On this new development of the battle, already in progress for 12 days, much depends. If the Allies are successful they will force a speedy retreat of the Germans that must carry them back to the lines of th Meuse and north into eastern Belgium.

Meanwhile the French centre is again active. The German army commanded by the Crown Prince is reported to have succeeded in occupying Varennes on the Aire River, almost directly west of Verdun. This movement, it is believed here, was to prevent the French forces relieving Verdun, which has now been under siege more than a week

It was emphatically denied at headquarters, however, that by this movement the French centre has been broken. Instead, it is declared as solid as ever, and it is asserted that another movement, details of which are suppressed, is already in progress which will have important results in the near future.

Fresh British troops have been landed in France and are being rushed to the front to support the exhausted soldiers who have been under fire continuously for more than a month.
