FEW CANARIES COMING HERE

Blockade of German Ports Keeps Birds In Fatherland

Those who may have been under the impression that canary birds imported into this country come from the Canary Islands will suffer a severe disillusionment at this time, especially if the family thinks that a canary bird is needed, and someone proceeds to "buy" a capary. The fact is, that in times of peace canary birds come from the Hartz Mountains, in Germany, where they are bred by the peasants in garrets and spare rooms of their cottages. One New York firm alone imports 100,000 canaries annually.

At present no canaries can be bought in the bird stores because of the blockade of German ports. Ordinarily, these birds sell for $35 to $59 per dozen. The individual bird is sold on his merits, as indicated by his looks and his voice. The female canary is a poor singer and sells for half the price of the male. The birds sing best between the ages of a half-year and six years. Frequently they live to be 12 years old. The bird dealers also suffer from lack of cages for other birds. The canaries are shipped in individual wooden cages made in Germany and are sent in lots of 100 to 500. These birds have to be fed daily on canary seed and hard boiled eggs as well as given fresh water. A skilled attendant has to accompany them on the voyage and frequently a young peasant earns his traveling expenses to this country in that manner.

QUICKSILVER PRODUCTION

Slight Decrease Shown In World's Aggregate Last Year

The quicksilver production of the world during 1913 is estimated at 4171 metric tons, against 4262 tons in 1912 and 4083 tons in 1911. The countries of production last year were: United States, 688 tons; Austria-Hungary, 855 tons; Italy, 988 tons; Spain, 1490 tons; Mexico and others, 150 tons. These figures were gathered by the United States Geological Survey. Quicksilver is used mainly in the manufacture of fulminate for explosive caps, of drugs, of electric appliances and scientific apparatus, and in the recovery of precious metals, especially gold, by amalgamation. A new use in Scotland is the floating of lights of lighthouses

FLASHES FROM "STARS"

A, F. MacCollin, who plays the genial and delightful stage driver, Jeremiah Cobb, in Kate Douglas Wiggin and Charlotte Thompson's comedy, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." at the Walnut Street Theatre, is one of the oldest living actors. Mr. MacCollin was one of the organizers of the Wheatley Dramatic Association in Philadelphia in 1865, which enrolled such names as John McCullough, E. H. Hearn and D. W. Farrell. He was a member of the famous Ford Company, producers of standard operas, and originated the part of Ralph Rakestraw, the leading tenor role in Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "Pinafore," in this country. After several years with this organization he joined D'Oyley Carte at the Fifth Avenue Theatre in New York for the production of the "Pirates of Penzance." and played the principal comedy role. When "The Mikado" was produced, the part of Koko was assigned. to the late Roland Reed, who opened, but after two performances was compelled to give it up on account of illness. Mr. MacCollin succeeded him, and was accredited as the originator of this role. For five years he was a member of the Stetson Company, playing a repertoire of the light operas. In the last few years Mr. MacCollin has been identified with the Savage, Frohman and Shubert forces, playing principally dramatic comedy roles. He is now succeeding the late Archie Boyd in the part of Jeremiah Cobb in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." a most congenial role.

Helen Ware, star of "The Revolt," the current attraction at the Adelphi Theatre, says she once owned a pet Egyptian scarab, an insect resembling the cricket. "Above all things else," said Miss Ware, "the scarab is noted for its longevity, often living as long as 500 years. My scarab died a year ago in its infancy-it was only 100 years old. I had it for only three years of its life. It was the most unique pet I ever had, and I got terribly attached to it. It lived in a little cage, and I fed it on sugarwater. Once I gave it sugar diluted in champagne, and you should have seen that beetle-It not quite tipsy. Its antics were terribly funny. Sometimes I wore the scarab attached to a thin gold chain. I called it 'Amenoteph.' The Egyptians used to worship the scarab, you know. I adored my pet, and wept at its demise, I'd thought of having a little tombstone made over a tiny urn; but I lost the dead pet in traveling. On the tombstone I would have had, 'Here lies Amenoteph, who died in his infancy -he was only a hundred?

"Alas," sighed Miss Ware, "if only the youth of plays were no less brief!

body of quicksiiver. A use in England, in the United States and possibly elsewhere, is the coating of ships' bottoms with a paint containing quicksilver to prevent organic growth. Mercuric oxide (red oxide of mercury) is the active poison in anti-fouling paint successfully used on ships' bottoms. The metal appears to be little employed in silvering mirrors, as nftrate of silver is now chiefly used for the purpose. Increasing use of quicksilver is probably to be expected in the manufacture of electrical appliances and of fulminates, and tossibly of paints for protective coatings on metals.

The demand for quicksilver for amalgamating gold and silver has greatly decreased, as is well known, with the decreased supply of free milling orea and the increased application of cyantdation to gold and silver ores. Industrial chemistry and inventive genius are to be looked to for increasing the demand.

sonal successes was made by Vielet de Biccari, a child of 12. George T. Brennan, managing director of "Pilate's Daughter," to open at the Chestnut Street Opera House next week, was one of the thousands who admired the work of the child. When it came time for organizing the cast of "Pilate's Daughter" Mr. Brennan sought Miss de Biccari, and, fortunately, was able to pince her under contract for the production. She will play the leading role in the first act of the play. Violet is proud of the fact that she has the famous prima donna, Marcella Sembrich, as godmother and that Caruso, Scottl and Andreas Dippel are among her friends. Violet's father is a boyhood friend of Chruso and a fellow countryman. Like other talented children of the stage, Miss de Biccari has made a success in posing in motion pictures and she has also a number of stage successes to her credit. She played in "The Top of the Morning" and "Hop o' My Thumb." Her ambition is to become a great singer.
