EVENING LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1914.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS TO KNOW-THINGS THAT INTEREST MAID AND MATRON

ELLEN ADAIR HAS A NEW AWAKENING TO LIFE'S REALITY

10 *

She Arrives at the End of Her Journey and Has Tea in a Small Restaurant in Philadelphia.

IX. I think that poets sometimes make the I think that poets conctines make the gravest errors. They sing of youth and sunny days and happy hearts. Youth typlies to them the sheerest happiness. They cannot see that youth may mean the sheerest pain. When one is young one wants so much-

When one is young one wants so much-to desperately much. Then, oh! the heart-ache if one zets but little? The 'long, long theughts of youth' are passing strange-I know they stretch out to eternity, and always with a vague new restlessness. I think it's haphness we neek, but under unfamiliar names, Some call it duty, some a great career and some poor fools 'a good time' in this world. It cannot come from outward circumstances. 'A heart at leisure from inself' might bring it here-I do not know sel with I thought of others facilings more. once as a shild I watched a rainbow

Iris

da

dan Ital

Ita

ma wit

cer ma par A ofte

hea par frig love

An

set deci tow obje

viet tion to rea libe had ma I s doc tim out out out out out the fer

por the dea No And Ra gleam, a wide kaleidescopie arch ov wet English fields. To me the univercould hold nothing more fur. 'I w to reach the rainbow where it ends' 5 YEAR to reach the rainbow where it ends. It cried, and tramped for nules over wild-scented beath, through dripping woods, to catch that rambow's glears. But al-ways it cluded me. I cried my childish heart out for an hour. Then mother gave me a new toy, with darting quicksliver in it. I broke that toy to catch the glearning metal-but there again I failed:

again I failed!

again I failed: I think the old folks know true happi-ness. At least they know a quiet caim and peace. On many a furrowed, wrinkled face I see such happy looks. "They also serve who only stand and watt."

ARRIVAL IN THILADELPHIA.

My train brought me to Philadelphia on a summer's div at 5 o'clock. In the big railway station I saw no familiar big railway station I saw no familiar face. Surely my uncle must be there to welcome me. I knew he was the kind-liest man and on that one short visit that he paid to England he had liked me well. I waited by the bookstall for an age. Strange crowds went by me, as I stood mione. The girls and women seemed so martly dressed, so fashionable. The men all looked rather alike. I thought all wearing the same sort of hat-straw, with a highish crown. No one seemed old and none seemed poor. America unist be a great, gind place" oid and none section of the nearest res-taurant, for I was fired and hungry. I taurant, for I was fired and hungry. I sat down at a little table, all alone. Why had my uncle failed to welcome me? A sudden thought then came and brought sudden thought then came and brought relief. He must have sent a substitute. Perhaps his wife had come and missed me in the station crowd? I raised up hopeful syss and then a strange thing happened. A beautifully gowned woman slowly crossed the res-taurant and came to me. I thought she had the lovelest face, the most bewild-ming beauty A faint sweet perfume clung about her gown, unlike the scent of English flowers. She smiled the sweetest smile and said to me: "My child, why ne you all alone? Is no one meeting

I thought my uncle would have come." I said, "or perhaps my aunt-but I could not recognize her, and she can't know 'My dear." she cried, and with the kindliest gesture seized my hands, "are you the little girl we were expecting? I've searched for you an hour! How glad I am! I'm the new aunt?" This lovely new relation made me feel

The above is a happy portrait of Mrs. Tom Ridgway, who, before her marriage, was Miss Edith Wayne. She is a prominent leader in Philadelphia society and is noted for her beauty and her charm.

you here, I knew at once my loneliness had gone! God's in His Heaven; all is right with me!" The lovely lady tried to speak, but no words came. So I went on. "I feel so shubby in this simple gown. You must feel nuite ashamed of me!" "Asliamed?"-of you?-ah, not of you?" "Asliamed?"-of you?-ah, not of you?" whe said, and then I saw slow tears were running down her powdered theeks. "My child, go home, lack to that young fresh life! I once was in-nocent and young like you. I'd give my soul to have these days again? Your

"6

DRAGONS AND FLAGS By MALCOLM S. JOHNSTON. DRAGON, a terrible beast, A Delighted on children to feast, He continued to gorge Till the valiant Saint George Came along; then his appetite ceased.

Yow after Saint George's brave fight, That dragon no child can affright. English children today The saint's banner display When they fight for their country and

BIG HAT AND LITTLE RIVALS FOR FAVOR; MILITARY IN TONE

Tricorne, With Cockade or Stiff Feathers, Particularly Well Liked by Those Who Can Wear It.

There are two kinds of hat today, the very small and the very large. The small hat is dashing and very often milltary, for there are Russian turbans, Scotch bonnets, continentals and the] tricorne, that is welcomed so eagerly by the women who can wear it.

The tricorne assumes a very martial air this season; it appears with cockade or staff feather standing erect. The Scotch bonnet has the rosette or eagle feather, or even a tassel for orna-

On the Russian turban there are galloons of metallic appearance and motifs that are very warlike in design. These, with the tailleur or trotteur frock, still have the pas, although the anotier, by which name was revive the side-brimmed sailor, appears determined to win its place once more in femininaffection

Black velvet has apparently the cachet f famous milliners, although colors, such a grape and taupe and tete de negre, ave a vogue of their own. And, just as the small hats take a dashing or jaunty air, picturesque is the word to apply to the hat with the wide brim, of the kind that has long been brim, or the kind that has long been known as the Gainsborough. It is a hut that comes and goes as certainly as an ocean tide, and in spite of the ban of disapproval or even the high tariff, estrich feathers or tips are almost certain to be used for trimining. The hat shown in the illustration today belongs unmistakably to the picture and portrait class.

It has the wide brim, slightly curved to soften the effect and faced with chif-fon. This is corded on the edge and at a depth of a few inches and it is shiropinion of the people who wear it. It is made in several lengths. The medium length costs $2: the very short girdle, only six inches wide, costs $1.25. Against the soft crown two ostrich feather tips are placed. Where they come together, a little at one side, there is a soft choux of chiffon to match the fac-There is a modified form this season, with the back of coutil laced in the regulation way and elastic webbing in the

It is designed to wear at an angle, which, of course, adds greatly to its style and at the same time displays the chiffon underbrim. The color scheme is tete de negre as to erown and upper brim, while the chiffon facing is of a delicate rose, and the os-trich tips were chosen of the same del-icate tint.

Followed the Road Since She Was Orphaned at Twelve.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 .- "Just a poo little wet girl." said Patrolman Charles Lodding as he stood muffled in his dripping raincoat in front of a dark doorway last night on Quincy street.

Huddled, in the doorway that sheltered her from the rain was a girl. She wore a soiled white hat, a gray mackintosh with frayed edges and a pair of soggy white canvas shoes. She was leaning against the side of the door and her head was dropped forward on her breast.

"Can you beat it? She's sound asleep standing up," continued Lodding to him-self. The limp hat bobbed uncertainly several times and the girl awoke with a start.

'I must have-I guess-Say, was I and which the learned of it. She simply went to the garage and, taking her 5-year-old son, Jack, with her, got into one of her husband's automobiles and started on a joy ride for herself. Then she took the machine to a dealer HAT OF BLACK VELVET FACED WITH CHIFFON AND TRIMMED WITH OSTRICH FEATHER TIPS

ACROSS THE COUNTER

A conservative corsetiere says that the high-busted corset is not making head-way. Women will not go back to the moyen age for their corset, even if they do for their styles.

FISHERMAN CATCHES GIRL

But Mr. Wilson did object, and has asked the police to make a search for his wife and son. Mr. Wilson told the Unusual Luck of Freddie Goshorn, nis wife and son. Mr. Wilson told the police he believed Mrs. Wilson was "vacationing" in or near Glenview, III. The police failed to locate her there. However, Mr. Wilson is doing some residue thightee the source of the sourc Three Years Old.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25 .- Freddle Goshorn, 3 years old, found one of his father's fishing line. Taking a piece of meat out of the icebox, Freddle went fishing. He cast the line out the front window

A new style in firmly woven treco costs of his parents' third floor flat. For some time he failed to have any luck, and Freddle began to doubt the fish stories told by his father. It has the flexible steels that are used in the place of whalebone nowadays, Of medium length, it is cut slightly higher in back than in front. It is made for the very slender and has Suddenly he got a bite that an old-time fisherman would call a whale. Fred-dle pulled and the "fish" let out a scream.

the natural curve in at the waist. For fuller figures there is a corset of coutil that is higher both back and front He pulled again, and a second scream aroused the neighborhood, and depends on its shape to confine the It, too, costs $3. The so-called boneless corset is still sold for $1, in several lengths. It is only steeled back and front, with one steel at the side. It seems to find favor for wear when dancing. It can be replaced without great loss if it should give way to the City Hospital in auto patrol No. 3, where the fishhook was cut out of her head.

THE RETORT VICTORIOUS

serious thinking.

EQUALITY OF SEX THEORY

Woman Carries It to Length of Taking Husband's Automobile. CHICAGO, Sept. 23-Until recently the problem of the "single" standard and problem of the taingle standard and other questions pertaining to the "equal-ity" of sex never troubled the mind of Otis Wilson. He always had been too busy attending to the business of his garage in Winnetka. Mr. Wilson believed, and still believes.

Mr. Wilson believed, and still believes, a man has the right to do as he pleases as long as it does not infringe on the rights of others. He felt that when he provided for his family and attended to his business, and paid taxes to the State, and abided by the laws, his duty as a citizen had been fulfilled. It had been the custom of Mr. Wilson to go any place he pleased whenever he pleased. If he felt like taking a spin in one of his automobiles with a party of friends it was no one's business but his own. Mr. Wilson has a wife. Strange as it may appear, Mrs. Wilson agreed per-fectly with her husband on this subject, but Mr. Wilson did not know it. In fact, Mrs. Wilson did not make her belief known to any one, but she believed it just the same. So, in the course of events the garage owned by Mr. Wilson in Winnetka caught fire and burned to the ground,

Mr. Wilson lost considerable money, but he resolutely set to work and built snother garage. When it was completed Mr. Wilson, following his policy of doing as he pleased, celebrated the event by taking a joy ride with a party of friends.=

Mrs. Wilson did not express her opinon Michigan avenue and sold it for $25. Did she take the money home and tell her husband about it? No. She bought herself and Jack some pretty clothes. Then she bourded a train at the Polk street station and went away on an "indefinite vacation." Did Mrs. Wilson tell her husband where she was going or when she was coming back? No, indeed. She kndea

Mr. Wilson believes in "personal" lik-erty and felt he could not object to his wife having the same privileges.

friends.

BREAKS UP A FAMILY

Freddie never had heard of a fish by the leave that heard of a first screaming, so be leaved out of the win-dow to have a look. On the end of his line he saw Mary Hall, 4 years old, residing on the first floor of the building. Freddle dropped his line, Neighbors out the line and Mary Hall was taken to the City Hontial in auto nation No.

A certain brilliantly clever lawyer had one little peculiarity: He fondly imag-ined that he looked at least twenty years younger than he really was. One day in court he ws cross-examining a self-possessed young woman who was acting as one of the witnesses in a fa-mous trial. Needless to say, the courtroom was crowded. The learned lawyer was anxious to find out the age of somebody the lady knew, and she was equally determined not to give him the desired information. Th lawyer told her that she could at least make a guess. The determined young woman eyed him with a withering glance. "From your looks I should say you were at least 69; but judging from the questions you ask, I should say 16." said she tranquilly.

いいのであるという

TURKEYS 20 a qt. a lb. ID. a

There is no single article of dress upon which a woman's comfort depends to the extent that it depends upon the corset. With the waist line a matter of conjecture, as it is in so many of the present-day gowns, the slender people at least can consider comfort first. The lange girdle of elastic webbing has no rival in this field, at least in the front

This costs $3.

by too strenuous exercise.

学校的ない

17.

STATISTICS -

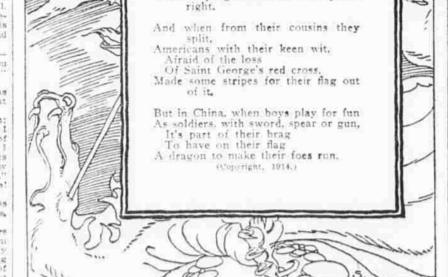

部に注意を

I mean to work, I said, I think you are the lovelest and the kindest things!" A sudden shadow crossed her face. "Please don't may that, whe said, as if my words had hurt. "Tell me about your life at home." I think the floodsates opened then;

I think the foodgates opened then; my strange wall of reserve went down. I told her of my English home, and of long walks upon the wind-swept meore. I told her how the wind samp in the trees and how the little wood-sorrel grew everywhere. "It is so pure and fresh." I said. "It has the tinlest, pinkest face! I know you'd love my fouglish home." "Go on, so on," she said, in breathless eagerness. "I-was-an English girl once, too!"

I told her of the freshness of the moore -"so different from dusty cities and from towns," I said. I told her of the lovely Sussex Downs, and how the dew lay long upon the grass. Then next I told her of the artist's words. "And when I met

BEFORE THE SANDMAN COMES

DERCHED up high in the back | desperately to get in that tiny door. yard of a city home were three. She pecked at it, she clawed and she much to live in one of the houses. But I mean to see who gets that She simply couldn't forget a very house," she declared to Mr. Rohin, "I narrow escape her bables had last mean to be very particular about our year when a cat-a big, sleek catt- neighbors." bor's dog trotted into the ward and diverted her mind, that cat would surely have killed and eaten every robin baby! So naturally Mrs. Robin "here is a dear little bouse. It's ju sighed for the satety of a really, truly exactly what we were looking for!" ouse with a front door too small for cats!

But her sighing did no good, for a

She tried desperately to get in that tiny door.

robin is too large to get through the toor of a wren house.

little wren houses. And very in- scolded it vigorously, but it got no. viting they looked, you may be sure. larger. So finally she gave up and Poor little Mrs. Rohin wanted so built her nest in a near-by apple tree. Cepyright, 1914, by Clara ingram Judson, nearly, nearly, nearly got her dear bables. But for the fact that a neigh-one morning a very cunning Mr. and Mrs. Wren flew into the yard.

"Oh, look" exclaimed Mrs. Wren, "here is a dear little house. It's just "To be sure it is," chirped Mr. Wren in delight, and then unfortunately he looked around! When you have found exactly what you want it is a very had plan to look any further; you will find trouble every Trouble is exactly what Mr. Wren found-trouble in the form of two other hitle wren houses. "Oh, look at those," the foolish fellow exclaimed.

"And of course Mrs. Wren looked. "Aren't they lovely!" she cried. "We must look those over before we scille in any. Maybe those are better than the first one we saw." So they looked them over. They ran in and out; they examined and tittered and exclaimed till Mrs. Robin

"Why in the world don't they de-cide and start to furnishing?" she chirped crossly, "I don't believe chirped crossly, "I don't believe those wrens know a good home when hey see one!

In the meantime Mrs. Wren de-cided on the first house. They cartoor of a wren house. She didn't give up without a trial, you may be sure. For fiveral hours after she first saw the holde she tried as the best. Then, after an hour, moved back to the first!

That last move was too much for practical Mrs. Robin. "Such fickle creatures" she scolded; "I won't have them around." And she screamed and scolded so vigorously And she hat Mr. and Mrs. Wren gave up all hree of their lovely houses and settled in a distant barn.

(Tomorrow-"Cannas.")

WHITE SLAVERS USING NUN'S GARB TO LURE VICTIMS

Women's Section of Conference of Catholic Charities Makes Charge.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 .- White slavers are using the garb of nuns to lure their victima, according to the Women's Section of the National Conference of Catholic Tharities, in session here at the Catholic University. The declaration was made in a report submitted to the conference, urging that a committee he appointed by the conference to look after the safety of girls who may attend the coming expo-

Things have come to such a pass that a young woman can trust no one whom she does not know," declared the report. "Things creatures engaged in the white slave traffic assume all sorts of guises. They even wear the robes of nuna and distance charity they found they are They even wear the robes of nuns and sisters of charity: they feign illness; they ask to be taken to houses in cabs and helped up the steps and them, when the door closes the unfortunate, kind-hearted girl who has helped is in the worst of all irabs and exposed to peril infinitely more dreadful than death. There is reason to think that the religious garb is frequently assumed by the white slave traders, and that some of the stories exploited by the anti-Catholic papers against our sister-hoods are traceable to the operations of these scoundreds." A committee was named to prepare a

A committee was named to prepare a plan of action.

Correspondence of general interest o women readers will be printed on to women readers will be printed this page. Such correspondence sho this page. Such correspondence sho be addressed to the Woman's Editor, Evening Ledger.

she had recovered from the sight of the police insignia on Lodding's cap. "I was just waiting for a car. I guess I was a little drowsy. I think I'd better be "Wait a minute," said Lodding, He began to question the girl. Not satisfied with her replies, he took her to the South Clark street police station. There she told her story to the matron, "I know you'll call me a hobe, but I guess it's all right. I'm used to it. My name is Pauline Henderson ,and I am 17 years old. I've been on the road since I was 12 years old. My mother died then and we were living in Kansas City. "I have been all over the country. I ride on the trains whenever I can get a ride. I can hang on to the rods, ride the lecks, or the bumpers, or the blind-any way, I get there.

"I got in two nights ago, or maybe it was three nights ago, I don't keep track. I beat it from Toledo. They kept me there in the detention home for a month because I fell asleep in the park they told me I had to get out of town. So I got, and here I am."

SPAIN SOLD $100,000 WORTH OF TOYS DURING 1913

400 Manufacturers Supplying Foreign and Domestic Demand.

Spain has depended in the past to a large degree for its supply of toys on purchases from abroad. During 1513 this country imported toys to the amount of about $200,000, of which Germany fur-nished goods to the amount of about $130,000 and France about $50,000 worth. Twenty-five years ago Spain exported acarcely any toys. In 1913 it sold over $160,000 worth to various countries. Cuba eing the chief buyer, followed by Argentina. Belgium, Turkey and Spanish pos-

It has become more apparent in Spain in recent years that the manufacture of toys can be made a lucrative industry on account of the steady demand, with the result that at present there are at least 400 Spanish manufacturers of importance 400 Spanish mathiactures of monetane supplying toys for domestic use and for export. In Barcelona there are 15 work-shops devoted exclusively to the produc-tion of toys which engage from 40 to 70 handa, 30 which employ from 10 to 40, and 35 with less than 10. Other cities and const to Scale have important toy factowns in Spain have important toy fac-tories that cater largely to local use. The toy industry has made such pro-

The toy industry has made such pro-nounced progress that a national exposi-tion of toys has been just inaugurated in Barcelona, the chief commercial city of Spain, and it has been largely patronized by the toy factories in this neighborhood, as well as throughout the Peninzula. Among the lines chieffy exhibited are turned wooden goods, including tenpins, tops, small furniture, hesides croquet sets, carts and wagons; metal goods, such as soldiers, small table services trains of cars, mechanical toys, guns and pistols; cars, mechanical toys, guns and pistols cars mechanical toys, guns and platois; paper goods, paper chematographs, thea-tres with figures, marionet shows, and leather goods, comprising footballs, and stuffed imitation animals, such as horizes, donkeys and dogs.

AT THE SOCIAL FUNCTION Do you enjoy yourself, or do yo "all out" the dances? We tead you the newest sleps easily at ### newest steps easily and Personal instruction olution of its private Join now. The Cortissoz School

Locust $193 1529 Chesinut St.

These prices were actually reduced like this by women all over the country, showing that the high cost of living CAN be reduced. What they did YOU can do.

In the October Issue of The Ladies' Home Journal

A solution of the problem of the high cost of living that is so simple, so sensible, so easily done, that every woman who reads the article will say, "Why didn't I think of that?"

Fifteen Cents the Copy, of All News Agents Or, $1.50 a Year (12 issues) by Mail, Ordered Through Our Subscription Agents or Direct

THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY Independence Square, Philadelphia Pennsylvania