Philadelphia conprices to the west Philadelphia con-sumer of farm products may be consid-erably reduced by the opening of a farm-ers' market in the 69th street terminal. According to plans announced by the Philadelphia and Western Railway Com-pany and the Lehigh Valley Transit Com-pany, the market will be in operation sefore Thanksgiving.

By renting stalls at a nominal figure o producers only, the traction officials hope to encourage a large number of farmers from Montgomery, Bucks and other nearby counties to sell their fruit, vegeta-bles and poultry direct to the consumer. The middleman will be eliminated and his profits divided between the producer and

The farmers expect to charge slightly higher prices than would be paid for commission houses, as the expense of put-ting up their products for the retail trade maintaining the stall must be met, but they hope to have the consumer reap the larger part of the direct sale saving. The remodeling of a building of the Philadelphia and Western Railway Comphiladelphia and Western Railway Com-pany, in which the new market will be located, will be undertaken at once. This action is the result of a recent conference between Thomas Newhall, president, and J. L. Adams, general man-ager of the Philadelphia and Western, and Harrison Fehr, president, and C. C. Collies, traffic manager, of the Lebich Collins, traffic manager, of the Lehigh Valley Transit Company.

CITY RHODES SCHOLAR TO LEAVE FOR OXFORD

Morrison C. Boyd to Continue His Studies Abroad for Three Years. Morrison C. Boyd, Philadelphia's sole Morrison C. Boyd, Philadelphia's sole Phodes scholar, will sail from New York tomorrow to take up his studies at Ox-ford University. In New York Boyd will join a party of 30 other Rhodes scholars, Boyd will not return to his native city three years, as during his vacations intends to travel through Europe. He will devote his time in Oxford to a study of the classics, specializing in Latin and Greek. He will also study music. His ambition is to be an organist as well as a scholar. After graduation from Ox-ford he will teach Latin and Greek.

Mr. Boyd is a product of Philadelphia's school system. He was educated in the Philadelphia public schools and graduated from the Central High School in 1909. He won a city scholarship and entered the University of Pennsylvania. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1913. He not only gradgated with honors, but was awarded a Harrison scholarship in the Graduate School. He received his master's degree last June. Boyd won the Latin and Greek prizes for the sophomore, junior and senior years.

As an undergraduate he took an active interest in the literary and dramatic so-cletics. He was the head of the Philomathean Society in his senior year. He was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa Honorary Fraternity. Boyd is also well known in the local music circles and has given a number of organ recitals.

He is the third Pennsylvanian to win a Rhodes scholarship. The other two men were Thomas E. Robbins and Richard Schellens, who won the prize in 1904 and 1997 respectively.

He was knocked to the floor by the defendants, but apparently not hurt. He later went to bed and was found dead in the morning, the cause being percentage. cause being hemorrhage.

WHITE SLAVE CASE APPEALED Supreme Court Asked to Affirm Indictment Against Two Men. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22-A brief in the case of the United States against two alleged "white slavers," Elle and Juliette Portale, was filed in the Supreme Court today by Assistant At-torney General Wallace.

The District Court in Colorado de-clared the indictment against the two defective because it did not show that they brought an alien into the country for immoral purposes, but only kept her in a house of ill fame. The Government contends that the indictment was valid and asks the Supreme Court to aside the ruling of the Colorado District Court.

IDLE STEAMSHIPS HERE BRING OWNERS NO RETURNS

Vermont Corporation Has $2,000,-000 Investment Anchored.

An investment representing $2,000,000 In the steamships Narragansett and Manhattan, bringing no return, is anchored in the Delaware River off Wilmington. These vessels were completed worth Corporation, of Wilmington, for the Central Vermont Transportation Company, a subsidiary company of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. Because of a difference of opinion between the officials of the latter company and members of the Interstate Commerce Commission these vessets have been compelled to lie idle. and it is not expected that they will be used until next spring.

The Manhattan and Narragansett, admittedly fine craft of their type, were constructed to ply between New York and Portland, Me., over the Long Island Sound route. The New York, New Haven and Hartford Company was to build a spur line to bring freight and passengers into Portland from interior points. The Interstate Commerce Commission interfered and the project was

Boats without passengers and freight were useless, so the Central Vermont Transportation Company decided to keep the craft here instead of at Portland, where the fresh water would be more beneficial to them than the sait water of Portland harbor. The work of build-ing spur line is now progressing and we expected to be completed early

The Narragansett and Manhattan are sister ships. Each is sumptuously fitted for the accommodation of several hundred passengers. They are 332 feet in length, 48 feet in width, 65 feet over guards and 21 feet 5 inches depth. Their triple expansion engines can produce
