Nobleman's Son Makes Livelihood Acting as Goodfather.

"You see that man I nodded to just now at the table over there?" said a friend with whom I was lunching at a London restaurant one day.

"Well," continued my friend, "if you were to try a month I don't think you could guess how he earns his livelihood.

"But how does he manage it?" I asked incredulously. "Well," answered my friend, "this is my method, as he himself has described it to me. Every morning he goes to one of the free libraries and copies all the birth announcements that seem promising.

N. E. HOLDS SCRIMMAGE

Northeast High School held its usual annual football drill and scrimmage yesterday. King, the new player from Howard College, Birmingham, Ala., showed good form at end and broke up several of the varsity's plays single-handed.

The soccer men were out for their second workout. Fulmore, of last year's championship team, was on the field for the first time.

INDIANS DEMONSTRATE ZEAL IN RAISING CROPS

Chippewas Hold Fair Where They Refrain From Dancing.

BEMIDJI, Minn., Sept. 23.—Two thousand persons, 500 of whom were whites, attended the big day of the Indian fair at Red Lake, which, according to Walter F. Dickens, superintendent of the agency, was not only a bewildering surprise to visitors, but probably was the first Indian fair ever held that was devoid of dances.

There was no fire water nor dancing nor any of those other adjuncts thought necessary for an Indian celebration.

Exhibits of grain grown by the Indians included specimens of oats, barley and wheat that would average 35 bushels to the acre, and yellow dent corn fully matured.

Roped Arena Notes

Joe Paas of Grandville, proved a poor substitute for Charlie Collins, of Columbia, at the Fairmount A. C. last night. Manager White was another who had the non-appearance of the Columbia boxer, and had to use the only available boxer in sight.

ROD AND GUN

The handsome rewards offered for skill in trapshooting had, in a measure, an opposite effect to the intended one.

The Interstate Association, the central body for the encouragement of trapshooting, long sought means to remedy this unsportsmanlike condition, and has solved the problem entirely by new rules which became effective this year.

NEW THEORY NOW AS TO ORIGIN OF LIFE

Law of Molecular Complexity May Solve Riddle.

That the green coloring matter of plants, called chlorophyll, has mysterious power of transforming light energy into chemical energy and thus forming organic compounds from inorganic is a well-known fact.

The action of chlorophyll is understood, though how it works is a mystery; but chlorophyll itself is one of the most complex of organic substances, and its origin must be explained.
