ANTWERP, Sept. 25. It was officially announced today that the Belgian army had taken the offensive against the Germans after sallying from the Antwerp forts and had defeated the enemy in a sharp fight south of here, forcing the Germans to withdraw toward Brussels. The Belgians took $00 prisoners, an armored train and three guns, it is stated. One hundred and eight Germans are reported killed. Premier De Broqueville announced to day that Germany had made fresh proposals for peace with Belgium, but declared they had been rejected. He said:

We understand the purpose of Germany, but they can never be accom-plished. The barbarians, after burning our cities and outraging our ople, now want to make peace they may send their troops from Belgium to France. We have inlignantly declined to treat with them and shall continue to do so. ILL, SAYS REPORT

It is known that Count Zeppelin, in ventor of the giant dirigibles that bear his name, has volunteered to lead a fleet of these vessels over the Channel and across the city of London. With the coming of the foggy autuma teason the danger from this cause is certain to be scute, and the British are already making preparations to forestall such a raid.

A number of the officials of the British aviation squad have been at Ostend for the last week, and it is understood they have a fleet of armored biplanes in readiness, prepared to take the offensive when the dirigibles are sent into action. It is believed that last night's raid on Ostend was a trial cruise to ascertain the revailing wind currents across the chan-

It is also stated on good authority that virtually all Zeppelins have retired from active assistance in taking fortifications and are centred around the North Sea, and are centred around the North sea, where they are to assist in an attack on the British fleet. The outcome of such a battle will be highly important, for it will determine whether a dirigible can measure up against a warship.
